RAILROAD BRIDGE ON FIRE.

Elizabeth, July 24—Policeman Dwyer last Monday night discovered the wooden trestle leading to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad bridge on fire. He sent a still alarm to Engine Comapny No. 4, which put out the blaze with chemicals. Not much damage was done. The fire was started by hot coals from a locomotive dropping on the trestle.

STABBING AFTER DISPUTE.

Metuchen, July 24—John Manerwich and John Klensky had an argument in their Menlo Park apartments Monday night concerning the weather. Manerwich is alleged to have stabbed Klensky in the neck by way of emphasis and Klensky called on the Metuchen police for aid. Patrolman Schenck, in an automobile, went to the scene and faund Klensky bleeding profusely and Manerwich sharpening his knife on a whetstone. The patrolman hustled both men in the car and took them to Metuchen. Manerwich was committed to the county jail pending the result of Klensky's injuries. When Manerwich was searched there was found on him a razor, a knife and a stiletto.

COMMITS SUICIDE AFTER WIFE BEAT

Believed Whitehouse Man Suffered from Remorse for Injuries to Spouse.

Whitehouse, July 24.—A victim of remorse, it is believed, Gottlieb Eberbach, sixty-three years old, was found dead at his former home in Mills, near North Branch, Monday. He had shot himself with a 32-calibre revolver. Eberbach beat his wife Saturday, breaking several of her ribs, and she left the house with their twelve-year-old daughter Lulu, and failed to return.

It is thought that Eberbach did the shooting Sunday. Neighbors did not see him after 11 o'clock on the morning of that day, and when he did not appear about the place Monday they decided to investigate. The body was found lying across a bed with a bullet hole in the right temple. A physician called said that he had been dead twenty-four hours.

There were indications that Eberbach had placed a hand mirror at the head of the bed and then sat in front of it to commit the deed.

The beating by Eberbach of his wife Saturday was the climax of a quarrel the pair had over the alleged refusal of the husband to permit her to use a horse in going to a store in North Branch. The woman walked to the store, but was unable to carry home all the purchases. The husband found fault with her, it is said, for not bringing certain articles. Then came the quarrel. Eberbach, it is declared, choked his wife until she was unconscious and then kicked her.

After she recovered sufficiently, Mrs. Eberbach went to a neighbor's house, where she is now in the care of a physician.

Eberbach, it is declared, had treated his wife badly on several other occasions and was bound over to keep the peace. Neighbors say he had threatened a number of times to take his own life. He lived on what was the former Sheriff William Tunison farm for nineteen years.

Coroner William H. Long, of Somerville, granted a burial permit.

—"She has every confidence in her husband." "That so?" "Yes; even when she is riding with him in their auto and he is driving she doesn't think it necessary to warn him to be careful."—Detroit Free Press.

—"Do you remember that $5 you borrowed of me a year ago?" "I should say I did. I lent $1 of it to Brown and the skunk hasn't paid me yet."—Boston Transcript.

T. R. HEARS FROM COUNTY CHAIRMEN

Says Reports He Gets Greatly Encourages Him.

EXPERIENCE MEETING HELD

Leaders Tell How Strong Roosevelt Ticket Is In Respective Counties. Decided That New York State Delegates Meet In Buffalo on Aug. 3.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 24.—Following an enthusiastic meeting with his county chairmen at the progressive headquarters in the Metropolitan tower, Colonel Roosevelt returned to Sagamore Hill. He said he was greatly pleased at what he had heard and observed.

After getting through a pile of correspondence which awaited him at his Outlook office the colonel tramped over to the New York headquarters as he said to make the acquaintance of the men who are going to help him carry New York state. He had in mind only a greeting, he said, least of all a speech. But he had made a speech before he got through and one which stirred his New York workers to wild enthusiasm. From the time he entered the big room in a cloud of waving red bandanas until the meeting disbanded there was not a letup.

Shakes Hands All Around.

"I want to shake the hand personally of each of you men behind the guns," exclaimed the colonel as he set to work.

Colonel Cooley of Mount Vernon was the first to receive his leader's felicitations, and for each of those who followed there was a personal word or a jest.

Mr. Hotchkiss reintroduced the colonel, calling attention to the fitness to the place where twelve days before had seen the birth of the progressives. He wanted the minute men of the "new guard" to meet their commander in chief, he said. Here pandemonium interrupted him, and when it subsided the commander began to speak himself.

The gathering resolved itself into an experience meeting at the colonel's request, and in one minute periods the various chairmen told how strong the Roosevelt ticket was in their respective counties and how dark was the prospect for President Taft. Each report was vigorously applauded, while the leaders grinned.

The report of John M. Bruce of Westchester county is a sample. Mr. Bruce said that as a result of a poll of his county's 50,000 voters he proved to himself that two-thirds were favorable to his candidate, one-third to Governor Wilson and not a vote to President Taft.

Timothy L. Woodruff of Kings county declared that he would not do justice to his subject in the one minute allowed. His chief concern, he said, was to see that there should be no bossism in his bailiwick.

Apparently convinced by such testimony that New York state was as good as won, the gathering broke up, and the colonel returned to his editorial labors.

Delegates to Meet Aug. 3.

Among those at the tower meeting were noticed General Horatio C. King, Hamilton Fish, Jr., of Putnam; Lindon Bates, Jr.; General James S. Clarkson, Hugh Gordon Miller, Chauncey T. Hamlin and Theodore Douglas Robinson.

The announcement was made that on Aug. 3 at the Statler hotel in Buffalo the delegates to the Chicago convention would meet and elect the delegates at large from this state. Most of the county chairmen trooped over to the Outlook office. In the steady stream of visitors was Harry Coachems of Wisconsin, who believes that Roosevelt will carry Wisconsin beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Before he started on his return trip the ex-president announced it was his present intention to attend the big New England progressive mass meeting at Point of Pines, Revere Beach, near Boston, on Aug. 17.

DEATH AND TAXES MEET.

Bohemian Funeral Held Up by Franz Josef's Official Seal.

Vienna, July 24.—The Austrian government must have its dues even if it has to attach the coffin in which a man takes his last sleep. An undertaker in a little town near Prague failed to pay $2 taxes last week. The collector sent an official to attach anything that he could find.

He found but one coffin, which the undertaker said was valued at $14, and without looking into it pasted the government seal on the lid. It happened that the coffin was not empty.

When friends came to the burial an hour later the undertaker pointed to the tax seal. It required several hours to raise the $14, whereupon tax and penalty were paid and the funeral proceeded.

$10,000 For Dick Turpin's Pistol.

London, July 24.—An American collector has offered $10,000 for Dick Turpin's pistol, recently discovered during the dismantling of the historic Globe room of the Reindeer inn at Banbury. At present the ownership of the pistol is in dispute as between the owner of the building, the finder and the purchasers of the ceiling where it had been concealed.

OUR BOYS.

We are told that in the good old times the boys of the family received a good sound thrashing each Saturday night, just "on general principles." This may not be literally true, but it certainly might be, for that is about the way boys were treated not so very long ago. Nowadays parents and teachers are learning to understand the individual boy, and they know a good deal more about him than the parents and teachers of a generation ago did. We have come to realize that although boys are boys, not men, they can develop self-control, unselfishness, power of initiative and many of the social virtues.

One of the best means for the development of boys along right lines is the Boys' Camp, so many of which are conducted by the Y. M. C. A.'s at this season of the year. One of the finest of these is in our own State and it is carried on for the benefit of our own boys. Located partly on an island in Lake Waywayanda, near Greenwood Lake, it has in its isolation the first qualification for a good camp; it is far from injurious to neighbors. Then it has in abundant measure the second qualification, a Christian leader who is an expert on boy life. Assisted as he is by Christian young men, mostly college men on vacation, the supervision is ideal.

There during these hot summer months, at a nominal expense, hundreds of our boys live healthy, normal, outdoor lives, swimming, fishing, rowing, tramping, and, if so inclined, spending a couple of hours a day in the school house under a competent teacher. The flag raising ceremony cultivates patriotism; obedience to the simples rules of the camp teaches good citizenship; the work of each boy in the dining room introduces true democracy, and the daily contact with the other boys, under rather primitive surroundings, tends to make each boy more unselfish.

Running through the whole life of the camp is a very sane religion which must do not a little to help the boys to understand what are the best things in life. If the next generation is not better than the present the fault will not lie with these men who are giving themselves so freely to lift the boyhood of our State.

Additional contributions have been received by the Daily Press for the support of the Baby Camp conducted on the mountain by the City Union of the King's Daughters. To-day a check for $10.00 came from Julia M. VanBuren and $2 in cash from H. A. Randolph. There is urgent need for funds, particularly as this charity has to depend for its existence on the voluntary contributions of generous hearted citizens.

The right spirit was displayed by the Council of Elizabeth when it made an appropriation to give free band concerts twice weekly during August. Years ago, by means of voluntary contributions of citizens, Plainfield enjoyed similar musical feasts. For some reason or other, however, the custom was not kept up. Why?

It is the plain duty of President Taft not to accept the resignation of Judge Hanford. In the absence of the "recall of judges," there is another way of ousting a notorious incumbent of the United States District Court bench. Just at present the house judiciary committee is investigating his performances and it will be well to await that taken.

One hundred dollars we are told is needed to defray the expense of the milk station to be conducted by the Nursing Bureau and contributions are solicited. There are many men in our city who no doubt would be glad to give the total amount for such a spinedid charity.

So they are going to "fire" Borden Whiting as the New Jersey member of the National Republican Committee and put in his place that sterling patriot, Franklin Murphy. "Whom the gods would destroy they first made mad."

Cornell's colors will be visible on every automobile licensed to be run in New Jersey next year for the tags will have a pure white ground and red letters and figures.

Frank Katzenbach says that he is not a candidate for the United States Senatorial job. Is the Gubernatorial bee buzzing about the head of the Trentonian?

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the temperature was 71 degrees. Will we have to take back that assertion that Plainfield is no ideal summer resort?

Some few profitable minutes may be spent by Daily Press readers on Saturday in reading the contributed editorial.

The storm clouds are gathering for the fall campaign.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The State Trust Company reported the following temperature for today: 9 a. m., 68 degrees; 11 a. m, 70½ degrees; 1 p m,, 71 degrees.

ALLEGE BOYS CRACKED SAFE.

Elizabeth, July 24—Charged with breaking open and robbing a safe, two boys were arrested Monday. The prisoners are each thirteen years old and live at Elizabethport. They entered the wholesale grocery of M. Maremus, 79 and 81 Livingston street, Elizabethport, it is said, and cracked the safe with a coupling pin. The theives did not secure much money. The prisoners will be arraigned before Judge Atwater in the Court of Special Sessions. They are suspected of other robberies at Elizabethport.

METUCHEN T. R. CLUB ELECTS.

Metuchen, July 24—The Raritan Roosevelt Club, of this place, which was temporarily organized last Thursday night with twenty-one members, gained seventy-two more voters Tuesday night. William Dinwiddie, formerly a newspaperman of New York, was made president, Others chosen to the board of governors are Mark O. Prentiss, William A. Coles, Truman T. Pierson, E. J. Drake, Philip Miller, Edward C. Potter, D. G. Knight, Charles A. Prickitt and Dwight Comstock.

SCOTS ATHLETICS.

A meeting of the athletic committee of Clan McKenzie, 204, Order of Scottish Clans, will meet at Robert Murray's store on West Front street, tonight to complete the list of prizes and other details for the Caledonian meet to be held on Parker Field August 17. Important business will be transacted which will require the presence of every member.

FALLS FROM TRAIN.

Elizabeth, July 24.—Jean Rapario, thirty-five years old, fell off a Jersey Central passenger train at 6:30 yesterday morning at the Elizabethport Station. He was picked up unconscious and removed in an ambulance to the Elizabeth General Hospital, where he revived. He was found to have sustained an ugly cut on the back of his head.

CHAFIN AND WATKINS.

Prohibition Party Candidates For President and Vice President.

The National Prohibition party's candidates for president and vice president are the same standard bearers as four years ago, Eugene W. Chafin of Arizona and Aaron S. Watkins of Ohio.

Mr. Chafin was born in Wisconsin on Nov. 1, 1852, and was educated in the public schools and the University of Wisconsin. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1875. He has for many years been nationally prominent as a speaker and organizer in temperance and prohibition movements.

Mr. Watkins was born in Ohio on Nov. 29, 1863. He was graduated at Ohio Northern university and was admitted to the bar in 1889. He was the Prohibition candidate for governor of Ohio in 1905 and again in 1908. He also is an ordained minister of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Two relatives of President Taft figured in the convention. William Nicholson Taft of California contributed $10,000 to the campaign fund. S. H. Taft led an unsuccessful fight to change the name of the party to the "National Conservation party."

CARMI THOMPSON.

He Succeeded Charles D. Hilles as President Taft's Secretary.

Carmi Thompson, President Taft's new secretary, succeeds Charles D. Hilles, who resigned to become chairman of the Republican national committee.

Mr. Thompson was born in Wayne county, W. Va., forty-one years ago. His father was a coal miner. When four years old his family moved to Ironton, O. When twelve years old Mr. Thompson went to work with his father in the coal mines. At sixteen he passed entrance examinations for admission to the Ironton High school. He was graduated from the high school and entered the Ohio State university,

HIS FIRST CARTOON.

Davenport Put His Soul In It With Disastrous Results.

Not very long before he died Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, got to talking with some friends about the early years of his pursuit of art. His first sketch, as he recalled it, was of a stove in answer to a demand from the advertising department. That stove was so whopper jawed, so slab sided, so decrepit that in response to the next demand from the advertising department young Mr. Davenport moved on.

"But I kept learning a little more about the game," said he. "I watched the things that other men were doing until by and by I felt myself competent to take another position as an artist. It was on a little western paper. The editor frankly told me that he could not afford even the small salary that he paid me, but he had a sporting streak in him. He would take a chance. He paid the $1.12 laundry bill I had accumulated and paid my board a week in advance and by the expenditure of $12 placed me on the sunny side of Easy street. Then he sent me out on my first assignment. I wanted to make a hit and I put everything I knew into the picture I drew.

"The assignment had been to cover the funeral of a well known town character, and I depicted a lonely grave in a cemetery surrounded by tottering, drunken tombstones. The grave was but half filled. The gravedigger was leaning on his spade and the wreath of flowers purchased by the friends of the deceased had been carelessly thrown against the pile of wet brown earth. An unhappy dog howled in the background, and the rain was falling in long slanting lines. A sob came up in my throat when I viewed my completed work. That would have brought tears to the eyes of the mummy Rameses.

"Immediately after I turned it in the editor sent for me. 'Davenport,' said he, 'I'm a tender hearted man, and I can't bear the sight of that appalling picture you have just drawn. More than that, Davenport, I feel that I can never bear to see you again. I know that I'd burst into tears if I met you anywhere after this day. And while I'm crying, Davenport,' he continued, 'you want to take it on the run, because if I get to thinking of that $12 I'll kill you.'"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Cynical Shaw.

In this world if you do not say a thing in an irritating way just as well not to say it at all, because people will not trouble themselves about anything that does not trouble them.—Bernard Shaw.

LITTLE BOY GOT LOST WHILE ON EXCURSION

Half hysterical and distraught with grief at the loss of her little four-year-old son Joseph, Mrs. Charles Pope, of 334 East Second street, stood waiting at the North Avenue station last night in the hope that her little boy might be by some fortuitous chance brought home on one of the later trains. And her hope was not in vain, for the child was restored to her arms at 9:45 o'clock.

Taking advantage of the Baptist Sunday-shools excursion, Mrs. Pope had gone with the eight hundred other Plainfielders to Asbury Park. On the beach the little tot amused himself making sand pies and wading in the surf, his mother meantime looking on with beaming face and approving eyes. It was a glorious time they had and the golden hours slipped away far too quickly. At 6 o'clock the excursionists assembled at the station for the return journey. There was a big crowd and somehow the boy got lost. The mother did not miss the little fellow until the train was in motion, and she searched in vain through the several compartments to find him. Left alone on the platform the boy wandered up and down seeking aimlessly for his mama. Several people noticed the boy's plight and on questioning him learned that he came from Plainfield. He was placed on the next train for Westfield and in charge of Conductor Thomas Flanagan. Arriving at Westfield a man who would not disclose his name took the boy in charge and brought him to the North Avenue station, where he handed him over to the delighted mother who fondled and covered him with caresses.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHAT TO DO WITH EXTRA MILK.

IN the summer, when it is hard to keep it sweet, many uses may be found for extra milk. When sour it may be utilized in the mixing of hot breads; also it may form the basis of a number of delicious and cooling dishes such as cottage cheese. When there is an excess supply of milk and danger of its souring before being used in the regular way it may be converted into junkets or other desserts.

Made With Sour Milk.

Cottage Cheese.—If you have about a quart of thick sour milk heat it in a vessel set on the back of the range or by standing the pan containing it in another filled with hot water. As soon as the curd appears separate it from the whey or watery part and strain the latter through a cloth. Squeeze the curd in cheesecloth to dry it and then put into a bowl and add two teaspoonfuls of butter, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and cream enough to moisten. Take a spoon and mix to a paste. Serve heaped on a dish. Too much scalding will make the cheese hard and brittle. Season with finely powdered sage if liked.

Cottage cheese is also sometimes called smearcase.

A Rennet Custard.

Rennet, a substance taken from the lining of a calf's stomach, coagulates the casein in milk. Sometimes this rennet is sold as a solution or in the form of junket tablets.

Casein Custard.—Heat a quart of milk until lukewarm and then add to it a quarter of a cupful of sugar and stir till it is dissolved. Then mix in a teaspoonful of vanilla and a junket tablet which has been dissolved in a tablespoonful of water. Pour into a dish and let the milk stand in a warm room till it begins to get thick. Then remove to a cool place. Let it stand until firm. Take an eighth of a teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon or nutmeg, sprinkle over the custard and serve with milk or sugar.

Good Form

About Wedding Cards.

It is sometimes said that an invitation for a large and formal wedding requires no answer. This is not strictly true, however. Where the "at home" form is used it may be inferred that no reply is expected. Where the host "requests the pleasure" an answer should be sent. Indeed, one is often asked for in the invitation, or a separate card with "Please respond" is inclosed, says Florence Howe Hall.

For a breakfast where the guests are to be seated at table or for a small wedding an answer should be sent promptly. One should be careful to follow the form of the invitation:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Furniss accept with pleasure (or regret their inability to accept) the kind invitation of
Mr. and Mrs. James Wentworth for Thursday afternoon, June twentieth, at half after four o'clock.

It is not thought polite to use the word "decline." The envelope is usually addressed to the hostess alone. Guests unable to attend a wedding reception send cards on the day of the affair to the bride's parents or to the persons in whose name the invitations are issued. Additional cards are sometimes sent to the bride and groom, but this is unnecessary. An invitation to a church wedding requires no answer. Those who are unable to be present should certainly acknowledge in some way the courtesy shown them. If the persons inviting them belong to their circle of visiting acquaintances they should either send cards or call within two weeks after the wedding. If they were unacquainted with the former, as in the case of the friends of the bridegroom, they would not make a personal visit, but would send cards instead. All who are invited to the home, however, whether they are friends or strangers, should call soon after the wedding.

A wedding announcement should be answered by sending cards to the persons making it. One thus shows appreciation of the courtesy extended and informs the senders that their communication has been received. Where it comes from a distant city and no address is given it may be impossible or very difficult to acknowledge it.

All who receive cards for the bride's "at homes" should call. If several days are mentioned it is best to select an early one, since everybody should welcome the young couple to their new home as soon as possible. If the marriage takes place toward the end of June the cards sometimes say, "At home after Oct. 1." In this case no one would make a formal call until that date.

Those living at a distance send cards in lieu of making a personal visit. A lady sends one for the bride; a man sends two, one being for the Benedict.

Needed For Guest Room.

A sewing case for a guest room can easily be made at home from a five pointed star shaped straw mat six inches in diameter.

In the center of the mat put a pincushion of satin ribbon an inch in diameter and an inch high, tightly stuffed. This is made by cutting a round of satin for the top and sewing to it a band of the ribbon five inches long and two inches deep to allow for seams and turning in at the bottom.

Make a star from five strips of ribbon, each two inches long, turned in at one end to form a point, and arrange the star from the center of the mat so the points come between its points. In the center of this ribbon star sew the pincushion, taking the stitches firmly through the mat, and on one side make a thimble case of the ribbon to hold a white bone thimble.

On two of the four points of the straw mat fasten a spool of white silk by running inch wide satin ribbon through it and tying in a small bow on the outside. On the other two points fasten spools of colored silk to match the ribbon trimmings.

To the fifth point fasten a pair of small scissors by a loop of No. 1 ribbon, ending in a many looped bow.

Holding the Sunshade.

The sunshade seems to be a rock upon which many a woman's good taste hopelessly founders. Not only does one often see uncomfortable color mixtures, but quite as often the sun shade is held so ungracefully that the whole effect is awkward and clumsy. There ought to be classes on "how to hold the sunshade," and nine women out of ten would benefit from the lessons, but as yet no enterprising individual has originated the idea. A little practice before a long mirror is recommended. Also take note of the following: See that you do not grasp the handle as if it were an implement of war. Do not hold it too near the center of the handle nor too near the tip. Both these faults are very common and give a most awkward appearance. Don't use it as a walking stick nor, if it has a crook handle, hang it on your arm. Hold it lightly and easily a little distance from the top of the handle and at a slightly slanting angle.

For the Sick Room.

A delightful deodorizing disinfectant for a sickroom is made by putting ground coffee in a saucer with a small piece of gum camphor in the middle. Light the camphor with a match, and as it burns the coffee will be consumed, at the same time throwing off an agreeable odor.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

It is generally conceded that Woman's Suffrage is coming in the United States, and that it is not very far off. The women have fought for it, worked for it, waited; but are they ready for it?

In a small town in one of the States of the Middle West, there is a band of women who are actually working not to gain suffrage but to gain sufficient knowledge of their country to vote with a medium of intelligence when they shall be called upon to do so. There are only nine of them. Their method of work is direct if somewhat primary.

These women began by learning the names of the States, then capitals, then resources, then waterways, and then railway systems. Lest they forget, they developed a system of recitation by roll-call which reviewed what they had learned. This became monotonous, but a few facts were fixed in their minds for permanent use.

The second year these same women studied United States History. They used a short school text-book; one which contained little beyond cardinal facts. This they studied doggedly for eight months, each member doing as much outside reading connected with the subject in hand as her interest prompted.

The third year they learned the constitution. This was drudgery and two of the members balked somewhere in section one of Article II. The rest stuck it out. All this time the system of roll-call grew more complicated for reviews from the beginning had to be compassed. The constitution once conquered these women plunged into a study of our political history, a plan for this work having been made for them by the head of the History Department of their State University.

The women of this club with two exceptions are Americans of Norwegian or German extraction; the two are Yankees and they of course are the ones who refused to learn the constitution. The reason why there are only nine members is because they have never been able to find a tenth woman willing to join them.

Progress in Hot Weather.

Sometimes (especially in July) we hate the very name of Progress. Our sympathies go out to the roadside tramps, sitting idly in the shade and watching the crowds go by.

Hot we hate to be told to move on. But that is just what our relentless age requires of us—to move on.

Every age has required it more or less but our age is quite insistent on the subject and not only says "Keep moving," but is prone to add "Step lively, please." Our age makes its demand on women without the least compunction. It cares not the least for tradition but has one main object in view—the common welfare.

It seems to me that our age was speaking through the words of Dr. Gulick when he addressed the National Education Association in Chicago. Dr. Gulick is director of the department of Child Hygiene of the Russell Sage Foundation. The following is part of what he said in urging women to move on to political responsibility:

"We are significant in the world mainly by the extent to which we, as individuals and as groups, differ from each other. My special place in the world is due to my differences rather than to my likenesses to other people. For example, woman is as sure to have the suffrage as the tide is to rise, not because she is as wise, as strong, as skillful as man is, nor because she, like him, is a human being, nor for any other reason of likeness or duplication at all, but because she is different, because she can do what he cannot, because the world needs her peculiar and special abilities. It is because she is different, because these differences are fundamental world needs, that it is necessary that she shall bring these differences to the service of the world. This fact, whether woman wants it or no, the suffrage will force inevitably upon her. We insist that she must speak, but because she is different and not because she is like. The vote is no end in itself. To serve the community in ways in which she is the creator and specialist is the end, and toward this service the women of the civilized world are pressing most of them unconsciously—a few of them consciously, but all of them inevitably."

The National Education Association, which represents more than 15,000 educators, went on record as favoring woman suffrage and this was the reason given. "Because women teachers realize the responsibility of training youth for citizenship."

While speaking of endorsements by organizations it should be noted that the Prohibition party in convention at Atlantic City included in its platform suffrage for women on the same terms as men.

And so it seems that even in July the suffrage cause is making progress. Time was when suffragists for the most part took a vacation in warm weather—but there is no vacation for suffragists this summer.

Active campaigns are going on in six States to obtain political rights for women.

Arizona women have succeeded in having their initiative petition signed by 300, more than enough votes to make woman suffrage one of the proposed amendments submitted to the voters this fall. That makes the sixth campaign State—the others being Ohio (election Sept. 3), Wisconsin, Michigan, Oregon and Kansas (election in November). Every suffragist is hoping for a "round dozen" of suffrage States by Thanksgiving Day.

THE SLIP ON FROCK.

Nothing More Sensible Ever Devised In Clothes.

OF CREAM CANVAS AND CLUNY LACE.

The "slip on" frock has been the sartorial winner of the season, and nothing in the way of clothes has been devised that has added so much comfort to the feminine wardrobe.

The charming dress pictured is a "slip on" of cream canvas, trimmed with cluny lace mounted over rose satin. Velvet buttons give the Frenchy touch of black.

The Only One.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean of the Washington College of Law, has the distinction of being the only woman law school dean in the world. She further is famous for her knowledge of law and for her work for the uplifting of the conditions of women and children. She framed the Mussey act, which in the District of Columbia gives mothers equal rights over minor children with the fathers and gives married women the right to control the money they themselves earn. She is interested in children and is one of the directors of the American Playgrounds association. She belongs to a famous family. Her father was the inventor of the Spencerian system of writing. She traces her ancestors back to the Mayflower on her father's side and on her mother's side is descended from the colonial settlers. She is intensely patriotic, belongs to many societies and is one of the members of the Society of Founders and Patriots, to which only a thousand women are eligible. She was president of the American National Red Cross association and president of the Legion of Loyal Women.

Bridesmaid's Gifts.

It is not quite smart to give a pair of gold or enameled hatpins with intertwined initials of bride and groom and the date of the wedding. Equally appropriate are those set with birthstones of the bride or the different bridesmaids.

Small charms for watch or chatelaine in bridal emblems are pretty. These might be a tiny garter in deep yellow gold, a wedding bell with initials of bride and bridegroom and date engraved on it or an oval locket, plain or jeweled, containing pictures of the bride and bridegroom. On the right side should be a large monogram of the bridesmaid and on the opposite side the intwined initials of the bride and bridegroom, with the wedding date beneath.

Shoe buckles are attractive gifts and particularly acceptable just now. Recently a bride delighted her wedding party by presents of oblong shoe buckles studded with rhinestones.

Gold or silver cardcases are popular gifts at present. The ideal gift is one that can be worn for the wedding ceremony itself.

Reforming the Goat.

Day by day evidence is piling up to prove to him who will but see that in order to reform everything under the sun it is only necessary to give more power to women. Quite the latest thing to be threatened by their elevating influence is the despised goat. An "Irish goat society" has been established by the Countess of Aberdeen, according to a recent English exchange, with the object of improving the physical condition, manners and morals of the 250,000 goats now existing in the Emerald Isle. These animals, her excellency stated at the opening meeting of the society, are for the most part uncared for animals, wandering about roadways and frequently damaging property.

—It seems as though a woman can get sick every time the doctor needs the money.

CAMORRA TRIAL RAN 16 MONTHS

Minutes Covered 12,000 Pages of Typewritten Matter.

700 WITNESSES TESTIFIED.

Cost to Italy Was $500,000—Fifty Thousand Documents In Evidence. Soldiers Constantly on Guard—Substitute Officials Attended Hearings.

In the remarkably long trial of the Camorristi at Viterbo, Italy, which stretched out for almost a year and a half and came to a close recently, the examination of witnesses began March 11, 1911, and was preceded by a preliminary investigation of five years. The cause of the trial was the murder of Gennaro Cuocolo, a Camorrist, at Torre del Greco, and of his wife, Maria Cutinelli, in Naples. Their killing was a Camorrist execution.

During the long trial the following prisoners died: Ciro Alfano, who was arrested on the day of his marriage and is said to have died of a broken heart; Pasquale Gargiulo and Matteo Valcarcel, who died last June, and Ciro Vitelli, who was present at the murder, but evaded arrest and died of cholera last year.

Altogether over 700 witnesses were heard during the trial; but, notwithstanding this, the prosecution's case rested almost entirely on the testimony of Abbatemaggio, a former Camorrist and an informer.

Among the defendants was Ciro Vitozzi, a Roman Catholic priest, concerning whose alleged double life many sensational revelations were made. Another defendant was Erricone Alfano, who was arrested in New York. This man was the leader of the Camorristi and was also said to be the guiding spirit of the Black Hand gangs in the United States.

A Peculiar Circumstance.

Owing to lack of evidence and the practical impossibility of compelling witnesses to denounce the Camorristi the king's procurator had to withdraw the charge of murder against some of the defendants, of whom there were sixty, and to admit that the proof of the guilt of some of the others was insufficient. The charges of criminal association which were made against a number of men and women among the defendants were also withdrawn. Out of the twenty-two Camorristi who were charged with such criminal association, a crime which cannot be punished with more than five years' imprisonment, seventeen prisoners arrested five years ago served out their terms before the trial and were released automatically.

Only two of the Camorristi who were implicated in the murder of Cuocolo and his wife or mistress succeeded in evading arrest. They were Giuseppe Esposito and Andrea Attanasio, who fled and are supposed to be hiding in America now. Erricone Alfano also fled to this country, but he was arrested in New York by Detective Petrosino, whose murder in Italy was the Camorrist answer. Giovanni Rapi, who fled to Paris, returned to Italy and willingly surrendered himself to the police in order to prove his innocence.

The first ten months of the trial were taken up with formalities connected with the impaneling, swearing and challenging of the jurors and with the hearing of evidence. In order to induce men to serve on this jury a special law was passed by the Italian parliament fixing their pay on this one trial at $1.40 a day. The last six months of the trial were taken up with speeches for the prosecution and the defense.

Originally over fifty lawyers appeared for the defense, but gradually, either because the Camorristi had not the money to pay their fees or because they pretended to be poor in order to excite the pity of the jury, the number of lawyers was reduced to eighteen. The two Camorristi De Angelis and Amodeo, who were conceded to have been falsely accused of the murder by the society in order to throw the police off the track, were present at the trial and were represented by lawyers in order to claim damages in civil actions after the trial concluded.

Infantry Guarded the Court.

Besides the speeches of the lawyers there were others by experts and alienists appointed both by the court and the prisoners to ascertain whether the informer, Abbatemaggio, was insane.

During the trial two companies of infantry, 150 carabineers and fifty detectives were constantly on duty. The Camorra trial cost the state more than $500,000. This sum includes the expenditure for preliminary investigation, the maintenance of the prisoners, the cost of their removal from Naples to Viterbo and innumerable other items.

The minutes kept by the clerk of the court have covered 12,000 pages of typewritten matter, and the reports of the investigating judges filled sixty volumes. More than 50,000 documents were produced and read during the trial.

In order to provide against the risk of interruption a substitute judge, a substitute prosecutor and a substitute clerk were appointed, and they had to attend all the hearings and be ready to replace their colleagues at a moment's notice. No other trial in Italy has ever lasted sixteen months. The Camorra trial beats all records.

—R. Murray, the auctioneer, will conduct an auction sale of the school property at Berkeley Heights tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

All the Particulars.

A blank crop report was sent out by a Cleveland paper for the farmers to fill out, and one of them came back with the following written on the blank side in pencil: "All we've got in this neighborhood is three widders, two schoolma'ams, a patch of wheat, the hog cholera, too much rain, about fifty acres of taters and a durn fool who married a cross eyed gal because she owns eighty sheep and a mule, which the same is me, and no more at present."

Not a Somnambulist.

Booth Tarkington, the American playwright and novelist, is a very early riser, and when the English playwright and novelist Arnold Bennett visited him at his charming residence in Indianapolis Mr. Tarkington said the first evening at dinner:

"I believe in the simple life. I get up with the sun. Will you take a ten mile walk with me at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning?"

"Thank you, Mr. Tarkington," the Englishman answered, "but I don't walk in my sleep."

A Robust Babe.

Sir John Richard Robinson in his "Fifty Years of Fleet Street" tells of an amusing incident during the visit of the Swazi deputation from the Transvaal to England at the close of 1894: "The Swazi braves went to Windsor and had an audience of her majesty Queen Victoria. They were very graciously received. One of their number began to speak, and an interpreter followed him phrase by phrase. 'We come,

"HERE HE IS!"

O great mother,' he said, 'to bring to you our babe. Take him, O mother, to thy knees; fold him to thy breast.' Here the queen, half frightened, exclaimed: 'But where is the child? I don't see him. Where is he?' 'Here, O mother,' said the Swazi gravely, at the same time bringing forward a big black about six feet high and weighing well over 200 pounds. 'He is here.'"

STANDING UPRIGHT.

Easy Only Because of Our Complex Muscular Mechanism.

We are so accustomed to standing upright as a natural attitude that few of us think what a special complex mechanism is required for this purpose. A moment's consideration will show that the ordinary explanation of the erect position (the center of gravity to be directly above the feet) is insufficient. When a man is suddenly shot, whether from the front or behind, he drops on his face, for the truth is that there is much more weight in the front of the spinal column than behind it.

The fact is that when we are standing a large number of powerful muscles (both front and back) are simultaneously at work, the effects of their action being to neutralize each other. Thus the legs would fall forward were it not that they are kept vertical on the feet by the strong tendon (the Achilles) at the back of the heel. At the same time the muscles of the thigh are tightened so as to prevent us taking a sitting position, and the muscles of the back are pulled tense so that the trunk does not stoop forward. The head is prevented from dropping on the chest by the ligaments in the nape of the neck.

That the upright is not its normal position is easily shown by the fact that a man nods as he is falling asleep, for as soon as the controlling nervous force is deadened the head drops forward by its own weight, only to be pulled back into position again with a jerk when the brain becomes suddenly aware of an unusual attitude.

Noisy Noses.

Vivier, the celebrated horn player paid a professional visit to England many years ago. He had just commenced to play at his first concert when Lord Houghton blew his nose—a war trumpet, as anybody who ever heard him would declare. The noise so unnerved Vivier that he could not go on and threw up all his engagements.

Speaking of the affair afterward, he used to say: "Ah, the English! They have terrible noses! They remind one of the last trump!"

Equal to the Occasion.

Chauncey Depew once dined with three ladies in a New York restaurant. He was so entertaining that one of the ladies plucked up courage and during dessert leaned over and tapped the diplomat on the arm and with an affectation of shyness said: "Mr. Depew, let us pretend that you are the shepherd Paris, I am Minerva, Mrs. Blank is Venus and Miss Blank is Juno. Now you must give this golden apple to the fairest." So saying, she handed him an orange. Depew did not wait an instant, but, turning in his chair, called the waiter. "Waiter," he said, "bring me two more oranges."

A Sight He Enjoyed.

In the South Kensington museum, London, there is an enormous skeleton of a mastodon from Benton county, Mo. Once when a congressman of that state was over, he was wandering around the museum lonesome enough to kill, and worn out looking at so many strange things. Finally he ran across the mastodon. His eye rested upon the inscription and a wonderful light came into his face. "By thunder,

"BUT, MAN, LOOK AT THAT INSCRIPTION."

John," he exclaimed, "look at that! Just look at it once!" His companion, an Englishman, looked with more or less indifference. "I see it," he said with provoking coolness. "But, man, look at that inscription. It comes from Missouri!" continued the congressman enthusiastically. "Old Missouri. My state, man! And it's the biggest —— thing in the whole museum!"

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Philosophical Phelix Says:

"A ball game, an argument, a passage of arms and then the morgue." That's the way Manager Thompson expresses his opinion of last Saturday's Spicer-Saurer contest.

This protest is the first one yet recorded in the Manufacturers' baseball league and looks as though it was the result of a little misunderstanding.

There is one consolation, however, it will have no effect on the outcome of the championship.

Reports from Chicago state that Jack Johnson has finally agreed to meet Joe Jeannette, if suitable terms can be secured from the managers of Madison Square Garden.

According to a report in New York, Jack Johnson, world's heavyweight champion, has signed articles for matches with Sam Langford and Jim McVey in Australia. The bouts are to be twenty rounds or to a finish, as the promoter, Hugh McIntosh, wishes. The champion is to receive $30,000 for his bout with Langford and $20,000 for his match with McVey. Besides purses Johnson is to receive transportation from Chicago to Australia and return for three people.

Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world, is about to become a baseball player. Johnson last night made application for the first base position on the American Giants, "Rube" Foster's colored semi-professional team, and will be given a chance for the place.

Nat Cartmell, Olympic winner in England two years ago, when he ran under the colors of the University of Pennsylvania, showed his heels to William Martin, a Notre Dame flyer, in a 220-yard match race for $1,000 a side yesterday afternoon. Cartmell finished strong in a shade over twenty-two seconds, seven feet ahead of Martin.

The engagement of Charles D. Reidpath, winner of the 400-meter event at the Olympic games, Stockholm, and Miss Sarah Pratt, of Syracuse, N. Y., has just been announced. They will be married early this fall, the date to be set soon after the arrival of Mr. Reidpath, who is expected to reach Buffalo on August 2.

"Ironman" McGinnity, in the box for the Newark International League team, of which he is part owner and manager, pitched and won both games of a bouble-header with Rochester yesterday and pulled the three-time champions out of first place, a position they had held since May 20.

The Olympic games concluded this week with the finish of the yacht races. With the points gained in the yachting events Sweden leads the nations in the number of points in all events, Sweden's total being 133, only four points ahead of the United States, in spite of the fact that there was no American representative in the yachting competitions. Great Britain stands third with a total of seventy-six points. The United States leads the firsts with twenty-five to Sweden's twenty-three.

A new world's record for one mile was established at the Stadium Motordrome at Brighton Beach last night, when Arthur Chapple, of New York, rode the distance in the remarkable time of 39 1-5 seconds. This lowered the former record of 39 4-5, held by Eddie Hasha, of the Los Angeles Motordrome. Chapple's ride was replete with sensational riding. The first lap was traveled in 12 3-5 seconds, and the officials felt safe that at the same pace the old mark would surely fall before the strenuous attack of the Gothamite.

A number of the American participants in the swimming competitions at the recent Olympic games at Stockholm took part in a swimming meet at Hawaii Saturday. The Hawaiian "Duke" Kahanamoku won the 100 metres event in the world's record time of 1 minute 1 1-5 seconds. P. C. McGillivray, Illinois Athletic Club, Chicago, was second.

Eddie Collins nearly equalled Ty Cobb's mark in batting. The crack Athletic second baseman has made twelve hits in the last eighteen times up.

Hal Chase recently sprung a surprise at the hilltop by the ginger he put into his play, ginger that has been lacking all season with the first sacker. Within ten days he boosted his batting average more than thirty points, showed again that he can field around the first corner about as well as any other in the game, and, moreover, gave an exhibition of speed on the bases.

John McGraw recently paid Wagner the tribute of being the greatest player in the game. Wagner has led the league in batting so long he has to look up his own record to know how many years it is. He was simply born, as they say of poets, to his calling. He will be able to negotiate base hits as long as he is able to totter to the plate and he never will care much who is pitching.

There is still talk in Brooklyn of a new manager for the Dodgers next season. President Ebbs has practically completed a new ball field and now he wants a team that will be a credit to it. There is talk that Willie Keeler, author of hit-em-where-they-ain't, will get the leadership, for Dahlen has failed with a wealth of material to turn out a winner.

Matty, with his knowledge of the game and players and his great control, will be a reliable pitcher when the fame of some of the sputtering stars has died out entirely.

CARLSTROM MAKES GOOD ON NEW ENGLAND TEAM

Albie Carlstrom, who played with the Plainfield Central New Jersey League team during the championship season last year, seems to be burning things up around the New England League circuit. He is playing for the Lawrence nine of that league.

The Lawrence Eagle has the following to say in regard to his work:

"Carlstrom is playing better than he ever did. He is batting for .280. There has been a marked improvement in his fielding and especially in his throwing. In the past seventeen games he has made five errors. He has accepted ninety-six chances. Carlstrom covers an acre of ground and it must be expected that he slip up."

—When a man has money to burn there is generally a woman to apply the torch.

"Yes, my child, I was the first to present the great drama of 'Faust' before an American audience. "What did you play?" "I—ahem! —played the hose in the garden scene."—Life.

PLAINFIELD ALL-STARS AT FLEMINGTON TODAY

A mid-week game of ball is being played this afternoon with the Flemington baseball team by a strong all-star aggregation from this city. Louis Slocum is on the mound for the team, and his recent box work for Bound Brook shows him to be one of the best in the business. Tommy Mullin, who has been playing the shortstop position for Scotch Plains, is doing the backstop work. Mullin and Slocum were in the points for the McNulty Brothers' nine in New York last season until the local twirler left to join the Philadelphia Athletics in August. First base is being cared for by Garretson, who is known as a slugger and experienced man around the initial sack. Frank Evans, the Gas Company player and formerly a member of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team, will take charge of the keystone sack and his snappy fielding will put a lot of pep in the lineup which has never played together as a whole before. Billy Coyle, who is doing Saturday afternoon duty for Dunellen, will cavort around short for the all-stars. Dowl, a man somewhat unknown in Plainfield, has been signed to play third. He has had a great deal of experience as guardian of the difficult bag, and although he has not been playing around this vicinity he has been heard of before.

The outfield will consist of Joe Carty, the former Plainfield High school slugger, and Nels Luthman of the West End nine. The selection of the other man is still a matter of doubt, but Slocum says he has a surprise in store.

This same aggregation of players is carded to play an exhibition game at the Flemington Fair which opens next week and the same lineup will probably be taken there at that time.

FISHING NOTES.

There seems to be plenty of weakfish in what is called the "deep hole," a fishing ground in the Shrewsbury River, off Water Witch. Many of the fish taken there last Saturday and Sunday weighed over three pounds.

A most picturesque scene is to be had by visiting any one of the Coney Island fishing piers about 10 o'clock at night. Fluke are running and fishermen, who take their families down to the island and, while they are enjoying the sights, the father fishes. Along about 9:30 o'clock the family begin to arrive on the pier and coax papa to go home, but that is the time the fish are biting the best, so the mother puts the family to sleep on the pier and tells the father all about the fun they had.

Uncle Charlie Geiger, of Water Witch, was out to Sandy Hook last Sunday when the Seaside Club caught a boat load of fish and brought them ashore. Uncle Charlie had the time of his life, but now he doesn't want to pay for some labor that he engaged. He was glued fast to one spot on the boat and Francis Christianson had to take every fluke off his hook, for which the boys say he is entitled to a cent a fish. Uncle Charlie refuses to tell how many fluke he caught, so the bill is still unsettled.

For a tonic that is good for the nerves take a trip next Sunday on the Titania from the Battery to the fishing grounds. Get there early, as the boat leaves promptly at 6 a. m. on this trip.

It rained all over the State Sunday and put a stop to the fishing in many places. Early in the morning the fish bit well in the deep hole in the Shrewsbury River and along toward noon the fishmen had to quit as it was raining too hard.

A number of fishermen from this city are making short excursions to Sewaren and nearby fishing grounds and all report good catches.

Boats leave the battery at Elizabethport daily and large crowds of anglers return with big catches.

TOMMY MULLIN SIGNS WITH BOUND BROOK NINE

Tommy Mullin, of this city, has signed a contract with the Bound Brook combination to play at that place on Saturdays during the rest of the season. Mullin has been playing with the Scotch Plains nine on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, when they had games, but their schedule has been so irregular that he has decided to improve his time by signing up with a fast semi-professional combination and found a berth with Bound Brook. He will get into the game for the first time next Saturday, when his team meets the Plainfield baseball club at that place. Tommy should shine in this contest because of the fact that he is playing against a nine from his home town and also because this is his initial appearance.

Mullin played last season with the McNulty brother's team, one of the fastest semi-professional aggregations in the metropolitan district, and he is an exceptionally good base runner and consistent man with the willow. He will be sent in to cover third base for the Bound Brook team and will take the place of Howard Craig, who resigned after the Plainfield-Bound Brook skirmish on the oval three weeks ago.

NEW SERIES OF GAMES.

Owing to dissatisfaction resulting over the outcome of the recent games played between Bound Brook and Plainfield, the two managers are arranging for an entire new series to be played in the near future. The first game of the new schedule will be played at Bound Brook next Saturday afternoon. Manager Dorflinger will have his same lineup on the field, while the home nine will have three new players. One of these will be Tommy Mullin, of this city. Degnon, of High Bridge, has been engaged to do the umpiring. The batteries for Plainfield will be Frederickson and Nelson; and for Bound Brook, Slocum and Lidgate.

Rivers and a Mountain Range.

The range of the Blue Ridge mountains in Pennsylvania is divided by a river every twenty-seven miles, as follows: From Susquehanna to the Swatara, twenty-seven miles; from the Swatara to the Schuylkill, twenty-seven miles; from the Schuylkill to the Lehigh, twenty-seven miles; from the Lehigh to the Delaware, twenty-seven miles. At the next twenty-seven miles is a hollow of New Jersey, in which nestles a lake known as Culvers pond.

Maybe It Was Accidental.

Pastor Goodsole had just preached a sermon on "Gossiping." It may have been, therefore, wholly unintentional that he gave out the first stanza of the closing hymn in this wise:

Blow ye the trumpet, blow
The gladly solemn sound!
Let all the neighbors know
To earth's remotest bound.

He looked preternaturally solemn, and there wasn't the slightest flicker of an eyelash.—Chicago Tribune.

PERRY SCOTT'S TURKEY.

This Wonderful Bird Was Well Fixed With Legs and Wings.

The story of Perry Scott's turkey has come down from Revolutionary days in Carolina. Colonel Gordon was accustomed to tell of the hasty march which he made before Rudolph's legion. He was just sitting down to dinner when orders were given to cross the Ashley river. It was nearly nightfall when he bivouacked in a valley in which the cavalry under Wayne had just encamped and, with his officers, began to sup on dry bread and potatoes. The infantry which he commanded were in a starving condition, and the commissary was without money, but raiding upon the farmers was sternly made punishable by death.

Reports of the hungry condition of the newcomers had circulated among Wayne's men. Just as the colonel began to eat his musty bread a private from Wayne's cavalry appeared and said respectfully: "Perry Scott had some money, colonel, and bought a turkey. We have unfortunately eaten all but one leg. I took the liberty of bringing that to you." The colonel took the leg gratefully and had scarcely finished it when another of Wayne's men appeared with the same story of Perry Scott's turkey and another leg.

The colonel congratulated himself on his luck and, handling the drumstick over to a fellow officer, went out of the tent. It was growing dark. Another cavalryman came up, whispered the story of Perry Scott and cautiously handed over a third leg. The colonel continued his walk through the camp and before his return had been secretly offered twenty legs and fourteen wings of Perry Scott's turkey.

Wayne's men had raided a poultry yard the previous night and concocted the story of Perry Scott's purchase to protect themselves in case any turkey bones should be discovered. The hunger bitten faces of their new comrades were more than they could bear, however, and each man, unknown to the others, carried his share into Gordon's camp at the risk of detection and death. It was not until the war was over and the troops disbanded that Colonel Gordon told the story of Perry Scott and his many legged fowl.—Argonaut.

LIVING COST IN PARCELS POST

Senator Gardner of Maine Arraigns Express Companies In Big Figures.

Washington, July 24.—That a substantial reduction in the cost of living could be effected was the plea for parcels-post legislation made to the senate by Senator Gardner of Maine. He estimated that at present it cost $7,000,000,000 to get the producers' output to consumers.

The purchase of the express business, he estimated, would cost $21,000,000. At present these companies exacted $170,000,000 annually from the people, the Maine senator declared.

"This is at least $70,000,000 more than a fair price for the service rendered," he asserted.

GAMBLER'S WIDOW ACCUSES BECKER

Exposes Police System's Workings to Grand Jury.

HARRY VALLON IS CAUGHT

Admits He Was With Rose on Night of Murder—Rose Advised to Tell the Truth—Whitman and Dougherty Trying to Force Confessions.

New York, July 24.—Mrs. Herman Rosenthal, the widow of the murdered gambler, told to the grand jury the intimate relations her husband had with Police Lieutenant Becker. She was hysterical and said she was haunted by the fear that she herself would be assassinated.

She said Becker received 20 per cent of the profits of Rosenthal's gambling house until Bald Jack Rose, Becker's collector, became too greedy and insisted on a rakeoff himself. Then, said Mrs. Rosenthal, her husband was forced to get rid of Becker, although he never believed that Becker would interfere with the business.

And then she told about the raid. She said that Becker, an old friend of her's and Herman's, came to the gambling house, apologetically, and with his hat in his hand. He was sorry, he said, clear down to the ground, but Waldo had ordered him to get Rosenthal, and the job had to be done. Becker knew it was hard on Herman, the widow went on, but he wanted to do the right thing, and so he told Mrs. Rosenthal that Herman could forget the $1,500 and that the mortgage would be canceled.

Vallon Was With Rose.

A few hours after Mrs. Rosenthal left the grand jury room Harry Vallon, who gave himself up, was under the fire of District Attorney Whitman's questions. Ready with an alibi, like all of the other figures in the murder case, Vallon insisted that he had had no hand in the killing and that he did not know a single man who fired a shot. But he did admit that he had been around with Jack Rose that night on Lieutenant Becker's business and that with Sam Schepps he had accompanied Jack Rose to the house of Dora Gilbert, Rosenthal's divorced wife. In this house, it appears, many people had gathered for a pleasant evening. Vallon saw at least a dozen having drinks at somebody's expense. He himself got drunk and left Rose and Schepps at Bridgie Webber's some time after 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Muddled and dazed, he stumbled into the subway and went to call on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Signal at 226 East Fourteenth street.

The story told by the gambler will lead, the district attorney believes, to a breakdown on the part of other men under arrest. Jack Rose, who hired the gray car, has been advised for his own good to walk the line of truth, and if Rose tells what he knows the district attorney thinks that the evidence will lead to the policemen most concerned in the silencing of Rosenthal.

Mrs. Rosenthal's Statement.

Here is Mrs. Rosenthal's story, in part, as she told it to the grand jury:

Every word my husband said that has been put in the affidavit in which he said that Lieutenant Becker was his gambling partner and that Becker had been dishonest with him is as true as truth can be. I knew all of my husband's affairs. When Herman had business arrangements I knew about them. When he was paying money to a man I knew who got the money and how much was paid. He never concealed anything from me. We didn't lead that sort of a life. I have known of his relations with police officers for years. Of course I knew that he, like every other man in the gambling business, had been paying for protection.

I knew Lieutenant Becker and his wife very well. Becker had called often at our house. I have been up to their house many times. Why, our relations were just as friendly and pleasant as you could imagine. Just as my husband said, I was at the Elks' ball on New Year's eve when Lieutenant Becker told everybody around that he thought Herman was the grandest fellow in the world. We were all in a party, and I suppose a good deal of champagne was drunk. I know, anyway, that Lieutenant Becker put his arm around Herman's neck and said, just as if he was making a speech: "I think more of this man than of anybody in the world. Anything he wants from me he can have." And Becker called some men and told them that Herman was his best friend and what Herman said went.

Rose Was Becker's Collector.

Lieutenant Becker spoke of Rose that night. He said to Herman in my presence that as long as Rose was in with us in the gambling business that everything would be lovely. We believed it. We knew how strong Rose was with Becker. If there was anybody that didn't know it I don't know where they were. Every gambler in town knew that Jack Rose was the lieutenant's collector and that Rose and Becker were as close as brothers. Of course I knew why Rose was put in our house. Herman told me. The arrangement was a very common one. Becker knew that Herman's game had been a pretty profitable one and that the money was coming in. So he declared himself in because he wasn't overlooking any easy money. Being a policeman, he couldn't be in a gambling house all the time and see that the money was split so that he wouldn't lose his share, but he put Jack Rose in to see that Becker didn't get the worst of it.

Well, that was all right. Herman wouldn't have kicked about that. He was getting his money's worth in protection. He had been paying cops for years, and it was all part of the game. But he couldn't stand for Rose. There is one grasping man. He was not only taking Becker's 20 per cent out of the game, but he wasn't forgetting Jack Rose. Why, he got so he wanted to pocket as much as Becker was getting. There was nothing doing. Business was getting bad. The game wouldn't stand that much of a drain. Herman had been carrying around for a bank roll before, and he didn't want to go begging again if he could help it. So he did the only thing he could—when the cut got too heavy he put Rose out. "Out you go, Jack," said Herman. "I can't stand for this."

Rosenthal Believed Becker.

Herman Rosenthal never believed for a minute that Becker would double cross him—not that he believed any policeman was on the level, not for a minute. He had done business with the cops too long. But he did think that Becker would be fair enough and enough of a man to stand by his agreement and to back up his affectionate words at the Elks' club. Well he didn't. He listened to Jack Rose when Rose went to him and said that Herman had complained. The very next day the raid came off. Rose had influence enough to make Becker do what he wanted.

Lieutenant Becker came to me himself. He was full of apologies and excuses. He acted like a man who was doing a dirty piece of business against his will. He said to me right in the hallway: "Mrs. Rosenthal, you know I have to do this. I wish I could tell you how sorry I am. But I've got to do it. Waldo has ordered a raid, and I've got to make good." And then Becker said to me, with a grin and in a way that made me think the raid was a joke: "Don't worry. This raid won't count. Just a little excitement and things will be all right."

Before he left the house he came to me again, and he said: "Mrs. Rosenthal, I know this is pretty hard on Herman, but he must understand my position in the matter. I haven't any choice at all. You tell Herman that he can forget the $1,500 I lent him and I will see to it that the mortgage is squared. I want to do the right thing by Herman, and I wouldn't ask him to come across with the $1,500."

12 WOMEN DEAD IN LONDON SHOP FIRE

Many Injured in Blaze in Factory Zone.

London, July 24.—Twelve women met death and many were injured in a fire which swept through Moor lane, in the center of the danger zone of London. The fire was accompanied by thrilling rescues, but despite the firemen's efforts the flames gained considerable headway and were not checked until the death toll included a dozen.

The fire attracted many thousands of persons, and the streets in that thickly settled district were thronged and blocked. The firemen encountered a stubborn fire to fight, and a light wind sent the flames roaring upward in the midst of rows of buildings, giving rise to fear that a serious conflagration was in progress.

Many of the rescued were carried down ladders by the firemen, and the injured were hurried to hospitals.

ASIAN LABOR'S UNREST.

Japan's Plan to End "Outbreaks of Dangerous Thought."

Tokyo, July 24.—Alarmed at the growth of labor unrest throughout Japan, the mikado's advisers are urging the speedy passage by the diet of an amendment to the factory law designed, as it is expressed here, to prevent future "outbreaks of dangerous thought."

By the amendment's provisions large manufacturers are required to set aside a percentage of their profits for their employees in addition to their regular wages. The employees will receive this money, however, only upon completion of specified terms of service.

The government has had much trouble with workingmen of late, and there can be no question that Japan is on the eve of important labor reforms.

TO PLACE ENTIRE TICKET IN FIELD

Asbury Park Convention Was an Enthusiastic Gathering.

PLANS OF PROGRESSIVES.

In Hudson County New Idea Men Are In Control of Organization and Tangle May Result—Majority Favored Placing New Ticket In Every County of the State.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 4.—Following the state convention of the progressive party here the delegates went home enthusiastic, although a bit puzzled.

Men like Everett Colby and the other New Idea group who are progressives above all other things told them it meant a new party from the bottom to the top. Ex-Governor J. Franklin Fort, Edmund B. Osborne, commissioner of education, and Frank B. Jess, president of the tax board, concurred in this view.

Ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler, George L. Record and their friends believed that the action meant that the progressives can go into the primaries with the regular organization in counties where the progressives are sure of winning, and then bolt on county tickets if they are whipped. Mr. Fowler wanted to have it decided to support Taft in preference to Wilson to save the country from free trade, while ex-Governor Edward C. Stokes and Assemblyman Albert McAllister from Cumberland county went home before the convention met.

They were in favor of the plan to keep as close to the old party organization as possible and to do the fighting on the inside, all of which was formally declined. The consensus of opinion after the convention is that there will be independent third party tickets in county, state and national affairs in every county of the state except Hudson, where the progressives will control.

Federal supervision of trusts was advocated, public ownership of telegraph and telephones, a parcels post and woman's suffrage. The New Jersey delegation to the Chicago convention was selected to go to Chicago on Aug. 5 and to vote for Theodore Roosevelt.

WANTS TO GO TO CONGRESS.

Nichols of New Jersey Announces His Personal Platform Too.

Trenton, N. J., July 24.—Senator Nichols of Cumberland county filed a petition putting him in the race for congress in the Second congressional district, long represented by Congressman Gardner of Atlantic county.

Mr. Nichols also filed his platform as follows:

"One cent postage, parcels post, improvement of free rural delivery, limiting president of United States to one term of six years, liberal appropriations for public improvements for deeper waterways, especially the Atlantic City inlet; revision of tariff on protective lines, more relief for veterans of the civil war, reduction of food cost by legislation, shorter hours of labor, opposition to special privilege to the end that wages are increased, maintenance of the cardinal principles of the constitution as laid down by the fathers."

AUTO KILLS A DEER.

Was Doe, Weighing 160 Pounds, Hunting For Fawn.

Hackensack, N. J., July 24.—Thomas E. Quinn of Brooklyn, while returning from Paterson to New York in a big touring automobile, struck a deer on the Arcola road near Rochelle park. It was a doe, weighing 160 pounds. A fawn was with her.

The bright headlights dazed the animal and Quinn's chauffeur was unable to dodge her. Herman Hoffman, a blacksmith, found the dead deer in the woods 200 yards from where she was struck.

Quinn had already notified Game Warden Reinbold of Hackensack, being anxious that a search should be made for the injured deer. How the deer and fawn came to be in so thickly settled a district is a mystery.

Those in the vicinity are keeping a sharp eye out for the fawn.

WOMAN HURT BY EXPLOSION.

Runs to Fire House to Summon Firemen, Despite Serious Injuries.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24.—Intent only on saving her home from destruction, Miss Bessie Tray, although badly burned by an explosion of gas, hurried to the West Side fire station and called firemen before she fell unconscious.

She carried a candle into a basement room to search for a gas leak and was blown through the doorway by the explosion. Her hair was scorched off and her arms covered with burns. The fire was extinguished while surgeons bound up her wounds. She will recover.

GIRL DYING OF WHIP LASHES; 18 ACCUSED

Son Threatens Father Who Led Brutal Attack.

Macon, Ga., July 24.—Essie Carter, the young girl whipped at Dawson by eighteen prominent men, headed by W. S. Dozier, clerk of the Tennel superior court, is at the point of death in a Macon hospital, and the chances are that Dozier and his friends will have to face a charge of murder. The girl has made an antemortem statement telling how she was seized, stripped of her clothing and cut to pieces by a buggy whip in the hands of Dozier. The physicians say that the girl has been literally flayed alive.

"Mr. Dozier whipped me because his youngest son Vogt loved me, and I returned his love," said the girl. "I urged Vogt to give me up to please his father, but he wouldn't do it, and the father whipped me. There were eighteen men in the party and one of them held a lantern so Mr. Dozier could see where to strike me."

Dozier has issued a statement admitting that he whipped the girl. He says he did it to save his son, who refused to give her up. Prominent lawyers have taken up the girl's case and will prosecute. It is reported that young Vogt Dozier has sworn to kill his father and friends for the maltreatment of the young woman.

Woman Mayor and Woman Who Would Be Governor

Mrs. Susan Wissler Is Chief Executive of a Wyoming Town.

Miss Anna A. Maley Is Candidate of Socialists in Washington.

"YOURS truly, Susan Wissler, Mayor of Dayton." Such is the businesslike signature of the new mayor of a little cow town in northern Wyoming which chose a keen eyed, pleasant featured woman to preside over its public affairs.

Though Wyoming is the first equal suffrage state, no woman ever before secured a mayor's office. Indeed, Mrs. Wissler is the second woman in the United States to be a mayor, Hunnewell, Kan., having chosen a woman for that post a year or two ago. But the Hunnewell mayor was chosen more as a jest than in earnest, it is said, and she was bitterly opposed by the town council, whereas Mrs. Wissler was selected from several available candidates and was elected by a rousing majority that testified to the business ability which had secured the honor for her.

"I want to have some things corrected about my election," said Mrs. Wissler. "Some of the papers said the women elected me. While many women voted for me—and I appreciate their support—four-fifths of the votes for me were cast by men. You know Wyoming is a man's state, and the men are greatly in the majority here. I doubt if any one could get an office solely on the strength of the woman vote, as in other states where the proportion of women is much larger.

"Another thing I want to have corrected is the story that I promised to close the saloons and had appointed an anti-saloon man as marshal. I made no promises whatever, only that I would do my best to qualify for the office and to give the people of Dayton a good administration. I don't want to talk about my plans, but you can say that there will be no lack of vigor in this administration. After I have made up my mind what is the right thing to do I am going ahead without fear or favor, and I will have a marshal on the job who will back me up."

Mrs. Wissler is a widow and has lived in Wyoming twenty-two years. She is in the dry goods business in Dayton and is well known to the people of northern Wyoming. Dayton is the chief town in the cattle and sheep region and is the trading center of the ranch folk for miles around. Mrs. Wissler has a wide acquaintance in her part of the state, and even the cowboys and sheep herders know and respect her. For fifteen years she taught school in the lonely and isolated schoolhouses on the sheep and cattle range, and the children in the country surrounding Dayton love and admire "Aunt Susan."

Politically Mrs. Wissler is a Democrat, but partisan politics cut little figure in her election, as she was practically the choice of all parties. The saloon question is dominant in Dayton. Like most towns of its class, Dayton is "some lively" when a few visiting cowboys or sheep herders come in from the lonely plains and decide to wake things up. The control of such turbulent spirits has vexed the better class of citizens, and finally it was decided to put a woman in the mayor's office and see if some change for the better could not be wrought.

Those who know Mrs. Wissler have no doubt that she will solve the problem with determination, and at the same time with tolerance. She has lived so long in the "big outdoor country" that she knows its questions are different from those of older communities and demand different treatment. But life has been a hard fight for her, and she has delighted in overcoming difficulties.

"You bet that little woman in the dry goods store is some scrapper," said a gaunt cowpuncher, who had reined up in front of a Dayton saloon. "It ain't her way to say much, but if she ever takes it into her head to clean up this town in a hurry, it's goin' to be a record breakin' cleanup. An' if the marshal ain't got sand enough to back her up, she's jest liable to grab his star and guns and go after the roughnecks herself."

The clubwomen of Wyoming are elated at the election of Mrs. Wissler as mayor of Dayton.

"It is time Wyoming began doing more for the women in the way of electing them to office," said a Cheyenne club leader. "Although this state was the first to adopt woman suffrage, it has elected few women to office. It was not until the last session of the legislature that we had a woman representative. Colorado has had more than a dozen women in the legislature all told in recent years. Idaho has had more women in office than Wyoming. We have a woman as superintendent of public instruction, but that is an appointive office and is woman's work anyway.

"What we want is more representation among the elective offices of the state, and we are going to get them. More Wyoming towns are going to follow the example of Dayton and elect women mayors. We don't have to depend on the woman vote to get the offices, as Mrs. Wissler's election shows. Wyoming men are the most gallant and fair minded in the world, and they are going to help the cause along when they see how much good it is going to do some of these rough towns to have a woman at the head of affairs."

Mrs. Wissler has two grown children, and says that politics has been a pleasant field of work for her ever since her home duties ceased. Dayton, with its population of only 200 or 300, does not appear like a big field.

"There's more devilment here than in most cities many times the size," said one of the new mayor's boomers. "If 'Aunt Susan' can hold down the job here she wouldn't have any trouble bossing New York or Chicago. We're going to give her lots of elbow room and plenty of help, and we believe that it ain't going to hurt things a bit to have a crackerjack housekeeper and business woman in charge of Dayton for awhile."

Miss Anna Agnes Maley, the Socialist candidate for governor of the state of Washington, was born in Minnesota in 1873. She was reared on a farm and was the eighth of a family of eleven children. At thirteen she went to Minneapolis, where she "worked for her board" and attended school until she had completed three years in high school. She taught in country schools until she was twenty-two, when she took up stenography.

Later she returned to school, doing special work at the University of

MISS ANNA AGNES MALEY.

Minnesota and in the Rand School of Social Science in New York. From 1909 to 1911 she was a special organizer of women for the National Socialist party. For a year past she has been connected with a Socialist paper published in Everett, Wash.

Miss Maley made no canvass for the nomination, as in her state Socialist nominations are made by referendum. The state office issues a call to the locals and each local sends its nomination. All who receive more than five nominations either accept or decline. The names of those who accept are sent back for final vote. Only Judge Richard Winsor and Miss Maley accepted, and Miss Maley won by 800 votes.

She is already in the field campaigning. She is regarded as likely to run second among the candidates for governor, and her election is not impossible if the old parties remain split.

"I care nothing for myself personally," said Miss Maley recently. "It is the principles, aims and methods of the National Socialist party that I desire to see succeed. Our party has stood upon this unmodified platform since its organization—social ownership and democratic control of the socially necessary industrial property."

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You woudn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

FOUL PLAY MAY BE THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Man May Have Been Killed, and Then Thrown on Track to Cover Crime.

High Bridge, July 24.—An air of mystery surrounds the death of Thomas Crawley, about fifty years old, whose mangled body was found Saturday morning along the Central Railroad tracks west of this place. There is talk of foul play and that the body was placed on the track to be run over.

Before there was apparent any reason to believe Crawley had met with foul play a burial certificate had been issued by a local coroner. It is however believed that a further investigation will be made by the authorities.

It has been learned that Crawley was at Hampton on Friday night, and returned to High Bridge on the 9 o'clock train. Accompanied by another man, whose identity could not be obtained, Crawley started for home, walking the railroad tracks.

William Pace, Timothy Riordan, Richard Greenfield, Samuel Dorland and Dixie Beem were at Pace's blacksmith shop, fixing an automobile, between 9 and 10 o'clock, when they heard an altercation between two men on the railroad tracks nearby. Punctuated with oaths, Mr. Pace stated, he heard one of the men say:

"If I catch you in my house again I will knock the head off you. I will finish you."

As the couple passed on up the track Dixie Beam, who is employed by Mr. Pace, went toward the railroad tracks and heard a man's whistle, which was answered by another whistle further up the tracks. He also whistled, he said, listened for a while, and hearing nothing more, returned to Mr. Pace's shop.

When the body was found the following morning portions of it had been gathered together and placed in a heap along the tracks, with a newspaper over them. No information can be obtained as to who placed them in that position, but the inference of many is the unknown person with whom he is supposed to have had an altercation did so and made his escape. It is also believed he was killed early at night, but his body was not found until daybreak. The discovery was made by the crew of an eastbound train.

Crawley lived near the scene of the accident and is said to have had domestic troubles. He married Miss Margaret Sutton, daughter of "Dad" Sutton, of Tewksbury township. Besides a wife he leaves two daughters and one son.

Crawley was employed in the mixing department of the Taylor Iron and Steel Company and belonged to the Taylor Employes' Beneficial Association.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at the Fairmount Presbyterian church by Rev. Dr. Baker Smith, the pastor. Interment was made in the Fairmount Union cemetery.

POWER OF THE OCTOPUS.

The Force Exerted by Its Formidable Sucker Lined Arms.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and when found proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

A BULL RING BEGGAR,

The Intruder Wanted Bread, but He Got "Thumbs Down."

Sometimes the bullfight in Spain is used to compel the attention of the authorities to grievances that would otherwise go unnoticed, as is seen in the following incident described by Harry A. Franck in "Four Months Afoot In Spain:"

"The newcomer will long remember his first bull—certainly if, as in my own case, the first banderillero slips at the moment of thrusting his barbed darts and is booted like a soccer foot ball half around the ring by the snorting animal. Still less shall I forget the chill that shot through me when, with the fifth bull at the height of his fury, a gaunt and awkward boy of fifteen sprang suddenly over the barriers and shook his ragged blouse a dozen times in the animal's face. As many times he escaped a goring by the closest margin.

"The toreros did not for a moment lose their heads. Calmly and dexterously they maneuvered until one of them drew the bull off, when another caught the intruder by the arm and marched him across the ring to the shade of the mayor's box. There the youth, who had taken this means of gaining an audience, lifted up a mournful voice and asked for food, asserting that he was starving—a statement that seemed by no means improbable. The response was thumbs down. But he gained his point, in a way, for he was given a fortnight in prison.

"Incidents of the sort had grown so frequent of late in Seville as to make necessary a new law, promulgated in large letters on that day's program. Printed words in all probability meant nothing to this neglected son of Seville."

The Uncertain Apple Tree.

An apple tree is the result of a graft from the tree that is known to be a producer of a certain kind and flavor of apples. If the seed were planted and one relied on it to produce a select grade of fruit the result would be disappointing, for the reason that from the seed the most remarkable varieties will be shown. Perhaps they will be miserable little crabapples or misshapen, bitter fruit or a useless conglomeration. The seed somehow or other harks back to its origin, notwithstanding years of cultivation. The varieties of apples known today are a result of careful selection and constant grafting of the better kind from year to year until the present development has been attained.—Harper's.

Handsome Goethe.

Goethe was pronounced "the handsomest man of Europe." He was a little over six feet in height, but so well proportioned that he did not seem tall. His features were of the Roman type, his hair rather light than dark, his whole appearance commanding. Even to extreme old age he retained a large share of the personal good looks that earlier in life had made him so attractive.

CUT-OUT CAUSES MISHAP.

Whitehouse, July 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brokaw had a narrow escape from serious injury in a runaway accident in this place Monday afternoon. They were driving home from Somerville when they met a large automobile moving-van. Just opposite the horse the automobile muffler was cut out and the frightened animal lurched suddenly to one side. Before Mr. Brokaw could get it under control again the vehicle went over the edge of a bridge, upsetting and throwing both of the occupants out. They suffered only a few scratches and bruises, however. The horse ran on for about a mile before it was captured. The wagon was badly damaged. The truck went on before its number could be noted.

New York, July 24—There are now 1,744 organized bodies of the Y. M. C. A., with a total membership of 563,479, in North America, according to the year book of the Association to be issued August 1. There has been a gain of 27,500 members in the past year. The value of the new buildings opened is approximately $5,500,000, making a total value of about $73,000,000. Further funds are now on hand, and buildings which are to cost $6,500,000 are being erected.

The association expended $10,000,000 last year in the conduct of the work.

CHIEF'S FRIENDS RESTIVE.

Metuchen, July 24—Although it is a week now since Chief of Police Flaherty was suspended for letting the manacled burglar escape, he has not been notified to report for duty. Flaherty claims he has not been notified of any investigation. Friends are growing restless. They make no secret of the fact that they think the procedure was most unusual and rather unfair under the circumstances, and unless action is taken shortly, it is claimed, the borough officials will be asked to explain.

MOY TO RUN FOR REPRESENTATIVE?

Progressives of 5th District Seek to Muster Him As Candidate.

NOT LIKELY TO ACCEPT

Local Rooseveltians Want Him to Head Their Ticket—Does Fowler Covet the Place He Held Prior to Tuttle's Election?

Should the Progressives in the Fifth New Jersey Congressional district succeed in their purpose to induce Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of this city, to become their candidate for the House of Representatives, the Rooseveltians in Plainfield will lose him for the head of their local ticket next fall. It has been common knowledge in political circles hereabouts during the last few days that the Mayor has received letters and personal calls begging him to allow his name to be used by the T. R. men for nomination for the place now held by a Democrat, William E. Tuttle, of Westfield.

In the absence of getting Mr. Moy to put hmself on record, it is not a wild guess to predict that he will not consent to seek Congressional honors but will accept a mayoralty nomination tendered by the local Progressives. Fred Parks, of Cranford, a New York lawyer, filed his petition a week or so ago and stands as a Progressive candidate for the nomination. Parks, however, is not considered seriously and the call of the Moose has come from Cranford, Elizabeth, Summit, Morristown and other points for Moy to enter the lists.

Charles N. Fowler's actions at the State convention of the Rooseveltians at Asbury Park on Tuesday, leads many Progressive leaders to believe that he will attempt to obtain a Congressional nomination on the Republican ticket this fall. When it came to the "show down" on Tuesday, Fowler ran to cover, climbing aboard the G. O. P. bandwagon. This was not altogether a surprise to some who have followed his political career. Former City Judge William N. Runyon, of this city, who defeated Fowler for the Republican nomination two years ago and was then beaten at the election by Mr. Tuttle, has not stated his position. His friends want him to stand again as the Republican party choice.

COACHMAN'S DEATH CAN'T BE CONFIRMED

There was a persistent rumor in circulation in this city today that James J. Strappe, coachman, of 609 John street, had been killed by an automobile accident at Southampton, L. I., last night. Neither denial nor confirmation of the story could be obtained. Strappe, who has been in the employ of Percy H. Stewart and formerly fourteen years with former Mayor C. J. Fisk, is married and has two children. Six weeks ago he left for the summer residence of the Stewarts at Southampton, taking the family with him. Several of his neighbors received letters from his wife, telling what a delightful time they were having.

Inquiries made late today at the home of Mr. Stewart and also at the homes of several of Strappe's brothers elicited the statement that they knew nothing about the matter further than the rumor current.

AFRO-AMERICAN S. S. CONVENTION HERE TODAY

The opening session of the Sixteenth Annual Afro-American Baptist Sunday-school convention was held last night in the Mt. Olive church on Fourth street. An educational sermon was preached by Rev. W. P. Graham, D. D., of Philadelphia.

Other sessions followed this morning and continued throughout the day. They close with a prayer service at 7:30 this evening. There is a large number of visitors in the city today attending this convention, including the pastors of some of the largest churches in the denomination.

JULIA M. HURLEY.

Julia M. Hurley, the 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley, died this morning at the home of her parents at 816 Richmond street. The funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made at St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. David Angerbauer and daughters, the Misses Marian and Margaret, of Webster place, are sojourning at Palisades on the Hudson.

COMMISSIONER GAVETT BUSY ON THE STREETS

Roadbeds Being Improved In Various Sections of the City Just at Present.

The work of relaying the trolley tracks on West Fourth street is progressing slowly. The Public Service's gang is now working in the vicinity of Grant avenue. Closely following the track gang Street Commissioner Gavett keeps his men repairing the road. Fourth street, where the street has been remade, is now one of the smoothest streets in the city and this good work will be continued as far as Monroe avenue.

On Park avenue, too, Mr. Gavett has a gang of men remaking the street from the city line towards the centre of the city. The heavy traffic over this thoroughfare wears deep ruts into the macadam. These are being leveled off, and a hard top covering made. In this way Park avenue is kept up to the standard of the rest of Palinfield's streets.

Netherwood avenue also is demanding the attention of the street department. A number of low places along the street have been apparent, their tendency to retain water has been the cause of sending a repair gang into that end of the city. A new storm sewer is being constructed on the lower end of the street near the brook which, it is hoped, will alleviate the difficulty.

FORMATION OF TEETH EFFECTS THE SENSES

Dr. Zentler Tells Teaches that Poor Teeth May Cause Mental Defects.

Dr. Arthur Zentler, of New York City, a well known odontologist and surgical dentist, yesterday at Watchung Crest, addressed the students of the Teachers' Training Course, which is being conducted by the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children. He gave a convincing treatment of his subject, showing that poor teeth, maformation of the mouth, proper oral hygiene, etc., were direct causes of many diseases and even mental defects. He laid considerable emphasis upon the subject of malocclusion, that is, the improper fitting together of the upper and lower teeth. Three pictures and plaster casts he demonstrated the effect of this particular defect upon the whole facial formation. He showed how the teeth and their formation are responsible for a very large percentage and defects in hearing, seeing, smelling, etc. His whole treatment of the subject was a revelation to the students as to the importance of the teeth in defective children.

Dr. George A. Meredith, assistant Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, will speak on the opportunities that come to the special teacher in her relation to the large general school problems, especially with reference to exceptional children. Dr. Meredith takes the place of Commissioner Kendall, who was to speak last Friday. His lecture will begin at three o'clock sharp in the lecture hall at Watchung Crest, Plainfield, N. J.

FLOGGING IS URGED FOR THE UNRULY BOYS

Elizabeth, July 25.—Flogging was recommended for boys who loiter on street corners and use improper language by Charles A. Trimble, a well known lawyer, who was in Police Court yesterday to complain against five boys who have been annoying pedestrians in the vicinity of Broad street and Rahway avenue. The youths were severely reprimanded by Judge Mahon and warned if they were brought before him again they will be sent to the reformatory.

The boys were Harold Thomas, 14 years old, of 3 Rahway avenue; Joseph Reilly, 17, of 64 Jefferson avenue; Clifford McNamee, 14, of 22 Rahway avenue; Earl Mulford, 15, of 14 Rahway avenue, and Charles Donnelly, 16, of 38 Rahway avenue.

ROYAL ARCANUM MEET.

An important meeting of the Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will be held tonight. Supervising Deputy Grand Regent Frank A. Errear, of Jersey City, will attend. The treasurer's report for the past six months will be submitted. A full attendance is requested.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB RUN.

The Motorcycle Club run next Sunday will be to Lambertville. Jack Horner says that they will make an early start and spend the day there.

HE PUT OUT A BLAZE ON THE MILITIA TRAIN

Private Perrine Extinguishes Fire In Horse Car of Second Regiment Train.

While returning from Mt. Gretna Private H. S. Perrine, of Company K, proved himself a man of action yesterday afternoon when he climbed out on a locomotive tender with a pail of water and extinguished a lively little blaze which had been discovered in one of the cars containing horses. Near Allentown a spark from the locomotive is supposed to have set fire to the straw in the car. When discovered, the flames had gained considerable headway and theatened to make serious trouble for the horses and their attendants in the car. Perrine quickly seized a pail of water and climbing over the tender dashed it upon the blaze after which it was quickly subdued.

Company K reached home shortly after four o'clock, after its ten days of encampment at Mt. Gretna. Everybody was in the best of health and happy. As the train pulled out of the North Avenue station. Cheer after cheer rang out attesting to the good times had and friendship formed at camp.

After marching to the armory, where the equipment was checked, each member of the company received his pay for the past ten day's work. Captain Peterson adressed the men, complimenting them for their soldierly behavior. Cheers were then given for the company's officers, following which the company broke ranks.

UNION COUNTY GETS $20,000 OF AUTO FUND

Freeholders Decide to Use State Money For Road Blg. and Repair Work.

The Union County Board of Freeholders will receive $20,000 from the State as the county's share of the automobile money for 1912. Last year $30,000 was the amount, but owing to the automobile reciprocity law, which allows machines from other States to come into New Jersey without State licenses, the revenue from that source ceased.

The money is given to the counties for road building and repairing purposes. As a large part of the road work in the county had been provided for by the freeholders in the annual appropriation, it is not fully determined just where the motor fund money will be expended. Several roads are being considered.

The road committee of the Board of Freeholders made a tour of the county Tuesday and inspected all of the work now under way. They rather expected to find some damage as the result of the severe rains of the past few days, but none to any great extent was observed. They have authorized the preparation of plans for paving South avenue a mile and a half through Fanwood borough and township and South avenue for a mile through Westfield. If done, the cost of this work will be defrayed by the automobile money.

The gutter cleaning, which is done each year, is practically finished. On both sides of more than forty miles of highway the gutters have been cleaned, and but little more remains to be done.

The two repair gangs which have been going over the roads of the county with portable kettles and crushed stone have nearly completed this important feature of road upkeep work. It is the duty of these men to fill in all holes and ruts found in the roads they traverse.

The rebuilding of South avenue, this city, is progressing as rapidly as possible, and when completed will be one of the best roads in the State. If the proposed rebuilding of the same thoroughfare through Fanwood township, Fanwood borough and Westfield goes through, the road will undoubtedly offer one of the best and longest stretches of road in this section.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPERS.

The third section of the Y. M. C. A. boys, booked to leave this city for the State Camp at Wawayanda, on July 31, will hold a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors Friday night at 8:15 o'clock. This will give them an opportunity to receive the final instructions from the leader who will have charge of the group. Preston Dunning, of Manning avenue, has been secured to take charge of this delegation and he is thoroughly competent.

CHAS. A. EATON WILL PREACH.

Rev. Charles A. Eaton, of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, of New York City, will preach Sunday morning at Wilson Memorial chapel in Watchung.

LABORER RUN DOWN BY A MOTORCYCLIST

Oscar Smith, of Oak Tree, Is Confined to Muhlenberg Hospital By His Injuries.

Oscar Smith, aged 37 years, a laborer residing at Oak Tree, while working on Park avenue near Brantingham's, yesterday afternoon, was knocked down by a motor cyclist and rendered unconscious. He was taken immediately to Muhlenberg hospital where he was treated for several scalp injuries. His condition is not considered serious.

The rider of the motor cycle subsequently reported to police headquarters regarding the incident. He said his name was Benjamin Prott, of 19 Grove street, North Plainfield, and the owner of the bicycle was Benjamin Herwitz, of the same address. According to his version of the story this was the first occasion on which he had ridden the motorcycle. He had no license though Herwitz had. The license number is 4848 N. J. When nearing Smith he was speeding about seven miles an hour. He says he sounded the horn and put on the brake. Smith did not appear to hear him as he walked across the road from right to left with a shovelful of dirt. To avoid an encounter he swerved his cycle to the right, but Smith suddenly stepped bacward in the same direction and he struck him, he said, on the side knocking him down.

To another man who was present he gave his name and address. He then rode away home, but subsequently on the advice of Herwitz visited the hospital and wired as to Smith's condition. He was informed that his injuries were slight.

The police say that they were informed of the matter by telephone and given the number of the motorcycle; also that the rider of same had rode away after the cycle struck Smith.

As Smith's life is not considered in danger, he has not been detained, but has been ordered to hold himself in readiness if the Middlesex county prosecutor should need him.

WILSON M. A. WILL GO TO MORRISTOWN

J. Harold Randolph Buys Miss Dana's Seminary Buildings and Grounds.

The Wilson Military Academy, which has been located at Finderne for the past five years, will open at the beginning of the coming school year at Morristown. J. Harold Randolph, acting for the school, bought yesterday from E. H. Fanshawe, a Morristown broker, the property formerly known as Miss Dana's Academy, in South street, also ten acres from the Randolph estate on Franklin avenue to be used as an athletic field and parade ground.

The buildings of the Wilson Academy at Finderne shortly before the close of the school year last year were destroyed by fire. It was with difficulty that any of the school equipment was saved, and many of the boys attending narrowly escaped with their lives. For the balance o the year the scholars housed in tents

This transaction, while taking the school away from this section of the country, will assure those in attendance of excellent accommodations; as Miss Dana's school was well and favorably known. Mr. Randolph, who acted for the school, is a brother of Mrs. John Cottrell, of West Sixth street, and is well-known in this city.

LOCAL CAMP, P. O. S. OF A., GUESTS OF MRS. CLAWSON

Camp No. 1, P. O. of America, and a few friends were enjoyably entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Clauson on West Front street. The afternoon was spent in the discussion of topics of business pertaining to the order, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time officers will be installed. It is expected that the State officers will be present.

Those attending yesterday afternoon's meeting included Mesdames Theo. VanPelt, L. Smith, H. Freeman, Wm. Clauson, Chas. Brantingham, G. Klinger, E. Eckert, A. McDowell, G. Passmore, B. Wilson and Miss Mabel Emmons, of Matawan.

VIOLATED ORDINANCE.

Henry Redd, a colored man, of West Fourth street, was fined $1 by Recorder Gano this morning in the borough court for riding a bicycle last night without a light.

BOROUGH IS ENFORCING LICENSE ORDINANCE

Six Offenders Arraigned Before Recorder Gano and More Appear Each Day.

Six more offenders of the dog ordinance were brought before Recorder Gano in the borough court this morning, and compelled to take out licenses for their canine pets. M. Pearlstein, of Watchung avenue, and Edward Mundy, of 198 Duer street, were each fined $1 for not appearing before the Recorder yesterday morning as they had been summoned to do. The other offenders were W. VanWinkle, of 255 Somerset street; L. D. Compton, of 18 Fritts place; Andrew Carney, of 33 Lincoln place, and Daniel King, of 27 Craig place.

Recorder Gano says that there is no excuse for owners of dogs not having taken licenses by May 20 last as is required. Borough Clerk Doliver, it seems, mailed return postals to all the dog owners in the early part of May and only twenty-five have been returned. Of the odd four hundred members of the canine tribe in the borough, only two hundred have been licensed. There were 375 licenses issued last year. The Recorder says that if it is necessary for him to summon all owners to get licenses when they should do this without notice from the police, he will fine them for disregarding the requirements.

The authorities intend to summon a certain number of offenders each day and the ordinance is to be enforced to the letter.

RHUS TOXICODENDRON IS THICK IN TOWNSHIP

In Plain Language It Is Poison Ivy That Is Causing Trouble There.

There is a small vine with the large sounding botamical name of Rhus Toxicodendron which has been making itself felt in this section of the country during the present season. It has small trifoliate leaves, develops small greenish white berries and is exceedingly poisonous to the touch—that is for most people. Reduced to ordinary terms this vine is known among those who know as "poison ivy."

It has been necessary for the authorities in both the city and borough to take steps to eliminate this obnoxious vine; and now the North Plainfield Township Improvement Association has called the attention of the Township Committee to the presilance of the vine in that section. The association has suggested that those in authority get busy and do something to eliminate it.

Some of the summer visitors who have been enjoying the cool breezes of Washington Valley during the past few weeks, have felt the uncomfortable effects due to coming in contract with this vine. Others, who have felt it, claim, that they have not even been near its leaves. One unfortunate young lady, who was visiting friends on the mountainside, was forced to cut her vacation short and return to the city as a result of a Sunday afternoon stroll in the woods. Those who claim to know state that the vine has never been so prevalent as it is this summer, but are unable to account for it.

HURT BY A FALL.

John Stevens, of 613 South Second street, in jumping off a trolley car yesterday afternoon on West Front, near Grove street, fell striking his head heavily against the ground. The car was stopped and the man taken to Dr. P. B. Greggar's office and the physician had him sent to the hospital where his injuries were attended to. Later he was sent to his home.

I. D. ADAMS ELECTED.

I. V. Adams was last night unanimously elected a member of the Warren Township Committee to succeed the late Robert Zerbiegel. Mr. Adams is a former freeholder of Somerset county and a member of "The Circle on the Square."

THE TEMPERATURE.

While today has been warmer than yesterday yet the State Trust Company's thermometer indicates just how comfortable it has been. The record for today: 9 a. m., 71 degrees; 11 a. m., 80 degrees; 1 p. m., 83 degrees.

GRASS FIRE.

Fire headquarters was notified shortly after noon today of a grass fire at Woodland avenue and Seventh street. No difficulty was experienced in extinguishing the blaze. The damage was slight.

SEVERAL ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE ATWATER

Ethel Kriederling Pleads Guilty and Will Be Sentenced Next Wednesday.

Elizabeth, July 25—Ethel Kiederling, of Plainfield, a young woman recently committed to jail charged with an immoral offense, pleaded guilty to the charge in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday afternoon. She will be sentenced by Judge Atwater next Wednesday. The Kiederling girl assumed an air of bravado when arraigned and was gruff in her answers.

Albert Hurling, a Plainfield negro boy, who stole a pocketbook from Mrs. Farbman, pleaded guilty to the charge and will be sentenced to the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg next Wednesday.

John O'Brien pleaded not guilty to the theft of a bicycle in Westfield. William R. Wilson was assigned to defend him. All these pleas were made on allegations, the offenders having decided to waive grand jury hearings because of the long wait which would be involved.

William Donelan, a Roselle Park youth who, with Albert Wenz and Stephen Ratel, was implicated in burglaries in the Roselles and Westfield several months ago, was admitted to bail in the sum of $2,000, furnished by his father. Ratel has already been tried and acquitted of the charge.

HIS LAWYER DEFENDS LICENSE APPLICATION

District Court Judge Hetfield Speaks a Word In Traynor's Behalf.

District Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield, as counsel for Thomas Traynor, makes the following comment on the report of his client's application for a wholesale liquor license as published in this paper on Tuesday:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your issue of 23rd inst. you published prominently an article entitled, "Application for liquor license, petitioner a driver employed by Borough Wholesaler arrested for violating law, has a small chance, Mrs. Lena Hoerster, for whom Thomas Traynor, the petitioner works, released in $200 bail for a hearing on illegal selling."

Is your newspaper the one to predict and forecast the result of the Councilmanic vote? Or was the article printed with the idea to create a sentiment against the granting of the application. In your article you have printed the names and residences of the six signers to the application, which to me seem for the purpose of belittling the application. Never before has it been done to my knowledge. You say further in your article that "The list of signers in itself shows that the provisions of the ordinance have not been fulfilled." In what particular say you have the provision of the ordinance not been fulfilled. Every signer thereon exhibited his deed to Mr. Traynor and myself and signed and swore that he was the owner of the property mentioned therein, giving the date of the deed and the book and page wherein the deed was recorded, and yet you say because Mr. Samuel Smelson was not listed as a property owner on the tax books he is not eligible. The fact is he purchased his property last November as I remember and his deed is recorded, why of course he would not be on the tax books and yet he is a good signer. Another reason you allege for the refusal of the application is, that his employer is charged with violating the liquor ordinance. Tell me again what a charge against an employer has to do with the employes? In that connection his employer, Mrs. Hoerster, has never been convicted of any charge, and it remains to be seen whether she is guilty as charged before the City Judge of delivering liquors outside of North Plainfield. The applicant, Thomas Traynor, has been in the employ of Mrs. Hoerster for 17 years last past and for the past five or six years has had the management and charge of her bottling establishment. About eight years ago while filling seltzer syphons, one bursted and destroyed one eye, since which time his work has been very trying on the good eye. He realizes that he must be employed in some capacity where it will not require the severe strain on his eyesight. Besides Mr. Traynor is an experienced man in the business, a property owner and taxpayer in this city; has never been convicted of selling liquor without a license, nor any other crime, and has a good and sufficient reason to aspire to have a business of his own.

DR. EATON ON COREAN TROUBLE

Clergyman Favors Action By U. S. Government to End Religious Persecution.

JAPAN IS SCHEMING?

Noted Baptist Minister Declares that Political Reasons Actuate the Japs' Government—Corea Accepting Christianity.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, at his farm, at Watchung, Plainfield, gave his opinion regarding the Corean situation, which appeared in this morning's New York Herald:

"In no land," said Dr. Eaton, "has Christianity upbuilded so rapidly in recent years as in Corea. It may be said without fear of contradiction that Corea is almost today a Christian spot on God's footstool. There are reasons why Japan does not wish to see Corea a follower of the Christ. Christianity means independence, it means intellectuality.

"I say there are political reasons behind this persecution of our missionaries. Those in Corea are the noblest band of men and women that I know of in the world today and to suggest that they have mixed up in political matters is sheer nonsense. The cardinal principle of the missionary is not to become embroiled in political affairs.

"I believe that the British and the American governments should serve notice on Japan that their subjects and citizens respectively must be protected. I am not a radical or hothead in any sense of those words, but I assert that our governments owe us protection wherever we may be, and particularly when we are made the victims of political persecutions."

As a result of the disclosures in regarding the type of justice which Japan appears to be encouraging in the trials of the Corean Christians it is likely that all of the facts soon may be laid officially before the State Department in Washington. The incident may then assume the proportions of an international issue, that paper states.

YOUTHFUL RUNAWAYS ARE SENT BACK HOME

Two brothers, Edward and Everett VanPelt, of 456 Fulton street, Elizabeth, have been living around the west end of the city for the past week. The boys are aged ten and twelve years respectively. Jack Howell, of View avenue and Willow street, noticed the boys yesterday and at once recognized them. He asked them to come to his house and when he got them there 'phoned police headquarters.

Chief Kiely at once got in communication with the Elizabeth police who informed him that the boys had been missing for several days past, having run away from home. They were taken back to Elizabeth today by friends.

CLAN MACKENZIE PLANS BIG CALEDONIAN MEET

At the meeting of the games committee of Clan Mackenzie, No. 204, Order of Scottish Clans, held last night in Robert Murray's store on West Front street, a number of committees were appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the Caledonian field day meet to be held at Parker Field on August 17. Robert Murray was elected as general chairman; Edward Mackenzie was chosen as assistant chairman and William Spalding as secretary. They appointed the following committees: Prizes, J. M. Donaldson, Donald McInnis, Wm. Hendry, A. Doig and Robert Murray; printing, Donald McInnis and Robert Murray.

The committee on prizes and awards will also take charge of the souvenir department. The clan will put out a number of handsome badges with the Mackenzie plaque attached, which will be sold on the field for a small sum.

WILLIAM E. WHERRY.

William E. Wherry, a farmer, died early this morning at his home on Mountain avenue, after a lingering illness. He was fifty-six years old, and his death was caused by a complication of diseases. MAGIC WATER TOYS.

Wonderful Play Toys That Amuse the Children of the Orient.

Europe and America turn out for the edification of their children many ingenious toys, but the occidental youngsters have nothing to compare with the strange expanding water toys with which the children of the far east have for centuries amused themselves.

These are placed in small wooden boxes similar to the little paint boxes so often seen in our own country. They have the appearance of soiled shavings, broken matches and dilapidated toothpicks, but when thrown into the water the ingenious toys at once exhibit properties that show them to be considerably more than mere bits of stick.

The wood of these toys has been kiln dried, and immediately it touches the water it begins to absorb the water and to expand almost indefinitely. As it increases in size it separates and suddenly opens, becoming a very pretty toy. One stick will change into a flowerpot containing, it may be, a rose bush in full bloom. Another becomes an obese mandarin carrying an umbrella. Still another will take the form of a sea serpent, very ferocious in its tiny dimensions.

Then, too, there are toys which show as whales, tigers, crocodiles, etc. The figures are colored and present a bewildering variety in design and treatment. Their manufacture is a trade secret, kept inviolate by the guild that turns them out by the thousands.

For older children there are provided larger and even more artistic figures, consisting of histogical characters—rulers, poets and soldiers—and dwarfed trees and tiny houses, whose doors and windows are full of inmates, are also among this class. The more ordinary kind cost a mere song, but the finer toys are quite expensive.—New York Press.

FAR DISTANT URANUS.

Oddities a Visit to This Gigantic Planet Would Disclose.

If Uranus, which is a star of about the sixth magnitude, were a planet like those little ones called asteroids, which are being discovered by the dozen every year, it could not have much claim upon popular attention, but Uranus is really a gigantic world, more than sixty times as large as ours. Its vast distance, about 1,700,000,000 miles from the earth, is what causes it to look so small.

Uranus has four moons, which revolve backward in their orbits—that is to say, they revolve from east to west around Uranus, while Uranus goes, like all the other planets, from west to east around the sun. It is believed that Uranus rotates backward on its axis also. Moreover, the axis of that great, strange globe lies in such a direction that in the course of its year, which is equal to eighty-four of our years, the sun shines almost perpendicularly first upon one pole and then upon the other.

Measured by our time standard, there are forty years of constant daylight, followed by forty years of unbroken night, around the poles of Uranus, and the sun rises in the west and sets in the east there; but the sun looks very small when viewed from Uranus—only one four-hundredth as large as it appears to us. Still it sheds upon that planet 1,500 times as much light as the full moon sends to the earth, so that daylight upon Uranus, while faint compared with the blaze of a terrestrial noonday, is nevertheless a very respectable kind of illumination.

The Game of Life.

The game we are all playing is a losing game at best. Yet we must play. We cannot get up and leave the table knowing the dice are cogged and the cards marked against us. We must play on, losing our principal stake little by little or in splendid coups, as chance or our disposition may urge, but knowing well that in the end, soon or late, whatever remains of it will be swept from the board. Lucky the man who is tempted to play but the one stake. Happy the man who in death loses only his life.—F. P. Dunne in American Magazine.

Bluejacket's Black Neckerchief.

It is not generally known that the bluejacket's black neckerchief, a survival of the service mourning for Nelson, is the best British silk obtainable and that the admiralty is a very fastidious customer. Two to each man are issued annually, and many thousands of these discarded scarfs have been subsequently worn by Jack's femininity. A pair of them make an excellent blouse.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Spoiled Her Enthusiasm.

"Harry proposed last night! I was so"—

"I knew he would. I played a joke on him."

"What?"

"I told him you would inherit a fortune when you came of age."—Houston Post.

Matrimonial.

Three Germans were sitting at luncheon recently and were overheard discussing the second marriage of a mutual friend when one of them remarked: "I'll tell you what. A man what marries de second time don't deserve to haf lost his first vife."—Life.

GAANDA-MUMANUS.

The Gaanda-Humanus, the mysterious novelty on the bill at Proctor's the last three days of this week, bids fair to cause as much discussion as to who will be our next President. No two persons who have seen the act seem to agree as to whether they are looking at a human being or an automaton. It is a figure over six feet tall, and presumed to weigh 300 pounds. When it appears on the stage it has an electric apparatus strapped to its back which is operated by one of the Manchester Brothers, who own the act. The figure is made to walk about the stage in the most human manner; it writes on a blackboard, it rides a bicycle, sits down, stands up, and in general acts like a man. Just before the close of the act the figure is literally taken apart, the legs, head and arms come off and the mechanism is shown inside, yet there was some in the audience who would not be convinced. Electrical experts are also puzzled, and no information can be gleamed from the attaches of the theatre, for they are divided in opinion. It is without doubt the greatest novelty seen in Plainfield.

Dr. Frank C. Ard will spend his vacation next month in the Adirondacks.

Lewis E. Weaver, of East Second street, is spending his vacation in the upper part of New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jahn, of Scotch Plains, will spend next week at Lake Hopatcong. The former will be registered at Ram's Horn Camp, and the latter at Camp Serrun.

We Start the Cleaning Up of All Summer Stocks

Throughout the store we will institute a general merchandise movement of all remaining Summer Goods, which will mean a

FURTHER REDUCTION IN PRICES ON THESE MOST WORTHY STOCKS.

This is necessitated by our strict adherence to the modern and progressive service we are continually endeavoring to give you, inasmuch as we must commence preparing, even this early, for fall business, by making room for the new goods which before long will be commencing to arrive.

Take advantage of these Genuine Reductions on Quality Merchandise.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You wouldn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

BUSY CELL TOILERS.

The Marvelous Work They Constantly Perform in the Blood.

The blood cells are important members of the cell community and are exceedingly numerous, there being over 75,000,000,000 of the red blood cells alone. These red blood cells move in the blood currents, carrying through the arteries each its little load of oxygen, which it transports to the distant tissues that they may be invigorated and vitalized anew, and, returning, carrying through the veins the debris and waste products of the system to the great crematory of the lungs, where the waste is burned and thrown off from the body.

Like the ships that sail the sea, each cell carries its outgoing cargo and returns with another one. Some of these cells perform the office of special repairers, forcing their way through the walls of the blood vessels and penetrating the tissues in order to perform their special tasks.

There are several other kinds of cells in the blood besides the carriers just mentioned. There are the wonderful soldier and police cells, which maintain order and fight battles when necessary. The police cells are on the constant lookout for germs, bacteria and other microscopic disturbers of the peace of the body.

When these tiny policemen discover vagrant germs or criminal bacteria they rush upon the intruder and, tying him up in a mesh, proceed to devour him. If the intruder be too large or vigorous a call for assistance is sent out, and the reserve police rush to the assistance of their brothers and overpower the disturber of the peace.

Sometimes when the vagrants are too numerous the policemen throw them out from the body by means of pimples, boils and similar eruptions. In case of infectious diseases an army corps is ordered out in full strength, and a royal fight is waged between the invading army and the defenders of home and country.—William Walker Atkinson in Nautilus.

CHINESE SIGNBOARDS.

Poetic Gems to Attract Business to Shops in Peking.

W. Simpson in "Meeting the Sun" writes: "I saw in Peking a list of signboards, and a few samples of them will illustrate their general character: 'Shop of Heaven Sent Luck,' 'Shop of Celestial Principles,' 'The Nine Felicities Prolonged,' 'Mutton Shop of Morning Twilight,' 'The Ten Virtues All Complete,' 'Flowers Rise to the Milky Way.'

"In these signs we can see that the Chinese can combine the soul of a poet with the pocket of a shopman. Contrast such efforts with 'The Noted Eelpie House' of the London streets, and one must feel that we are outer barbarians. Carlyle quotes a Chinese signboard, 'No Cheating Here,' but I could not find anything like it in the list. 'Good and Just According to Heaven' ought to satisfy the ideal notions of the author of 'Sartor Resartus.'"

"The Honest Pen Shop of Li" implies that other pen shops are not honest. The "Steel Shop of the Pockmarked Wang" suggests that any peculiarity of a shopman may be used to impress the memory of customers. Snub noses, squint eyes, lame legs and hump backs might all be used in this way.

A charcoal shop calls itself the "Fountain of Beauty," and a place for the sale of coal indulges in the title of "Heavenly Embroidery." An oil and wine establishment is the "Neighborhood of Chief Beauty," a description the realization of which it is hard to conceive anywhere in Peking. "The Thrice Righteous" one would scarcely expect from an opium shop.—London Globe.

Blocked by an Iceberg.

Discussing the iceberg question, Professor John Milne of London writes that the year he visited Newfoundland one of these ice mountains had stuck in the Narrows, which is the entrance to St. John's harbor. The capital of Newfoundland was bottled up. "A fort pounded at the intruder for a time, but it might as well have pounded at the Karakoram mountains. The monster stopped all traffic either in or out. On the third day, however, it heeled over and sailed away."

Awful Ignorance.

Young Man With Lavender Tie, Pink Shirt and Bright Purple Socks—Say, Jim Lawrence is a queer duck. He pronounces his words so queer! The other day he was telling some girls about going to the Blank inn for a "tahbledote" dinner. As soon as we left the girls I asked him what he meant and come to find out he meant table de hotey! Ha, ha, ha!—Chicago Tribune.

GOVERNOR JOHN A. DIX.

Said That He Has Assurances of a Renomination.

DIX THE NOMINEE.

Murphy Sends Word That "the Unforeseen" Has Not Happened.

Albany, N. Y., July 25.—Friends of Governor Dix here are confident that the governor will be renominated.

They say that before the governor went to the Baltimore convention he was assured that he would be the nominee if something unforeseen did not happen and that Mr. Murphy has sent him word that as "the unforeseen" had not happened he would be the nominee.

BRYAN WILL REPLY TO SPEECHES OF T. R.

"Peerless One" Is to Camp on the Colonel's Trail.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 25.—The question as to what is to become of William J. Bryan in the Democratic national campaign was seemingly answered here when close political advisers of Governor Wilson let it be known that Colonel Bryan's assignment will be to worry and harass the third party's candidate and to follow him into every debatable state.

The assignment of Bryan to take care of Colonel Roosevelt is regarded here as one in which the Nebraskan will take great joy. It is known that Bryan has regarded Roosevelt as a trespasser upon Democratic preserves, and the Wilson forces expect him to make a brave showing as a defender of his party's right to carry out in office the things which Bryan advocated long before Colonel Roosevelt decided that he, too, would take them up.

POSTMASTER FOILS THUGS.

Shots Fired as Burglars Escape, Leaving Explosive Behind.

Buffalo, July 24.—An attempt by burglars to blow the postoffice safe at Martinsville was frustrated by Postmaster Charles Grant, who lives over the postoffice.

Grant fired several shots at the burglars, but they escaped, leaving behind a set of burglar's tools and a quantity of nitroglycerin.

GIBBS ARRESTED FOR THIRD TIME

Alleged Metuchen Bigamist Picked Up In Newark.

PRISONER IN COUNTY JAIL

He Had Been in Asbury Park Near Bennett Girl and Her Mother—Pleaded Not to Be Taken to Metuchen, as He Feared Violence.

Metuchen, N. J., July 25.—Tyler M. Gibbs, under indictment in Middlesex county for bigamy, is for the third time since the original charge was made against him locked up in a cell in the county jail.

For over a week his bondsman, John C. La Faucherie of Belleville, and the Metuchen police have been on his trail. La Faucherie having last Tuesday asked Judge Peter F. Daly to be relieved from the bond on the ground that he was afraid Gibbs was going to leave this part of the country before his trial in September. When the police reached Newark they learned that Gibbs and the Bennett girl were in Asbury Park. Search there revealed the Bennett girl and her mother, but they said Gibbs had been there, but had gone away.

Saturday Gibbs returned to Newark, but disappeared again, and, although he had been seen boarding an Asbury Park express, he was not seen again until La Faucherie and Detective Hummell of the Newark police met him on Broad street, Newark, and placed him under arrest. Gibbs was hustled into an auto and the chauffeur instructed to drive to Metuchen. The last time Gibbs was in the Metuchen police court the young men of the town created a big disturbance and threatened the man with bodily harm.

He begged the Newark police not to take him to Metuchen, so he was delivered at once to the Middlesex county sheriff and will have to stay in jail until his trial, unless a new bondsman should be secured. The first bondsman Gibbs had surrendered before indictment. The second bond was found to be worthless, and he was rearrested on a capias. The Bennett girl is at 510 Munroe avenue, Asbury Park, and Gibbs had been stopping at the St. James, not far away. La Faucherie claimed that he went on Gibbs' bond at the request of Gibbs' counsel and had agreed to go on the bond for one week only, during which time Gibbs was to produce evidence that he had secured a divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Edith Sammis Gibbs of White Plains.

Because this evidence was not forthcoming and because matters were becoming more complicated by the first Mrs. Gibbs instituting for a divorce, the grand jury indicting Gibbs and Gibbs going to the seashore with the Bennett girl and her mother La Faucherie said he thought it was time to act.

WHITING IS OUSTED.

Republican State Committee Wants Franklin Murphy Reinstated.

Newark, N. J., July 25.—The Republican state committee, following a meeting at which resolutions were proposed and passed, declared Borden D. Whiting, who was temporary chairman of the Roosevelt convention at Asbury Park, out of the Republican party. The committee will petition the Republican national committee to elect former Governor Franklin Murphy committeeman from New Jersey in place of Whiting.

The committee indorsed the platform adopted and the candidates named by the Republican national convention at Chicago. Whiting succeeded Murphy as national committeeman following the May primaries. At the meeting of the state committee all but two of the thirty-seven members were present. One of the absentees is in California. He is a Taft man. The other was William H. Fisher of Ocean county, who is a supporter of Roosevelt.

THROWN FROM MOTOR CAR.

Former New Jersey Assemblyman Is Seriously Injured in Accident.

Millville, N. J., July 25.—While passing through Cedarville on the way to Salem former Assemblyman Jesse S. Steelman was seriously injured by being hurled from his automobile against a telegraph pole. He was picked up unconscious and brought to the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Souder, here. One of his ribs was broken, and he was otherwise severely hurt.

Henry Smith, Steelman's companion, was unhurt when the automobile turned turtle. The car was badly damaged.

SPITE FENCE MAN IS INSANE.

Doctors Send Away James M. Allgor, Who Disturbed Seabright, N. J.

Seabright, N. J., July 25.—James M. Allgor, the Rumson road "spite fence" man, was sent to the State Insane hospital.

He is said to have spent several thousand dollars in fighting wealthy residents having homes on the Rumson road who opposed his plan to commercialize the highway.

He planned to run an ice cream parlor and bowling alley in his bungalow.

"THE THREE R'S."

In these days we are inclined to discuss in a boastful spirit the training received by public school pupils and a very great degree of our enthusiasm is pardonable. Progress most extraordinary has been made in teaching methods and in advantages offered. The curriculum of these times would have been considered but a wild dream but a decade or so ago. But with it all, in some respects, some very important respects, the public school product of today is not to be envied by the man or woman who looks back with fond recollections of the training he or she obtained at the little old schoolhouse where the walnut ruler was frequently used with good effect. The walnut ruler no longer plays a part in public education, for a better and more civilized way has long since been adopted to enforce discipline. But what we miss today is that which was the keynote of free education in times gone by—it is "The Three R's."

Among the rising generation, the army of young men, and of young women too, who have recently started in the battle of life, how many thousands and tens of thousands in this land are there who are handicapped by self-confessed inability to read, write and figure correctly? How many are there who feel keenly the realization brought home to themselves that, with all their training in the higher branches, they did not learn to spell words of but three or four syllables; in fact, they did not master the rudiments.

There are, right here in our own city, some fine young men who are ambitious and are rapidly forging ahead, but these same young men appreciate to their sorrow the fact that they will not be able to rise as high as they would hope to, and it is just because they do not possess sufficient knowledge concerning "The Three R's."

"It will be impossible to go back to the 'little red schoolhouse,' but it may not be impracticable to restore some of the features of that worthy rural institution," says the Newark News. "Nobody came into the schoolhouse to teach sewing or cooking; these were taught at home," that paper states.

"It wasn't necessary to give up time to agriculture or athletics; the boys had all they needed of both. The course of instruction was all the pupils could take, not all that could be crowded into them. There were no fads, no frills, but such studies as were then thought best adapted to the needs of the children when they became too old or too big to go to school, even in the winter. The little red schoolhouse was not a feeder to the high school.

"It may be that the course of study in the rural schoolhouse was far from ideal, judged by present day standards of city schools, but it will hardly be denied that the country schoolboy seemed to hold his own when he came in competition with the city schoolboy, and oftentimes to forge ahead of the latter either in professional or commercial life."

The country boy had mastered "The Three R's."

Franklin Murphy has been restored to favor in the councils of the Republican party—the word party as used here being interpreted to be the leaders and bosses and not the great mass of voters identified with that political faith. The former Governor, who was supplanted as the New Jersey member of the National Republican Committee by the will of the voters, at the recent primaries, again holds that position by virtue of the action of the Republican State Committee. He takes the place of Borden Whiting. No objection could be made to the action of the State Committee in dismissing Whiting for he "read himself out of meeting" as it were. But as for putting Murphy in his place—well, if the Republican party in New Jersey can "stomach" it, there should be no "kick," at least from those who so far disagree as to the present policies of the G. O. P. as to have left its ranks. But why not complete the job? Make Penrose, in Pennsylvania; Lorimer, in Illinois; Barnes, in New York, and Murray Crane and the rest of the bunch colleagues of Murphy on the National Committee. Wouldn't that be consistent, to say the least?

He may have his faults, the worst of which seem to be in the minds of others his opinions on economic questions, but William Jennings Bryan's public and private life furnishes a marked contrast to that of many other statesmen. It shows that the Commoner posesses the greatest of treasures, an upright character. Numerous so-called great men, those distinguished because of the high reputation they enjoyed at the moment, who ridiculed the Nebraskan some sixteen years ago, have long since been discredited or forgotten for they did not have that cardinal requisite to enduring success—an unblemished character. And Bryan, however much his political opinions may be assailed, is today bigger and greater than ever, simply because his course has continued steadfastly one of honest purpose as he has been given to see the right.

Two little girls held a cake and candy sale yesterday to raise money for the Baby Camp conducted by the City Union of the King's Daughters. They netted $10, which has been sent to the camp committee. Are there not some other little girls who would be willing to follow their fine example?

Warnings have been sent out to private owners of automobiles in various parts of the State to discontinue the use of manufacturers' tags. This abuse of the auto license law has become quite prevalent of late and some drastic action is needed to put an end to it.

Eye Photographs.

An image impressed upon the retina of the eye remains there an appreciable time. This is the reason why a torch swung rapidly seems to be a circular flame. The sensibility of the retina is different at different times of the day. Every one has noticed how on waking in the morning and looking at the bright window, then closing the eyes, he will observe an impression or phantom of the window for an appreciable time after his eyes are closed.

THE BLACK SQUAD

Grimy Vulcans That Feed the Fires on Ocean Liners.

HEROES OF THE STOKEHOLD.

These Models of Human Grit Practically Brave Death Every Time They Face the Blistering Searing Blasts of Heat From the Glowing Furnaces.

An inferno, all smoke and heat and fire and nakedness, is the stokehold of an ocean liner. As you enter it, picking your way over the burning ashes, the hot blast from the furnace mouths smites you in the face; it scorches your eyes and sears your lungs with every gasping breath you draw. Your impulse is to turn and fly. Life seems impossible in such an atmosphere.

And yet the inferno hums with life and strenuous, almost savage, industry. Opposite the huge boilers, quivering with suppressed power, like so many chained giants, are the figures of men as if carved in ebony, glistening with the sweat that streams from every pore. They are working furiously, with muscles swelling and knotting as if they would burst through their sheath of skin—humans in quick succeeding poses of fierce labor which would delight the eye of the sculptor and baffle his skill.

Gathering up a shovelful of coals, each man propels them with a quick forward thrust of the body into the white hot heart of the furnace and with a dextrous turn of the wrist spreads them evenly over the fire. Then, quick as the eye can follow, another shovelful succeeds and another, as if life itself hung on the breathless swiftness of the sequence.

Such is the stokehold in which the vulcans of our mammoth liners and battleships feed the greedy furnaces, which keep the propellers revolving to the tune of twenty knots and more an hour—the men of the "black gang" who, clad in trousers almost as black as their grimy bodies, and with a filthy "sweat rag" loosely knotted round their necks, toil thus for four hours at a stretch, until the last "ounce" is taken out of them, and they crawl back to their quarters for a well earned eight hours of rest.

If a fireman faints, overcome by the heat and exhaustion, he is quickly laid aside in some corner, with a little tepid water dashed on his face, and there he is left until he "comes round," while his fellows ply shovel and "slice" (the latter to clear the fire periodically from refuse) with a fiercer energy than before, adding the fallen man's labor to their own. The moment he recovers consciousness he struggles to his feet, seizes the shovel and is at it again. "Go off watch?" Not he! He's as good a man as any, and the fireman never knows when he's beaten.

To call such men heroes is no abuse of an often misunderstood word. They are not only the last word in human grit and pluck—for your fireman will die rather than give in—they are heroes who face death every time they enter the stokehold, as lightheartedly as other men would sit down to their dinners. At any moment a fusible plug may fly, a boiler tube collapse, a gauge glass may splinter, and the captain may have occasion to "regret" that some good man or other has fallen a victim to his duty.

His ship may be sinking, the inrushing water swirling knee deep over the plates on which he is standing, but no thought of the boats and an escape to life is for him. He must stick to his post until the last fire is drawn and if he has time to race up the escape ladder to the boat deck well and good. If not—the odds are all against him—he goes down, a "mute, inglorious" hero, to his death. It is all part of the day's work for which he draws his meager pay, with a cheerful acceptance of the fact that his life will be short and certainly not merry, for you find few stokers who have passed their forty fifth birthday.

It is not only that the fireman's muscles and stamina must bear this inhuman strain. He must watch the gauge glasses with the keen eyes of a lynx to see that the line of bubbling beads never rises above or falls below the level that denotes safety. He must know his boilers as a jockey knows his mount; which of them requires coaxing and which requires forcing to stimulate its sluggishness, for boilers, it is said, have as many whims and caprices as a woman.

On the whole, the stoker is no unamiable man. He may growl at his food, though he often fares "like a fighting cock" aboard; he may have a vocabulary which would make the average bargee green with envy, but he will laugh you to scorn if you suggest that his work is too hard and that he is not "game" to the backbone.—London Answers.

No Hearsay Evidence.

A rural magistrate, listening to the testimony of the witness, interrupted him, saying:

"You said that you made a personal examination of the premises. What did you find?"

"Oh, nothing of consequence," replied the witness. "'A beggarly account of empty boxes,' as Shakespeare says."

"Never mind what Shakespeare said about it," said the magistrate. "He will be summoned to testify for himself if he knows anything about the case."—London Tit-Bits.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS

SCHWARTZ AND BENDER APPOINTED BY SEALERS

The first convention of the New Jersey Association of Superintendents of Weights and Measures, which was held in Atlantic City, was marked by discussions on proposed plans for protecting the public from frauds. Among those in which reforms are looked for in the near future are the size of milk bottles, berry and peach baskets, vegetable barrels and the weight of loaves of bread.

As a means toward having these reforms adopted a legislative committee headed by A. W. Schwartz, superintendent of the Union County Department of Weights and Measures, was appointed. The other members are: E. W. Strickland, of Atlantic; Abram Raub, of Warren; James Mulheron, of Mercer; Thomas J. Waldron, of Hudson, and William H. Rodgers, of Bergen. It is proposed to have the present law amended or supplemented so as to embrace the requirements.

A movement was also started to have Federal legislation passed in order to render more effective the protection to the public in commodities shipped into this State from States where no standardizing law for baskets and barrels exists.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, William L. Waldron, State superintendent; vice president, Patrick J. Canfield, of Newark; secretary-treasurer, E. R. Craig, of Trenton; sergeant-at-arms, Thomas P. Gallagher, of Somerville. Newark was selected as the place of meeting for next year. The convention will be held on a date to be selected in January.

City Sealer William J. Bender, of Elizabeth, was named on the executive committee along with John H. Sullivan, of Newark; Thomas Wyncoop, of Monmouth; George E. Storm, of Camden; E. W. Sutton, of Flemington, and J. S. Burke, of Jersey City. A membership committee comprising four members was also named.

DEFENDS LICENSE APPLICANT

In all my years of experience in preparing license applications, and getting signers to same, I will say that Mr. Traynor's application conforms strictly to the city ordinance, four of the six signers being business men in the heart of the city, within 30 feet of the proposed place. Now in conclusion I will say there can be no good and sufficient reasons why two or three more wholesale licenses should not be granted in Plainfield, neither can I see why six or eight more retail places (so long as licenses are granted) should not be stroyed one eye. Since which time his granted licenses. Licenses should, if the East End and the West End certainly there will be no more liquor sold. Twenty years ago there were twice as many places as now.

Yours truly,
WALTER HETFIELD,
Atty. for Thomas Traynor.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Freeholder Thomas J. Pierson, of Elizabeth, has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the first small board of freeholders, in Union county. Mr. Pierson is seeking the office again at the request of many of his friends and it is thought he will make a good showing.

In the political gossip at New Brunswick is a report that John Edward Clark, of the River road, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, against Congressman Thomas J. Scully. Mr. Clark was the candidate in 1908 when he was defeated by Benjamin F. Howell.

SENATE FOR TARIFF BOARD.

Votes 34 to 19 to Continue Appropriation For It.

Washington, July 25.—By a vote of 34 to 19 the senate determined to retain in the sundry civil bill an appropriation of $225,000 to continue the president's tariff board. All the Republicans voted for the board and the following Democrats: Chamberlain of Oregon, Newlands of Nevada and Thornton of Louisiana.

Among other amendments to the bill were an appropriation of $250,000 to enable negroes fittingly to celebrate the emancipation proclamation next year, and an appropriation for a hospital and medical service for Alaskan natives of $70,000.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FROZEN DESSERTS.

DELICIOUS frozen desserts can be served at the end of the hot day dinner. Among these may be ice cream and the various water ices.

Other desserts that will be appreciated are those which for lack of a better term may be called frozen puddings.

Some recipes along this line are given here:

Cool and Tempting.

Frost Pudding.—Dissolve a quarter of a cupful of sugar in a cupful of scalded milk and then stir into it three beaten eggs. Put the milk into a double boiler and stir until it thickens. Take off the fire and let it cool. Then add to it a pint of cream, a quarter of a box of dissolved and strained gelatin, twenty drops of bitter almonds and a half teaspoonful of vanilla. Take a teacupful of blanched and chopped almonds, a teacupful of candied ginger and a teacupful of candied citron, both of which are chopped fine. Mix these together with a half teacupful of candied cherries. Pour the milk into a freezer and when half frozen add the ginger, citron, cherries and chopped almonds. Stir in and finish the freezing.

With Nuts and Fruit.

Fruit Pudding Frappe.—Take the yolks of four eggs and half a cupful of sugar. Beat until light. Dissolve a tablespoonful of cornstarch in a little cold milk. Add to the beaten yolks and gradually stir in four cupfuls of hot milk.

Cook over hot water for fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until it thickens. Chop one cupful of English walnuts. Take a cupful of raisins, cover them with boiling water and after letting them stand fifteen minutes drain and roll in granulated sugar.

When the cooked mixture is cold add a little vanilla, a cupful of strawberry preserve, the nuts and raisins and freeze as ice cream. When half frozen add the whites of four eggs beaten to a stiff froth with one-quarter of a cupful of sugar. When serving garnish with blanched nuts and a little whipped cream.

To Quench Thirst.

Orange Pudding Frappe.—Take two cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water. Boil for ten minutes. Add the grated rind of one orange. Pour over this two cupfuls of orange juice, add the juice of one lemon, strain, cool and freeze to a mush. Serve in sherbet glasses immediately, as the mixture melts very quickly. In freezing use equal parts of ice and salt and freeze quickly.

Cookery Points

Cold Dishes For Hot Days.

Jellied Dishes.—During hot weather one may use to great advantage many meats or parts of the animal that can only be made into attractive form and given savor and palatableness by being made into a jelly or loaf or salad. Even if these dishes do not possess much nutritive value they contain sufficient to sustain bodily health and vigor, and they are far more palatable and appetizing than a roast, hot or cold. Then they do not necessitate the high temperature required to roast or boil, for even a meat loaf, though baked in the oven, if you are not the happy possessor of a fireless cooker, does not require a hot oven or long loaves, while the meats intended for jellied loaves or molds should be very slowly and gently simmered to have satisfactory results. The tougher and roughe parts of the animal and old fowl are the best materials for making meat jellies that taste like those "mother used to make."

Spiced Beef.—Wipe the beef thoroughly with a damp cloth, put in a stewing kettle, cover with boiling water and let it come to boiling point. Then skim and set where the heat will keep the water at a steady, gentle simmer until the meat is very tender. During the last hour of cooking or when the meat begins to get tender add a cup each of chopped onion and carrot, a bouquet of sweet herbs tied in cheesecloth, a dozen peppercorns, a bay leaf, three or four whole cloves and a level tablespoonful of salt.

When meat is done remove from the liquor and let the latter simmer down until reduced to a cup and a half. Then cut the meat into neat small pieces and add to the liquor. Taste to see if more seasoning is required. Put into a bread pan or plain mold, pressing down firmly, and set at once in a very cold place. The quicker it stiffens the firmer jelly you will have.

Jellied Tongue.—Parboil one beef tongue and two calf's feet until you can skin and clean them well when removed from the water. Take the bones out of the feet. Mince two white onions very fine and fry in a tablespoonful of butter, letting them turn brown. Lay on these the calf's feet and tongue, well seasoned. Simmer ten minutes and then add a pint of consomme and simmer five minutes longer. Then add a glass of white wine. Cover closely and let smother well for one and a half hours. Remove the tongue and let the calf's feet cool and reduce for half an hour longer. Then put in the tongue and cook for two minutes. Put into a plain mold and set in the refrigerator to form and you have a delicious morsel. Whole spices, such as bay leaf, whole cloves, whole pepper and celery seed, tied in cheesecloth, greatly improve this jelly.

Veal Loaf.—Chop very fine two pounds of lean veal and a quarter of a pound of salt pork, using the old fashioned chopper and wooden bowl if you wish the loaf to taste just right. Add a cup of breadcrumbs, three beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of salt, pinch of cayenne or paprika, a teaspoonful of onion juice and enough lemon juice to give a zest. Moisten with well seasoned beef or veal stock if you have any on hand (enough may be made from a few bones and trimmings) or moisten with beaten egg. Pack into a buttered bread pan, cover and bake an hour, moistening occasionally. Cut in slices when cold and serve with cold ketchup or horseradish and whipped cream sauce.

Chicken Mousse.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water until soft and then dissolve it in half a pint of good chicken broth, well seasoned. When the gelatin is well dissolved add a cupful of cold cooked chicken, minced fine and pounded to a smooth paste. Beat well and then cut and fold in the whites of two eggs. Season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Add a tablespoonful of chopped olives and, last of all, a cupful of whipped cream. Pour into buttered molds and chill for several hours, then serve on crisp lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing. Lobster mousse is delicious if you make it of steamed lobster meat, fresh from the shell. It is made in the same way as the chicken mousse.

Tomato Jelly.—There is something very refreshing about tomatoes, whether cooked or raw, hot or cold, and tomato jelly delights the eye as well as satisfies a fickle taste. It may be served with cold meats or fish, cut in slices or cubes, or molded around chicken or fish or even vegetable salads and served with mayonnaise and whipped cream. A few chopped olives, gherkins or capers sprinkled over the molds or mixed with the mayonnaise give you a most inviting salad.

Cucumber Ice.—Cut a large tender cucumber into pieces an inch long. After removing the seeds boil the cucumber in salted water for five minutes, drain it on a cloth and let it finish cooking in a covered stewpan with an ounce of butter, salt, pepper and a gill of white stock. Reduce the moisture and rub the cucumber through a hair sieve. When the puree is quite cold mix it with two tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise sauce, half a gill of cold liquid aspic jelly, two tablespoonfuls of whipped cream and seasoning to taste. Whisk it until it is thoroughly amalgamated and then freeze it in the ice freezing machine. Fill the cucumber molds and set them in ice and salt for an hour. Serve garnished with sections of tomato and watercress.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

"Don't you understand that children ought to be restless? That if they are not active and troublesomely alive you ought to call in an expert to know whether their brains are normal? Don't you know they grow both mentally and physically through their incessant bodily motion? Have you never been told that by the constant repression of children the brain centres are paralyzed? A fresh idea drops through the senses into the mind of a little child. The brain seizes upon it and assimilates it. Then the impulse comes to do something with it—put it to use—and so complete the thought. But here comes in the older person who is incommoded by the child's activity. 'Don't,' he says. The impulse is arrested, the thought never completed, the brain centre injured for life. This happens to most children daily, hourly sometimes, and then we complain that our older boys and girls have no mental power, no originality."

At a recent conference in the Conservation of School Children at Lehigh University, Dr. Dressiar stated that schoolhouses should be built where they can have several acres of land around them. For cities this means building them in the suburbs with probably free municipal transportation. Many private schools have demonstrated the practicability of transporting pupils between home and school. The need for schools to be in an environment of health, nature and beauty is imperative. For health alone there are reasons enough. Fresh country air coming in windows, doors and ventilating openings will do much to solve the problems of cleanliness and to improve our vital statistics. To develop human souls between brick walls and stone pavings, among crowds and police means more serious loss to character than the men who make such cities appreciate. If this conference were to formulate but one resolution, I am confident that the wisest would be one urging study of the feasibility of locating every school building in a small park for children's use, with free transportation if necessary. I am not sure that it would cost more than our present meagre yards in the midst of cities. In the long run—the building of a nation—it will do much to save us from bankruptcy.

Parents can do more than laws can to eliminate the old noise and fireworks method of celebrating the Fourth of July. It is the grownups who have taught the children what they were also taught, thoughtlessly passing on a custom better forgotten. It is the grownups who manufacture and sell the fireworks and it is the parents who can make such manufacture improfitable by not buying them, by planning Fourth of July entertainment in camp or on the shore, on mountain or river, so much more wholesome and interesting that the fireworks will not be missed. It is the privilege and duty of every thinking man or woman to extend this child-saving movement until Fourth of July is no longer a day which demands the sacrifice of child life and the needless heartaches in thousands of homes. Children cannot protect themselves and parents and municipalities are culpable not to guard them.

Fifty Thousand Child Gardeners.

As a result of a state-wide industrial contest in Oregon there are now 50,000 children busy gardening. It is thought that of the 125,000 school children of the State at least 75,000 will exhibit at their county fairs or at the State fair at Salem in the autumn something they have raised or made. The superintendent of public instruction and public-spirited citizens are responsible for this wholesome plan of child farming.

Substantial prizes are to be awarded to those who have been most successful in raising garden stuff, chickens or pigs, or in making some useful article. To aid the little ones the Agricultural College has issued 50,000 bulletins containing directions for planting and growing seeds. The scheme is an excellent one, so different from the murderous child labor of the factory. It includes plenty of fresh air, healthful exercise, pleasant mental exercise, and blessed contact with nature, her beauty and life. There is here the early lesson of obedience to the royal law of labor.—Christian Herald.

POPULARITY AND GOOD NATURE

Neither Beauty Nor Cleverness Counts For So Much as Kindliness and Amiability.

WHAT is the secret of popularity? Is it beauty, is it amiability, is it cleverness? Perhaps it is a little of each. No really agreeable woman is ever altogether homely. Good health and good humor are the most marvelous beautifiers of the world.

"Keep your temper and you will keep your complexion," was the advice of a dear old lady whose own skin at the age of threescore and ten was of the peaches and cream order.

And there's a great deal in it, a great deal more than unthinking persons realize.

Deeper than the surface, however, is the effect of ugly moods. A scientist who made experiments along this line asserts that vindictiveness—in fact, all those manifestations that women put down as hatefulness—distill a distinct poison in the system. The ancients perhaps hinted at this idea by ascribing anger to the bile.

Better than powder or face creams, so any beauty specialist who is honest will tell you, is the placidity that comes from a soul at peace with itself and the world. If your neighbor has a better taste in dress or a more ample purse than yourself, do not let this sour your mind. If some one else seems to be more fortunate, more gifted, more popular, better looking or richer than you are, do not think that the fact that you are able to pick flaws in their armor will compensate you. This will not help you in the least and such a mental attitude will at last show in your words and actions, and you will find people gradually drawing away from you, for the woman who never has anything pleasant to say about others is not popular.

No form of self conceit is more unprofitable than this of setting yourself on a pedestal from which you assume to criticise all the world. It isn't the woman who sneers and stabs at others who is popular, but the pleasant little soul who is clever enough to say, "It's a lovely world; I have all I want, every one is kind to me, I have the finest friends in the world," as I heard a dear, good little girl exclaim rapturously the other day. It wasn't policy on her part, but it was the best of good policy, for every one who heard her went up in his or her own esteem and began wondering what they could do for her next. And as she works hard for a small salary in a busy office and has to take most of her money home to the family, there is much that one might do if she were not too proud to accept favors which she cannot conveniently return.

There are so many things in modern life to disturb and distress, and the rewards of popularity are so substantial, even though the rewards of the best kind of popularity are never immediate, that any woman who has to see much of the world will find it a valuable asset. The secret of success is having friends, friends that count and can always be counted upon. The irritable creature whose moods can never be depended upon and who is liable to fly off into a tempestuous outburst when her convenience is interfered with or her self importance is not sufficiently flattered, seldom counts for very much very long with many people.

If you would have friends take heed of the warning which a woman who had seen much of the world and its people set down for a young friend of hers:

Don't make disparaging remarks to your friends about their appearance, habits or peculiarities. You may call this candor, but the friend is more likely to put it down as rudeness. Could we see our own deficiencies as others see them few of us would dare to criticise.

Don't try to be smart at other people's expense. If you do you will only parade your own lack of good breeding. A reputation for being "smart" in this way will sooner or later cost a woman her old friends, and new people will instinctively shun her.

Don't nickname people. Calling names even in fun is considered vulgar.

Don't imagine that you know everything, even if your great-grandfather did have a library and your grandmother took a prize at Emma Willard's school. Intelligence is not altogether a matter of books or ancestry.

Don't talk too much about yourself. Though you may tell others much that ought to impress them about yourself, family, friends and affairs, sooner or later something is sure to slip out that will tell more than you intended.

Never snub a supposed inferior. It's astonishing how useful a well disposed inferior may sometimes be, and in this country the turns of fortune's wheel have a delicious though often embarrassing way of lowering the proud and elevating the lowly.

Stand by your own sex. Some girls think they may add to their popularity with men by taking the opposite position, but they make a mistake. Beside, social popularity depends so much on the favor of women that it is unwise to antagonize those who do most of the entertaining.

Don't be affected. Try to be your own natural self and live up to the Golden Rule as much as it is in you to do and you will be as popular as you deserve to be. HILDA HALL.

ROOSEVELT MEN TO CONTROL IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., July 25—Friends of Roosevelt will organize and control the State Republican convention next Tuesday. This was practically settled Tuesday when returns were received from one-half of the counties in the State giving Roosevelt two to one over Taft.

In the forty counties which held conventions Roosevelt received 227 delegates, Taft 108, doubtful 18, and contested 113. In a number of counties in which Taft delegates were appointed by the county committee instead of in convention there will be contesting delegations. Those portions of the State which have not yet held conventions are Roosevelt strongholds.

"SPITE FENCE" BUILDER COMMITTED AS INSANE

Long Branch, July 24—James M. Allgor the Rumson road "spite fence" man, was committed to the State Insane Hospital yesterday, and his latest fence will come down to stay.

Neighbors, who pitied the man, believe his mind was unbalanced by the failure of his business venture in opening the Rumson road bungalow as an ice cream parlor and bowling alley. It is said he spent more than $10,000 in fighting the Rumson road millionaires, who opposed his plan to commercialize the highway.

On suspicion that the man's condition was growing worse, and that he was a source of danger, Dr. John W. Bennett and Dr. Charles J. Gremer, of this place, gave him a mental examination Tuesday and pronounced him insane.

Allgor's troubles date back about three years. He has been in jail twice for contempt once paying a heavy fine, after he had declared he would serve out his term. He has a family.

LOST HIS SUITCASE AT SO. PLAINFIELD STATION

While waiting to make connections at the Lehigh Valley station at South Plainfield, yesterday morning, James Downs, of 116 Rutledge avenue, East Orange, returning from Wilkesbarre, Pa., had the misfortune to be relieved of a suitcase filled with wearing apparel. The grip mysteriously disappeared from the platform where he left it while he went down into the station to inquire about the train service. While Downs was in the station a train came into the depot and left before he returned to the platform.

A number of baseball player forming the All-Star team of this city boarded this train with a goodly supply of suitcases to go to Flemington where they were carded to give an exhibition of the baseball art. The supposition now prevails that in hurriedly collecting together their outfit the players might have taken Mr. Downs' grip by mistake. As the lost suitcase did not contain any baseball goods the player, if it was one, who took the grip by mistake may have found it out when he reached the Flemington dressing rooms.

Chief of Police Kiely, of this city is working on the case, and he would be glad to get any information regarding it.

GIRL BUMPS INTO AUTO.

As Company K paraded down Park avenue to the armory yesterday afternoon it had no more ardent admirer than little Elizabeth Tilden, of 825 Richmond street. She was riding her bicycle at the time but her attention was merely centered on the soldiers. So quite unconsciously she swerved her wheel to the right an bumped into the automobile of W. L. Smalley, Jr., which stood along the curb. The girl was pitched off in front of the car. Her injuries consisted of a number of bruises and she is also suffering slightly from shock.

REALTY TRANSACTIONS.

The following real estate deals have recently been made by Edmund Rushmore: property at 18 Sycamore avenue sold for Edwin S. and A. G. Hooley to P. Edward Wisch; property at 904 Grant avenue sold for the Plainfield Development Company to William V. Nash. The Plainfield Development Compnay purchased the lot owned by Miss Annie Millar on Madison avenue, next to the estate of Alexander Millar.

STRAYED FROM BOSTON.

Frank Miller, who said he came from Boston but at present residing in Plainfield, was arrested in Westfield yesterday by Policeman McNeely for drunkenness and not being able to take care of himself. He was in a helpless condition and was taken to a cell to recuperate. At the time of his arrest he was unable to give his name or his place of residence. He is to be arraigned before Recorder Collins today.

RAM'S HORN CAMP.

During the past two weeks the accommodations at Ram's Horn Camp, conducted by Thomas M. Muir, of this city, at Lake Hopatcong, has been taxed to the limit. A few accommodations may still be had for next week, however, by applying to Mr. Muir, Camp Ram's Horn, Halsey Island, Lake Hopatcong.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ATTACKS GROVE

"Growler" Service at Bellewood Park Target Subject of Criticism.

An attack upon Bellewood Park, a pleasure resort in Hunterdon county, and a severe criticism of what is alleged to have taken place on an excursion from Newark of Branch 38, National Association of Lettercarriers, on Sunday last, are contained in letters forwarded by the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League to the sheriff, prosecutor and county judge of Hunterdon county, as well as the Lehigh Valley Railroad, owners of the park.

The letters were sent out by Edwin I. Stearns, State superintendent of the AntiSaloon League, with a report made to him by Samuel Wilson, the league's director of law enforcement. In his report Mr. Wilson tells of having gone on the lettercarrier's excursion in company with a minister who, he says, will corroborate his charges. Announcement of the letter's contents stirred up a hornet's nest in this city. Postmaster Frank J. Bock characterized the league's report of the lettercarriers' excursion as "the scurrilous writing of a fanatic," and a general denial of alleged misbehavior on the part of some of the participants was made by those in direct charge of the outing.

Adam O. Robbins, who is in charge of the prosecutor's office of Hunterdon county during the absence of Prosecutor Richard S. Kuhl in the West, said that he had received no communication from the league concerning the park.

"If there are any violations of the law," Mr. Robbins declared, "and a complaint is made at the prosecutor's office, it will receive prompt attention."

Sheriff David L. Holcombe said he had just received the letter. A copy of the report was enclosed. Mr Holcombe stated that he would confer with the prosecutor and also Judge Paul A. Queen.

According to Mr. Wilson, he made his investigation of Bellewood Park after numerous complaints had been received from citizens of Hunterdon county. He writes that he boarded the excursion train, after paying $1.25 for his fare and a badge. The regular fare, he said, was $1, and the excess was to cover refreshments. The report continues:

"In the car in which I was seated a tough gang of men and women kept up a continuous rowdy exhibition until arrival at the park. They were drinking whisky and beer, singing, howling, hugging, sitting on laps and dancing. The dancing was lewd in character, and accompanying comment shouted in the car was vulgar and obscene in the extreme.

"Arriving at Bellewood, twenty half-barrels of beer were unloaded and carted to a spot in the grove assigned to this excursion. Everybody with a badge was entitled to all the beer that he wanted, and before 5 o'clock all was gone. There were two other parties, one with twenty and the other with seventeen half-barrels, and the guzzling and swilling was the worst that I have ever seen.

"Many persons used large cans, and carried the beer out among the bushes, and the bowling alley was kept supplied by this 'growler' service. These people from the city were apparently oblivious of the beauty of their environment, and apparently had no motive higher than to test the amount of beer they could hold and still be able to walk.

"I saw two young boys, about ten years of age, carrying beer from the supply counter out into the crowd.

"Drunken men were in evidence everywhere in the beer grove toward the end of the afternoon, reeling and staggering about and acting foolishly. I saw men served with more beer who were so drunk that they had to hold on to the posts for support.

"While the theory is that only those with badges could be served, I saw a great many people served with beer who wore no badges, and it looked to me as if the brewery employes who did the serving tried to get rid of as much as possible so as to avoid carrying any back. Residents of the neighborhood were served with beer and money was accepted in payment therefor.

"As time drew near for departing I saw a number of men get cans filled, which they put in bags and other receptacles, evidently fearing a draught on their return trip. Several had curved 'Sunday cans' such as are used in cities for Sunday growler service underneath the coat.

HELP WANTED—MALE.

MEN WANTED—On Friday, June 7, a number of employees of the Boston Elevated Railway Co. left their positions without notice and went on strike, which now exists. These represented almost entirely the newer, younger, more inexperienced men. A large majority of the men, including nearly all of the older, responsible men, remained with the company and have faithfully served it in operating its car service, which has been well maintained over its entire system. The company wants at once suitable, experienced motormen to fill the places of the men who have left the service and offers attractive permanent employment, not only to these but to other worthy persons who can qualify, although inexperienced. For interview with company's representative write nationality, age, height, experience and reference. Address Postoffice box 355, New York city. 7 23 3

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Philosophical Phelix Says:

Another ball team added to Plainfield's already unlimited list. But this is an all-star aggregation in all the name implies. It consists of the cream of local baseball talent and will make other fast semi-professional teams hustle to keep in the race.

Several good sluggers are signed up and among them is Joe Carty, the former Plainfield High School slugger and baserunner.

He can bat them out in the human tongue league, but when it comes to the wagon tongue circuit, Joe is a lemon.

He is a lemon not because he has a streak of yellow, because he hasn't, but because he cannot see the horsehide.

He did some clouting yesterday, however, getting three bingles out of four trips to the plate.

Then they have Slocum, the strikeout phenom, on the mound. He is not a self-starter, however, but when he once gets under full sail then everybody must look out.

A brand new, up-to-date, untainted series will be started between the Plainfield and Bound Brook baseball teams at the latter place Saturday afternoon. This will be a welcome to the peeved Bound Brook fans, but what have the local supporters got to say?

They are wondering if Langdon will get another crack at the Bound Brook bunch. No gentle fan, what Langdon did, he cannot undo, and he has taken a trip to land where the canned tomato blooms.

In New Brunswick last Sunday afternoon, when Dave Driscoll's ball team was scheduled to play its inaugural contest at Amusement Park, fans were seen going to the ball grounds during the downpour of rain in their bare feet. Some feat.

The Scotch Plains team defeated the Rahway A. A. Saturday afternoon in ordinary fashion. To us it looks like a "raw way" to get a plain victory.

Several of the members of the American Olympic team were winners at games held at Berlin yesterday. Melvin W. Sheppard, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, won the 1500 meters, establishing a new record of two minutes 32 9-10 seconds, which is four and one-tenth seconds better than the German record.

Ralph Rose bettered by fifteen centimeters (nearly six inches), the record for putting the square stone weighing 36 2-3 pounds, although he had never taken part in this event before.

Donald F. Lippincott, University of Pennsylvania, easily defeated the German sprinter Rau in the 200-meters dash.

The Americans with the exception of Rose left last night for Budapest.

Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, won the Longwood lawn tennis singles tournament yesterday by defeating E. P. Larned, of Summit, N. J., in the challenge match for the Longwood cup, in straight sets.

Thirty-four players of the National League have a batting average of .300 or better. Zimmerman, of the Chicago Cubs, is the real leader among the regulars, with a mark of .395, although Burns, of the Giants, who has participated in 16 games, has a mark of .462. Larry Doyle and Chief Meyers, of the Giants, rank second and third among the regulars. The former has .373 average, which is four points better than the Indian.

Christy Mathewson has come back to New York. He will rest up for the game with the Cubs at the Polo grounds Friday.

C. D. Reidpath, of Syracuse University, an Olympic hero, will join the Cleveland Athletic Club track team when he returns to the United States.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Colleg colors for New Jersey automobile license tags are a thing of the past according to an edict issued Tuesday by State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Job H. Lippincott. He says he has abandoned the practice because there is but one college combination left, scarlet and black; and he does not believe they would make a good identification tag. Accordly he has announced that the color scheme of the 1913 tags will be of a white background with maroon letters and figures. This combination, the commissioner thinks, will be such as to make identification of the tags easy. The contract for the pads will be let soon.

Opinion is divided on the recommendation of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott for a change in the new reciprocity law, which would require garage owners to keep a detailed record of all cars entering their places for repairs, etc. Some dealers think it would be a step in the right direction, while others balk at the care and work which it would entail. A peculiar circumstance which the recommendation has brought out, is the general admission by those outside New Jersey, that cars from other States are violating the New Jersey provision of fifteen days' touring privilege and the opinion that this condition should be taken as a matter of course, and that it will be practically impossible to stop it. It is also asserted by these same parties that New Jersey autoists are violating the laws of other States in a similar manner.

Apparently the speed traps which are being established along the roads to the Jersey shore resorts are put in existence because of the unusually high speeding practice there of the motorists. A Newark autoist who made the trip from Newark to Sea Girt on Saturday and returned Tuesday, says that on the way back he kept his speedometer needle faithfully at the legal limit of twenty-five miles an hour, and he said that dozens of other cars went by him in a continuous stream all the way up. The average speed, he thought, was about forty miles an hour.

An innovation in the way of touring guides for motorists has been introduced by the touring department of the Automobile Club of America, in the form of detailed map of the territory between New York and Philadelphia. The map shows all the roads in this section and designates their character by means of light and heavy lines. The strip of country covered being about twenty miles broad, it has been possible to include all of the main lines between the cities, and a description of eight of these trunk lines is printed on the back of the map. The maps furnish much information for the autoist.

Information for motorists contemplating a tour of the Berkshires is contained in the announcement that the road between Lenox and Pittsfield, that has been closed for some time owing to the State road construction, is now open as far north as Yokum River Bridge. At the latter place it is necessary to turn right and follow the Holmes road into Pittsfield.

Barney Oldfield is going to try for a sensational "comeback" in the automobile racing game by driving in the Grand Prize and Vanderbilt Cup races. Since the veteran's reinstatement following an enforced retirement of two years, for competing in an unsanctioned match with Jack Johnson, the pugilist, he has been working out on the tracks in the West, and is said to possess all his old daring and skill.

His performance in the big road races will be watched with much interest. He will drive a Fiat car entered by E. G. Hewlett, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Oldfield was the greatest track racing man the game ever produced. He was a pioneer in the sport, taking it up in the early days, and keeping right apace of the time until his banishment. Dirt tracks were his forte and he could shave the turns on the small rings closer than any other driver. He never showed very prominently in big road races, so that the coming events will be a stern test of his present-day ability.

Attention should be immediately given the road between Keyport and Red Bank lest the road, which has been one of the motorists's delights, be broken up. The top dressing, while still good, is beginning to wear, especially where the automobiles slew around the street corners. Following Sunday's rain there were several pools of sand-mud and several hollow spots. The old adage of a "stitch in time will save nine" applies very forcibly to this road at the present time.

FISHING NOTES.

A number of local sportsmen spent the day at Sewaren yesterday and report the fluke and flounders running good.

Among those from this city looking for the finny tribe yesterday was William Mosher, of Madison avenue. He returned with a good catch of fluke and flounders.

He will go to Rahway today, where the bass are reported as biting readily in the old reservoir.

Bass fishing is also good at Bound Brook and local fishermen are seen daily along the banks of the Raritan at this point.

While there is very little doing in the fishing line at Morgan there is no better crabbing to be found than can be had in Cheesequake Creek. The crabs are big and fat and the creek and bay close to the jetties are covered with them. The fishing is perfectly safe, as the creek is sheltered from the winds. It is five miles long and, while a stone can be thrown across it, there is no better stream in the country. Willett's boathouse is at the mouth of the creek and he has rowboats to hire. Try it and see the difference in the taste between the Cheesequake Creek crabs and those of Newark Bay.

From Seaside Park to Beach Haven, at every resort along the Ocean County coast, comes the same joyful cry, "Fishing's good." For the weakfish are in the bays in big schools.

Fish are biting all over the bay. At Barnegat Pier nice catches are made from the railroad bridge or from small boats at the floodtide or on slack water. Further up the bay at the Pelican and the Corner Stake some fine big fellows have been caught. They may be looked for now any day in Toms River.

Big hunpback sea bass and plenty of them are at the Cholera banks. Many are being caught that weigh five and six pounds and, pound for pound, the sea bass is the best foodfish in our waters today. Fifteen fish to a man was the average catch on the Taurus Tuesday.

Eddie Bicodgood, the Morgan guide, and Raymond O'Donnell, of Philadelphia, fished near the monument in Raritan Bay Monday and caught three bluefish and eight weakfish. They seemed to be able to locate the bluefish, but could not hold them around the boat.

Crabbing parties are popular with the residents of Morgan Heights these days.

SLOCUM STRIKES OUT TWENTY-ONE

All-Star Aggregation From This City Defeats Flemington In 12-Inning Game.

CARTY GOOD WITH BAT

Score Was 4 to 2—Locals Score Two Runs in the Twelfth—Good Fielding the Rule—Plainfield Is Good With the Stick.

The All Star team, of this place, playing under the name of the West End A. C., won a close and well played game from the Flemington baseball team at the latter place yesterday afternoon, by the score of 4 to 2. The game went for twelve innings and the local bunch pulled the victory out of the fire by clean hitting in the last round. The nine from this place was made up of the best material available in this section and put up such a good exhibition that they were signed up for a game during the Flemington Fair week when they will play before a crowd which will probably aggregate several thousand.

Slocum was the whole show for the local bunch allowing but eight scattered hits, all singles, and disposing of twenty-one along the strikeout route. This is believed to be a season's record around this section and is one that will without doubt stand for some time to come. Tommy Mullin played a beautiful game behind the bat for the West Ends and he completed a battery that worked with clocklike precision. The team from this city, although they had never played the game together before, made but one misplay during the twelve rounds. The Flemington nine were also good fielders and held their error column down to three.

All the runs were the result of clean stickwork and although the boys from this city had Anderson, of the Tri-State league, pitted against them they were there with the needed wallop every time. Carty was particularly adept along this line and his afternoon's work consisted of three healthy swats. Mullin was also handy at wielding the willow, and pounded out one of the prettiest three base slams ever seen on the Flemington grounds.

CUBS FORGING AHEAD IN PARKER LEAGUE GAMES

The Cubs increased their lead this morning in the Parker Field baseball league by taking the Giants into camp by the score of 8 to 5. After the fourth inning, when the Cubs got to him for four registering marks, pitcher Denny twirled good ball and the winners got but two tallies from that point on.

The fielding was woefully weak, however, and the winners made seven misplays against the losers three. Their consistent hitting pulled them through in spite of these errors, and the good stick work done by Henderson and Schemeyer resulted in the winning scores. Brennan starred at short for the Giants while Carney made a sensational one-hand stab of a liner in deep centerfield.

TOMORROW'S GAME.
Pirates vs. Yankees.

DIAMOND SUPREMACY.

Now that a claim has been made by the many local semi-professional nines for the diamond supremacy, Manager Pete Simons feels it no more than right to give the Netherwood A. C. a whack at his aggregation of dusky warriors. The game will be played on the Filmore avenue field next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Netherwood nine has defeated the West End A. C. by the score of 5 to 0, while the Royals have also won three times from the West End bunch. The Netherwood combination has been greatly strengthened by the addition of three crack players and the Royals will without doubt have to hustle to win.

TO PLAY PLAINS.

The Royal Colored Giants will be the attraction at Scotch Plains next Sunday afternoon. The Plains aggregation will have a star twirler on the mound and will also be strengthened by the addition of Carty, the former Plainfield High School slugger and speedy baserunner, who will savort in the outfield.

SATURDAY'S DAILY PRESS

12 ARE DROWNED; TRAPPED IN MINE

Wives and Families Vainly Try to Aid Them.

MORE LIVES ARE IN DANGER

Reservoir Bursts and Waters Rush Down Mountain Side, Imprisoning Sixty-four Men—All but Twel Escape—Force of Water Carves Seventy-five Feet Hole.

Uniontown, Pa., July 25.—Searching parties today are waiting for the water to recede to find the bodies of the twelve men who lost their lives when Evans mine, No. 2, of the Superior Coal company, at Evans Station, six miles from here, was flooded. The dead men are Andy Valpo, John Rosco, Michael Smith, J. R. Gallery, Adam Smith, William Mosburg, Andy Bollock, Michael Felish, Frank Layoff, John Kubikan, Andy Dolicksy and Russell Gardner.

When the waters from the leaking Cool Spring reservoir came rushing down the mountain side sixty-four men were in the mine. The water was seen going in the manway of the mine by William Genear, the pit boss, Solomon Wilson, a machinist, and Joe Fordyce, who were outside the mine. They rushed in the mine and passed the warning along that the mine was being flooded. The twelve who perished were 4,000 feet back in the mine in what is known as the "sump," and the word either failed to reach them or they did not heed the warning.

Great Force of Water.

The water rushed into the mine with such force through the manway that a hole seventy-five feet in diameter was carved out.

The wives and families of the miners in the mine gathered at the main opening and, picking out pieces of wood, stones and everything that they could carry, threw them into the waters rushing into the narrow manway. The rubbish, which was intended to keep the water from getting into the mine, hindered the miners, who were rushing to the outside for safety. The men were compelled to wade through water up to their necks.

Officials of the mine say it will be sixty days before the water can be got out of the mine so that the bodies can be reached. Every mine in the district was flooded, and it is reported that three men were drowned in Lamont mine, No. 1, a half mile from the Evans mine.

MRS. M'CORMICK ILL.

John D. Rockefeller's Daughter Said to Be in a Sanitarium.

Chicago, July 25.—Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, who is a daughter of John D. Rockefeller, is in a sanitarium in the east, according to a report which reached Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, with their children, Fowler, Muriel and Mathilde, and Mr. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, were reported to have sailed for Europe on the Kronprinzessen Cecilie two weeks ago. On the eve of sailing, Mrs. McCormick became suddenly ill, according to the report current here.

JUSTICE GERARD HURT.

Taxicab Strikes Auto In Which He Was Riding In London.

London, July 25.—Justice James W. Gerard of the New York supreme court is suffering from severe bruises and cuts following an accident in which a taxicab struck an automobile in which he was riding.

The justice while in London has been using an automobile owned by his brother-in-law, Count Sigray. He had just turned into Enton square when a taxicab coming in the opposite direction crashed into the machine.

As the auto overturned Justice Gerard was hurled out.

ALBANIANS CAPTURE CITIES.

Take Prisrend and Pristina; the Latter an Important Town.

Belgrade, July 25.—According to dispatches received here, the Albanians have captured Prisrend, thirty miles from Pristina.

Constantinople, July 25.—Rumors which have been current for two days, that the Albanians have captured Pristina, a town of 15,000 inhabitants, in the vilayet of Kossovo, are officially confirmed.

The town fell on Sunday, the garrison surrendering.

GEN. WOODFORD OUT AGAIN.

For the First Time Since His Illness. Doctor Still Attending Him.

London, July 25.—General Stewart L. Woodford has so far recovered from his recent dangerous illness that for the first time he was permitted to go outdoors.

Dr. Rossiter is still in continuous attendance on the general.

Record Wheat Crop In Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., July 25.—Nebraska's winter wheat crop is the largest ever raised in the state, according to the Burlington crop report. The report says the yield will be 55,000,000 bushels, which is 17,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop.

—Wigg—"Hello old man. I never saw you looking so well." Wagg—"Yes, I do feel in pretty good shape. You see I've been too busy this summer to go away for a rest."

WHITMAN HOT ON TRAIL OF BECKER

Will Ask Him Regarding Grand Jury Activities.

GUN MEN SCARE WITNESS.

Tenderloin Barber, Glared at In Courtroom, Denies Previous Testimony. Locked Up For Perjury, He Promises to Tell What He Knows—Burns' Men Busy.

New York, July 25.—District Attorney Whitman intends to go after Lieutenant Charles Becker in the Rosenthal murder case. He wants to know why Becker is so much interested in the grand jury proceedings. The grand jury is going not merely into the accusations that Becker was a grafter, but is considering also the testimony of Herman Rosenthal's relatives and friends that the gambler believed the police would kill him.

Otto Aversi, the chauffeur who has been wheeling Becker around town for more than a year, admitted that he went straight to the lieutenant at police headquarters on Monday afternoon after telling the grand jury that Becker had coached him about what to say. If Becker is willing to appear before the grand jury he will be asked about this conference, and Aversi will be requestioned.

The statement that Aversi rushed to Becker from the grand jury room was made by Joseph Immerman, a brother of Mrs. Rosenthal, who told the grand jury that Rosenthal had told him that he was afraid of Becker and had described the relations that existed, he said, between the lieutenant of police and the gambler.

Witness Scared by Gun Men.

No apparent progress was made in locating the men who are wanted for the actual killing of Rosenthal or in tracing the plot back to the policemen that the district attorney and Deputy Commissioner Dougherty believe had most at stake in the murder. John Reisler, "John the Barber," as he is called by his Tenderloin associates—gamblers, actors and sporting men—was arrested and held without bail on a charge of perjury. Reisler told the district attorney, that official says, that he saw "Bridgie" Webber running away from the Metropole just after Rosenthal had been shot. But "John the Barber," before Coroner Feinberg in the hearing as to whether "Bridgie" was to be held for murder in the first degree, looked over the courtroom crowded with gangsters and gun men, an array that had been smiling, and, signaling to Sam Paul and "Bridgie" Webber, then denied that he had said anything of the sort. After Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss had corroborated the district attorney's statements Reisler was arrested.

The district attorney, who has thrown aside all other business, leaving Assistant District Attorney Nott in charge as acting district attorney, and who is giving all of his attention to the murder plot and the investigation as to police partnership with gamblers, believes with Commissioner Dougherty that one or two of the men now held for murder will break down and tell the whole story. They are concentrating on Jack Rose, who is regarded as having been the general manager of the Rosenthal killing, and William Shapiro, who has been telling all sorts of stories in order to convince the authorities that he is worth bargaining with. But the district attorney has been told that Rose believes that police influence will protect him and that he hadn't at turning informer.

Burns Men Working on Case.

Rose himself tells for the first time of his relations with Rosenthal and with Becker. He denies that he had any knowledge even that Rosenthal was to be killed, and he says that his activities in obtaining the affidavit from Dora Gilbert were as much on his own account as on Becker's. Rosenthal had attacked him as well as Becker in the affidavit, and he was just as sensitive about aspersions on his character as Becker was.

The Burns detective agency informed the district attorney that their men have gone to work on the Rosenthal case and that every bit of resourcefulness and energy they possess will be directed toward getting at the truth. It was said that twenty-three Burns men have already been detailed for the work and that Mr. Burns himself when he returns to New York in a day or two will devote his entire time to the investigation. A hint of the probable expense of the investigation was obtained. It is expected that the services of Burns, fees and expenses, will approximate $25,000. William J. Schieffelin and others, who have guaranteed this money, have agreed not to discuss the investigation in any way.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Twenty-eight Cases of the Disease Are Reported in Buffalo.

Buffalo, July 25.—An outbreak of infantile paralysis exists in Buffalo. Twenty-eight cases are known to the city health department, which is four times the number recorded for the entire state last year.

Three deaths have occurred here since the recent discovery of the sickness, and more cases are likely to be fatal. Twenty-five of the cases were found in a comparatively small area.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE ANY NAVY INCREASE

Action Taken Against Wishes of Leader Underwood.

Washington, July 25.—The Democrats of the house again went on record as opposed to any additions to the battleship fleet. This unexpected action apparently destroys all hope of the navy for obtaining even one battleship from the present session of congress.

The action of the house Democrats was taken in opposition of the wishes of Leader Underwood, and also it is understood in opposition to the desire of Woodrow Wilson. By several Democratic leaders it is contended even that the action was a violation of the plan adopted at Baltimore, which pledges the party to provide for "an adequate navy" for national defense.

Considerable comment was caused by the fact that Speaker Clark voted in the caucus against any addition to the battleship fleets. The caucus was the third that the Democrats have held on this subject, and in each instance they have voted against appropriations for any additions to the navy.

BODIES PRESERVED 15 YEARS

Discovery as Result of Removal of Klondike Cemetery.

Tacoma, Wash., July 25. A Dawson cable says the removal of a part of the Klondike's first cemetery reveals that bodies of Klondikers buried during the rush of twelve to fifteen years ago are in a state of perfect or almost perfect preservation. They were buried when the fever was carrying off many of Dawson's first inhabitants. It is believed that the Klondike winters so froze the bodies that they have remained permanently chilled.

Coffins show more wear, nails and screws having fallen away. The bodies now being removed rested on the hillside. They are being reburied farther back.

LAWYER SHOT TO DEATH.

Client Thought He Had Been Ill Used In Lawsuit.

New York, July 25. Joseph Fettretch, a lawyer in this city for forty years, senior partner in the firm of Fettretch & Seybel, a school trustee in the old Ninth ward and a well known figure in the Methodist Episcopal church, was shot in his office on the ninth floor of the old Times building, at the junction of Nassau street and Park row, by Joseph Conroy, a machinist of Brooklyn, who fancied he had been ill used in a lawsuit wherein Fettretch was referee.

Fettretch was wounded in the abdomen, and he died an hour later in the Volunteer hospital.

MRS. HARRIMAN FIGHTS FIRE.

Puts Out a Blaze In Bedroom of Her Home In Bellevue Court.

Newport, R. I., July 25.—Mrs. Joseph Harriman proved a skillful fire fighter at her residence in Bellevue Court during the absence of Mr. Harriman, who was playing golf at the Newport Golf club. An electric apparatus in their bedroom caused the fire.

Mrs. Harriman ran quickly to the bedroom, where, with servants, she quickly put out the blaze, which was confined to the bed. Its furnishings were ruined.

DUELS IN MISSOURI

The Field of Honor Was a Common Resort a Century Ago.

BATTLES ON BLOODY ISLAND

This Notorious Fighting Ground Was the Scene of the Two Duels Between Benton and Lucas—Rules of the Geyer-Kennerly Meeting.

The geographies used in the schools today do not show Bloody island, the one time notorious dueling resort in the Mississippi river near St. Louis. The spot remains, but it is no longer an island. It now is a part of East St. Louis.

The opprobrious title was derived from the many sanguinary encounters which took place on the island. Here it was that the fatal affair d'honneur between Thomas H. Benton and Charles H. Lucas took place.

One day in 1816 these two men engaged in trying a lawsuit, one representing the plaintiff and the other the defendant. Lucas was twenty-five years old, son of a judge and the district attorney of the territory. Benton, too, was well known and later became United States senator. Lucas won the case. His opponent accused him of juggling with the evidence. The accusation was resented, and it was responsible for a challenge issued by Benton. Lucas refused to fight, saying that he could not be held accountable for defending his client.

Bad blood ensued, and from time to time the two men the next year often engaged in harsh words. Finally on an election day Benton questioned Lucas' right to vote, saying that the other had not paid his taxes. It irked Lucas, who later referred to his enemy as a "puppy." This appellation was too much for Benton, who again challenged Lucas to a duel. This time the challenge was accepted.

The two men met on Bloody island Aug. 12, 1817. The encounter took place at a distance of thirty feet. Lucas fell with a bullet in his neck upon the exchange of shots. Upon the advice of seconds Lucas declared himself satisfied. The men shook hands and went to their homes. The wound was not dangerous. A few days later the two men met on the street again, and, like two schoolboys, another fight was planned. This time it was to be at a distance of only ten feet. Lucas was mortally wounded. Benton was unhurt. He approached the dying man, according to custom, and expressed his sorrow. Lucas flashed forth an accusation of murder, but a few minutes later before dying he recanted and expressed his forgiveness.

But the first duel that ever took place on Bloody island was fought in 1810 between Dr. Farrar and James A. Graham. One of Dr. Farrar's friends challenged Graham, but the challenge was refused on the ground that Farrar's friend was not a gentleman. Dr. Farrar was then under obligation to defend the honor of his friend. This challenge was accepted, and as a result Graham was severely injured and died after months of suffering.

A second duel on Bloody island occurred in 1816 between Captain Henry S. Geyer and Captain George H. Kennerly, both veterans of the war of 1812. Captain Geyer was for many years a leader in Missouri politics and one of the state's most able lawyers. Kennerly was wounded at the second fire and remained a cripple for life.

There were many other duels fought here between some of Missouri's early statesmen and pioneers. A few of the encounters were the Thomas Hempstead-Joshua Barton duel in 1816, the Martin-Ramsey affair in 1818, the Reynolds-Brown, Walker-Marmaduke and Pettus-Biddle.

While duels would not be countenanced under any consideration today, it must be remembered that at this time they were almost as common among men as fights among schoolboys. If a man felt that his honor had been impeached in any way the popular thing to do was to settle it by a duel, pistols being used in nearly every instance.

There was a certain unwritten "code" observed. For instance, in the duel between Geyer and Kennerly the following were the rules:

The ground shall be measured off to six paces.

The gentlemen shall stand back to back at the distance of six yards from each other.

At the word "March" the gentlemen shall immediately step off three paces and turn and fire without further order.

If either party reserves his fire and continues to take aim after the other has fired he shall be shot instantly by the adverse second.

The seconds shall decide by lot which gives the word.

The only words shall be, "Are you ready?" and, being answered in the affirmative, the word "March" shall be the order for stepping off and turning and firing as above stated.

The weapons smoothbore pistols.

The pistols to be delivered cocked to the gentlemen after they have taken their places and to be held hanging down by the side until after the word "March."

One can readily see why Bloody island should become a popular spot for duels. First it was near St. Louis, the largest town in the state. The island, being in the middle of the river, was more or less secluded, and also the ground was neutral, as neither Missouri nor Illinois had jurisdiction over it. Bloody island passed out of existence about 1860, when dikes were built and it was linked with Illinois or East St. Louis.—Kansas City Times.

—The worst about giving advice is that you so often have to take it back if it's damaged.

VARNISHING DAY.

It Brings Many Surprises at the English Royal Academy.

When the hanging committee of the English Royal academy has completed the work of "hanging," the artists whose pictures are exhibited on the academy walls are forwarded a piece of pasteboard known as a "varnishing card." This card is the first intimation the artist receives that his picture has passed triumphantly through the processes of judging and "hanging," and it allows him to visit the academy on a particular day—"varnishing day"—just before the galleries are thrown open to the public. Hundreds of knights of the brush are to be found in the galleries of Burlington House on "varnishing day," and here and there are flights of steps and improvised platforms covered with artists putting the last loving touches to their canvases. Here, perched on the top rung of a pair of steps, is a young lady with smiling face scraping her picture with a palette knife and putting in fresh spots of paint occasionally, while on the floor at her feet is a young man whose features are the picture of misery, his eyes roaming toward the ceiling. His canvas is hopelessly skied, and he is silently abusing the members of the hanging committee for their lack of judgment.

"Varnishing day" brings many surprises to the exhibitors. One man will find his canvas wrongly named, and another, an impressionist, may be startled to discover that his glorious sunset, over which he has taken so much pains, is upside down. And for the first time he realizes that an impressionist's pictures can be turned about any way without greatly endangering the effect.

Turner had one of his paintings hung upside down, and old academicians well remember that a little canvas, "A Sleeping Naiad," was once, owing to lack of space, placed on the wall in an upright position and renamed "The Waking Naiad."—National Magazine.

FUNNY FRILLED LIZARD.

Carries an Umbrella, Has a Whip Tail and Walks Like a Bird.

The frilled lizard is found in Australian woods, being tolerably abundant in north Queensland and the Kimberley district of Western Australia. It lives on beetles such as are found on the tree barks. It is about three feet long, measured from head to tail point. What makes it remarkable consists of two things—its hurried walk and its fighting anger.

It carries a sort of natural umbrella top about its neck, which it elevates suddenly with an alarming effect even to ordinary lizard killing dogs, scaring them as an umbrella opened in the face of a charging bull; hence it is called the frilled lizard. Its teeth are not of much use as a defense against a vigorous animal, but when it fights it uses its long, lithe tail in a way to bring long bruises on one's hands—in fact, could it be properly trained, it might serve as an automatic switch, which, like the magic rub-a-dub-dub stick, would at the word administer a thrashing to the disobedient child.

From the scientific point of view the creature's peculiar method of ambulation is most interesting, because it presents an absurdly grotesque appearance at such times, more especially from the rear. It walks bipedally or on two feet, like a bird, and so much does it resemble a bird in its walk that it seems to be the connecting link between the ancestors of birds and the lizards of today.

A Real Disciplinarian.

The other night we heard a father speak thusly: "William, your mother tells me that you must have a dose of castor oil before retiring tonight. It is your bedtime now. Take your medicine and go to bed at once."

"But, papa, I don't wanta take no castor oil."

"You must take it, and immediately."

"Aw, papa, I dowanter!"

"William, if you don't take that medicine I'll put you right to bed this minute without giving you a drop of it."

TO END ABUSE OF AUTO RECIPROCITY

Job Lippincott Has New System of Checking Tourists Visiting New Jersey.

HIS PLAN IN DETAIL

Reciprocity, the Motor Vehicle Commissioner Believes, Will Greatly Increase Revenue Despite Popular Impression to the Contrary.

State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Job H. Lippincott, yesterday gave out the following statement on checking foreign cars in the State now, under the reciprocity act of last winter:

After a conference with prominent members of the Automobile Trade association, the commissioner of motor vehicles has adopted an automatic system of checking the number of days on which automobiles bearing the license tags of other States are observed on the roads of New Jersey.

"Great difficuty has heretofore been experienced by the department in enforcing the fifteen-day touring privilege, as a number of machines bearing the license tags of other States have been in New Jersey for a greater period than fifteen days, and have still escaped the provision of the act which would compel them to take out a New Jersey license.

"In order to minimize this abuse of privilege, the department has opened a system of records whereby the reports of the automobile inspectors and the police can be systematically tabulated at the Trenton office. The result has been more than satisfactory, and has gained to the State of New Jersey a very great increase in revenue.

"The policy of the department is to issue to its inspectors a list of automobile numbers from other States, which, according to our records, have been in New Jersey for more than fifteen days, with instructions that when seen on the road they shall be stopped and compelled to take out a New Jersey license.

"In addition to this, the department has established arrangements with the automobile departments of other States whereby a list of the numbers issued by such State, are forwarded to them with a request for the name and address of the owner. A letter is then sent to such address, requesting that the owner of the number comply immediately with the motor vehicle law of this State, and procure a regular New Jersey license. If, after a reasonable time this request is not complied with, the department will place these numbers in the hands of the inspectors with instructions that summary arrests be made. The fact that this scheme has shown practical results proves that the fifteen day touring privilege can be fairly well enforced in this State. The great handicap is a lack of proper number of inspectors to make reports and do the necessary detail work of enforcement.

"There is no reason why the revenue in New Jersey should not be greatly increased under reciprocity. In fact, from present indications, it would seem that reciprocity would mean an increased revenue rather than a decreased revenue, provided the proper machinery is given to the motor vehicle department to strictly enforce the law.

"The returns from our license agents in New Jersey indicate that there is a greatly increased registration during the summer months of this year over a similar period last year."

NEW PLUMBING CONCERN.

Papers of incorporation of the American Tinning and Plumbing Company were filed this morning at the County Clerk's office in Elizabeth. The capitol is $60,000, to be issued in 600 shares at $100 each par value. The objects are to do tinning, plumbing and heating work in this or any other State. The incorporators are Arthur H. White, of Sea Gate, N. Y.; T. Judson Van Wagner, of Roselle Park, and Samuel T. Williams, of 60 Sanford avenue, this city. Mr. Williams will act as agent and his residence is given as the office of the company.

DOG LICENSE CASES.

Henry Hurdle, of Duer street, was fined $1 by Recorder Gano in the Borough Court this morning for not appearing yesterday morning to answer for not obeying the dog license ordinance. He was also compelled to take out a license for his canine. Augustus Smith, of DeLacey avenue, was also required to take out licenses for his dogs.

OWLS TO GATHER.

The Plainfield Nest of Owls will meet tonight and action will be taken on the nine applications for membership. The local lodge has received an invitation to visit Easton, Pa., on August 11, when a nest with 200 charter members will be instituted.

PARROT WANTS TO RETAIN $5500 JOB

Present Surrogate Has Been in Office Over 20 Years and Will Seek Re-election.

OTHERS ARE AFTER IT

Hague and Gibby After Democratic Nomination—Other Good Positions to Be Filled By the Voters This Fall in Union County.

Elizabeth, July 26—The surrogateship this fall will be the principal political plum to be voted for in Union. It pays $5,500 a year, and the job is for five years.

The Republican incumbent, George T. Parrot, has held the position since 1887, or nearly twenty-five years. From present indications he will be a candidate for re-election, and he is regarded as a hard man to beat. In the Democratic tidal wave of 1892, Surrogate Parrot was the only Republican officeholder to escape the deluge.

Former Assemblyman Joseph T. Hague, at present assistant Democratic city attorney of Elizabeth, announces himself as a candidate for surrogate. LeRoy S. Gibby, of Summit, will also be in the field. He ran twice for the place as a forlorn hope when there was not the slightest chance for his election. Now that under the Wilson banner the prospects look bright, Mr. Gibby thinks he is entitled to another try for the place.

There seems to be a feeling in the county outside of Elizabeth that the latter city is altogether too greedy in reaching for the fat political jobs and that it is time some other city should be given a look in at the game.

Elizabeth, it is understood, also wants four out of the seven freeholders to be elected in November. It is pointed out that Plainfield should have been given the Democratic Senatorial nomination last year.

Instead of that Elizabeth succeeded in nosing out Plainfield and also getting the candidate for the sheriff and likewise the three Assembly nominees. As a result of this the entire Democratic county ticket was doomed to defeat when the direct primaries were finished, as the county was up in arms over the grab-all policy of Elizabeth's politicians. The warning is now sounded by the Democrats outside of Elizabeth that if they do not get a square deal in the distribution of offices, last year's lesson will be repeated.

FOOD PRODUCTS NOT TO BE CONTAMINATED

Health Board Confers With Grocers As to Safeguarding Fruits and Vegetables.

A conference between the Plainfield Board of Health and the grocers and dealers in fruits and vegetables was held in the office of the board yesterday afternoon. Dr. W. H. Murray, chairman of the Board of Health, presided, and explained the provisions of the State law which prohibits the exposure of food products to dust, dirt, flies and other contamination.

A discussion followed the explanation. All the provisions were necessary safeguards for the protection of public health. However some of the restrictions were considered rather harsh and it was resolved by the dealers that a committee be appointed to go into the matter with a view of devising ways and means to comply with the enforcement of the law as far as possible and to report and submit its suggestions to the next meeting of the board on August 1. In one particular the dealers were absolutely agreed that was that all fruit exposed for sale on the sidewalks must be in stands raised at least eighteen inches above the ground.

INSTALL LODGE OFFICERS.

The officers of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., were installed by District Deputy Grand Master Thomas Slugg and staff, of Carteret Lodge, No. 267, Wednesday night, at a meeting held in Odd Fellows Hall on Front street. After the installation the members adjourned to the banquet hall, where a feast was served. The officers installed were: Noble grand, F. Cross; vice grand, John Page; warden, H. Nolte; conductor, R. Wilson; chaplain, G. Thorn; R. S. S., George Pearson; L. S. S., W. Colgreave; R. S. V. G., Clark Burd; L. S. V. G., W. Leen; inside guard, Thomas Cross; outside guard, Charles Meyers. There were 75 members present.

VERDICT FOR $100 FOR AUTO MISHAP

M. W. Payne Run Down and Injured By Car Is Given Damages.

IN MIDDLESEX COURT

Defendant Said on Stand That He Was Gazing at Some Pretty Poultry and Failed to Observe the Payne Car Until It Was Too Late.

A verdict for $100 was rendered after testimony was taken before Judge Woodbridge and a jury in the District Court yesterday at New Brunswick in the damage suit of Middleton W. Payne, a mason-contractor, against John O'Brien, Jr., supervising health officer of this city. The suit resulted from the running down of the plaintiff by an auto, owned and driven by Mr O'Brien, on April 21 last. Samuel S. Swackhamer, of Swackhamer & Bird, appeared for the plaintiff, while John P. Kirkpatrick represented the defense.

Mr. Payne swore that he was walking along Clinton avenue, in Piscataway township, on the morning of the accident and was carrying a pail of water which he had just secured from a neighbor's well. The plaintiff said he observed the defendant's car about 1,000 feet away and declared he went to the extreme edge of the road in order to give Mr. O'Brien plenty of room to pass. Notwithstanding this precaution he was struck by the mud-guard of the auto, knocked into a ditch and pretty badly shaken up.

Mr. Payne declared that when he picked himself up from the road and he had asked Mr. O'Brien "What ailed him anyhow?" Witness said the defendant had excused his action to some extent by saying that he had been gazing at some pretty poultry on the opposite side of the road and had failed to see the plaintiff until too late to avoid striking him.

The witness said he had been confined to his home for ten days under a physician's care and had lost considerable business through the accident. Mr. Payne added that his left hip was injured to such an extent that he still suffers from the effects of the blow. Charles Norway and Dr. Wm. O. Nelson gave testimony for the plaintiff, the physician having attended Mr. Payne after his injury.

Witnesses for the defense were John O'Brien, Jr., and Raymond W. Quinn, both of whom declared the accident to have been unavoidable. Dr. J. H. Carman testified as to the nature of the injuries

HANDSOME BROCHURE OF PLAINFIELD TRUST CO.

In commemoration of its tenth anniversary, the Plainfield Trust Company has put out a handsome brochure briefly setting forth the growth and development of the institution since its organization in 1902 when it began business with a capital of $100,000. It is worthy of note that in the comparatively short space of ten years the company has built up a deposit line of over four millions of dollars and has increased its capital and surplus account to $369,838. This record of growth is an evidence of the high character of the service which has been rendered the community and of the progressive methods which have been employed in attaining such gratifying results.

The brochure was prepared by Theodore B. Starr, Inc., the New York jewelers and stationers, and from an artistic point of view is a particularly fine piece of work. Among the illustrations are views of the exterior and interior of the company's banking house and an excellent photograph of its president, O. T. Waring.

CONDUCTS SERVICES.

Rev. C. H. Mallery has had charge of the services at Calvary church, Flemington, during July. He will also supply on next Sunday evening. On the following Sunday Rev. TAXABLE VALUES $26,000,000 NOW Assessors Report An Increase of Over Half Million In Assessable Figures.

RATHER UNUSUAL GAIN

During the Year 463 Buildings Were Constructed and These Are Responsible Mostly For the Big Increase.

Plainfield's taxable wealth is growing fast according to the figures compiled by the local Board of Assessors which place the aggregate valuations of the city at $26,000,000 for this year. This is an increase of $625,000 over the total assessments of last year which were $25,375,000. The gain is $125,000 greater than last year's increase which was $500,000 over 1909-10.

The Board of Assessors found it hard work to cover the four wards within the time required by law. The members found it necessary to split up in two parties and journey around different sections of the city in automobiles. According to their figures, the number of new buildings has increased remarkably over that of last year, as is shown by the fact that 463 houses were constructed this year as against 387 last year, an addition of 76.

Another interesting fact among the many figures of the assessors, is that only 413 houses were found vacant on May 20, the day of inspection. This discovery has been a subject of considerable speculation and discussion among the real estate men of the city, the majority of whom estimated that over 500 were unoccupied.

The Board is composed of Asa C. Randolph, Clarence B. La Rue, George B. Stillman and H. C. Runyon.

JOHN THOMAS STAFFORD DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

After a ten months' illness with Addison's disease, John Thomas Stafford, died yesterday at his home on Essex street. He had resided in this city for the last thirty years, coming here with his wife from Liverpool, England, where he was born. He was sixty-two years of age and up to the time of the fatal illness, ten months ago, was a patternmaker at the Pond Tool Works.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows in this city.

Mr. Stafford is survived by two daughters, the Misses Fanny and May Stafford. The funeral services will be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

A LAWN FESTIVAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel is holding its annual lawn fete on the parsonage grounds at 408 Lee place this afternoon and evening. The lawn has been beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and the lightning scheme arranged for tonight is unique. Fancy articles of every kind are on sale as well as ice cream, cake, candy and lemonade at the various booths. This evening a number of automobiles will be loaned by the men of the church to take those attending the affair on short excursions about the city. A small admission charge will be made to help carry on the work of the organization. Mrs. James Heron is the chairman in charge of a hustling committee of women from the chapel.

BUSINESS BUILDING.

The Business Builders Club, of Plainfield, held its regular bi-monthly meeting, last night, in the auditorium of the Plainfield Business College. Mr. McGrail, of the Shelton School, of New York, addressed the students on "The Psychology of Service and Suggestions."

BABY IS BURIED.

The funeral services of Julia M. Hurley, the 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley, who died yesterday morning, were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of her parents, 816 Richmond street. Interment was made at St. Mary's cemetery.

A P. C. C. DANCE.

The last dances for the mid-summer season will take place at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow evening.

CRANE A CANDIDATE.

Urzel B. Crane's friends are circulating a petition for him for the Republican nomination for the Assembly.

William Mosher, of Madison avenue, has returned from his annual vacation spent in New York State.

VAN ARSDALE TO LEAVE COUNCIL

Merchant Will Not Seek Re-election As Member of Boro's Governing Body.

HE CAN'T SPARE TIME

Has Made a Good Record and His Services Will Be Missed—William J. Buttfield's Term Will Also Expire This Fall.

Morris C. Van Arsdale, one of the two outgoing councilmen of North Plainfield this fall, will not seek re-election. For ten years he has rendered faithful service to the voters of the ward which he represents. Many useful improvements in the borough have been due to his championship and it is with something akin to regret that he retires into private life. The growth of his business and consequently greater demands upon his time have been one of the chief reasons for his retirement. He takes a becoming civic pride in the progress of the community "over the brook," though his place of business is in the center of this city.

The other outgoing councilman is William J. Buttfield, who was appointed last November by ex-Mayor N. B. Smalley to fill the unexpired term caused by the resignation of Barzilea Waldron.

It is more than probable that he will allow his name to go forward at the coming election this fall. There will be plenty of opportunities during the coming year for a continuance of his sphere of usefulness.

So far no candidates on either the Republican or Democratic ticket have expressed their anxiety to seek councilmanic honors. It is yet too early to prognosticate what will happen. But those who are in the secret councils of the parties say that great preparations are being made by both Democrats and Republicans to put full tickets in the field. The Progressives or Rooseveltians, it is said, will spring a surprise packet on both. They are strong in North Plainfield and will hold the balance of power. It would not be surprising, if they placed two independent candidates in the field. At any rate indications point to lively times during the coming election.

GAANDA-HUMANUS TAKES A DRIVE THROUGH TOWN

The feature of Proctor's week end show this week is billed as Gaanda-Humanus, a mechanical man patterned after the famous Percy which was known to do almost super-human feats under the pressure of one of a series of specified buttons.

The mechanical man appeared on the business streets of the city this morning driving a team of black horses. It was held on the drivers' box by two attendants and it guided the horses' direction through the crowded business streets by the mere pressure of a button of the switch board that was fastened to its back. The object is dressed up to represent a man and at a first glance would appear as one.

THE BABY CAMP.

A charity that recommends itself with appealing force to the thoughtful mind is the Baby Camp on Johnston Drive, where poor little children and their tired mothers enjoy the benefit of pure mountain air, healthful food and careful nursing. Each Friday a circle of King's Daughters is delegated to supply the camp with ice cream and cake as an extra luxury. The treasurer, Mrs. A. M. Most, 38 Myrtle avenue, gratefully acknowledges $67 contributed by citizens through the Daily Press.

STILL DISCUSS A SEWER ROUTE

Whether to Select Gravity or Pumping Line For Trunk System the Problem.

OPINION IS DIVIDED

Letter Drafted to Be Sent to Piscataway Township Committee Giving Information As to Progress of Joint Sewer Plans.

The Joint Sewer Disposal Committee at a meeting last night engaged in a long discussion of plans for the proposed trunk line system but little was accomplished except the drafting of a letter to the Piscataway Township Committee bearing information as to the progress of the movement for a disposal plant to be located on the Darling farm in that section. A letter already compiled was read to the representatives of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen but some objections were made and it was decided to begin all over again. A half hour's time was consumed in composing the second letter.

There was much debate as to where the trunk line would actually be begun and as to what proportion would be borne by the respective municipalities for maintenance of the line. This all devolved around the relative merits of two schemes, one for a gravity system running along the mountain side in North Plainfield and down to the farm, which would mean the installation of syphons, and the other for a line direct from this city along Green brook and thence to the proposed beds, which would mean a pumping system. At the last meeting it had practically been decided to adopt the gravity system but last night strong sentiment developed for the pumping system route.

It is still an open question where the trunk line will actually commence for it will all depend on which plan is finally adopted. In either event Plainfield will bear the greater part of the expense and it is reported that the city's representatives on the committee favor the direct route known as the pumping system.

FAVOR TRUSTEESHIP FOR SCHEUER & CO. STORES

Negotiations to establish a trusteeship for the business of S. Scheuer & Sons, of Newark, and Scheuer & Brother, of Orange, which firms operate twenty-two stores, including one in this city, took place at a conference held in the office of Halsey M. Barrett, in the Prudential building, Newark, yesterday.

The Scheuer business since the death of the founder, Simon Scheuer, has been in the hands of his six sons and they were believed to be conducting the business successfully until several months ago when foreclosure proceedings were instituted by a relative, who held a mortgage on some of the firm's holdings. Since that time it has been brought to that about $300,000 of the firm's notes are held by various banks. It is these institutions that particularly want a board of trustees appointed.

John C. Eisele, Philip Lindeman and Frank H. Sommer have been suggested as trustees. Mr. Sommer, as counsel for Albert and Frederick Scheuer, attended yesterday's conference, at which five of the Scheuers were present. All of the sons are said to be favorable to the trusteeship plan, which is desired to protect creditors who have sold merchandise to the two firms, the banks which hold Scheuer notes being amply secured.

SELL SCHOOL HOUSE.

William Jeffrey, president of the Board of Education for the township of Providence, yesterday sold school No. 1, Berkeley Heights, to William Burgmiller, of Berkeley Heights, for $1,200. The proceeds will be devoted to assisting in the completion of the new Columbian School now being erected at Berkeley Heights. Robert Murray, the East Front street auctioneer, had charge of the sale and Counsellor J. H. Crane looked after the legal end of the business.

DILTS FOR TAX JOB.

J. V. F. Dilts has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for tax collector. He has twice before been a nominee and each time polled a good vote. Mr. Dilts is a contracting painter and has worked hard for his party. Edward T. Lynch is also reported to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

RESCUE MISSION.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong will be the speaker at the Rescue Mission services tonight at 8 o'clock. There will be good music. The public is invited.

FOUND GUILTY OF ILLEGAL SELLING

Borough Wholesaler and Express Co. Driver Fined For Doing Business Here.

OTHER CASES DEFERRED

Mayor Moy Presides at Hearing in City Court When Morris Latzko and Samuel Dawson Are Arraigned For Violating the Liquor Law.

Morris Latzko, wholesale liquor leader, 27 Somerset street, North Plainfield, and Samuel Dawson, a driver of the Greater Plainfield Transportation Company, Rahway road, were found guilty of the charge of selling liquor outside the municipality of North Plainfield, contrary to ordinance. Latzko was fined $20 and costs, and Dawson $10 and costs for selling in this city. In imposing the maximum penalties Mayor W. G. V. Moy regretted that he could not inflict heavier sentences. There was no doubt, he said, in his mind, after the evidence advanced, that the Greater Painfield Transportation Company had been organized for the chief purpose of delivering Latzko's beer. All the remaining cases were adjourned to August 12.

For two hours and a half this morning a curious crowd filled the city police court while the hearing of the first of a batch of cases for illegal selling of liquor was being heard. Mayor W. G. V. Moy occupied the bench.

The case of Adolph Bohren, of 11 Greenbrook road, North Plainfield, and the co-defendant, Peter Kane, was adjourned to August 12 Judge Hudspeth, of Jersey City, who is counsel for defendants, being unable to appear. W. L. Hetfield, Jr., who appeared as special corporation counsel and also in his official capacity of assistant prosecutor for the county, thought that an adjournment until August 5 would be sufficient but the judge demurred and smilingly confessed that he would be in Chicago on that date.

Judge William Newcorn asked for a similar adjournment for his clients, Morris Latzko, 27 Somerset street, North Plainfield, and Samuel Dawson, on the grounds that on account of pressure of work he had not been able to familiarize himself with the facts to warrant his proceeding. The prosecuting attorney opposed the motion and a sharp altercation took place between Hetfield and Newcorn, the motion being finally refused by the mayor. Judge Newcorn, when he saw that the trial would be proceeded with, said it did not matter much as whatever the verdict it would not rest there. He then 'phoned for a stenographer, the court having to wait twenty minutes for his arrival.

When the case was called counsel for the defendants demanded a separate trial for each. This was denied. Then Judge Newcorn entered objection to the jurisdiction of the court on the ground that the charge in the complaint was an indictable offence; secondly that the presiding magistrate could not sit while the city judge was present in the city; thirdly, that the presiding magistrate was biased and, fourthly, that the defendants were entitled to trial by jury. All these objections were dismissed after being legally argued. On the question that Mayor Moy was biased the prosecuting counsel said he would waive his objection to the adjournment if Judge Newcorn could prove his statement. Whereupon Morris Latzko was called to the stand and recounted an alleged conversation he had with the mayor in the mayor's office several weeks ago. The gist of the conversation was that he told the mayor that he had several customers in Plainfield, but that those people selected their own expresses. The mayor, he stated, said that people had no right to go out of their own municipalities, and the only way city people could get liquor from the borough was to go over after the goods in North Plainfield and cart it away on their backs, but that there would soon be a law passed that would do away with that.

In reply to this the mayor said he did not know at the time that there was any charge pending against Latzko for selling liquor in Plainfield. Further he asked Latzko at that time if he wanted to consult him on a question of law and he replied that he knew the law.

The case was then proceeded with, Patrolman Arthur McGinley being first examined. He testified to stopping Dawson and asking him what he had in his wagon. He replied "beer." On further questioning he said he worked for the Greater Plainfield Transportation Company, with offices at Rahway road. Albert Brooks, subpoenaed for the prosecution, admitted that he had ordered two cases of ale from defendant—one for himself and one for Mrs. Howlett, a neigh-

TALK IN CONGRESS

MIGHT OF THE LOWER HOUSE

The Enormous Power It Wields by Reason of Its Grip Upon the Purse of the Nation—Absolute Democracy of the Committee of the Whole.

The house of representatives of the people of the United States, the great demos, the source of all power, the basis upon which the great superstructure of the government rests, dates back to the Magna Charta, and its immediate ancestor was the first parliament of Henry IV., in the fifteenth century. In Henry's parliament the representatives of the people established finally and forever that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house, which should hold the purse of the people and without which not a wheel in the legislative, the executive or the judicial branch of the government could turn.

It is because of this parliament that there is no ways and means committee in the senate and that when any treaty or commercial arrangement or any thing involving the payment of money is introduced, any appointment or legislation is proposed, the house of representatives raises its mighty hand and settles the matter according to the will of the people through their representatives, for it can defeat any measure or any person by merely declining to appropriate the money necessary to pay for that measure or person.

When this great committee on ways and means presents its business to the house of representatives and the house goes into committee of the whole house on the state of the Union the assemblage at once resolves itself into a body as absolutely democratic as the Saxon Witenagemot or the New England town meeting. Every symbol of a popular assemblage is religiously observed. The speaker leaves the chair, and a chairman is elected who is not the speaker. Not even so much as the prestige of the regular presiding officer is allowed to hamper the freedom of debate. The speaker goes down to the floor and has no more privileges than the most obscure member of the house.

The mace, the emblem of authority, is put under the speaker's table to show that the house deliberates without interference from anybody. The mace is really a weapon, a stout wooden stick with a metal head, and used to be the favorite weapon of fighting priests of the middle ages. They were forbidden by ecclesiastical law to use swords, but got around the law by using the mace, a terrible weapon, against the armored men of the time. In the choice of the mace as the type of authority the idea of democracy was rigidly carried out. In the early days only a few men out of the whole were authorized to wear swords, but any and all of the people could use a good stout stick, and so the weapon of their majesties the people was chosen. When the speaker presides and any members show signs of indulging in fisticuffs and will not obey the speaker's gavel the sergeant at-arms or his deputy is directed to "show the mace." That functionary seizes the mace and marches up to the offending members, who are supposed to be awed into good behavior at sight of this big stick.

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the speaker promptly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to show them the mace. The sergeant took the mace, marched up to the two belligerents and stood, mace in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Peck 'em on the head with it!"

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So-and-so" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie, and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay duel and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. And so the dueling practice was dropped in congress long before public sentiment abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate, and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained.—Chicago Record-Herald.

—A practical joke is only funny on one side.

—Time is money, which may be the reason some people spend it so foolishly.

BUCKING MUSTANG, ON RAMPAGE, INJURES TWO

Elizabeth, July 26.—A wild Western mustang went on a rampage on Liberty street yesterday afternoon. Its owner, T. Ratell, of 121 Liberty street, was trying to break the animal to harness. Suddenly the mustang reared and plunged and Ratell was knocked down an kicked so badly on the legs that he had to be taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Robert McNamee caught the runaway on South Broad street, and, climbing into the wagon, started to drive him home. At Pearl street the mustang began his antics again. He upset the wagon and McNamee was hurled to the pavement. He was badly scratched about the face and severely bruised on the body, but did not have to go to the hospital.

The mustang managed to free itself from the wagon and dashed off on another wild run, but was captured.

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You woudn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results."

WOMAN ODDLY HURT IN AUTOMOBILE, MAY DIE

Injuries sustained in a peculiar automobile accident Wednesday afternoon will, it is feared, cause the death of Mrs. Daniel Carpenter, eighty-two years old, of Mountain avenue, Maplewood. Mrs. Carpenter is at her home, suffering from concussion of the brain. She is the mother of Mrs. Clarence B. Riker, also of Mountain avenue.

With members of the Riker family and a chauffeur, Mrs. Carpenter was going through Union Township. In front of the old Presbyterian church there it was decided to turn around and the car was driven into a driveway leading from the road.

As the auto was turned into the driveway a rear wheel struck a stone. It is said that the machine was slowly moving, but the jar caused Mrs. Carpenter to sway in her seat and she leaned over the side of the car in order to regain her balance. As she did so her head struck a spiked iron fence and she was rendered unconscious.

Dr. B. B. Ranson, of Baker street, Maplewood, was telephoned for and arrived in his automobile. Mrs. Carpenter was placed in it and hurried to her home. The Riker party also returned to Maplewood at once.

It was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Riker who discovered the whereabouts of Dr. Frederick A. Cook after the explorer had disappeared from New York. The young man was on a trip in the tropics and met Dr. Cook aboard a steamship off the coast of South America.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The first star race driver to file an entry in the Chicago Automobile club's Elgin road race was David Bruce-Brown, acknowledged one of greatest automobile race pilots in the world. It is expected he will race in a Fiat, the car in which he was a close contender for the Grand Prix at Paris recently. Ralph Mulford and Erwin Bergdoll, drivers with nation-wide reputations, have promised to file their entries soon.

Motorcycling took a distinct step forward the other day when, at the annual convention and meet of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, held at Columbus, O., the organization went on record in a strong resolution as being opposed to tank riding, speeding and the open muffler. The Federation not only declared its opposition to these motorcycle abuses, but called on its members to use their influence in ending them, and pledged itself to fight the abuses to a finish.

Several thousand enthusiasts attended the races at Minooka Park yesterday. Billy Williams, in a little Buick, cleaned up the majority of the events. In a one-mile time trial William Freitag, in a Fiat, came within six seconds of the record which Bob Burman hung up on the same track last year. Williams met with an accident in the fifth event when his car skidded off the track and ran into a road wagon and several barrels of oil. E. A. Waterman, a Brooklyn photographer, taking a picture of Williams rounding the curve, was struck and badly hurt.

Autoists using the shore road find the opening of the reconstructed section of St. George avenue, from a point outside of Rahway to Woodbridge and which took place this week, something which was very welcome indeed. The road has been entirely rebuilt, covers something between two or three miles and like all new roads is a joy to travel on. The work has been under way since back in spring and before it was started the thoroughfare was in horrible condition and full of ruts such as would send a motor car bouncing from crest to crest of each rut with all the accompanying inconveniences. The new road will give a short route to Perth Amboy, as the detour as posted by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club was around by way of Colonia.

Arthur Chapple, the speedy motorcycle rider of Newark, added two more world's records to his list Wednesday night in the motorcycle races at the Brighton Beach Motodrome. In a three-mile trial against time he set up new figures for one and for three miles. He travelled the first mile in 39 seconds, clipping a fifth of a second from the mark he established the night before, and ended the trial in 1.59 1-5. The old record for three miles was 2.01, made by Ray Seymour at Chicago last year. Chapple finished his second mile in 1.18 2-5. This is three-fifths of a second behind the old mark.

The special policeman at Belmar, located at Ocean and Second avenues, that place, is proving a Nemesis to automobilists traveling on the Jersey shore road. He has been assigned to check speeds and he is certainly performing his duty. It is not that he had made any great amount of arrests, as on the contrary his apprehensions have been very few, but he commands respect for the law, and in fact a little more. He is the personification of an iceberg and his frostiness of mien causes the most callous speedbug to shiver. He is attired in ordinary street clothes, making no pretense in the way of a uniform, his only regalia being a small peaked hat much like a chauffeurs. On his left breast he sports a large bright badge, several times larger than the ordinary policeman's badge. It is his demeanor, though, that commands respect, and autoists up and down the coast slow down when approaching his corner and pass by in a most docile manner. He has never been known to crack a smile, though many motorists have tried to induce him. All efforts in this line have been met by a stony gaze which has repressed any further advance.

It's a pretty safe bet that the date of the Newark automobile show will be changed from the week of Washington's Birthday. And it's another pretty safe bet that if it is changed, that it will be to an earlier date, instead of one later in the spring. These are the conclusions that are being arrived at through the postal card vote which the New Jersey Automobile Trade Association is taking among the local dealers.

Many accidents have been attributed to over-oiling, while the waste of oil is in spreading it on so thick that much of it runs off the road instead of soaking in. Two or three light oilings, which will soak into the road surface, are more beneficial than one heavy soaking, much of which flows away. There is no excuse for this overoiling nowadays as the apparatus for the work is such that a light oiling can be secured. Consequently there is no excuse for the heavy oiling of a few years ago when the practice was inaugurated and the facilities for doing the work were crude.

INSURANCE PLAN FOR SONS OF TEMPERANCE

Metuchen, July 26.—An insurance plan has been decided upon by Grand Division, Sons of Temperance of New Jersey, which comprises delegates from Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Trenton and Camden, and which met in the chapel of the Reformed church, in this town, Wednesday. A committee was appointed to found an insurance organization in connection with the Grand Division.

Grand Worthy Patriarch Herbert Blessing, of Camden, presided and read his quarterly report, showing the order in this State to be in a flourishing condition. Edward K. Drake, of Elizabeth, the oldest past grand officer present, was accorded the station of honor.

The delegates were dined in the hall of Americus Division.

Addresses were made by several of the grand officers, who attended at Portland, Me., last week the annual session of the National Division of North America.

CRACK LITTLE SILVER P. O. SAFE; GET $300

Red Bank, Juy 26.—The safe in the Little Silver Postoffice was blown open yesterday morning and about $100 in money and $200 in stamps were taken. Entrance was gained by forcing the front door open. The yeggmen used nitroglycerin to blow open the safe and they used soap in the cracks of the safe.

The robbery was discovered yesterday morning by Frank L. Sherwood, assistant postmaster, when he opened the office for business. When the robbery was made public, residents living in the vicinity of the office said that they were awakened by an explosion about 3:45 o'clock yesterday morning, but the sound was so muffled that they thought it was the discharging of battery guns at Sandy Hook.

The bottom of the front doors in the safe were badly shattered. About $16 in money laid under the delivery window but the thieves did not get this.

This is the third time in twelve years that the postoffice has been robbed. The first robbery occurred in 1901, when entrance was gained to the office and $1.47 in stamps were taken from the stamp drawer. In October, 1908, the safe was blown open and $148 in stamps and money were taken. The intruders on each occasion were never captured. John T. Lovett is postmaster.

Plainfield, N. J., July 26, 1912.

It was with much pleasure that we published conspicuously yesterday a communication from the counsel for Thomas Traynor in criticism of our report and our comment on the latter's application for a wholesale liquor license. Aside from the fact that we are always glad to give any one a hearing through the columns of this paper, there was a special reason why it was desired to make the letter as prominent as possible. In it the impression was given that for a local newspaper to take so decided a stand on a matter of this sort was quite unusual.

"Is your newspaper the one to predict and forecast the result of the Councilmanic vote?" asks Traynor's lawyer. "Or was the article printed with the idea to create a sentiment against the granting of the application?" he continues. These questions we cheerfully answer. To the first we say "Yes;" we have no hesitation in prophesying the result of a Councilmanic vote on an application of this kind for we cannot imagine on what plea the city fathers could grant the petition, and we feel free to forecast the outcome. As to the second query, the purpose of the editorial comment was to show why the Common Council neither could nor should take favorable action.

Another objection is made by the counsel for the applicant because the names and residences of the six signers were published. "Never before has this been done to my knowledge," he observes. This phase of the matter furnished one of the reasons why the application should be turned down for an examination of the tax books does not reveal that these signers were qualified to be signers according to the provisions of the liquor ordinance. We repeat our prediction—the Common Council will not grant Mr. Traynor's petition.

Overhead wires contribute to the disfigurement of a city and the governing body at Elizabeth is wise enough to see what a great improvement would be brought about in that community were the wires to be placed underground. With that end in view, a special committee of the Elizabeth Council has been in negotiation for some time with Public Service Corporation officials and the prospects are that the municipality will not need to resort to litigation to rid the city of the unsightly wires. The company's officials will join with the committee on a tour of inspection next week and it is stated that probably some agreement will be reached at that time. Plainfield would do well to follow Elizabeth's example.

There are forty little Woodrow Wilsons screaming for all they are worth at the present moment. This news comes from Sea Girt, where letters have been received by the Democratic Presidential nominee from two score of proud fathers who have named their off-spring in his honor. But isn't it about time that some brand of cigars be named for the Jersey Governor?

Some idea of the tremendous amount of money spent each year on tobacco in this country alone can be gained from the gigantic capital of the cigars company incorporated yesterday. It is $35,000,000. If the sum annually wasted by men in indulging in this habit were to be devoted to uplift work in our larger cities how much more happy and contented this land would be.

In few suburban communities is there such an attractive program of outdoor sports, including baseball, golf and tennis, as is presented on each succeeding Saturday afternoon in Plainfield.

Tomorrow's contributed editorial will be on a subject of more than usual importance and the theme is treated in a way to command the thoughtful attention of the reader. Don't miss it.

From now on until the time of adjournment, Congress will be occupied in listening to speeches delivered for campaign ammunition and not for the good of the country.

When you go away for your summer vacation, leave an order to have the Daily Press follow you. It is the only way to keep informed on current events in your home town.

"The decision on Thaw will be very brief" is the prediction of a New York newspaper. It could be summed up in four words—back to Matteawan.

The new commissioner of motor vehicles, Job Lippincott, is earning every penny of his salary. No violations or evasions of the law escape his eye.

Throughout the city many sidewalks are sadly in need of repair. The flag stones in many instances are uneven and should be relaid.

This is the season of the year when the mushroom booms for public office are started. The crop just now promises to be a record breaker.

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT THE WAWAYANDA CAMP

In a letter received from the State Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Lake Wawayanda this morning, word comes that the fellows from this city are all well and are having the time of their lives. Plainfield managed to annex thirteen more points in the athletic competition for the silver trophy offered for the highest individual association point score and the local delegation is still holding back its best athletes for future sections, as all of their thirty-two scores have been made by five contestants.

The Plainfield athletes in the second section meet were William Wheelan, LeRoy Adams and Clarence Krause. Wheelan took third in the running hop, step and jump; Adams won the running broad and standing broad jumps in his class and took third place in the 50 yard dash; Krausse got a third in the standing broad jump in his class.

William Wheelan, of this city, surprised his felfow campers and also his friends in this city by making a clean sweep in the swimming competition. He took first place in the dive for form, the 25 yard swim and the 50 yard swim. For his performance along this line he was awadred a silver medal. Although Raymond Manley has come within an ace of landing the medal in previous years this is the first instance recorded where a Plainfield youth has been the winner.

COLORED SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION IN SESSION

The sixteenth annual convention of the Afro-American Sunday-school Association of this State, was opened a t the Mt. Olive Baptist church, this morning and will continue all day and tomorrow. This morning's program was began at 10 o'clock and it included a consecration service conducted by Joseph Moore, superintendent of Calvary Baptist church and R. E. Randolph, superintendent of Shiloh Church Sunday-school, of Plainfield. At 10:30 the convention was formally called to order by the president who, at this time, made the appointments for the various committees, enrolled the delegates, went over the financial condition of the organization, appointed new bodies and adopted suitable resolutions.

A paper was read by Mrs. C. C. Gambelis. "The Bible and its Place in the Sunday-school," was offered as the topic of the morning for discussion. Another paper was read by Floyd Craft.

Nathan Pollard was selected to make the address of welcome to the numerous out-of-town delegates. He spoke in behalf of the Sunday-school.

BANK OF ENGLAND

Tragic and Romantic Episodes In Its Historic Career.

DEADLY BATTLE WITH A MOB.

The Bloody Climax to the Attempted Raid by the Lord Gordon Rioters—A Financial Coup That Was Spoiled by the Duchess of Marlborough.

No other banking institution has so romantic a history as that pertaining to the Bank of England, the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street."

One of the bloody episodes in the history of the bank is that embraced in the story of Charles Walter Godfrey, one of its early partners in the bank. It appears that Godfrey while crossing the channel in the midst of a terrific storm and laden with £60,000 in drafts for the aid of King William, who was just then besieging Namur against the forces of Louis XIV., insisted upon his right to deliver the warrant for the money into the hands of the king, then in the trenches under hot fire. As he handed the document to the king, saying, in response to William's growl of remonstrance, "Am I, then, more exposed to danger than your majesty?" a cannon ball swept away his head.

Not so very many years ago there stood over the massive fireplace in the directors' room of the bank three rusty specimens of the old "Brown Bess," together with a number of roughly shaped bullets. In these relics was embodied a picture of the November night in 1780 when the mob of Gordon rioters marched down from Newgate, setting fire to every Catholic chapel on the way and advancing with a force of 5,000 upon the bank itself.

The clerks, armed with muskets, were unprovided with shot. Before them lay rows of leaden inkstands, suggesting the possibilities of a new use. In less than half an hour the inkstands had been melted and turned into bullets. The muskets were loaded. At every window of the bank stood two marksmen, their guns trained on the mob below. Yet the rioters came on until they were within ten yards of the bank gates. Then sharp and clear above the frightful din rose the order to fire, and from the windows poured a deadly volley. When the smoke finally cleared away 250 lay dead or dying in the open space now covered by the esplanade of the Royal Exchange. The attacking army wavered, stopped, broke line and fled, and the Gordon riots were at an end.

During the first part of the reign of George II. it was the practice of all banks to give a receipt in payment of a deposit, the receipts being passed from hand to hand and serving the same purpose as the check of today.

At that time Childs' bank, a private concern, which had the backing of a great part of the English nobility, exhibited such signs of future greatness that the Bank of England became greatly alarmed, especially in view of the fact that the "Old Lady's" notes were at a discount of 10 per cent. So little by little, through their agents, the managers of the Bank of England bought up every receipt bearing the Childs signature, allowing the collections to accumulate each year until the time should be ripe, during a shortage of gold, to present the receipts in one great mass for payment. It was deemed a certainty that Childs' would not be able to meet the demand and would thus be ruined.

The principal figure in the drama that ensued was no other than the famous Sarah Jennings, in whom Childs' bank found its stanchest supporter. One night there came a wild clanging at the bell of the great gate of the town of Blenheim—a clanging that soon awakened every one in the town. A white faced, travel stained man staggered into the ducal hall, begging an audience with her grace. When the duchess, in her dressing gown, appeared, demanding to know the reason for this unseemly visitation, the man explained that the Bank of England held the Childs' receipts in the amount of £620,000, that those receipts would be presented for payment at noon following, that there was not at Childs' enough gold to meet them, that unless the demand could be satisfied within eight hours Childs' was ruined and that there was but one person in the world—her grace—to whom they might turn.

Whereupon the redoubtable duchess sat down and wrote out a check, which she handed to the agent. It was an order on the Bank of England for the payment of £700,000. He was instructed to take this check to the Bank of England and to say that if it hesitated for a single instant in paying it the duchess would proclaim it as a defaulter.

At 12 o'clock that day there appeared at the Childs' counter an agent of the Bank of England bearing a big bag ful of receipts and blandly suggesting immediate payment. At the same moment the Childs' agent was in Threadneedle street receiving cash on the check of the duchess.

The cashiers at Childs' naturally took their own time in scrutinizing the receipts, spending fully half an hour over the first batch alone. They went at the end of the first hundred when the messenger arrived. Then they quickened the procedure a little, and within ten minutes the Bank of England had been paid in its own coin. The net result was that Childs' was many thousands of pounds richer.—Harper's.

We never see the target a man aims at in life. We see only the target he hits.—Jordon.

SPOILED A GOOD SCHEME.

If Pete Had Only Had His Own Way It Might Have Won.

Grand Central Pete was a noted bunko steerer of the old days, but he could neither read nor write. Once he fell upon hard times, and he and a younger but equally luckless confidence man undertook to beat their way on a freight train to Washington. A brakeman kicked them off at Trenton.

It was getting late, and neither of them had a cent. Across the tracks from where they had landed was a good looking hotel, and right next door was an express office. Grand Central Pete had an idea. He went into the express office, borrowed one of the large manila envelopes such as are used for transporting currency, filled the envelope with pieces of newspaper cut to the size of bank notes and sealed it carefully.

"Now, then," he said to his partner, "you take your fountain pen and write on the back of that envelope $9,000. Then we'll go over to that hotel and explain that we've lost our baggage, and I'll hand this envelope to the clerk and ask him to lock it in the safe. He'll look at the figures on the back, and he'll take us for moneyed guys and give us rooms and grub until we can raise a stake."

The scheme sounded good to the younger man. He got out his pen and obeyed orders. Grand Central Pete took the envelope back in his hands and examined it carefully.

"Does that say $9,000?" he demanded.

"Yep," said his partner.

"Well, it don't look big enough to me," said Pete. "You'd better add on some more of them naughts."

The younger con man protested, but Pete would have his way and kept after him until the educated one had tacked on three more naughts, making the grand total $9,000,000.

Then Pete marched grandly over to the hotel, registered for himself and his friend, passed the stuffed envelope across the desk to the clerk and called for the bridal suit.

The clerk took one look at the envelope, another look at the soiled faces and shabby apparel of the newcomers and rang the bell for the house bouncer. A minute later the discomfited pair were sitting on the side walk.

Grand Central Pete raised himself painfully and eyed his companion with a scornful, angry glance.

"There, now!" he shouted. "I told you you hadn't wrote enough of them naughts!" — Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Swinburne Used Profanity Often.

Swinburne would have suffered badly if the thirty shilling swearing tax had been enforced against him. He lived at the British hotel in Cockspur street and never went anywhere except in hansoms, which, whatever the distance, he invariably remunerated with a shilling. When he drove two miles beyond the radius there was the devil's own row. But in the matter of imprecation the poet was more than a match for a cabby, who after five minutes of it would drive off as though he had been rated by Beelzebub himself. —London Chronicle.

INDICTED ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

New Brunswick, July 26.—Among the thirteen indictments handed in by the grand jury to Judge Peter F. Daly was one against Patrick Reilley, Joseph Slattery and Lawrence Pierce, the young men who Miss Mae Maher, of Flatbush, alleges held her captive in a boat at Port Reading and assaulted her. No indictment was found in the case of Miss Ida Mae Olsen, of Plainfield, it is said. She was riding with her fiance, John Gill, near Dunellen, on June 30, when an auto driven by William Stites, of Plainfield, struck the wagon and she was thrown out. The next morning she was found dead in bed. Stites was held under bail.

COMMISSION FOR WILDWOOD.

Wildwood, July 26.—This city followed the lead of other seashore resorts Wednesday and by a majority of 218 voted in favor of the adoption of the commission form of government. The vote was 346 for to 128 against. The people appeared to have made up their minds to try the new method of government and nothing the politicians could do or say moved them. It was the quietest election the resort ever held. Primaries will now be held for the nomination of the commissioners and there will be a large number of candidates for the places.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME SUMMER LEMONADES.

THE juice of a lemon added to drinking water is one of the best thirst quenchers available.

The citric acid in the fruit is regarded as a good remedy for scurvy. Lemon juice is thought by some to be useful in driving rheumatism out of the system. It has a cooling and cleansing effect on the blood.

Useful Beverages.

Beverages prepared with lemons should be available on specially hot days.

Lemon and water taken early each morning has become a common drink among women who value their complexions.

Since sugar is not used there is no danger of acid even for gouty and rheumatic persons. Do not use too much lemon. The juice of a third or a half is enough.

If you put a cut lemon upside down in a cup or on waxed paper and then fold up the paper it will keep fresh quite awhile.

Simple Lemonade.—Take the juice of three lemons and the thin rind of one lemon to every quart of water. Cut the rind very thin and in pieces and add to the juice. Take two ounces of sugar to each quart. Use water freshly boiled, cover and stand until cold. Made with boiled water, it is like another drink. Add an orange or a small quantity of pineapple or a tablespoonful of grape or currant jelly.

Lemonade Essence.—Take one ounce of tartaric acid, one ounce of citric acid, three pounds of white sugar and two lemons. Slice the lemons and mix the whole of the ingredients in a quart of boiling water. After the contents have dissolved bottle and use two or three teaspoonfuls to each glass of water. The lemonade will keep, if bottled, any length of time.

For Special Occasions.

Lemon Cup. Cut a slice from the top of as many lemons as there are persons to serve. Scoop out the pulp, taking care not to break the skin, and with lemon squeezer extract the juice. For each large lemon allow half a pint of water and sweeten to taste. Fill the lemon shells with the lemonade, replace the slice taken from the top of each and attach it firmly by piercing through two edges with broom straws and cutting them off close to the skin. Before replacing the top slice make a round hole in it and through this hole stick straws with which to drink the fluid. The remainder of the lemonade may be used to replenish the lemon cups.

DECREES OF FASHION.

Marabou Trims Long Silk Coats of the Summer Season.

Long charmeuse coats in black and colors, edged with marabou or swansdown, are smart, and taffetas in black and colors are also being shown in the full length garments.

The embroidered swisses, white with a colored flower, take us back to the days of our grandmothers. By the bye, grandmother's dainty fichu would combine charmingly with one of these.

An improvement on the easily soiled cretonne boxes is those built of white enameled wood with cretonne top covered with glass. These are not expensive and come in many delicate floral patterns.

Every blouse that gives the surplice lines is fashionable this season, and this one is made with straight edges, so that it is especially adapted to bordered materials and flouncings.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7500, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

MIDSUMMER HATS.

The Umbrella Shaped Hat Is Very New.

SEASONABLE HEADWEAR.

A striking model—known as the umbrella hat—has just arrived from Paris for midseason wear. The underbrim trimming is new and chic. The other hat pictured is of ivory pedal straw trimmed with two shades of pink, paradise mount and pink ribbon embroidered in blue and silver.

THE BEST WAY

In Which a Few Helpful Things May Be Done.

To get the best results in canning fruit use good, ripe fruit. It is a mistake to think by waiting till fruit is poor and cheap one can get from it just as good results in canning.

To clean an enameled bathtub wipe it dry and then rub it with a cloth dipped in turpentine and salt. Afterward wash it with clean warm water, then wipe it dry, and it will look like a new tub.

To turn a cake easily out of a tin set the tin on a wet cloth for a few seconds immediately after removing it from the oven and then turn it out.

To remove ink from carpets without injuring the carpet make a paste of buttermilk and starch and cover the ink with it.

For Early Fall.

That the tight skirt will hold over until the early fall days is evidenced in the model for autumn which has recently been sent over from Paris. The material is eponge or sponge cloth in a lovely shade of russet brown. The buttons are of dull metal in ball shape.

Demijohn Lamps.

A couple of old wicker covered demijohns are doing duty this summer in a neat seashore bungalow as the bases of lamps. One of them received only a thorough cleaning before being pressed into service; the other was treated to a coat of brown enamel paint. On the light one has been fitted a spreading wicker shade and on the brown one a Japanese openwork shade lined with yellow flowered chintz. The latter stands in the family sitting room, which is done in brown and buff, and the former illumines the veranda from a wicker table at the window, to which the electric light cord can be extended. Both demijohns, of course, are weighted so that they cannot topple over easily.

—A man never fully appreciates happiness until he reaches the point where he has to look back on it.

—Hostess (to humorous artist)—But where do you get your absurd situations? Humorous Artist—Oh, well, if one keep's one's ears open at tea parties or dinners one often hears some silly thing said that one can use!—Punch.

SUMMER HATS ARE BEAUTIFIED WITH PLUMES IN SHADED COLORS.

PLUMES are among the popular trimmings for summer hats, particularly for those of the picture type. Willow plumes are most often used, and on hats with turned up brims they are generally arranged to fall over the side. Shaded feathers are much worn, and the plumes are made to wave as carelessly as possible, an art which marks the expert. Dark red and bright cerise are two favorite combinations in shaded feathers.

TWO PLUME TRIMMED HATS.

The new red called primrose is very effective. Many hats show the plumes wound around the crown, while in other cases they are made to surmount it. The stepladder hat, with the tall plume standing straight up, is affected by women who go in for extreme modes. The wide rimmed picture hat shown here with drooping side plume is of lizard green straw, with the plume in white. The other hat is of dull blue milan straw, with plumes in shades of blue and gray. Gray satin lines the brim, and gray velvet ribbon rests like a frill on top of the brim.

THE TABLE SERVICE.

The refinement of a family is plainly seen at the table.

Though the fare may be simple, the appointments should be fresh and dainty.

If the table is good white linen doilies and centerpieces are much used for luncheon and breakfast.

For dinner the fine white damask tablecloth never goes out of style.

Elaborate lace trimmed cloths are often used for luncheons.

Napkins were formerly ironed in halves and quarters, but they are now folded in such a way as to form three divisions.

Silverware should be kept bright and shining.

China or glass should be preferred to a tarnished silver tea set or butter dish.

Salt cellars with spoons rather than salt sprinklers should be used in private houses.

Plates and glasses should be put at each place, with the right side up.

It is not good form to put a pile of plates before the master or mistress of the house.

Plates should be warmed for a hot meal or fish course.

DAINTY LAMP SHADES.

Empire Effects In Hand Painting and Embroidery.

A novel lamp shade has a deep beading made of ribbon work roses. The same ribbon work embroidery is repeated on the groundwork of the shade itself, which is further decorated with medallions of gold lace of very bold openwork pattern. Such shades are obtainable in various colors to match any scheme of decoration.

Another empire hand painted silk shade of great beauty is trimmed with wreaths of small watteau roses made of silk and satin. This is finished with a very delicate silk fringe ornamented with new crochet worked flowers made of the fine gold thread that forms so delicate a finish to the new lamp fringes, which are exceedingly dainty and light looking.

Lavender Scent Baskets.

The bedroom that is fragrant with the old fashioned scent of lavender suggests rest and peace. It is not enough to line the wardrobe shelves with lavender sachets, though to do so is a step in the right direction.

Very pretty are the hanging "breeze" baskets which with every breath of air from the outside sends forth a delicious scent. The baskets are hung upon ribbon and slung upon the looking glass or upon the handle of an escritoire.

SOUVENIR CHAIRS.

Gifts Which Are Upholstered With Historic Robes.

Gift chairs are a fad among certain women of fashion in Europe. Dainty designs are chosen and carved from rosewood, white walnut or birch. The chairs are covered with silk brocade which has a personal significance to the receiver.

Queen Alexandra has had a set of small gilt chairs made for each of her grandchildren, and each is upholstered in silk, velvet or brocade which served the queen on state occasions. Almost all are parts of opera cloaks or outside wraps of some description.

This clever queen, who delights in gifts of the possessions of her husband, Edward VII., has had several footstools covered with fur sleigh robes or small personal fur rugs for various faithful friends of the monarch.

The idea of covering chairs with parts of gowns has long been a favorite keepsake device of Queen Alexandra and also of her sister, the dowager empress of Russia. Both royal ladies have for years exchanged chairs and cushions for lounges and for dressing tables made from scraps of ball gowns and evening coverings.

SAVING PLUMBER'S BILLS.

Look After the Pipes and Accidents Will Seldom Occur.

Many an overflow of the sink is caused by grease. There is no better way to keep the pipes in good condition than to let the hot water faucet run for five minutes after dishwashing. Though your water is on a meter, this method is cheaper than overflowing or clogged drains.

Keep an eye on the washers. If you are on a water meter a constant drip is hard on the pocketbook.

When going into a house that has been closed for some time see that the cellar windows are opened and all the faucets are allowed to run for at least an hour. If your house is to be closed for several weeks or longer do not forget to turn off the water from the street.

A Spicy Sachet.

To make a nice sachet take six ounces of gum benzoin, four ounces of cinnamon and the same of cloves, sandalwood, sassafras, wood of Rhodes, orris root, cascarilla, rose leaves, lavender flowers, pimento and lemon peel. Twenty-four grains of musk.

All the ingredients must be mixed thoroughly, having been first reduced to powder. Put into little silk bags for use.

A small quantity laid upon a live coal will perfume a room. The odor arising from it is as sweet and pervasive as that from the finest French pastilles.

You Couldn't Hire Me to Wear Dress Shields Again!
I Use That Marvel, PERSPI-NO!
Rip out the dress shields from your dresses, girls! Rip them out! You don't need them any more, absolutely never more! Never again will your gown get stained, fade, get stiff and be ruined because of a big soppy perspiration spot at the arm-pits.

Simply a Powder
One, Two, Three, and It's Done
It doesn't matter how light or heavy your clothing, or how stuffy and hot it may be indoors, in the theatre, ball-room or concert-hall, PERSPI-NO will keep your arm-pits just as fresh and dry as the back of your hand.—Just glorious!
There'll be no more running of colors in colored gowns, at the arm-pits. No more misery from rolled up dress shields that form a ropy wad under the arms. No more humiliation! Just a little PERSPI-NO will do it all. It's a powder, applied with a pad. A pad in each box. It's done in a minute. Never injures or stains the fabric, absolutely safe.
Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.
PERSPI-NO is for sale at your druggist's at 25c a box, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by the Perspi Co., 215 Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago.

GIBBS PHONES ALL DAY; FAILS TO GET BONDSMAN

Metuchen, July 26—Tyler M. Gibbs remains in the Middlesex county jail unable to get a new bondsman, although he kept the telephone wires hot all day Wednesday. He had a conference with a Metuchen lawyer, Silas D. Grimsteed, but Mr. Grimsteed refuses to tell reporters what steps, if any, he is taking for the liberation of Gibbs.

Asked if he had been retained by the man under indictment for bigamy, he said Mr. McDermit, of Newark, represents him. It is rumored that Lawyer Grimsteed is looking after the local end of the case in Gibb's interest.

Mrs. William H. Bennett refuses to see reporters, but from reliable sources it is learned that she still defends the man who married her daughter and says she knows he will be released in a few days. Delaphine C. Bennett Gibbs is at 516 Monroe avenue, Asbury Park, and has not been informed that Gibbs is back in a cell for the third time since his arrest on June 13.

ILLEGAL SELLERS FOUND GUILTY

bor. This ale was advertised at 85c. per case. He gave the person who took the order $2 and was told that the 30 cents extra was for expressage. This was the first time he had to pay express and he had been a customer of the firm for some time. Mrs. Howlett corroborated the last witness' testimony.

The story told by Morris Latzko was that he had not violated the law; that customers had the beer sent by whatever expresses they desired; that Dawson was not in his employment, but was working for the Greater Plainfield Transportation Company. However, the fact was elicited, that the Transportation Company, which did most of his carrying, was incorporated in the name of his wife, son and daughter. Dawson did odd little jobs for him for which he repaid him with cigars and small change. Occasionally he helped to fill bottles of beer. Dawson was next submitted to a gruelling examination in which he continually stumbled and contradicted himself. He said he was a factotum and did all kinds of work from cleaning windows to driving the express.

Miss Cleo Latzko said she took the order from Mr. Brooks and explained about the express rates, and the formation of the Transportaion Company. The position she held in it was a kind of secretarial.

After Patrolman McGinley had been recalled by Mr. Hetfield the court adjourned for lunch.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Elizabeth, July 26.—On a charge of forgery, Russell Jones, twenty-three years old, and married, was arrested yesterday at Elizabethport by Detectives Mulcahy and O'Brien. He was arraigned yesterday in the City Criminal Court and held in bail of $500 for the Grand Jury. Jones is a brakeman on the Central Railroad. It is charged that he forged the name of Thomas Gardner to a check of the railroad company for $34.91, and that he got it cashed at a saloon in Fifth street. Jones lives in Reading, Pa.

"PLUG HATS" ON OUTING.

Elizabeth, July 26.—The Plug Hat Association o fthis city went on its annual outing to Rockaway Beach yesterday. The trip was made by rail. The association is thirty-two years old and is the oldest purely social organization, excepting one, in this city. With this and the outing of the Elizabeth police, the place was noticably depopulated. Large delegations of bluecoats from Newark, Bayonne, Plainfield, Perth Amboy, New Brunswick and Jersey City joined the Elizabeth police.

HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE.

Elizabeth, July 26—Charged with forging the name of Thomas Garden to a Central Railroad pay check for $31.94, Russell Jones will be arraigned today. The check was cashed by Anton Sauerwein, of 463 Elizabeth avenue, who took it to the Union County Trust Company. It was held up by W. F. Cawthorne. Jones says he lives in Pennsylvania and that Garden is also a resident of that State.

SULLIVAN FOR SENATOR.

Jersey City, July 26—Mark A. Sullivan, former judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals, whom Mayor Wittpenn, backed by Frank Hague, defeated for the Mayoralty nomination at the September primaries, is being urged by his friends to enter the race for the United State Senatorship at the preferential primaries next September.

JOSEPH W. CORCORAN.

Elizabeth, July 26.—Joseph W. Corcoran, forty-five years old, died yesterday morning at the Alexian Hospital, where he had been a patient since July 11. He was the oldest son of the late Matthew and Julia Corcoran and was unmarried. He resided at 161 Sayre street.

LACAAWANNA STOPS IT.

New York, July 26—The Lackawanna Railroad officials sent out word yesterday that hereafter there will be no liquor sold on the cars of their road in New Jersey. This notice was issued by J. H. Howard, superintendent of the dining-car service.

JAIL FOR ROBBING MOTHER.

Elizabeth, July 26.—In the Union County Court yesterday Grace Hennessey, a young woman of Westfield, pleaded guilty to stealing $90 worth of clothing from her mother. Judge Atwater sentenced the prisoner to six months in the county jail.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.

Perth Amboy, July 26—Former Assemblyman William E. Ramsay yesterday announced himself as a candidate for the Senate. He is the father of the drinking-cup law.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The State Trust Company thermometer contained this registry for today: 9 a. m., 70 degrees; 11 a. m., 79 degrees; 1 p. m., 85 degrees.

Miss Marie Kenney, of Washington Park, is entertaining Miss Beatrice Ridder and Miss Julia Barter, both of New York City, and Miss Louise Junker, of Philadelphia.

Rev. Edwin Shaw has not gone to Long Lake, New York, as was previously reported, but will leave town next Wednesday if he is sufficiently recovered from his recent illness by that time.

PIRATES BEAT YANKEES IN PARKER FIELD SERIES

The Pirates, of the Parker Field baseball league, took a well played and heavy hitting game from the Yankees, of the same organization, at the play ground this morning by the score of 7 to 4. The winners sewed up the contest in the first round by pushing a quartet scores across the rubber.

Good work with the willow by Franke, Coughlan, Kennedy and Townley marked the struggle. Both nines played a good fielding game and but four misplays were chalked up against the two aggregations.

BURGLARS AND REPORT OF BURGLARS STIR METUCHEN

Metuchen, July 26—Burglars evidently having heard that the Metuchen police force is baly crippled from top to bottom, and in addition is working almost single-handed since Chief Flaherty was suspended still are visiting the Middlesex avenue section.

George H. C. Williams and his wife went out for a call and while they were out their maid went next door. When she returned about at 9:30 noticing the doors open she called out "Well, you got back early."

There was no response nor was there a light in the house. The girl heard a bolt slip and a latch rattle and a man dashed out of the house.

Wednesday night there was a mysterious call of "help! murder! police! robbers" and a firing of shots. This was after midnight and in a lonely section of the town. It is charged by some citizens that enemies of the police are at work with fake stories of robberies, purposely to discredit the force.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Elizabeth, July 26—Walter Hart, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Hart, of 500 Spring street, was killed last night at the Spring Street station of the New Jersey Central, by an excursion train. He was missed and hunted for last night, but it was not until this morning that his mangled body was found on the tracks. About a year ago the youth's sister, Anna Hart, was overcome by gas and died. William S. Hart is in the saloon business at 500 Spring street.

TEMPLE BAPTIST ATHLETICS.

A special meeting of the Temple Baptist Athletic Association has been called by William H. Conger and will be held in the church parlors Monday night. Mr. Conger has appointed the following committee to draw up a set of by-laws for the association. Clarence LaRue, chairman, Frank Stewart, Robert Guillberg, Sr., William Thomsen, Peter Moore, Harry Bowden and E. C. Conover.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Philosophical Phelix Says:

The weather man must be trying to get back in the good graces of the local fans. He has started to warm up the weather for the hot contest carded at Bound Brook tomorrow. Some say that he has been given credit for being a good weather sargeant for so long that he doesn't half try to give us a square deal on baseball day.

Yes, Charlie Newhouse will be there with bells on, but Langdon will not. This does not seem like a square deal to an "ump." One would think that after the many complimentary things Newhouse said about him three weeks ago on the oval that he would give him a tryout on the lots of Bound Brook.

Degnon will be there, however, and if he is as good an umpire as his name signifies he must be good enough for Plainfield.

Carty, the Plainfield High School baseball player, is making his debut in semi-professional baseball around these parts and from all reports seems to be making good. He pounded out three lusty hits against the Flemington twirler at that place last Wednesday and this moundsman was from the Tri-State league.

Carty is trying to find an extra large sized flower garden made into a hat around town and says he is thinking seriously of taking a course in scientific baseball on the Hilltop in New York.

At 4:40 yesterday afternoon we saw a couple riding in a taxicab. Five minutes later we saw them stop in front of the Plainfield Trust Company. They must have been trying to get enough money to pay for their five-minutes' ride.

Louis Slocum's All Star team will cling together for the rest of the season and are open for any good offers for mid-week and Sunday games.

This is what Kid Gleason, the White Sox coach, says of Jack Martin: "Jack Martin, the Jersey boy with the New York Yankees, is the best shortstop in the American League. If the Yankees want to get rid of him we'll take him. He ought to be a star next year."

Martin was the star of the Highlanders' ten inning game yesterday after he made a sensational catch in the fifth that brought the crowd to its feet.

Cobb has batted .500 in his last five games. He has made 13 hits in 26 trips to the plate. The number included two triples and two homers. Tyrus was held in check for the first time Monday in many moons. Walter Johnson blanked him in four times at bat. Tyrus, nevertheless, has a batting mark of .422 for the season. He has played in 83 games. This is two points higher than his best mark—established last year.

The Irish-American A. C. has snatched up another champion. He is Hannes Kolehmainen, the champion distance runner of the world. The Swedish runner will come to New York shortly to live. He says his main reason for coming is to learn the English language.

Pitcher Gonzleman, the Brown University wonder, has failed to deliver the goods with the Pittsburg Pirates, and that club has asked waivers on him. Warner, his side partner, has made good and will be retained.

Snodgrass, of the New York Giants, is making a great record this season in the way of nifty fielding of ground balls out of his territory. Any opposing player who makes an extra base on Snodgrass is a hummer. It would surprise some persons who have not watched the Giants' games of late to know how many opposing runs have been sidetracked by Snodgrass' clean fielding of safe hits. The fielding of grounders in the outfield is very seldom spectacular, but it is nevertheless a mighty important department of the game.

Charles Street, the veteran catcher acquired by the New York Americans from Washington last spring, has been sold to the Providence team, of the International League.

The Giants return to New York after their exciting Western tour with a margin of just 140 in the percentage column.

MONROE AND PARK AVE. MIX IT UP TOMORROW

Hotly Contested Battle Expected in Sunday-school League Series.

With the top rung argument doubled up between the Monroe Avenue and First Baptist teams, and Hope Chapel waiting for a show to get back in the mix-up at the expense of some of the weaker organizations, the Sunday-school baseball league contenders will take the field tomorrow afternoon with half of their season's schedule half completed. Although the season is well under way, none of the nines is sure of landing the championship and at least five of the teams are very much in the fray.

The banner attraction for tomorrow afternoon will be staged at Parker Field between the Monroe Avenue and Park Avenue nines. The last meeting of these two rivals was a battle for blood and if the Park Avenue boys win it will mean the lowering of last year's champions from the top notch position. Hope Chapel will without doubt have to fight for all it gets from South Plainfield as the villagers are going along at a fast clip at present. There does not seem to be much chance for the Temples to throw a scare into the other league contenders by breaking their losing streak as its stacks up against the strong First Baptist nine tomorrow and this aggregation has a habit of winning.

TOMORROW'S GAMES IN THE MFG. LEAGUE

Some Changes In Standing Are Likely to Result Among the Contesting Teams.

Tomorrow will be an eventful day for the Manufacturers' baseball league. A change in position of some team is almost sure to result and one of the best contests of the season is expected to take place when the Commercials and R. G. E. come together. The latter leads the standing with a margin of 75 points over the Clerks, and should the latter team win tomorrow it would pull the leaders down to .777 and force ahead to the top rung with a grand total of .827. While the Saurer and Public Service contest will have no direct bearing on the relative standing of the tailenders, the gas company players will have to annex another win in order to have a show for third place, as the Spicers are coming along fast and they are ready to step in to any place which happens to be vacated. Tomorrow's game will give the Public Service aggregation an opportunity to try out their quartet of players who were added to the eligible list of players at the last meeting of the organization.

WESTFIELD AND DUNELLEN WILL MEET TOMORROW

The second meeting of the Westfield and Dunellen baseball teams will take place at Recreation Park tomorrow afternoon and the home nine is hot after the game to even things up with the Dunellen bunch. The latter combination managed to get way with the last game played between these two fast semi-professional nines after coming up from behind with a hair raising finish. McLaughlin and Dixon will be in the points for Dunellen and Manager Flynn will have Ortlieb on the mound with Gallon behind the bat.

PLAINFIELD OUT TO WALLOP BOUND BROOK

It now seems probable that the 1912 championship series between the Plainfield and Bound Brook teams will be settled before the season ends satisfactorily. The two respective managers have gotten together and arranged for a new schedule of games to be played on the home diamonds of the two aggregations on alternating dates. The contest at Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon will mark the staring of the revised schedule. Plainfield wants to get even for the early season's beating and Bound Brook aims to get revenge for the unfortunate defeat it was compelled to accept at the hands of the locals on the Oval several weeks ago, when the game broke up in an argument and was forfeited to the home nine. All this personal feeling has, however, been forgotten and the game tomorrow will be clean and well played baseball through and through.

The local nine will probably be accompanied by a large crowd of fans that are as usual attracted to these games by the announcement of the frequently scheduled pitching duels between Frederickson and Slocum. Plainfield will have its regular lineup on the field and Bound Brook has been strengthened by three new players, one of whom will be Tommy Mullin, of this city. He will play third base in the place of Howard Craig, who resigned after the last Plainfield-Bound Brook contest because he was dissatisfied with the attitude taken by his teammates in regard to the umpire's decision which broke up that game. Degnon will officiate as umpire.

ROYAL GIANTS PLAY NETHERWOOD TOMORROW

The contest for the amateur championship of the city is now on in earnest between a number of nines in this city, chief of which are the Royal Giants and the Netherwood A. C. These two aggregations will cross bats on the Fillmore Avenue grounds tomorrow afternoon and as the colored nine has been putting up good games against such formidable rivals as the Westfield and Dunellen baseball teams, a hot struggle is expected.

Manager Pete Simmons has had his men out for a short and stiff practise every night for the past week and will put his strongest lineup against the Netherwood nine tomorrow afternoon. The contest will begin at 3:30.

FISHING NOTES.

A party of local fishermen have just returned from a very successful two days' trip to Barnegat and report the fishing the finest in years. Those who made up the party were Clarence L. Thorn, Bert Harold, Charles Hall and Gilbert Murray. The fish taken in by this party numbered four hundred and that is considered an exceptionally fine two days' catch.

The fishing at Barnegat has been better during the last six weeks than at any time during the past fifteen years.

The catches are made up entirely of weakfish at this time but bluefish were running plentifully from the 25th of June until the 15th of July. They have left now, however, and it is of course uncertain as to when they will return.

Kingfish are scarce now but one that has run astray is occasionally landed.

The Plainfield party report that shedder crabs and shrimp make the best bait for the weakfish.

What is believed to be a record catch was made at Barnegat Wednesday when a woman landed a six and one-half pound weakfish. Old fishermen proclaimed it to be the largest they had seen brought in in some time.

A party of thirteen went out from Barnegat in quest of the finny tribe on Tuesday at 3 o'clock in the morning, and when they returned at five in the evening they had 998 weakfish in the boat.

The boats that go out on the river from Barnegat every day return at night with between 200 and 600 weakfish on board. A few are taken home to be used as food but a large majority of them are thrown on the beach and carried away by the farmers to be used as fertilizer.

While fishing is nothing extra in Sewaren waters crabbing could not be better. Acker's boats are reporting catches up to 150 each. Crabbing parties are requested to bring their own bait.

A word of warning about the crabs caught in Newark Bay. At least a dozen people have been made sick from eating the crabs that seem to be impregnated with oil. The boiling only adds to the trouble, and it is positively dangerous to the health to eat them.

Fishing is getting better every day at the Raritt in Jamaica Bay. Catches from thirty to forty are made and the fish counted at Schy's East Side Hotel. The fishing can be done from rowboats, although some people prefer to go out in a power boat. Shrimp, shedders and clams are used for bait over there.

Jersey City is building up its reputation as a home for fishermen. There was a time that you wouldn't find a fisherman from that city in a trip from Hackensack to Cape May, but it is different now.

Dan Porter, of the White Star Fishing Club, is mourning the loss of a watch, and the captains of large ocean-going steamers are complaining because the iron in the watch is upsetting their compass. Dan was fishing with his club members and held his watch to see how long it would be between bites, and he waited so long he fell asleep and dropped the watch overboard near Sandy Hook. He engaged a dozen clammers from the Highlands to long for the watch, and up to date they have recovered the hands and several springs.

Walter T. Smith, of Elizabeth, returned to that city Monday morning with as fine a mess of weakfish as ever came out of the water. He fished Friday and Saturday in Barnegat Bay, near the inlet, and was one of the fortunate ones to get his hooks into the big tide-runners that were feeding there last week.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

National.

Chicago at New York.
Cincinnati at Brooklyn.
Pittsburg at Philadelphia.
St. Louis at Boston.

American.

No games scheduled.

International.

Newark at Buffalo.
Jersey City at Toronto.
Providence at Montreal.
Baltimore at Rochester.

SPICERS' GAME OFF.

The game between the Spicer and Banks teams of the Manufacturers' baseball league, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed upon the request of the latter nine. The Jointmakers will hold their annual outing and athletic meet on Staten Island tomorrow afternoon and all of the baseball players will make the trip. This will leave the Myrtle Avenue grounds unoccupied and the game between the R. G. E. and Commercial teams which was scheduled for Hyde Field will be shifted to the vacant lot.

HIGH BRIDGE-RARITAN.

Another game for the Somerset county supremacy is carded for tomorrow afternoon when the High Bridge and Raritan baseball teams meet at Somerville. Jimmy Clinton, who formerly twirled for the Somerville team which has of late been consolidated into the Raritan aggregation, will appear in a High Bridge uniform on Saturday afternoon.

"BOTH PLATFORMS BAD," SAYS T. R.

Colonel Has Something to Say on "Insincerity."

GOV. WILSON IS ATTACKED

Says New Jersey Executive Has Been at Head of State Government For Two Years and Hasn't Done Anything Important to Curb Trusts.

New York, July 26.—In his contribution to the current issue of the Outlook on "Platform Insincerity," Colonel Roosevelt makes a sweeping attack on the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties.

Both platforms are bad, Colonel Roosevelt says, and the only hope is with the progressives. If the promises of the Baltimore platform are carried out, and he doesn't believe they will be, the colonel sees a nation wide disaster and that Woodrow Wilson will have to violate the platform or see business destroyed. After taking a fling at the Wilson administration in New Jersey on the trust question, Roosevelt says:

"There is not a dishonest trust in the country that could not afford to support the Democratic platform rather than face the honest and efficient purpose of the progressive party, and there is not an honest business concern in the country that would not be ruined if the promises of the Democratic party were kept. The platforms of both parties are reactionary, he declares.

Advice For Progressives.

Of the progressive platform Colonel Roosevelt says:

"I very earnestly hope that the progressive party will bear this fact in mind when it comes to building its platform. Not only should the platform be right, but it should be so clearly drawn as to make the intentions of those who draw it perfectly understood by the average man; it should deal wisely and boldly with the new issues confronting our people and, finally, it should scrupulously refrain from promising anything that cannot be performed and should clearly show that it intends, in a matter of honorable obligation, to carry out every promise made."

It is hopeless to endeavor to punish one party by voting for the other, according to Colonel Roosevelt, as the bosses will be in control anyway. He says:

"The Baltimore platform offers as good an example as any platform of the last thirty years of what has become a typical vice of American politics—the avoidance of saying anything real on real issues and the announcement of radical policies with much sound and fury and at the same time with a cautious accompaniment of weasel phrases, each of which sucks the meat out of the preceding statement."

Says Wilson Has Been Lenient.

If there is to be a tariff for revenue only, Colonel Roosevelt says, every species of protection must be removed from the farmer and the laboring man no less than from the manufacturer, and duties must be imposed upon such articles as tea and coffee. Continuing, he says:

"Of course, it would not be strictly enforced. As with the tariff, if Dr. Wilson were elected he would at once have to face the question whether he would violate the platform or destroy all business. New Jersey has been in the past well known for its leniency in permitting the formation of trusts to operate outside the state. Dr. Wilson has been at the head of its government for nearly two years, yet during that time nothing of real importance has been done."

BRYAN'S DATE CANCELED.

Chautauqua In Champ Clark's District Doesn't Want to Hear Nebraskan.

Mexico, Mo., July 26.—Will Daniel, secretary of the Vandalia (Mo.) Chautauqua association, has received a message from the Redpath Vawter Chautauqua system, saying that William J. Bryan's date at Vandalia had been "reluctantly canceled."

The Chautauqua people took a vote on the matter, sending cards to the citizens of Vandalia who had guaranteed the advance ticket sale, and the result practically was a unanimous demand that Bryan's date be canceled. Vandalia is in Speaker Champ Clark's congressional district, and the cancellation was the result of Clark's defeat for the presidential nomination.

CHICAGO CLAIMS $2,381,700.

School Census Shows 157 Children Unable to Read or Write.

Chicago, July 26.—Chicago's present population is 2,381,700, according to the biennial school census, just completed by the board of education. The figures of the last federal census, taken in 1910, were 2,185,283.

The school census shows the total number of minors in the city to be 882,516, of whom 50,791 are foreign born and 11,191 are negroes.

According to the count, there are only 157 children between the ages of twelve and twenty-one who are unable to read or write either English or some other language.

ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE.

To Preside at Progressives' Convention In Chicago on Aug. 5.

Announcement was made at Progressive headquarters in Chicago that A. J. Beveridge, former United States senator from Indiana, will be temporary chairman of the Progressive national convention on Aug. 5. The announcement was confirmed by Senator Dixon.

DEMOCRATS HELP IN WOOL BILL PASSAGE

La Follette Measure Adopted. "Old Guard" Routed.

Washington, July 26.—After a struggle in the senate which lasted nearly twelve hours Senator La Follette again emerged as the successful champion of tariff revision. The little Wisconsin senator quickly seized upon an opening offered him by the regular Republicans and the Democrats and forced the adoption by the senate of the identical La Follette wool revision bill that was introduced by him at the last session and passed by the senate. This was the measure that served as the basis of compromise in the last session with the Democrats of the house, and the indications are that it will again be used by the leaders, Underwood and his colleagues, in sending a wool revision bill to the White House.

Efforts were made by the regular Republicans in the senate to block the passage of the La Follette bill, but the Democrats, having seen their own measure go down to defeat as the result of a trick turned by the regular at the last minute, joined hands with La Follette and voted to put his measure through. The Wisconsin statesman was highly elated, and the Taft supporters were correspondingly downcast.

Heirs Must Marry In Faith.

Philadelphia, July 26.—Michael Levin, who died at his residence in this city, left his estate of $5,000 to his widow and children. The will was admitted to probate, and it stipulates that if any of the children marry outside the Jewish faith they shall not participate in his estate.

TWO DROWN WHEN CANOE CAPSIZES

Craft Containing Five Young Men Caught In Whirlpool.

IS HELD BY DEATH GRIP

Would Be Rescuer Warns Friend Not to Cling to Him, but He Wouldn't Let Go, and Both Go Down—Was Unable to Swim.

Fort Lee, N. J., July 26.—Lester Smith of Edgewater, N. J., twenty-one years old, and Arthur Josten, twenty-three years old, also of Edgewater, were with three other men in an eighteen foot canoe and were drowned when the canoe capsized in the Hudson river off Fort Washington point.

The others were Henry Thoms and William Farrell of Edgewater and William Porter of New York.

Farrell said that they were making for the New York shore and were only seventy-five feet from land when the canoe was caught in the eddies off the point and turned around and around. Smith, who could not swim, was frightened and in trying to keep the craft straight caused it to capsize. He was struggling in the water when Josten swam to his rescue. Josten warned Smith not to cling to him, but Smith seized Josten in a tight grip. Josten tried to get free, and Porter and Farrell, though not strong swimmers, tried to get Smith away from Josten. Before they could break the death grip Smith had on his would be rescuer the two men sank.

Thoms dived repeatedly, hoping he might be able to get them up in time to save their lives. Neither of the two bodies was recovered.

TOO LATE FOR BIGAMY CHARGE

So the First Mrs. Brown Has Husband Arrested For Misdemeanor.

Verona, N. J., July 26.—When William O. Brown left his home to go to the office of the Public Service corporation, where he is employed, he was arrested by Detective Thomas P. Meyer on a warrant sworn out by Brown's first wife, whom he had not seen in eighteen years. Brown was taken to Newark, where he gave $700 bail to appear before the grand jury.

In court Brown came face to face with his first wife. He is living with his second wife, who was Miss Daisy Harrison of Verona. He married Miss Harrison five years ago. Mrs. Alice O. Brown, the first wife, said she married Brown twenty-one years ago in Port Jervis, N. Y. She said he deserted her and she heard nothing of his whereabouts until recently, when she learned he had remarried. She made a misdemeanor charge against him because of the statute of limitations barring a bigamy charge.

BABY ABANDONED IN CHURCH.

Cries Lead to Discovery of Three-months-old Girl In Pew.

Hoboken, N. J., July 26.—While a priest in the Church of Our Lady of Grace in this city was saying mass there was a faint cry from one of the pews in the church, and several women who were attending mass discovered that a baby had been left in one of the pews. The police, who were notified, have found no trace of the person who abandoned the child in the church.

The baby is about three months old and a fine healthy girl. She was removed to St. Mary's orphanage, connected with the church.

PRIEST CALMS BOYS.

Assured Them There Was No Danger From Fire.

Kearny, N. J., July 26.—Fire destroyed the two story brick laundry building, about 200 yards away from the Catholic protectory on Bellegrove drive here. The origin of the fire is not known.

Two hundred boy inmates were up and dressed when the fire occurred, and there was no excitement. Father Morlin, who has charge of the protectory, assured them there was no danger from the fire.

FELL FROM TRAIN ASLEEP.

Passenger Found Dead After Going Through Berth Window.

Springfield, Mass., July 26.—The body of Curtis Nichols, a traveling salesman of West Newton, who occupied a berth in a sleeper on the Chicago express which left Springfield, was found, clothed in undergarments, in the West Springfield yards.

The screen of the window of Nichols' berth was broken, but there were no evidences of foul play. It is believed that he fell out of the window while asleep.

Nichols, who was thirty-two years old, leaves a family.

JUDGMENT.

Judgment and season have been grand jury men since before Noah was a sailor.—Shakespeare.

Foolish men imagine that because judgment for an evil thing is delayed there is no justice, but an accident alone, here below. Judgment for an evil thing is many times delayed some day or two, some century or two, but it is sure as life, it is sure as death.—Carlyle.

SHAPIRO SUPPLIES LINKS IN MURDER

Rosenthal Assassination Plot Is Gradually Unraveling.

"DAGO FRANK" LOCKED UP

Man Who Drove "Murder Car" Adds to His Original Story by Directly Implicating Rose, Webber and Vallon in the Killing—Suspension Threatens Becker.

New York, July 26.—How the murder of Herman Rosenthal was planned and how spies darted between the Metropole and the murder headquarters in Bridgie Webber's poker rooms, with bulletins of Rosenthal's movements, was drawn from William Shapiro and "Boob" Walker by District Attorney Whitman. But that was not all that the district attorney accomplished.

He took a long step ahead in the investigation by the grand jury to determine whether a partnership has existed between policemen and gamblers, as Rosenthal charged in the affidavit against Becker, when Police Lieutenant Daniel Costigan, "the honest cop," as they call him in the department, told the grand jury that gambling could not endure in the Tenderloin or anywhere else without police protection.

"Dago Frank," one of the five men sought for the murder of Rosenthal, was locked up in police headquarters. Another man and a woman were cross examined by Police Commissioner Dougherty and Inspector Hughes, head of the detective bureau. Their names were not divulged, but Inspector Hughes admitted that each probably would be held as a material witness.

Lieutenant Charles Becker, the most important figure in the dual inquiries, did not testify before the grand jury because he arrived too tardily. He was sent to the criminal courts building by Commissioner Waldo and with the plain warning that if he refused to go into the grand jury room he would be suspended. It is known also that if it is proved to the commissioner that "Bald Jack" Rose communicated in any way with Becker after the murder Becker's suspension will follow.

Shapiro Supplies Missing Links.

Shapiro's statement supplied the district attorney with hitherto unknown facts concerning the murder. Shapiro says that he took Jack Rose and Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps to Webber's poker rooms a little before Rosenthal was killed, and after the three had conferred upstairs he drove Schepps and Vallon and another man whose name has not yet come out in the case to the Metropole. Rose did not travel in the gray car, but was on his way to the Metropole several minutes before Rosenthal fell dead in front of that hotel.

And here is one of the most interesting details of the cleverly dovetailed movements of the plotters. The men that Shapiro drove from the Metropole after the revolvers had settled forever the question as to whether the gambler would inform further were not the same men, with one exception, that Shapiro drove to the hoel. The exception was the mysterious figure that accompanied Schepps and Vallon to the Considine resort. He was one of the men who fired a bullet into Rosenthal's head, and he strolled back to the gray car with a smoking pistol in his hand. As for the other murderers, Shapiro says, they squirmed and twisted away to safety through the shadows and the crowds. Libby, his partner, contributed little to the narrative, because, as is now known, Libby had no part in the goings and comings of the gray car.

Matters have come to such a pass with Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy, counsel for the prisoners, that Levy advised Libby and Shapiro to speak frankly and take their chances.

Shapiro Describes Murder Ride.

Shapiro described how Rose had called up the automobile stand at the Cafe Boulevard and had hired the gray car. He went over the story of the night's ride again, which was the same as he had previously told. He picked up Rose, Vallon and Schepps at Tom Sharkey's place on Fourteenth street. Shapiro said he caught snatches of the talk of the men in the machine and gathered that a job was to be done that night. The gun play and murder never entered his mind. When the car arrived at Bridgie Webber's place after the spin up to the Bronx it was about 1:30 a. m. Shapiro was told to wait outside. Rose and Vallon and Schepps went upstairs. The driver waited ten minutes before they reappeared. When they came out they had a man with them that Shapiro did not recognize, but whom he would know anywhere wherever he saw him.

Schepps and Vallon and the stranger got out of the car and walked across the street to the Metropole. A dozen or more hard looking characters were prowling between Broadway and Sixth avenue. Shapiro finally fell asleep for a few minutes and was awakened by the report of shots. He looked across the street, and he saw men with revolvers in their hands standing over a figure that was lying on the sidewalk. Then four men came toward him. One of these was the gloomy stranger that had ridden in the car from Webber's to the Metropole. The other three Shapiro had never laid eyes on, he says, but he is sure he could identify them.

CHILD'S MUTILATED BODY FOUND IN ROAD

Posses Seek Murderer of Fourteen-year-old Girl.

Bangor, Me., July 26.—The Penobscot county authorities, aided by hundreds of farmers, began a general search for clews which might trace the slayer of fourteen-year-old Nita Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Mitchell of North Carmel. The girl's body was found in a clump of underbrush in a field, near the roadway along which she was walking on her way home from a grocery store.

The girl's throat was cut, her hands had been tied against her back and her clothing had been partly torn from her body. The crime was one of the worst ever committed in this section. Near the body were found several small bundles of groceries and $14 in money.

The body was found following an all night search by a posse of neighbors of the Mitchell family. The slain girl was last seen by her parents about 8 o'clock at night, when she started for the village store, two and a half miles distant.

LEAVES LOVING HUSBAND.

Society Circles In Montclair, N. J., Can't Understand Wife's Act.

Montclair, N. J., July 26.—Leaving a note for her husband, in which she said their wedding had been without love on her part, Mrs. Dorothy Marcus, the young wife of William E. Marcus, Jr., left her home here and vanished.

Mrs. Marcus' disappearance, which was kept secret, has shocked society in Montclair, who have long marked the devotion displayed by the husband to his wife and their children. At the same time they have been cognizant of the fact that the young woman did not seem to care particularly for the social life of the place and appeared to lavish her affections upon her dogs and horses rather than upon her family.

MEDDLING IN CHINA.

Antiforeign Feeling Growing as In the Boxer Revolution.

Shanghai, July 26.—Boxerism is developing alarmingly in parts of interior China, according to up country reports. The nation is not settling down as was hoped under the new republic.

Outlawry and political troubles are rampant. Many Chinese attribute this to adverse foreign influences.

A growing antiforeign sentiment has resulted which may any time lead to violence.

DIED IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS.

C. F. Wagner and Wife Clung Together When Launch Upset.

Rochester, N. Y., July 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wagner of this city were drowned at Sodus bay when a launch carrying nine prsons sprung a leak and was overturned. The others clung to the boat until help arrived.

When the bodies were found Mr. and Mrs. Wagner were clasped in one another's arms.

STEEL RAILS A MARVEL.

The Strain, the Pull, the Pounding and Grinding They Endure.

"Have you an idea of the strain to which a steel rail is subjected today? Let us consider one for a moment in the time of its greatest torture and see. The Cannon Ball express is coming. It is drawn by two engines. The largest weighs 100 tons. Seventy-seven tons of the weight are carried on the six driving wheels, which means almost thirteen tons to a wheel. Thirteen tons of weight upon each wheel! That means thirteen tons of weight impinging for a flying instant upon a rail surface perhaps no more than an inch square and then moving forward all the time, a succession of whirling blows from a thirteen ton hammer.

If the train is going thirty miles an hour an imaginary square inch has but one five-hundred-and-twenty-eighth part of a second in which to receive the blow, wince under it, distribute the terrible force of it through its elastic elements to the surrounding mass of the rail, brace itself to help distribute stresses that are being set up on adjacent surfaces and zigzagging back and forth in all sorts of ways through the content of the rail and then almost instantly lift its devoted head to receive the blow of the next driving wheel. If the train is going sixty miles an hour instead of thirty this all has to be received, withstood and passed on in one ten-hundred-and-fifty-sixth part of a second.

And yet this isn't all that is happening to the nerves of the rail. This is only taking account of the compression strains. There is another set of strains, for these big driving wheels are pulling the train. They have caught hold of the rails just as your hands grip the rope in a tug-of-war, and they take a fresh hold every fraction of a second. The tendency is to pull the top or head off the rail, to pull it all to pieces. It is the business of the rail to stick together, head and web and flange, in every single and separate molecule with all the tenacity of which steel is capable.

But we have stated only one-half the tension strain. This strain is reversing all the time, for while the huge drivers are pulling one part of the rail toward them they are pushing another part away from them. This plucking and spurning, hauling and kicking, tension and compression go on continuously. Complete reversing from compression to tension or back again takes place with every half turn of a driving wheel and at a frightfully rapid rate. The marvel is that the rail is not ground to powder.—Metropolitan Magazine.

The Explanation.

Robert Henri, the artist, said in New York of a bogus "old master:"

"Some of these experts must be very ignorants judging from the facility with which they are duped. They must be ready to swallow anything. It's like the Velasquez story.

"An auctioneer, you know, put up the picture, saying:

"'Here we are, ladies and gentlemen—this exquisite Velasquez—"Battle of Waterloo." What am I bid? One million nine hundred thousand'—

"'But,' interrupted an expert in a puzzled voice—'but I thought Velasquez died before the battle of Waterloo?'

"'So he did, sir,' explained the auctioneer, 'so he did, but this, you see, is one of dear old Velly's posthumous works.'"—New York Tribune.

"Barber's Music."

Barbers in the old days might well charge heavily, for theirs must have been a nerve racking existence. Zithers were provided instead of newspapers, and customers used to strum on these while waiting for a vacant chair. Dekker, writing early in the seventeenth century, refers to "a barber's cittern for every man to play on." The term "barber's music" was a common one in the days of Pepys, who on June 5, 1660, records, "After supper my lord called for the lieutenant's cittern, and with two candlesticks, with money in them for symbails, we made barber's music, with which my lord was very well pleased."—London Standard.

Curt and Concise.

A certain surly old Yankee who runs a small summer hotel on the Massachusetts coast once received a rambling letter from a prospective guest, who wrote to engage "two large, sunny rooms overlooking the ocean and connecting with private bath." One may imagine the lady's surprise at getting the following curt reply: "Dear Madam—All rooms face the ocean, and that's your bath."—Lippincott's.

Considerate.

X. (an incorrigible borrower)—Lend me a fiver, old man. Y. (weakly lending him £4 19s.)—I'm keeping the other shilling to pay for the postage of the letters which I shall have to write you before I get my money back. X. (coolly)—Keep 5 shillings, then. That will give me more time.—London Tit-Bits.

Something to Try.

Tweed & Cheviot, tailors, wrote to Livingstone Bigfront as follows:

"We must have something on account by Saturday next. What can we count on?"

And Mr. Bigfront promptly replied, "Ever try an adding machine?"

WONDERFUL VAUDEVILLE.

The "Gaanda Humanus" is on the tongues of the townsfolk as the most wonderful piece of mechanism ever devised by a human being. He paraded the city this noon, showing his ability in driving a team of horses. Wm. Burt & Co. in the western comedy sketch "In Cattle Land," is a dandy sketch, exceptionally interesting, well acted and true to the character it portrays. Grace Belmont, the singing comedienne, who is suffering with a severe cold, did very well under the circumstances. Adelina Roatini & Co. in a refined Italian singing skit is a hit. Her clear remarkable high soprano voice has won her many friends. La Feydia, the clever French poser in a series of beautiful conceptions of art, is also a hit. Every act on the Proctor bill is a star feature.

FUNERAL OF HIS WIFE BRINGS FATAL STROKE

Elizabeth, July 26.—Grief over the death of his wife was the indirect cause of the death yesterday of Ernest J. Mann, sixty-four years old, at 313 Niles street.

Mrs. Mann died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where she submitted to the amputation of a leg. She was buried two weeks ago yesterday. Her husband took sick at the funeral and suffered a paralytic stroke that resulted in his death.

Mr. Mann was born in Germany and was a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war. He was employed as a machinist at the Mountain Copper works. Three sons survive him.

GOOD BREAD WINS HUSBAND.

New York, July 26.—Announcement is made here of the engagement of Andrew Cole, a Brooklyn lumber merchant, to Miss Anna Schultz. Mr. Cole is eighty years old and Miss Schultz is thirty-six. They will be married this week. Friends said today that Mr. Cole fell in love with his neighbor after he had eaten several loaves of home-made brown bread from her oven. "There isn't going to be any honeymoon," explained Mr. Cole to inquirers, "but we're going to have a fine wedding supper, with brown bread for the wedding cake."

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will hold its annual lawn fete this afternoon and tonight on the parsonage lawn on Fourth street and Lee place. Lemonade, home-made cake and candy, ice cream and aprons will be on sale. In case of rain the sale will be held in the chapel.

SAVES GIRL'S LIFE, BUT IS DRAGGED BY ENGINE

Florence, N. J., July 26.—Wedged under the front trucks of a shifting engine, Leon Horner, the young infielder of the local baseball team, was dragged fifty yards over the ties after he had saved the life of little Loretta Bains, who was playing on the tracks when the locomotive, with a string of heavy cars in tow, rounded a curve. Horner escaped with lacerated legs.

Horner, who is employed at the R. D. Wood iron foundries, was riding on the footboard of the shifting engine and saw the child's danger as he stood apparently rooted to the spot in fear. By a powerful dash he outdistanced the engine and reaching the frightened child, tossed her from the track. At the same instant his feet slipped and he tumbled head-first between the rails. Unable, even with the emergency brakes, to stop the heavy train instantly, the engineer saw Horner roll under the running board, which in a shifting engine replaces the cowcatcher, and brought the train to a standstill. He jumped from the cab, expecting to find the young man mangled beneath the wheels.

THREE STATES CHOOSE DELEGATES TO CHICAGO

Des Moines, Ia., July 26.—The Iowa Progressive convention, Wednesday composed of 735 delegates, declared for Theodore Roosevelt for President and named twenty-six delegates to attend the Chicago convention. The convention also nominated a full set of Roosevelt electors.

The platform adopted denounced President Taft as a betrayer of the trust reposed in him by the people and eulogized Theodore Roosevelt as the man to unloose the fetters which bind the limbs of the common people.

It was finally decided that no State ticket will be named at this time, but to await action in that matter until after the Chicago convention.

Oklahoma City, July 26.—Oklahoma's Progressives formally launched the new party in this State Wednesday at a convention which selected twenty delegates to go to the Chicago convention, each with half a vote, instructed to vote for Roosevelt for President. A motion seeking to grant negroes representation in the State committee was tabled. No nominations for State official will be made this year.

Resolutions adopted denounced the action of the Republican national convention in renominating President Taft and declared that the nomination rightfully should have gone to Colonel Roosevelt.

Birmingham, Ala., July 26.—Twenty-four delegates, each with a half vote, were elected to the Chicago Progressive convention at the State convention of National Progressives here Wednesday. The 150 white men in the convention ignored seventeen negroes who had entered the hall. Wednesday night the negro Progressives met and selected a full contesting delegation to the Chicago convention.

The "lily white" convention indorsed Colonel Roosevelt and woman suffrage, but disapproved of the suggestion that Judge Lindsey, of Denver, be indorsed for the Vice Presidency.

WM. T. EVANS BRINGS ACTION FOR $250,000

To compel the payment of a quarter of a million dollars for services alleged to have been rendered throughout a period of five and one-half years, William T. Evans, the tax collector, residing in Montclair, has instituted a suit in the Supreme Court against Walter Gibb, of Brooklyn, who is the sole surviving partner of a co-partnership conducting the department store of Frederick Loeser & Co.

In a declaration filed in Mr. Evans' behalf by Coult & Smith, it is set out that Mr. Evans, in August, 1905 effected an agreement with Frederick Loeser & Co., pursuant to which he was to render service in the making of financial arrangements whereby, in order to meet its business necessities, the firm was enabled to borrow several million dollars annually.

The agreement provided, the declaration avers, that for such service Mr. Evans was to receive five per cent. of all profits during the continuance of his connection with the company, and that during the period from August 27, 1905, until February 1, 1911, when Mr. Evans ceased his services, the firm's profits aggregated $5,000,000.

On this basis, the declaration states, "the plaintiff became entitled to $250,000, with interest, no part of which sum was ever paid, though duly demanded."

When Mr. Evans began his service, according to the declaration, Arthur Gibb and John Richmond Gibb were the sole surviving general partners of Frederick Loeser & Co. John R. Gibb died July 22, 1906, and Walter Gibb became a general partner with Arthur Gibb. The latter died January 14, 1911, leaving Walter the sole survivor. Papers were served on Mr. Gibb when he stepped off a North German Lloyd steamer in Hoboken on his return from Europe several days ago.

POOREST PEOPLE IN THIS COLONY

More Than 200 Illiterates, None of Whom Has Ever Seen a Railroad Train.

ORIGIN IS MYSTERIOUS

Dr. Calvin Kendall Surprised by Discovery—Peculiar Community in New Jersey the Strangest in the United States.

The attention of Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, state superintendent of public instruction, has been called to the fact that within seventy-five miles of New York City there is a colony of illiterates of whom few have seen a newspaper and none has seen a railroad. When the newspaper was seen, none knew what it was. Combined with this intense ignorance is a corresponding degree of poverty. These are probably the poorest people, as a people, in the United States.

They live on what is known as the Scrub Oak road, about two miles northwest of Swartswood, N. J., and only nine miles from the nearest railroad, the New York, Susquehanna and Western. Yet not one of this colony of more than two hundred persons has traveled that nine miles, and there are gray-bearded men and wrinkled women among them.

It is expected that the state will endeavor to eradicate the evils in the colony and establish a school there.

The history of the colony is as uncertain as its existence. Farms are far apart in that section of the State, mostly because the country is mountainous, but at Swartswood, which is near a large lake, there are several summer hotels. But these summer visitors confine their investigations to the lake and its vicinity. In winter there are hardly more than fifty residents of Swartswood, and the existence of the Scrub Oak colony is not interesting to them.

No one seems to know the origin of this strange people. It is known that they have lived along the Scrub Oak road for more than eighty years, as several of its members are that old and they were born there. They do not know their origin, and they are not sufficiently intelligent to be interested in it.

The theory about them based on tradition, is that during the retreat of General Washington across New Jersey a half dozen of his discontented soldiers deserted and fled to the New Jersey mountains, where they existed by hunting and fishing. This theory is partly substantiated by the fact that fifty or more years ago one of the colony went to Swartswood and traded an old musket, such as many of Washington's army were equipped with, for calico. This musket, now in the museum at Newton, N. J., having been identified as a genuine Revolutionary war musket.

How the first women came into the colony is not known, but the deserters left descendents, and at one time it is said there were 350 members in the colony, but it is now on the decline with extinction in sight. In fact, there are few children, and most of the men and women are past middle age.

If there was ever a marriage ceremony the outside world knows nothing about it. Their shacks are small, claptrap affairs, made of small logs, bound together by twigs, and the roofs are thatched. There is one window, without glass, open in summer and boarded up in winter. The same is true of the door, the inhabitants hibernating as a rule during the cold weather.

A stranger went up through this region a week or two ago, and his horses and buggy were the first the inhabitants had seen this year. The roughness of the road indicated that it was a footpath rather than a wagon road.

These people do not like strangers, and they do not like to be seen. They hide behind big trees or back of their shacks, which usually are far back from the road and well concealed by scrub oaks, when a stranger comes through. It was with the greatest difficulty any of them could be induced to talk. Even then little could be learned.

The mothers are nonentities after the children become thirteen or fourteen years old. One woman was found who had five children named "John's Jacob," "John's Ellen," "Jacob's Mary," "Jacob's Lucy" and "Seth's Seth."

None of the children in the colony are bright, and there is a heavy infant mortality. Poverty is intense. No one has more than a one-piece suit or dress, this usually of gunny sacking. Shoes are unknown. The people are unclean, seldom wash, many are continuously ill and most of them show ugly sores. They are believed to be among the lowest in the scale of humanity, and they live within seventy-five miles of New York City.

ACCIDENTS MAR THE POLICE OUTING

One Boy Killed, One Injured and Two Elizabeth Bluecoats Arrested.

Elizabeth, July 27.—One boy killed, one youth with a dislocated shoulder, one policeman arrested and fined and another held for the grand jury, were unpleasant incidents that marked the annual excursion of the Elizabeth police to Highlands Thursday.

Walter Hart, ten years old, was struck and instantly killed by an express train of the Central Railroad while waiting in the crowd for the return of the excursion Thursday night. His body was found some time afterward lying beside the tracks at Madison avenue. He was identified at the morgue as the son of William S. Hart, who conducts a saloon at 500 Spring street.

The injured lad was Joseph Chait, fifteen years old, of 529 Livingston street, Elizabethport, who was caught between the railings of the Highland drawbridge at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. With others who went on the excursion he was riding on the draw each time it opened to let a boat pass through. Although warned, he jumped before the draw was made fast, and got caught between the draw and the bridge proper. Dr. J. J. Rowland set the shoulder and dressed the lad's other injuries.

The bluecoats who got into trouble were Patrolman William Doyle, of Elizabeth, who was fined $2 by Mayor A. L. Reed, for "improper dancing" at Creighton's pavilion, and Patrolman William Lee, who was held in bail by the Mayor for the action of the Monmouth county authorities on the charge of resisting a policeman in making an arrest. Both men, it was testified at the hearing, had been drinking.

Four thousand persons made the trip in five trains of twelve cars each.

THREE DEMOCRATS IN CONTEST FOR SURROGATE

Elizabeth, July 27—There are now three Democratic candidates in the field for surrogate. Justice of the Peace James P. Kelly said yesterday that he would begin the circulation of his petition in a few days. The petition of Assistant City Attorney Joseph T. Hague has been in circulation for some time and it is expected it will contain several hundred names when it is filed. Former Judge William A. Coddington, of Plainfield, is the other Democrat mentioned in connection with the office. Judge Coddington was the candidate against Robert H. McAdams for the nomination for Senator last year and was defeated by only thirty votes.

Republicans mentioned as candidates for surrogate are George T. Parrot, who has held the office for twenty-five years, and Assemblyman George C. Otto.

DR. GROSZMANN TO SPEAK ON THE STANDARD TESTS

Dr. Maximillian P. E. Groszmann, educational director of the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, will speak under the direction of the local association at the Teachers' Training Course session at Watchung Crest on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the topic, "Standard Mental and Physical Tests."

Supervisor J. W. Carr, of Bayonne, will talk to the class on "Attacking the Problem of Retardation" on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Watchung Crest, under the auspices of the National Association. These lectures are free to the public.

BEARDSLEY A CANDIDATE.

Ten Eyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood, has begun the circulation of his petition for the Democratic nomination for the Assembly. Mr. Beardsley has been interested in county politics for several years and was mentioned for an assembly nomination last year. He declined to make the race at that time, and devoted his energies to campaigning with the Democratic nominees after the primary election.

ELIZABETH VARS.

Elizabeth Vars, the twelve days' old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Vars, died this morning at their home, 814 Webster place. The funeral service will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at their home. Rev. Theodore Gardner, of Mountain avenue, will officiate. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

THEY WANT TO GO TO LEGISLATURE

Petitions Are Being Circulated Now By Many Republican and Democratic Aspirants.

SOME RENOMINATIONS

Who the Men Are in Union, Somerset, Middlesex and Morris Counties For the Assembly and the Senate Places.

Trenton, July 27.—The makeup of the legislative tickets throughout the State is now actively engaging the attention of the politicians of both parties and one of the chief topics of conversation among the State leaders to come to the State House is the nominations to be made for the Senate and Assembly.

Middlesex county elects a State Senator this fall. Assemblyman August C. Streitwolf has announced himself as the candidate for Senator on the Democratic ticket. There has been some talk, too, of Dr. William E. Ramsay, of Perth Amboy, as a Democratic candidate for the Senate. Assemblyman John F. Ten Broeck, the lone Republican Assemblyman from Middlesex, may be the Republican candidate for State Senator. It is likely that Assemblyman John P. Kirkpatrick, Democrat, will be renominated. The Democratic County Committee of Middlesex has announced that it will not endorse any candidates this year, but that it will leave the primaries absolutely open.

The Regular Republicans of Morris county, under the direction of State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, the county leader, have already selected their Assembly candidates at an old fashioned county convention such as prevailed before Governor Wilson had the Geran act passed. This was the idea of Mr. Voorhees and it was opposed at first by some of the county leaders. Mr. Voorhees, however, contends that it was a complete success. There were 310 Republicans present, the discussions were likely and a much better ticket was selected, according to "Uncle Dan" than if the gathering had not been held. The candidates chosen were former Mayor Harry Mutchler, of Rockaway, a commercial traveler, and W. Reginald Baker, an insurance man, who comes from an old family in Madison. Both are high class men. The Democrats have not yet selected their candidates. Of course, under the Geran act, the Republican candidates will have to be nominated formally by petition after having been selected at this convention.

Speaker Thomas F. McCran, of the Assembly, will be the Republican candidate for Senator in Passaic, which is another of the counties to choose a Senator this year. There is talk of former State Senator John Hinchliffe as the Democrat to oppose Speaker McCran, although Mr. Hinchliffe is also being boomed for United States Senator. The Passaic Republicans will probably renominate Assemblyman Leonard Pickaart, Garret H. Vermeulen and William W. Watson on the legislative ticket. Another man being talked of as a Republican candidate for the Assembly is Lawyer John M. Ward, of Paterson.

In Somerset county William D. laR. Anderson will be renominated for the Assembly by the Republicans and it is expected that the Democratic candidate will be A. M. Beekman, of Somerville.

In Union county Assemblyman George L. Babcock, Republican, is being boomed for renomination, and it is expected that Assemblyman William F. Groves will also be renominated by the Republicans. George C. Otto, the third Republican in the Union county Assembly delegation, may seek a renomination, but has not yet declared himself. No Democratic Assembly candidates are yet formally in the field, but among the possibilities are said to be James E. Lowden, Hugh J. McLoughlin and John R. Connelly, of Elizabeth, and TenEyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood.

PLAN FOR CAMPING.

The third section of the Y. M. C. A. boys to go to Lake Wawayanda next Tuesday held a meeting in the association parlors last night, when final arrangements were completed for the trip. The leader of the delegation, Preston Dunning, of Mountain avenue, met with the group last evening and gave them a few instructions in regard to the baggage delivery and railroad trip. He wants all to have their baggage at the North Avenue station between 5 and 6 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

FUND FOR BABY CAMP IS BEGINNING TO CLIMB

Five Dollar Contribution Received Today Brings Total Up to $78.

Contributions are being received daily for the support of the King's Daughters baby camp on the mountain. Today another $5 from an anonymous contributor helped to swell the fund. Thus far about $78 has been received by the Plainfield Daily Press for the camp, but this will not begin to meet the expenses. At least $600 is needed to maintain this camp for the summer and the King's Daughters hope that the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be as generous as their means will permit in helping this work along.

Many sick babies are constantly being benefitted by their stay at the camp, while several mothers are also being helped. Miss Grace Godfrey, a trained nurse, is in charge of the babies, and she has been doing a noble work. With so many charges at the camp the supply of dry groceries, vegetables, milk, etc., is of necessity large and it is earnestly hoped that friends of the work will not overlook the camp while they are enoying their summer vacation.

BOLT DROPS FROM POLE; STRIKING MAN ON HEAD

Thomas Miech, aged 24 years, employed by the New York Telephone Company as a lineman, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital in an unconscious condition yesterday afternoon. Miech, together with a gang of linemen was engaged in erecting a new pole at South Second street and Muhlenberg place. In some way the "pike" pole, which was being used to suport the telephone pole, slipped from its position and fell over striking Miech on the head.

The blow came with such force that it knocked the lineman down and he became unconscious. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to the hospital, where today his condition is reported to be improved. Miech lives at 28 West Main street, Somerville, and is unmarried. He has been employed by the telephone company for some time.

SPICER EMPLOYES ON THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

The Mutual Aid Society of the Spicer Manufacturing Company is holding its annual outing and field day at Kreischerville, Staten Island, today. Nearly 200 of the concern's employes left this morning on special trolley cars. The morning was devoted to the annual field and track meet and over fifty handsome prizes were offered as awards in the various events. A full course shore dinner was served at the "Staten Island Sound House" at noon. This afternoon was devoted to aquatics and baseball. Two games of ball were played, one between the married and single men, and the other between the night and day force in the factory. A large tent was erected by the committee in charge of the affair, in which dancing could be enjoyed.

IN BOROUGH COURT.

Antong Koedek, a Pole, living at 657 South Second street, was arrested by Marshal L. Pope last night for drunkenness. When arraigned before Recorder Gano this morning he offered many excuses and related all his troubles but of no avail for he was fined $3, which he paid.

TROLLEY CARS DELAYED.

On West Front street this morning, one of the eastbound main line trolley cars was delayed for a considerable time because of a touring car that stalled in the middle of the tracks. The driver of the machine was unable to start his machine up.

Rev. St. John Fitch, of Park avenue, will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church at Matawan tomorrow morning.

WASHINGTON ROCK FUND NOW $2,491

Additional Contributions For Memorial Have Been Received By Continental Chapter.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

Work Has Been Begun But at Least $500 is Still Wanted to Complete the Memorial—A List of the More Recent Subscribers.

The work on the proposed memorial to be erected at Washington Rock is now well under way, a large force of men being engaged in preparing the foundation for the monument which is to be located on that historic spot. Contributions are constantly being received, a total of $2,491 being reported to date by Continental Chapter, D. A. R., which has undertaken the work of building the memorial.

Among the latest contributors to the fund are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coward, George H. Cole, Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, the Ladies' Auxiliary, Ancient Order Hibernians, and Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias.

It is most gratifying to those in charge of raising the funds to note the prompt response of the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield, indicating a patriotic spirit. The spot selected for the memorial is an ideal one as from that point an unobstructed view of the whole surrounding country is possible. On a clear day one can easily see the tall skyscrapers in lower New York and ships in the bay at Perth Amboy can also be seen.

Now that the memorial is assured, there is already talk of Washington Rock being more of a pleasure ground for the people of Plainfield and vicinity and doubtless with better facilities for reaching the Rock it would be the mecca for thousands of people who seek a pleasant trip during the summer.

MERCHANT RUN DOWN BY A NEWARK AUTOIST

John J. Kenney, of Westervelt avenue, was knocked off his bicycle yesterday afternoon by an automobile and considerably shaken up. He escaped with several slight bruises. The machine was wrecked. He was riding his bike slowly along West Front street and when in front of Proctor's an automobile driven by Harry Templeton, of 563 Twelfth avenue, Newark, and owned by M. J. Dignan, of 12 Littleton avenue, Newark, came bowling along behind at a fast rate. Mr. Kenney was then riding in the centre of the car tracks. The driver of the automobile endeavored to pass between the cyclist and a South Plainfield bus which stood outside Proctor's. In doing so he misjudged the space, the fender catching the rear wheel of the cycle, precipitating Mr. Kenney to the roadway. There were several women in the car and they got out to assist Mr. Kenney as he rose to his feet. But their aid was not required.

Patrolman Meyers, who wtnessed the accident, arrested the driver, and he was ordered to appear in court on Monday morning.

TROLLEYMEN'S OUTING.

The second trolleymen's outing of the season was held yesterday, when two carloads of the employees and their families left Plainfield at 1 o'clock in the afternoon for Palisades Park, on the Hudson, where several hours were spent. The trip was made in three hours, and the party returned to Plainfield at midnight. E. J. Foley, the oldest conductor on the line, was the chief guest. Refreshments were served to the "little ones" by the company. The outing was in charge of Superintendent George Luhr.

CARRIAGES IN COLLISION.

Two carriages collided in front of A. M. Grigen's hardware store on East Front street this morning, the wheels of the two vehicles locking together so that neither one could be moved. The accident happened as a farm wagon was backing out from the curb and another carriage was turning out into the roadway. Both were going in the same direction and when they came together the front wheels met in such a way that they could not be extricated without considerable damage to either.

MR. WHERRY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of William E. Wherry, who died last Thursday, will be held at his late home on Mountain avenue, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

GLOEKLER PROPERTY WANTED BY CIGARS CO.

Whelan's Concern Sought to Purchase Corner at Front and Somerset Streets.

There was a rumor current today that Christian Gloekler had sold his business property and residence at West Front and Somerset streets to the United Cigar Stores and that the store now located on East Front street would occupy the corner after a modern building was erected there. Confirmation of the story could not be obtained from Mr. Gloekler, but Judge Walter L. Hetfield, who is his counsel, when questioned about the matter, said:

"I know that there was some talk of a deal between Mr. Gloekler and the United Cigar Stores' company, but it fell through when it became known that the city had decided to widen Somerset street. There is no question but that the sale would have been made if it had not been for that fact."

Judge Hetfield was very pronounced in his views about North Plainfield officials dictating to Plainfield what it should do in such matters, and he thought it about time to call a halt. Judge Hetfield seemed to speak with authority when he said that there was nothing in the rumor of the sale of the property.

It is understood that Mr. Gloekler is planning to remove from the corner. He has a large farm in Hunterdon county and during the time that he has been out of the liquor business, his time has been taken up a great deal at the farm. He has not intimated what changes if any he will make with his business property, the plan to widen Somerset street having led him to abandon proposed improvements.

MAJOR H. D. CORBUSIER CONTRIBUTING EDITOR

Dr. H. D. Corbusier, who contributes otady's editorial in the Plainfield Daily Press, is major of the medical corps in command of the Field Hospital for the New Jersey troops, which he has organized under the direction of Governor Woodrow Wilson. The Field Hospital is now fully organized and equipped according to the U. S. A. regulations. The organization will have charge of the New Jersey troops at their manoeuvres in Connecticut, looking after emergency and civil emergency cases. Dr. Corbusier also holds a regular commission, under appointment of President Taft as a member of the Medical Reserve Corps, U. S. A. He served with the regular army in the Philippines and in China as lieutenant of the medical corps.

T. A. B. OUTING.

The members of the T. A. B. Society of St. Mary's church held an enjoyable picnic and dance at Wayside Park, Dunellen, last evening. W. B. Sullivan was chairman of the committee on arrangements and others were J. T. McHugh, M. B. O'Keeffe, J. L. O'Keeffe, R. T. Skinner, Geo. E. Howell, Martin Muldowney. Suhr's Imperial Orchestra played the dance music. About seventy-five couples took part in the dancing which started at 7:30 and ended at twelve o'clock. The dance pavilion was nicely decorated and the refreshments were served in a dainty manner. W. N. Sisty, of Bound Brook, manager of the park, attended to the comfort of the visitors. The next outing of the T. A. B. will be a trolley ride to Boynton Beach. The date of which will be fixed at a special meeting of the society tomorrow.

TWO GRASS FIRES.

Residents in the neighborhood of Woodland avenue and Park lane have been annoyed by the smoke from grass fires caused by men employed on making improvements on the Hyde property at Woodland avenue and Seventh street. Both yesterday and the day before the Netherwood fire house men were summoned to extinguish the blazes. Instead of removing the grass and weeds, the contractor's men set them afire. This matter deserves the attention of the councilmanic fire committee.

ORDINANCE VIOLATED.

In the neighborhood of Belvidere avenue and East Seventh streets lives a man who saves fifty cents a month by bruning his garbage in his yard rather than have it carted away. The neighbors have notified the Board of Health concerning this violation of the city ordinances, their action being due to the fact that the smell from the burning garbage causes annoyance to them.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The State Trust Company thermometer registered as follows today: 9 a. m., 70 degrees; 11 a. m., 80 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 81 degrees.

REV. MR. KARNER HAS PASSED AWAY

Former Plainfielder's Death Follows Paralytic Stroke Suffered Months Ago.

AGED FIFTY-TWO YEARS

Graduate of Princeton—Re-entered Ministry After Engaging for Time In Business Life—Funeral Services Here on Monday Afternoon.

Rev. George N. Karner, aged 52 years, for many years a resident of this city, died yesterday at his home in Mill River, Mass., following a paralytic stroke suffered in February last. From the time he was stricken he was unable to speak a word and he was also helpless. He has been pastor of the Congregational church at Mill River for the past two years.

Mr. Karner was born near Princeton and was a graduate of Princeton University and the Seminary. Since graduation he held several charges, the longest one being as pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Albany, N. Y. After his marriage to Miss Cadmus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cadmus, of 112 Plainfield avenue, he made his home in this city for several years.

Mr. Karner retired from the ministry for a time and was manager of the Commercial Mills, of which Mr. Cadmus was the owner at that time. He also engaged in other business ventures with more or less success. Two years ago he decided to re-enter the ministry and accepted a call to the Congregational church at Mill River.

Besides a wife he is survived by two sons, Stanley Karner, who holds a position with the Standard Oil Company in Denver, Col., and Newell Karner, who lives at home; also two daughters, the Misses Clara Louise and Esther Karner, who live at home.

The funeral service and burial in the North Plainfield cemetery will take place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will have charge of the service, assisted by Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city.

NETHERWOOD FRESH AIR SERVICE FOR TOMORROW

The usual vesper services will be held at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tomorrow afternoon at 3:45. The Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak and the quartet choir of that church under the direction of Herbert J. Harell will sing. The children's choir will also sing. The speakers for the week will include L. W. Randolph, Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church; L. H. Bigelow, Jr, a former active worker in the First Baptist church, now a resident of Brooklyn, and Mrs. L. H. Matlack, assistant superintendent of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church. The usual entertainment will be held on Wednesday evening for the mothers and children. To all of these services the public is invited.

Miss Curry appreciates the kindness of friends who so generously responded to her appeal for baby carriages for the sick babies. These have been a great comfort to those ill. Unfortunately the past two Sundays have been stormy and few outsiders have been at the vesper services, but it is hoped that the friends of the work will not become discouraged, but will come out in large numbers at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

HOPE CHAPEL SOCIETY HOLDS A LAWN FETE

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel held its annual lawn fete on the parsonage grounds on Lee place yesterday afternoon and evening. The affair was largely attended and the numerous booths were well patronized. The members sold home-made cake, ice cream, lemonade, candy and aprons.

In the evening the lawn was well illuminated. Automobile rides in machines lent by the men of the church proved a popular diversion and all the machines were packed on every trip. The booths were entirely sold out after the festival closed and the society netted a neat sum for their efforts. Mrs. Thomas Heron, president of the society, was in charge.

AUTO SPEEDER.

Frank Neuman was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Sweeney for recklessly driving an automobile. He was ordered to appear in the City Police Court on Monday morning.

A GREAT RECORD.

Hard to Duplicate It in Plainfield.

Scores of representative citizens of Plainfield are testifying for Doan's Kidney Pills. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "You may continue to publish my endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills which I gave in August, 1905. I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I arose in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made my aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store, that I had any hope of getting rid of my trouble. This preparation made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in a while, however, and they keep my kidneys in good working order."

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JULY 27, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Dr. Harold D. Corbusier is the contributing editor for today.

There was a time, not many years ago, when epidemics of certain diseases ran rampant over the earth and millions of dollars were spent by all civilized countries in attempts to eradicate the infectious diseases which at various times have been the cause of such extensive losses in both lives and money. As we have progressed in knowledge concerning the cause and prevention of disease, great strides have been made in stamping out some of these scourges and it is now being recognized that it pays, from a financial standpoint, to PREVENT disease; in other words, it is cheaper to spend sufficient money on prevention than to wait until disease is in our midst.

We have abundant proof of the remarkable efficiency and great saving of lives and money which can be brought about by preventive measures in sanitation. We need only to recall the stamping out of yellow fever from Cuba by the strict enforcement of sanitary measures by our Army surgeons. In a similar manner small-pox was eradicated from the Philippine Islands where thousands had died from its ravages every year; soon the hook worm will be a thing of the past in Porto Rico and thousands of natives who have been unable to work, will be contributing their share toward the development of the islands. Only recently it has been shown that a person can be vaccinated to prevent typhoid fever and the government has ordered the entire army to be thus vaccinated in order to prevent the great loss of life which this disease has heretofore caused whenever a large body of troops was assembled. Most conspicuous among the great preventive measures in sanitation is the record made by Colonel Gorgas, chief sanitary officer of the Panama Canal. The building of the canal would be an impossibility were it not for the strict sanitary precautions which have been instituted and enforced to the letter.

When we consider these most convincings arguments in favor of prevention, we naturally ask how such things were accomplished, and why, for instance, the death rate of tropical Manila is now lower than many so-called healthy cities in the United States. The answer is, efficiency, and power to enforce sanitary laws. This we do not possess at present in the country at large, owing to the fact that there is no centralization of authority in sanitary matters.

The question arises, can the state conduct sanitary and health measures on an economic basis, giving every citizen the advantages of the knowledge gained in modern research, for the same, or less, money than it now expends? We must consider this question in its broadest sense. One of the most important objects of all health measures should be to maintain the working man's capacity for making a livelihood at its highest point, reducing to a minimum the probability of his becoming a non-producer and a public charge. The money for carrying out such measures must, of course, be obtained by means of taxation as the custom is at present; but, in order to practice economy, these funds should be expended in a more scientific manner, considering prevention, in its broadest sense, of paramount importance.

The law does not permit an individual to attempt to take his life if he uses a method which would end life quickly, but suppose, through his own carelessness, he contracts disease causing incapacity and a SLOW death, does the law prescribe any drastic measures to be taken against him? Does it even require him to maintain his health and ability to work and provide sustenance for those dependent upon him?

On the other hand, suppose a deserving wage earner loses a leg, thus rendering him unfit to earn a livelihood and support his family. He is sent to a hospital, which perhaps receives a mere pittance from the city for so-called "charity" cases, but most of his expense are provided for with funds collected by popular subscription. Now, his family must be cared for and this is done by some charity organization, which receives a little help from the city, and some from popular subscription; the rest is hard to get and is generally given, if at all, by some one who takes an interest in that particular case. Then comes the question of putting the disabled man on his feet again; who is to provide him with an artificial leg, thus enabling him to again earn a living? There are, "no funds available for such purposes," therefore we have to again appeal to the public and, in course of time, the necessary funds MIGHT be obtained. What a saving of money, time and energy it would be if such cases were provided for by the State, through local health boards or charity societies.

We know of many persons, who from childhood, have been unable to earn a living either on account of some preventable physical deformity or through lack of training of a naturally feeble mind. It should be the duty of the state to demand that the abnormal child be cared for according to modern methods, and in cases of inability of the parents to provide, treatment should be given by the State, removing the child by force, if necessary. This would not be an interference with liberty, but an economic measure and one looking toward the improvement of society in general.

This subject has, of course, a great many phases and many more instances might be given in support of the contention that great economy and untold benefit to society would result from a scientific control of all the conditions which are accountable for reducing the earning capacity of the individual.

HAROLD D. CORBUSIER.

WOMAN SEEKS DOCTOR AND THEN DISAPPEARS

Somerville, July 27.—The authorities are mystified by the actions of a woman who Thursday appealed for help, received temporary hospitality and disappeared. She refused to give her name, but said her home was in Elizabeth and that she had had "a wandering spell."

Rev. Henry J. Wall, pastor of the Fourth Reformed church, while walking in the woods on the farm of former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, north of this borough, was accosted by the strange woman, who asked him to get a physician. She was well dressed. Mr. Wall assisted the woman to the house of A. W. Meek, where she was made comfortable on the porch. She accepted food, saying she had eaten nothing for twenty-four hours.

The minister called Dr. A. L. Stillwell, but when the two returned to the house the woman had gone and no one was able to trace her. Mr. Wall said he did not believe the stranger was demented, but that she had been in the woods a long time and was almost famished.

GOLD ON A BIG SHIP

How Bullion In Transit Is Guarded on an Ocean Liner.

LOCKED IN ROOMS OF STEEL.

After the Treasure Is Safely Stowed Away There Is Little Danger of Its Being Stolen During the Voyage. Shipping and Checking the Kegs.

The natural assumption would be that in the safeguarding of the treasure which the various countries are constantly sending one another by the big ocean liners there would be required the vigilance of many men. This, however, is not generally the case, since, once the gold is stored away in the rooms set apart for that purpose on the big ships and the vessel is well out at sea, no armed guards are necessary.

Taking the specific case of one liner sailing under the British flag, we find that it has two strong rooms, the smaller of the two being in close proximity to the captain's office. This one compartment has no doubt sheltered gold enough to pay the cost of the liner many times over. The walls, the roof and the ceiling are lined with two inch steel plate, and the room contains nothing in the way of fixtures save shelving. The locks, which are of the double variety, are rendered still more secure by steel hasps covering the keyholes, and they are provided with massive padlocks. The strong rooms, being in the most frequented portion of the vessel, where persons are passing them at all hours of the day and night, thus receive the best protection, after all. There are two sets of keys, one of which is retained by the agent in charge of the consignment of gold and the other of which remains with the captain.

In the case of the British vessel mentioned there is another and larger specie room, situated next to the provision department. This is about twelve feet in length by four in width. It frequently happens that both strong rooms are filled to their utmost capacity, and on one occasion this liner carried some $50,000,000 in gold bullion packed in small kegs bound with steel hoops.

Gold usually is brought to the vessel on which it is to be shipped the day before the date of sailing, and it is stored away carefully before passengers embark. It arrives at the pier in ordinary trucks under the guard of armed men. The customary method of getting the gold on board is to haul the kegs up an inclined chute to the deck by means of a hoisting engine, but this method is not followed invariably. Sometimes each keg is placed in a sling and carried on board by men detailed for this service.

The receipt given by the steamship company sets forth that so many kegs have been received for shipment, not for any stated amount of gold to the value of so much. The kegs bear the government seal in many instances, and in such cases, when they have been safely put in the strong room, the iron doors thereof are sealed with government wax, the impression being broken only when the official on the other side comes to receive the gold. The kegs are checked thrice—when they are taken from the trucks, when they reach the gangway and when they are placed in the strong room.

Although no armed guard stands by the strong room, two men watch the room constantly so long as the ship is in sight of land. As a matter of fact, there is little danger of any one stealing gold in transit on a ship. It would be necessary that he should shoulder a keg weighing some 200 pounds and vanish with it without being seen. Masters of vessels declare gold is the safest cargo of any to handle.

The total weight of one consignment of gold shipped by the British vessel in question amounted to something like 36,000 pounds, or sixteen tons, and the freight charges amounted to $12,000, or, roughly speaking, one-eighth of 1 per cent. Specie thus shipped is insured at its full value.—New York Press.

Mark Twain's Profanity.

William Dean Howells read the "Tom Sawyer" manuscript and thought it the best story he had ever read. Clemens consulted him regarding the use of a certain vigorous expletive. Howells advised that it be cut out. Clemens wrote back:

Mrs. Clemens received the mail this morning, and the next minute she lit into the study with danger in her eyes and this demand on her tongue: "Where is the profanity Mr. Howells speaks of?" Then I had to miserably confess that I had left it out when reading the MS. to her. Nothing but almost inspired lying got me out of this scrape with my scalp. Does your wife give you rats like that when you go a little one sided?—Harper's.

Odorless.

"Now, children," said the teacher, "who can tell me what the word 'odorless' means?"

Willie Jones was sure he knew.

"Well, Willie, what does it mean?"

"Odorless means without a scent," he piped.

"Right. Now who can give a sentence using the word correctly?" continued the teacher. "You may answer, Jimmie."

"Please, ma'am, when you are odorless you cannot ride in the trolley cars."—Youth's Companion.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SERVING TONGUE.

TONGUE which can be boiled and served cold is useful when the weather is so warm that the housewife cares to have little fire.

When cooking a tongue first soak in warm water to freshen. When the skin has been taken off it may sometimes be prepared by cutting into small pieces and simmering slowly in milk. These slices served on toasted bread with slices of hard boiled egg and dressed with white sauce are delicious.

To cook a whole tongue skewer the tip to the roots and boil in salted water until tender; then take off the skin and trim. It may be served sliced when cold.

Smoked Tongue.

What is called smoked tongue will keep longer than most meats. Bend the tip of the tongue to the root and tie it there. Place the meat in cold water over the fire. When this water boils pour off and add more cold water, then boil until tender. Take off the fire and serve hot or cold.

Tongue Hash.—Cut cold cooked tongue into dice and cover with hot water. Cook for ten minutes; thicken slightly and season with a few drops of onion juice and worcestershire sauce. Make a border of hot mashed potatoes or rice on a hot dish and pour the tongue into the center.

With a Rich Sauce.

Baked Tongue.—Choose a nice fresh, plump tongue, rub it with a pound of salt and let it lie in this for five days; then cook it for two and a half hours, bringing the water to a boil. Draw the pan to the side, letting the contents simmer till tender; then peel off the skin, brush it over with beaten egg, roll in crumbs and bake it for half an hour, browning well and keeping well basted. Serve with rich brown gravy or good brown sauce.

Fricasseed Tongue.—Boil a calf's tongue one hour. Pare and cut into thick slices. Roll them in flour and fry in butter five minutes. Put the slices into a saucepan, add sliced onion, thyme and parsley and cover with a cupful of rich gravy. Simmer for half an hour. Take the slices from the fire and keep them warm. Strain the gravy, thicken it, put in four or five slices of peeled lemon, boil one minute and pour over the fricassee.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

New Substitute For Linen—Footwear Modes of the Season.

Washable foulard is a new material, preferred by many to linen. It is much cooler than heavy linen and lighter in weight.

It is more essential than ever this season that the shoes and stockings should match the gown with which they are worn.

One piece dresses, with coats to match, are shown for children. These are made of rough linen or lightweight cloth.

Skirts with becoming yokes shaped over the hips and forming a panel at the back are among the newest models.

Nothing is more fashionable this summer than a finish of scalloped edges, and this frock, which is made of linen with bands of embroidery, is mighty good style.

NAB ALDERMEN AS BRIBE TAKERS

Seven Arrested, Two Confess, Eight Others Sought.

DICTAGRAPH SNARES THEM

President of Detroit Council, With $1,000 Bribe Money In Pocket, Makes Complete Confession—Little Instrument Records as They Come For Their Money.

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—Seven aldermen have been arrested and seven others and the secretary of the common council committees are being sought by the police in a bribery scandal that has stirred this city to its depths.

The men now under arrest are Thomas E. Glinnan, president of the council; Aldermen Louis Brozo, Frank Mason, Algire Deime, Joseph L. Thiesen and Martin Ostrowski and E. R. Schreiter, secretary of the council committees. Glinnan and Schreiter made full confessions soon after being arrested, and Glinnan turned over to detectives who arrested him a roll of $1,000 in bills, which he had received but a few minutes before.

The charge against the aldermen and secretary is taking money in connection with granting the Wabash railroad the right to build a freight warehouse on Seventh street between Fort street and Congress street. The proposition was strongly advocated by the board of commerce and others interested in the growth of the city, but was held up by certain aldermen, who demanded pay for voting for it.

Burns' Detectives at Work.

To catch these aldermen Andrew Green, Jr., hired Burns' detectives, who set a trap for them under an understanding with Attorney General Kuhn and Prosecutor Shepherd. The amount paid was $3,700, ranging from $100 to some of the aldermen to $500 to Schreiter and $1,000 to Glinnan.

The Burns detectives posed as agents for the Wabash and opened offices in the Ford building, where the money was paid. Eight of the aldermen got theirs Thursday, the others coming in yesterday.

The plan laid was to get all the other aldermen to take the money first, then have Glinnan and Schreiter come last. Glinnan fixed a date when to come after his, the plan being to arrest him and hold him in another room until Schreiter, who was to come a few minutes later, got his, then go after the other aldermen who had taken their money earlier.

The Burns men used a dictagraph on Alderman Glinnan and have a record of his entire conversation with them. Glinnan had the money on his person when arrested. Schreiter was grabbed in his office in the city hall.

THREE VOTES SAVE ASQUITH

Snap Division in Commons Nearly Overturns British Rule.

London, July 27.—There was a narrow escape for the Asquith government when the present Liberal ministry was nearly turned out of office by a snap division in the house of commons. Only three votes saved the premier's party from defeat.

Chancellor Lloyd George moved that Monday be devoted to the discussion of supplementary appropriations. The opposition forced a division, but by a hurried search of the lobbies the government whips just managed to save the day.

The announcement that the government had been successful by only 136 to 133 was greeted by the opposition with cries of "Resign!"

GIRL'S DEATH PROVED.

Body of Miss Wheeler Is Exhumed and Identified.

Denver, July 27.—The death of Candace Wheeler of this city, formerly of Brooklyn, who was drowned on June 23, was determined when her body was exhumed and identified. This was done by order of insurance companies, who held policies to the value of $12,000 on the life of Miss Wheeler.

The identity of the body was established by measurements and other unchangeable characteristics. A dentist who did some work on the girl's teeth last November was one of the party at the exhumation and compared his records with the fillings found in the mouth of the body. They tallied perfectly.

WEALTHY WOMAN DROWNED

Mrs. Delano Recently Donned Trousers and Was Held as Demented.

Marion, Mass., July 27.—Mrs. Robert Graham Delano, a wealthy resident of North Rochester, who donned trousers and was detained by the New Bedford police as demented, was found drowned in the harbor.

She eluded the vigilance of relatives and disappeared. The body was found in shallow water. The police say it is a case of suicide. During her escapade Mrs. Delano told the New Bedford police, who found her wandering about that city in men's garb, that her name was Tom Jones.

Weather Forecast.

Fair today and tomorrow; moderate north to northeast winds.

THAW STILL INSANE.

His Application For Freedom Is Denied by Justice Keogh.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Harry K. Thaw, in the eyes of the law, is still insane and must remain in the asylum where he was placed on Feb. 1, 1908, after he had killed Stanford White. Justice Martin J. Keogh of the supreme court decided Thaw's application for freedom. The court took the ground that Thaw's release would be dangerous to public safety.

200 ARE HURT WHEN PLATFORM BREAKS

Picnic Party of Masons Is Hurled Into Ravine.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 27.—Two hundred Masons attending a Masonic picnic and their families seated on the wooden platform covering a twenty-five foot ravine in front of the open air theater at Wheeling park were mangled and badly injured when the platform broke in the center and they were violently thrown and crushed into the bottom of the V shaped breach at the bottom of the ravine.

Doctors were rushed to the scene of the accident, and the injured were hauled out by rescue parties with ropes and placed in the pavilion.

Every person crowded on the platform listening to the lecture and speeches from the stage went to the bottom. All were injured more or less. Numerous persons suffered broken bones, serious body injuries, cuts and gashes.

Every available ambulance in this city was dispatched to the scene, but proved inadequate in removing the injured, and twenty automobiles were pressed into service. Many received injuries of a serious nature, although no one was killed outright in the crash.

China's Civil Strife Grows.

Shanghai, July 27.—In the event of President Yuan Shih Kai dissolving the national assembly and declaring a dictatorship, as threatened because the assembly is holding up his cabinet appointments, it was said southern China would rise immediately. Prominent Republicans here confirmed the rumor.

THIRD TICKET MEN WIN IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., July 27.—"No elector now on the Taft ticket shall be placed on the Progressive ticket unless he first resigns."

The adoption of this resolution after an extended debate by the Progressive leaders and later by the mass convention means that six of the eight electors on the "regular" Republican ticket must either quit or be considered outside the breastworks of the new party. Until Thursday night it seemed that the element led by Colonel E. C. Carrington, one of the militant Roosevelt leaders at the Chicago convention, had the lead. Colonel Carrington was in favor of allowing the Roosevelt electors to run on both tickets. The out-and-out third party men, however, finally prevailed, and the resolution for an absolute division was adopted, despite the opposition of a vigorous minority. The resolutions also provide for a committee of seven, all third party men, who will name the electors.

VOORHEES WEDS THREE DAYS AFTER DIVORCE DECREE

Metuchen, July 27.—Charles J. Voorhees, a well known Middlesex county man, on Wednesday was advised by his counsel, Senator George S. Silzer, of Metuchen, that a final decree of divorce had been granted him by Chancellor Edwin E. Walker, from his wife, Jennie La Fontaine. on Thursday he and Miss Anna Viola Groach, of New Brunswick, applied for a marriage license and yesterday they were married by the Rev. John A. Dewald.

The wedding was a quiet affair and was celebrated at the parsonage. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Groch, and the best man was a brother of the bride, Stephen Groch. During the taking of testimony in the divorce suit much sensational evidence was produced by both sides. The bride is a very charming young woman.

HIDEOUS PUNISHMENTS.

Murderers Were Once Buried Alive Tied to Their Victims.

Old time punishment for offenses at sea was most severe. The code of the time of Richard I. of England, drawn up for the government of his fleet on the crusades, provided "that whoso killed any person on shipboard should be tied with him that was slain and thrown into the sea. And if he killed him on the land he should in like manner be tied with the partie slain and be buried with him in the earth."

In Elizabeth's time a thief was to be ducked three times, towed ashore at the stern of a boat and marooned with a loaf of bread and a can of beer. Mutiny was punishable by the culprit's being hanged by his heels "until his brains were beaten oute against the shyppe's side."

The penalties imposed for sleeping on watch were progressive. For the first offense the man was to be "headed" with a bucket of water; on the next occasion he was to be strung up by his wrists and to have two buckets of water poured into his sleeves; the third time he would be loaded with weights and bound to the mast, and "for the fourthe time he was to be hanged to the boltsprite, with a can of beere and a biscotte of breade and a sharp knife, and so to hang and choose whether he would cutte himself down and fall into the sea or hange still and starve."

Among the rules issued by Raleigh for the governing of his South American expedition in 1617 was that no man should be allowed to gamble for his arms or clothes "on the pain of being disarmed and made a swabber of the ship." A general punishment for blasphemy at this time was for the offender to be bound to the mainmast with an iron bit between his teeth, the alternative being a scraping of the tongue. All sorts of odd and frequently hideous punishments are to be found described in old manuscripts. In 1775 a man found drunk aboard or ashore was taken care of until the following morning, when in the presence of the ship's company he was presented with a pint of salt water, which he had to drink.

The dreaded "cat" is probably the best known of these old naval punishments. Whipping was provided for at least as long ago as the fifteenth century, and in Drake's time the regular trouncing of the ship's boys by the boatswain on Monday morning was regarded as the only means of insuring a fair wind for the rest of the week.—Chicago News.

Modest Kit Carson.

Christopher (Kit) Carson touched the wild life of the west at more points than any other person of any time. But he was always modest, declares a writer in the Century Magazine, and disliked anything which savored of flattery. One day in 1862 the great frontiersman chanced to stop at Maxwell's ranch, on the Cimarron river, in New Mexico, a well known point on the Santa Fe trail, when a regular army officer of high rank who was there exclaimed exuberantly:

"So this is the distinguished Kit Carson who has made so many Indians run!"

Carson silenced his eulogist by quietly remarking, "Yes, I've made some Indians run, but a good deal of the time they were running after me."

A Dish of Potted Roses.

There was a time when Englishmen could celebrate St. George's day by feasting on roses as well as wearing them. Old cookery books abound in recipes into which rose leaves enter.

One writer tells how to make potted roses. "I first pound some of the most fragrant roses in a mortar. Then I take the brains of birds and pigs well boiled and stripped of every particle of meat. I then add the yolks of some eggs, some oil, a little cordial, some pepper and some wine. After having beaten and mixed it well together I place it over a slow fire. When this dish is brought to table the most delicious fragrance issues forth, covering the guests with delight." Every good housewife in the seventeenth century made rosewater, which was used for flavoring food.

Too True.

A popular clergyman in an address on generosity in New York said:

"A woman remarked to me the other day:

"'Mrs. Blank is very shabby this spring. Mr. Blank adores the ground she walks on, yet he won't allow her enough to dress decently.'

"'Ah, madam,' I replied, 'it isn't always the devoutest worshiper who puts the most money in the collection plate.'"—New York Tribune.

Always Ahead of Him.

Miss Cute (an amateur palmist)—This line in your hand, Mr. Dubb, indicates that you have a brilliant future before you. Dubb—Is that so? Miss Cute—Yes, but this other line indicates that you are too slow ever to overtake it.—Boston Transcript.

A Mind Reader.

Mr. Dorkins—Maria, why do you always interrupt me as soon as I begin to— Mrs. Dorkins—Because I always know exactly what you are going to say. What's the use of my wasting time by waiting to hear you finish?—Chicago Tribune.

Ungrammatical.

Dusty Rhodes—Will yer please give me a dime to get somethin' to eat with? Bunker Hill—My good man, you cannot purchase a set of false teeth for 10 cents.

We owe the greatest gratitude to those who tell us the truth.

—Rollingstone Nomoss—"I don't believe in signs." Tatterdon Torn—"Neither do I; when I see a doormat wid 'Welcome' on it, I look around fer de dog."

JAPAN'S CROWN PRINCE.

He Will Rule Nation In Event of Mikado's Death.

The condition of Mutsuhito, emperor of Japan, is regarded by those in immediate attendance as extremely grave. The physicians have issued only one bulletin, and that announced no change, which is regarded as ominous by the public. It is generally understood that the emperor has only hours to live.

PERSONAL.

Morris Harrison, business manager at Muhlenberg Hospital, has returned from a month's vacation.

Howard Firstbrook, of East Second street, wil leave Monday for Asbury Park, where he will spend his vacation.

Mrs. Leo Slonim, of 2351 West Front street, leaves for Asbury Park tomorrow. She will be gone for two weeks and will stop at the La Vassa Hotel, where her son, Ralph T. Slonim, is at present sojourning.

MEN ACCUSED BY GIRL TO BE TRIED THURSDAY

New Brunswick, July 27.—Rather than keep in jail till September, Patrick Reilley, Lawrence Pierce and Joseph Slattery, the young men charged with assaulting Mae Maher, of Flatbush, while, as she alleges, she was held captive on a barge at Port Reading, the case was set down for trial next Thursday upon their pleading not guilty yesterday. Prosecutor George S. Silzer had decided not to try any cases during August, but made an exception in this case. The men were held in $2,000 bail. Pierce's family had engaged counsel, but the others said none of their relatives had visited them while in jail. Judge Daly assigned John Coan to defend Reilley and Slattery. Charles Simps represented Pierce.

YOUTH KICKED BY HORSE; BOY'S LEG IS BROKEN

Silas Crite, aged 13 years, colored, of 527 South Second street, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, suffering from a broken leg, the result of being kicked by a horse. The lad was working in the stable at his home and while standing behind a rather fractious horse was kicked in the leg.

The boy's screams attracted members of the family who upon rushing to the stable found him lying there in a helpless condition and suffering intense pain. Crite was removed to the hospital and an examination by Dr. P. J. Zeglio showed that the leg was broken. The bones were set and today the lad is reported as resting comfortably.

DEAN GESSNER'S CELEBRATION.

The Very Rev. Dean Gessner, pastor of St. Patrick's church, of Elizabeth, yesterday observed the forty-ninth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

After tomorrow's services the choir of Grace M. E. church will have a vacation until September. At the services tomorrow E. D. Young, the tenor soloist of Trinity church, will sing and Mrs. Young, the regular soprano, will also sing.

—Mrs. Hubb—"I understand that out Chicago way you have shorter honeymoons than we have here." Mrs. Lakeside—"Yes; shorter, but more of them."—Boston Transcript.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Philosophical Phelix Says:

John McGraw complains that every night he dreams that he is sitting in the top of a tall tree. And something climbs up from below and begins fishing around for him. And it's a Cub.

Pittsburgh and New York teams have met 455 times since the National League was organized. The Giants won 229 times, the Pirates 226 times. Thirteen of the games have been ties. Pretty close that, for a long series.

Boston employers are having a hard time getting vacations out of the way. Every fan is trying to save his until the world's series.

Bert Daniels, the Yankees' outfielder, was the leading major league slugger yesterday. In five times at bat he hit a homer, triple, double and single.

Ty Cobb boosted his batting figures further toward the .500 mark Thursday. The Detroit star made four hits in eight times at bat in the two games—an average of .500 for the day.

Thomas Lynch, president of the National League, announced Thursday that dates have been fixed for the playing off of postponed games as follows: At Pittsburg—August 14 (two), with Philadelphia; August 15 (two), with Philadelphia; August 23 (two), with New York; August 26 (two), with Boston. At Cincinnati—August 15 (two), with Brooklyn. At Chicago—September 27 (two), with Cincinnati. At St. Louis—August 17 (two), with Boston.

Jack Johnson, the pugilist, Thursday knocked out Homer Kerchfield, a negro chauffeur, whom Johnson declares he caught in front of his saloon attempting to take an extra tire from his automobile, and who, when ordered away, struck Johnson several blows in the face. Later Johnson caused Kerchfield's arrest.

Excellent playing marked Thursday's matches in the Western tennis championships at Onwensia, some of the best contests of the tourney being those in the third round of the men's doubles. By far the best contest of the day was that between Church and Mace, of Princeton, and Ludke and Byford, of Chicago, the Princetonians after winning a five-set tussle.

Negotiations for a ten round bout between Champion Jack Johnson and Joe Jeannette, of Union Hill, in Madison Square Garden on Labor Day began in earnest Thursday. If Johnson will accept $20,000 for his end, the match may be clinched before many hours. The Chicago champion wants $30,000. Gibson said after the interview, which was by telephone, that he didn't believe Johnson's demand for $30,000 would be granted, but added that he might go to Chicago today for another talk with the world's title holder. Both Johnson and Jeannette are colored.

FISHING NOTES.

William H. Conger, of this city, spent Thursday afternoon and evening with a party of friends fishing at New Market. The fish did not come their way, however, and their afternoon's work netted them but a few shiners and a large blacksnake. They were fishing for eels and got snakes. What's the difference?

H. N. McVey, of this city, has returned from Asbury Park where he spent his vacation. He did a great deal of fishing while at the shore and reported big catches.

Boats go out daily from Ocean Grove and always come back in the evening with a couple of hundred of the finny tribe.

We are going to try for crabs tomorrow. It is tame sport compared to fishing, but it is more productive. Cheesequake Creek will be our selection as a choice, and fish heads will be the bait. The creek is full of fat crabs that have a prime flavor, and Jack Willett and Walter Ryerson have their rowboats ready.

Quite a few weakfish have been caught from Dreamland pier this week. The fish come along the shore at night and some of the wise fishermen, having discovered this fact, rig and bait for them. Blackfish are working in shore again and there seems to be no end of the fluke there at night.

Lake fishing cannot be recommended for tomorrow, as the lakes are purging. There is some fine bass in Passaic river near Columbia bridge and Hanover bridge, and several anglers that fished at Pine brook say they caught bass and catfish on several occasions last week. Singac is another good place just now for bass, pickerel, catfish and perch.

Ralph Caspari and his fast fishing boat will be waiting at Pierson's boat house, foot of Mott street, tomorrow morning at 6:30 ready to take you out to the fishing banks, where the bass, fluke and blackfish are biting. Ralph never stops until every man on the boat is satisfied with his catch or else convinced that there are no more fish to catch.

During the past few weeks 105 striped bass have been taken in the surf near Borden's Inlet House.

The fishing steamer Cape Cod is carrying many people to the fishing banks these fine days. The boat is fast and it has made many converts to the fishing classes. Sea bass and fluke were the most prominent in the catches this week and many humpback bass were taken. The purser of the boat claims that there will be a big run of sea porgies on in the next few days.

Captain James Fleming announces a special trip of the Trio tomorrow. This fast fishing boat will leave from Pierson's boathouse at the foot of Mott street, New York, at 3 a. m., and will run directly to Long Beach, where the big humpback sea bass are biting. The fare for the trip is $1.25 bait included, and it is well worth it. The extra early start insures plenty of time to fish.

The Canarsie boats are bringing in the weakfish again. William Harris and several friends fished from one of Boegel's launches last week and caught fifty with shedder crab bait. While he was there he saw several large catches of weakfish and numerous bluefish landed at the float.

You can get as many weakfish at Sewaren as you can at any of the fishing resorts along the sound or the bay. The fish are biting poorly, but some catches of six and eight are made every day. Fluke can be caught there and some very large eels have been taken. As to crabs, a basket can be filled in a few hours' fishing.

Edward E. Davis, of Montclair, while fishing in the surf at Point Pleasant landed on rod and reel probably the largest bluefish on record for this style of fishing. The fish weighed seventeen pounds fourteen ounces. He also caught two striped bass, one six and the other three and a half pounds.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP OF CITY TO BE SETTLED

Now that the schedule of both the Manufacturers' and Sunday-school Baseball leagues are nearing campletion, the representatives of both organizations are beginning to talk post-season baseball.

It has been formally planned to arrange for a series of games to decide the city amateur championship. Up to this time four combinations have come before the baseball public as possible contenders for the title. They are the championship winners in the Manufacturers' and Sunday-school leagues, respectively, and the Netherwood A. C. and Royal Giants' aggregation. This will be narrowed down to three nines, as the game this afternoon between the two latter aggregations will decide which one is entitled to contest for the local championship.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Sudden braking is harmful to tires. It causes the wheels to be dragged over the ground, with the result that the tire treads are quickly worn away. Occasionally motorists apply their brakes so forcibly that the wheels are locked. Not only is this absolutely ruinous to envelopes, but according to the Michelin Tire man, it is not generally the quickest way to stop a car. A demonstration of the same principle is often seen in starting a railroad train. If the throttle is opened suddenly the wheels of the locomotive will spin around without gripping the rails and the train stands still, whereas if the steam be applied slowly the cars are set in motion at once.

Moreover, if the brakes act with unequal force, tire trouble is likely to result. One of the wheels will probably run free, while the other is checked suddenly. The tire on the latter wheel will soon show signs of wear.

If the springs are weak, bad jars will cause the upper part of the tires to rub against the mudguards. In chain-driven cars the driving-chains often cause injury of a somewhat similar nature. If they are slack, a swinging motion will cause them to strike the sides of the tires. If the chain line is too close to the wheels or if the chain bolts are too long the envelope will be marked with oblique scratches. These cuts are crossed at regular intervals, being produced first when the bolts strike the upper and again when they strike the lower part of the tire walls. All these matters require the motorist's careful attention.

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Job H. Lippincott thinks he has evolved a scheme whereby he can check the abuse of the fifteen-day automobile reciprocity privilege in New Jersey by out-of-State motorists, and incidentally add to the revenue derived from automobile registrations in this State. It is a scheme of checking up the foreign cars which have toured for fifteen days in Jersey and require them to take out a regular State license or further bar them from the commonwealth.

That the law is no respecter of persons when vigorously enforced, was shown yesterday by the arrest of former Assemblyman Harold Spielberg, of New York City, one of the framers of the Callan automobile law of the Empire State, on a charge of violating the speed law. He was taken in on the Merrick road in Queens, charged with traveling sixty miles an hour and fined $10 by Magistrate Miller in Jamaica.

Bruce Brown, the American automobile driver, who recently returned from France, where he competed in the Grand Prixe race, and who was deprived of first place in that event through a violation of the rules in regard to filling his gasoline tank on the second day of the contest, yesterday sent in his entry for the Vanderbilt and American Grand Prize races which will be held in Milwaukee next month. Fred J. Wagner, who is looking after the entries for these two races, has announced that three Mercer cars have been entered for the events from the Mercer factory in Trenton, this State.

SIX ESSEX MEN QUIT THE PARTY

Colby and Lord Resign From County Committee.

CHICAGO ACTION RESENTED

Mr. Colby In His Letter Says That He Is No Longer In Sympathy With the Republican Party, Its Policy, Leadership or Methods.

Newark, N. J., July 27.—State Senator Everett Colby, William A. Lord, city counsel of Orange, and four other members of the Essex county Republican committee resigned from the committee. The resignations were sent in letters to the committee at a meeting at its headquarters tonight and were accepted.

Mr. Colby in his letter said that he was no longer in sympathy with the Republican party, its policy, leadership or methods, and that he believed it fails to represent the wishes of its members.

Mr. Lord's letter quoted the Declaration of Independence. "After twenty years of service as a Republican," he wrote, "during which time I never bolted a party primary convention, caucus or nominee, I am leaving the Republican party. A decent respect for the opinions of mankind requires that I shall declare the causes which impel me to a separation."

The two men named and three out of the other four expressed their disapproval of the action taken at Chicago and in nominating President Taft.

WOMEN IN RUNAWAY.

They Escape, but Pedestrian Is Badly Injured Internally.

Jersey City, N. J., July 27.—Mrs. J. B. Fubbe of Brooklyn and Miss Pauline Raithal of New York figured in an exciting two mile runaway along the Hudson boulevard, Gutenberg. Both miraculously escaped without a scratch, while a spectator lies in the North Bergen hospital in a critical condition.

Mrs. Fubbe and Miss Raithal were out driving with Carl Winant, a riding master. While Winant left the rig for a minute the horse took fright and darted down the street, trampling under its feet Mrs. Mary Earle of North Bergen. Both her arms were broken, and she received serious internal injuries. The horse continued running away for two miles until caught by Motorcycle Policeman Page Schroeder.

INJURED MAN DIRECTS RESCUE

Caught Under Falling Slabs Contractor Remains Cool.

Woodbury, N. J., July 27.—Joseph B. Best, the contractor who is rushing the new high school building to completion, was caught under five falling slate slabs just outside the building, and his left leg was crushed above the knee.

The slabs are for the landings in the stairways and weigh half a ton each. With a half dozen men Best was getting them ready to be taken into the building when five standing on end fell over, and he tried to stop them, but was caught. With all his pain he was cool, and while the slabs were being removed told the men to be careful and not break them.

BOMB ENDANGERS FIFTEEN.

Had Narrow Escape From Death by Explosion at Union Hill.

Hoboken, N. J., July 27.—Fifteen persons, mostly children, had a narrow escape from death when a bomb was exploded at Union Hill. The force of the explosion broke a gaspipe, causing the house to be flooded with gas fumes, which almost overcame the occupants. The entire neighborhood was panic stricken.

The house is one of a long row of three story frame dwellings, the ground floor of each being occupied by a store. Joseph Bombero & Lecne, grocers, occupy the ground floor, where the explosion took place, Bombero and his family living on the second floor.

LIGHTNING SETS A FIRE.

Jersey Freeholder's Home Burned—His Cattle Saved.

Mount Holly, N. J., July 27.—The home of former Freeholder Burwood M. Haines was destroyed by fire. A large barn in the rear of the house was also burned, though the firemen got all the live stock out.

The fire started in a heavy thunderstorm when the roof was struck by lightning.

Railroad Flagman Robbed.

Bordentown, N. J., July 27.—Thomas G. Greenlee, a flagman of the Pennsylvania railroad, was held up and robbed by two men on a freight train between Camden and Trenton. The holdup men got $3 in money.

BUCKLEY IN FACULTY.

When Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, opens in the fall there will be a new member of the faculty, the Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, who recently retired as editor of the Methodist Christian Advocate after serving thirty-two years. The trustees of the seminary have constituted a lectureship on "Ecclesiastical Law and the Philosophy of Christianity" and unanimously chose the venerable minister to fill the chair, beginning in September. Dr. Buckley lives in Morristown.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to widen Somerset street from the northwesterly side lines of East and West Front Streets to the city line in Green Brook," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the nineteenth day of August, A. D., nineteen hundred and twelve, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council,
JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., July 22, 1912.

AN ORDINANCE

to widen Somerset Street from the northwesterly side lines of East and West Front Streets to the city line in Green Brook.

Whereas, the Common Council judge that the public good requires the widening of Somerset Street between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Somerset Street, in the City of Plainfield, from the northwesterly side lines of East and West Front Streets to the city line in Green Brook be widened and laid out so that said Somerset Street shall be of the uniform width of twenty-nine and five-tenths feet on the northeasterly side of the center line and of thirty feet on the southwesterly side of the center line thereof, which said center line is described as follows: Beginning at a point in the center-line of said Somerset street, where the same is intersected by the northwesterly side lines of East and West Front Streets as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and one one hundredths feet in a northwesterly direction along said center line from an iron bar at the intersection of said center lines of Somerset Street and East and West Front Streets, and running from said first mentioned point in a northwesterly direction a distance of three hundred and three and one-tenth feet to an iron bar in said center line of Somerset Street at its intersection with the city and county line, the center line of Green Brook.

The land to be taken for the widening of said Somerset Street on the northwesterly side of the same includes that part of the property now or formerly of Charles, Herman and Isaac Schwed, the First National Bank, the A. M. Griffen Company and Louis M. French, which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened and a line parallel with the center line of said street and distant therefrom twenty-nine and five-tenths feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for said widening on the southwesterly side of said Somerset Street includes all that part of the property now or formerly of Christian Gloekler, Carl Silbert, Louis Kadish, Samuel Fine, Richard Walter, Elde Walter, John J. Heidloff and Lena M. Hoerster which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the center line of said street and distant therefrom thirty feet in a southwesterly direction.

The land to be taken and the lines of Somerset Street as the same is herein ordered to be widened, are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "Map Showing Proposed Widening of Somerset Street from Front Street to Green Brook, City of Plainfield, N. J., July, 1912," made by Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor. 7 27 2s

STEIN FOR MAYOR AGAIN.

Elizabeth, July 27.—After a conference, it is said, with General Collins, Mayor Stein, of this city, announced himself yesterday as a candidate for re-election. His nomination, it is understood, will not be opposed by the Collins faction, and now it begins to look as if at last the white dove of peace is hovering over Elizabeth's Democracy. The latest political gossip is that General Collins will not be a candidate for any office this fall, but will be content to act as field marshal of the Democratic forces in this city and county. It is declared that Governor Wilson wants General Collins to handle the campaign for him in Union county. That General Collins now is master of the situation in Elizabeth is generally acknowledged by the Democratic leaders.

COUNTY DEMOCRACY'S TRIP.

Elizabeth, July 27.—The seventeenth annual outing of the Union County Democrats will take place Wednesday, August 14. As usual, the affair will be under the asupices of the Elizabeth city Democratic executive committee. The destination will be Witzel's Point View Grove, Long Island, and the trip will be made on the steamer Sirius. There will be a program of athletic events at the grove after the dinner. Tax Assessor Hugh F. Boyle will have charge of this feature of the outing.

ALBERT H. F. VIEHL.

Elizabeth, July 27.—Albert H. F. Viehl, Jr., of 116 Reid street, died in the Elizabeth General hospital yesterday of a complication of ailments. He was admitted to the institution last Tuesday. Mr. Viehl was thirty-seven years old and is survived by a widow and father. He was a traveling salesman.

RAISED HAT AS MURDER SIGNAL

New Witness Appears Who Saw Rosenthal Slain.

HIS TESTIMONY DRAMATIC

Plan to Suspend Lieutenant Becker Halted by Mayor Gaynor, Who Rushes to His Defense and Also Praises Waldo—Webber and Sullivan Seen at Metropole.

New York, July 27.—Louis Krese, a new witness in the Rosenthal murder case, told Coroner Feinberger that Louis (Bridgie) Webber was with the slayers of Rosenthal just before they got into Shapiro's gray car and sped out of Forty-third street. He then pointed to Jack Sullivan as another man who was in the front of the Metropole at the time of the shooting. Sullivan as well as Webber is now charged with murder.

The unexpected identification by Krese was perhaps the most dramatic feature of a day that was crowded with interesting developments in the Rosenthal case and matters which have arisen on account of it. Mayor Gaynor, replying to a letter from Commissioner Waldo asking what should be done about suspending Lieutenant Becker, sent a long letter to Commissioner Waldo, in which he directed that Becker should not be suspended until evidence against him was produced. At the same time the mayor, in characteristic style, discounted the clamor over the Rosenthal case and gave Commissioner Waldo the highest of praise for his conduct of the police department.

"Dago Frank" Held For Murder.

Frank Cirofici, who, the police contend, is the "Dago Frank" that took part in the murder and who was arrested late on Thursday night with a young woman named Rose Harris, and with Abraham Lewis, was held on a charge of murder, while the Harris woman and Abe Lewis were held as material witnesses. Both the district attorney and Deputy Commissioner Dougherty were active in examining witnesses, and both announced that definite progress had been made in the investigation. District Attorney Whitman conferred with the lawyers for Jack Rose, Sam Paul, Shapiro and Libby and Bridgie Webber, and intimated that the prospect of more revelations favorable to the clearing up of the case was good.

The identification of Bridgie Webber and Jack Sullivan by Louis Krese, who is a waiter and who lives at Coney Island, came as a complete surprise not only to Webber and his counsel, but to the police and the district attorney as well. No hint had come to Dougherty or to Mr. Whitman that there was a witness available who had seen not only the preparations for the killing of Rosenthal, but who had seen the deed itself and had observed the murderers in their retreat.

Murder Followed a Signal.

The story told on the witness stand by the Coney Island waiter was so complete that it included a detail which had not even been guessed at previously—that the shooting of Rosenthal followed a signal given by a man who stepped out of the Metropole restaurant a few seconds before the gambler himself, his eyes fastened on the front page of a newspaper, appeared on the threshold. The signal was a quick touch of a hand to a hat brim. The man who gave the sign stepped aside, and four or five men who had been waiting in the street in front of the hotel darted toward Rosenthal and emptied their revolvers at him. And then, says Krese, the murderers stood briefly talking to Bridgie Webber before they climbed into the gray automobile.

The waiter's story came out in the hearing before Coroner Feinberg to determine whether enough evidence had been obtained to warrant holding Bridgie Webber for murder in the first degree. There had been a postponement or two, and it was necessary for the district attorney and Dougherty to produce enough evidence to satisfy the coroner. They had John Reisler as a witness to prove that Webber had lied when he said that he wasn't near the Metropole at the time Rosenthal was shot.

Whitman Replies to Gaynor.

After reading Mr. Gaynor's letter to the commissioner, in which the mayor attacks the district attorney for his alleged advice to Rosenthal when the police were trying to close his gambling place, District Attorney Whitman made this statement:

As regards my having advised Herman Rosenthal to throw out policemen—in the first place, I'm not in the habit of using that kind of language, and in the second place he didn't ask my advice on any subject and I never advised him at all. There is but one issue, and I have but one concern in this matter. Herman Rosenthal, as he himself had announced publicly, was to come to my house with his wife on Tuesday morning to supply me with evidence of a corrupt alliance between the police and law breakers in this city. He was butchered in the most brilliantly lighted street in New York because, as I believe, he was coming to see me.

He was shot down by four or more murderers in a block literally swarming with policemen. Notwithstanding there was not the semblance of an effort to apprehend the murderers, and the pretense of a pursuit is so silly and transparent that it ought not to deceive a ten-year-old child. Nearly two weeks have elapsed, and the actual murderers are, in my opinion, still at large. Any further comment seems superfluous.

In a letter to Police Commissioner Waldo the mayor ordered that Lieutenant Charles A. Becker, accused by Herman Rosenthal of giving gamblers protection in return for money, be continued on duty. Specifically the mayor ordered the commissioner not to suspend Becker.

T. R. WILL DISCUSS LABOR DIFFICULTIES

He Is to Advocate Minimum Wage Law For Women.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 27.—A minimum wage law for women, which he counts upon to correct some of the most glaring evils of the day, and a six day week of eight hour days for all laborers in industries continuously operated, are two of the goals at which the advanced progressive principles indorsed in Colonel Roosevelt's convention speech aim. Eventually a universal minimum wage law will be urged, but all in good time, says the colonel.

There comes a lull in the third party leaders' preconvention activities. The voluminous speech is off the colonel's hands, and, having no other visitors, he talked with the members of the newspaper squad.

Quite impersonally, he explained, he is curious to know how the business interests will receive his manifesto. He fears that the man of affairs may shy at some of his economic notions and lose sight of the fundamental objects for which he strives. This, the colonel asserts, happened in the case of his Columbus speech.

The first half of that address, which was conservative enough, was entirely overlooked because in the conclusion he made a strong plea against special privilege and the corruption of the courts. He hopes that no one will be similarly prejudiced by his present views, for he is not antagonistic toward large business interests, but is merely desirous of preparing for the changes which he believes will inevitably come.

JOSEPH E. WIDENER VERY ILL

Mrs. Widener Summoned From Newport to Financier's Bedside.

Philadelphia, July 27.—Joseph E. Widener is seriously ill at the home of his father, the veteran financier, P. A. Widener, and Mrs. Widener was summoned hastily from Newport to be at her husband's side.

Since the Titanic disaster, when his brother and nephew were drowned, much of the detail incident to the care of his brother's affairs has devolved upon him, and Mr. Widener has been kept continually at his desk. His physicians say that as a result of this strain he has become overworked and is bordering upon a grave case of neurasthenia.

—Many a woman is an invalid because she thinks she looks well when she is ill.

DAILY PRESS GIRLS ENJOYING EUROPE

Travels of the Six Young Women As Told in the Diary of Miss Mabel Vail.

THEY VISIT LONDON

Interesting Description of Famous Spots and Historic Buildings in the Capitol of the British Empire —Diary to Be Published.

Miss Mabel H. Vail, one of the party of six young women traveling in Europe for two months as the guests of the Daily Press, has sent home for publication a part of her diary, and it is of such an interesting character that it will be reprinted in full in this newspaper, the first instalment appearing herewith. Parts of the narrative have been published, in extracts from other letters received from the young women, but because of the entertaining way in which Miss Vail writes it has been decided to reprint the entire article in these columns:

Wednesday, July 3, 1912—Bright and very cold. Still a few white caps, but no swells. The deck steward said it was colder that morning than any morning last winter. I know we all had on all our coats and a steamer rug besides and we had to "step lively" to keep from freezing even then.

We were up on deck at 4 o'clock a. m. My! What a grand sight met our vision! The beautiful, green shores of Ireland lay before us. The grand sight is stamped on my mind forever. How everyone cheered and many of the Irish girls wept for sheer joy. The low cottages and fine old Irish manors nestled among the trees or were picturesquely grouped along the shore. The tower of a fine old castle lifted its proud head above the hills. The air was alive with beautiful gulls that followed us all the way to port.

Soon we passed Daunt's Rock Lightship and here our delightful ocean voyage came to an end. Now we have 240 miles to go through the Irish Channel, the Irish Sea and the Mersey River to our landing. Next came the three rocks called the cow, the calf and the bull.

The route of the Midland R. R. from Liverpool to London is indeed a picturesque one. We passed through a fine section of farming country, with beautifully kept gardens and flower beds. Everything looked neat and clean. Each cottage, no matter how small, had beautiful flower beds or window boxes of gayly colored flowers. We saw fine fields white with daisies and Queen Anne's lace and others flaming with red poppies, a grand sight. The gardens of peas, beans, potatoes, etc., looked very thrifty and green. We saw a number of peat laid out in the sun too dry. The roads were fine for autos or bicycles and we were surprised to see so much bicycle riding by women as well as men. Although the day was fair nearly everyone on the streets carried rain coats and umbrellas, and even the freight trains carrying peat were provided with rubber covers.

Toward the end of the journey the land was rolling and hilly with fine green pasture land of cows, sheep and horses, often all pastured in the same lot. The fields were divided by picturesque stone walls overgrown with ivy and moss or else painted white. Many of the country homes were surrounded with green hedges. The houses were low brick or grey stone and often a combination of both. In the villages they were joined together in long rows, each with a flower bed in front.

At the railroad stations where we stopped the dress of the people was strikingly noticeable. Many of the women wore furs and the children with them short stockings and calico dresses with a white or colored apron over them.

We reached St. Pancras Station, London, at 4 p. m., and there took a 'bus for The Richlieu Palace Hotel on Oxford street. Oxford street is one of the main thoroughfares and is called the "back-bone" of London as it is on high ground and all other streets slope east and west from it. We passed through some of the business streets and saw Maples & Co.'s immense housefurnishing establishment occupying several blocks. We were at once struck by the vast amount of advertisement done. The trains and electric buses were literally covered with ads., so much so that one had to stop and read the whole thing over before finding out its destination, and by that time of course it would be out of hailing distance. Pear's Soap, Heinz's 57 varieties, Bovril, B. D. V. and Dervar's signs are posted on every imaginable inch of space. Milk is sold from small white push carts and fruits, especially large white cherries and huge gooseberries, and flowers are cheap and are sold everywhere from push carts.

We were very comfortably situ-

KEPT STORE OPEN SUNDAY AND IS FINED IN COURT

For not conforming to the State law and the governing city ordinance relative to the abstinence from business transactions during one day in the week, Camuel Kline, grocer, 545 West Third street, was fined $5, or in default 20 days imprisonment by City Judge Wm. G. DeMeza this morning. Patrolman McGinley testified that he saw Kline peddling goods on Saturday afternoon and produced John Hellyer as witness that he had purchased good at defendant's shop on Sunday. Kline stated that the store belonged to his wife and was kept closed every Saturday.

In imposing the fine the City Judge said, "You are in a civilized community. You have got to live up to the laws of the State. The fact of you peddling goods on Saturday and your wife keeping open house on Sunday is only a subterfuge. There is no reason why you should not observe the law like other citizens. You must observe one day in the week as Sunday.

COLORED YOUTHS FINED FOR "SHOOTING CRAPS"

Secluded in a clump of trees near Hillside avenue yesterday afternoon, four colored youths and one white were engaged in the popular pastime known as "shooting crap." They were having an enjoyable time throwing the dice. Their pleasure was short lived for somebody "squealed," a policeman appearing and taking their names. The delinquents, Maurice Somerset, Francis Larentpies, Thomas Carey, Maxwell Brown and James Green were present in court this morning, and were each fined $2 or given the option of ten days. They elected to pay the fines.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR THOMAS J. STAFFORD

The funeral service of Thomas J. Stafford was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, where there was a large gathering of friends and neighbors, including Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., of which Mr. Stafford was a member since coming to Plainfield from England when a young man.

Rev. E. J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of which Mr. Stafford was an active member, conducted the service. He spoke impressively of Mr. Stafford's long faithful service in the church, and of his exemplary Christian life. He also spoke comforting words to the two daughters, the only members of the family left. The burial took place in the Plainfield Avenue cemetery. At the grave the Odd Fellows took charge and used the ritualistic committal service, which was concluded with a prayer by Mr. Hubach. The pallbearers were the same ones that officiated at funeral service of Mr. Stafford's wife several years ago. There were many beautiful floral tributes from the Odd Fellows, as well as friends and neighbors.

LOCAL COLORED PASTOR HIRED HALL TO PREACH

Rev. G. W. Bailey, colored, formerly pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, who recently returned from a visit with his brother in Boston, held services at Reform Hall, yesterday, preaching both morning and night. The fact that Mr. Bailey selected Reform Hall as a place to hold services was taken by some of his former parishioners as a decided effort to attract worshippers away from the Calvary Baptist church, but the officers of the church declared today that their former pastor's presence in the neighborhood did not affect the attendance at the church, where Rev. Mr. Banks, of Jersey City, preached at both services.

Some of the members of the church said today that the so-called opposition services did annoy them to some extent, and it was hinted that if this continued, steps might be taken to put a stop to the services at Reform Hall. The deacons of Calvary Baptist church will hold a meeting tonight to discuss church matters and next Monday night there will be a regular business meeting of the church. The officers say that they are well pleased with the present condition of affairs and within the near future a new pastor will be secured.

TOURING CAR AND AUTO TRUCK COLLIDE

Three Men Injured As Machines Meet On West Seventh Street.

A big Stoddard-Dayton touring car belonging to Thomas A. Leggett, mining engineer, 427 West Seventh street, and a motor truck from Chidsey's Express Company, Elizabeth, collided at the corner of Grant avenue and West Eighth street at eleven o'clock this morning. Joseph Benze, of Rebecca place, Elizabeth, driver of the motor wagon, sustained a fracture of the hip and a sprained ankle. He is also suffering severely from shock. His two helpers, James Mottley and John Kearney, of Elizabeth, received minor injuries, Mottley's being abrasion of the hand and Kearney's a slight superficial cut on the forehead. They were considerably shaken up and are also suffering slightly from the shock of the accident.

The occupants of the automobile escaped without injury though the driver, William Leggett, son of Thomas H. Leggett, and his companion, Fred Stephenson, of 506 West Seventh street and Thomas Foote, of 93 Union street, were hurled from their positions by the force of the impact into the roadway.

An eyewitness of the accident described to a Daily Press reporter how it occurred. He said he saw the truck coming up Grant avenue from East Front street and the automobile up West Eighth street. They were both proceeding as far as he could judge at eight miles an hour and reached the junction of the two streets almost simultaneously. He heard the toot of a horn from the automobile and the crunch of brakes. The driver of the auto swerved his car to the left in an endeavor to evade the truck but was unsuccessful. The truck was struck a glancing blow by the big car sending it spinning right around in the opposite direction and upsetting it. The two helpers, Mottley and Kearney, jumped as the cars collided. Mottley landed on the canopy of the car and Kearney plunged into its interior. The driver, Benze, was not so lucky, being pinned beneath the car as it turned turtle. He was extricated by the occupants of the automobile and helped to the house of J. P. W. Taylor, where Miss Packer, a private nurse of the family, rendered "first aid." An ambulance call was sent in to police headquarters and Patrolman Dobson and Detective Sergeant Flynn hurried to the scene. Benze did not wish to go to the hospital, saying he was able to go home. An automobile was therefore requested which took him and his two helpers to police headquarters, where Dr. Norman W. Currie, city physician, attended, and dressed their injuries. Subsequently the Elizabeth youths were taken to their home in an automobile which was dispatched from the Express Company's office in 13 and 15 West Jersey street.

The auto was considerable damaged and it is estimated that its repairs will cost $500. It was taken to Laing's Machine Auto Repair Co.

PLAYED BALL SUNDAY; FIFTEEN LADS IN COURT

Fifteen devotees of the national pastime appeared before City Judge DeMeza, this morning, to show cause why they should play baseball on Sunday to the annoyance of those who believe in a strict observance of the Sabbath. The diamond, they declared, was in an open space off West Third street, and Jim Smith was the pitcher. "Are you a good pitcher?" asked the Judge, who used to wield the willow strenuously in other days. "No, not very good," replied Jim modestly, "but I have hopes of becoming better." "You may blossom into a Christy Mathewson, some day," said the Judge, laughingly, "but you will have to select some other place for your practice."

On being questioned the youths admitted that they did not know then that it was against the law, but they knew now. After cautioning them against its continuance at West Third street, he advised them if they wished to play to go up into the mountains away from the city and added, sotto voice: "I think boys are better playing baseball than doing some other things on a Sunday."

MR. WHERRY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of William H. Wherry, who died last Thursday, were held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his late home on Mountain avenue. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated. The pallbearers were Adam Martin, Frank Platts, Martin Hansen, Alexander Mair, Walter Coons and Andrew McDowell. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Louis Slocum and Otto Frederickson, the two phenomenal young twirlers from this city who opposed each other at Bound Brook Saturday afternoon.

GOD CARES FOR NEEDS OF MEN

Rev. Dr. Anderson at Union Service Tells of the Lord's Love For His Children.

FOUR CONGREGATIONS

Rev. Drs. Charles E. Herring and Philip B. Strong and Rev. John Y. Broek Assist In the Service Which Is Largely Attended.

In the course of a forceful sermon at the union service held in the First Presbyterian church last night Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, pointed out that every need and requirement of man's physical and spiritual natures are cared for by God. There was a good attendance and special music was rendered by the choir. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Dr. P. B. Strong, of the First Baptist church and Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, assisted in the service.

The preacher's text was from Peter I, chap. 5, verse 14, "Cast all your care upon Him, for he careth for you." At the outset he said there was nothing more necessary than a successful voyage through this life to the life beyond. But it was impossible to arrive there without His assistance, as it was almost equally impossible to journey through life without the aid of our fellows. Man is a dependent creature, placed in the midst of adverse circumstances and requiring help. "It was natural to assume," he added, "that our Creator will help us, for we all came into existence without any wish or desire of our own."

Enlarging upon this theme he gave several illustrations of how God manifested his love and care for man; how everything that man required for his existence was planned and perfected before he was called into existence. Then on the spiritual side he showed how the soul was cared for. He did not profess to know why God permitted sin to come into the world. "But this I will say," he continued, "as it seems to me from the human standpoint—if I were God I would not have permitted evil to have come into the world. But of course I am not God."

By the atonement of Christ man had been translated out of the Kingdom of Satan into the Kingdom of God's Son, and every one who believed in Him would see salvation.

MOTORCYCLE RUN.

Seven members of the Motorcycle Club enjoyed a trip to Lambertville, yesterday, where they spent a few hours seing the points of interest about that city. They started from Jack Horner's store at 9 o'clock and covered the distance of fifty-two miles in about three hours. They returned at 5:30 o'clock. The riders were Ralph Auerbach, George Fergerson, Jack Horner, Nicholas Toole, Gustav Johnson, J. J. Moore and Leslie Hampson.

Percy Hoberle and Kenneth Phillips journeyed to Grant City and joined the club on their return trip.

DEATH OF INFANT.

Leon Van Leuven, the seven months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Van Leuven, of 527 East Sixth street, died this morning from an infant's disease. The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of the parents and the burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery. On June 5 last, Mr. and Mrs. Van Leuven lost another daughter, Gertrude Van Leuven, aged four years.

SPICER CO. EMPLOYES ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

Track and Field Sports the Feature of Their Excursion —Spent Day on S. I.

The second annual outing of the Spicer Manufacturing Company employees, was held Saturday at Kreischerville, Staten Island, and was a great success from every point of view. About 175 men left this city on three special trolley cars and arrived at the picnic grounds about 9:30. A game of ball between the married and single men was played in the morning and was called at the end of five innings with the score a 7 to 7 tie. This tie will be played off on Parker Field on August 24, and silver watch charms will be awarded to the winning team. The one hundred yard dash had to be contested in eight heats and after the contestants had been narrowed down to four through a series, the event was called off and the finals will be run off on Parker Field on August 24. The four men entitled to run in the finals are Downs, Scott, Berse and Matlack. The time for this event was 10½ seconds, and in speaking of the race this morning one of the officials of the company said he expected to see a record broken when the final of this event is run off.

The three-legged race was won by Beiber and Mauretz. Jim Scott was the chief point winner and the first of his long string of victories came in the shot put. He heaved the 12-lb. shot the remarkable distance of 42 feet. The baseball throw was won by Jack Dolan, the mile run by Downs, pie eating contest by Scott, and the duck catching contest resulted in the loss of one of the ducks. The other two were caught by Murphy and Tallanger. The department tug of war was won by the team from the tool shop which was represented by Beerer, Muretz, Wyckoff and Tallanger.

A number of the most important results could not be obtained this morning, as no definite record of them was kept, but a number of the events will be run off on Parker Field August 24. The contests to be decided at this time are the 220 yard dash, 440 yeard dash, hurdle race, high jump, fat men's race, obstacle race, quoit competition and baseball game between the night and day force.

REV. DR. STRONG STARTS ON MONTH'S VACATION

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, begins his four weeks' vacation today. While away he will not preach. The supplies during his absence will be as follows: August 4, Rev. E. T. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth; August 11, Rev. Dr. John Snape, of Utica, N. Y.; August 18, Rev. Dr. C. M. Gallup, of Providence, R. I.; August 25, Rev Dr. A. K. Fuller, of Scranton, Pa.

During the month of August and two weeks in September, the chorus choir will also be on a vacation and the music will be in charge of a precentor at the services. Mrs. A. M. Dickey, the contralto soloist, will visit her home in Michigan for the first time in two years, while Miss Keiser, the soprano soloist, will remain at her home in New York. The other singers will divide their times between seashore and mountains.

REV. DR. HERRING SPEAKS AT NETHERWOOD HOME

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, addressed a large gathering of people at the vesper service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, yesterday afternoon. He took for his topic the word "Sin," and made his talk of unusual interest by illustrating it with bottles containing liquid of various colors. The bottle containing the clear water represented purity, while another bottle filled with liquid of inky blackness was used to represent sin. Still another one containing a red fluid was used to illustrate the blood of Christ which washes away the sins of the world.

The quartet choir of the First Presbyterian church, under the direction of H. J. Harold, organist, sang two selections and the children's choir under the leadership of Clifford A. Braider, sang several hymns, the audience joining in the chorus. Brief remarks were also made by J. F. Parker and J. D. Loizeaux. On Wednesday night the children will give an entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Royle T. Phillips.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The State Trust Company reported the following temperatures today: 9 a. m., 69 degrees; 11 a. m., 76 degrees; 1 p. m., 84 degrees.

ACCUSED OF STEALING; BANISHED FROM TOWN

Accused of the larceny of $19 from the house of Mrs. Ida Bender on West Third street, Maggie Benford, a local celebrity, appeared before City Judge William G. DeMeza this morning to answer to the charge. She entered a plea of not guilty. The complainant stated that "Maggie" had been working for her on Saturday, and that after she left, missed the money. "Maggie" vehemently upbraided complainant in court and declared that she had been fifty years in this country and had never been accused of stealing before. The judge told her to be still, otherwise he would commit her to the county jail. Her reply to this threat was simply "God bless you." Eventually having heard both sides of the story Judge DeMeza dismissed her conditionally that she would leave Plainfield and go to her son in Perth Amboy or her daughter in Jersey City. She promised to go to Perth Amboy. Detective Sergeant Flynn purchasing her ticket, so as to make her assurance doubly certain.

FOUR FINGERS SMASHED OPERATING CARPET ROLLER

Frank G. Wikoff, an upholsterer of West Fourth street, while engaged in using a large carpet roller on Saturday, accidentally caught his hand in a heavy spring which helps to operate the roller and four of his fingers were badly smashed before he could release the hand. A physician found it necessary to take several stitches. It is believed that all four fingers can be saved.

The spring on the roller, which caused the trouble, has a pressure of several hundred pounds to the inch, and when it fastened its grip on Mr. Wikoff's hands it was impossible for him to release it. He called to his wife and with her assistance was able to get his hand out of the machine.

LOCAL MOTORCYCLIST HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Ralph Auerbach, of Truell Court, while enjoying a ride yesterday on his motorcycle in the vicinity of Flemington, had a narrow escape from being killed. As it is he is detained at home under the care of a physician and it will be several days before he will be able to go to business. Mr. Auerbach was descending a long hill just outside of Flemington, when he noticed a horse and carriage coming toward him. As he neared the rig, the horse appeared frightened at the motorcycle and Mr. Auerbach shut off his power and coasted slowly.

For the purpose of allowing the rig to pass, Mr. Auerbach turned far to one side of the road, when to his surprise the horse sprang directly in front of his path. The Plainfielder quickly turned his machine to the other side of the road, but as he did so he ran into one end of the shafts striking his breast a glancing blow and inflicting severe bruises.

The force of the collision threw Mr. Auerbach off his machine and he lay in the road for several minutes before he could regain his feet.

NEWARK AUTOMOBILIST GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Before City Judge William G. DeMeza in the police court, this morning Harry Templeton, of 565 Twelfth avenue, Newark, was arraigned on a charge of recklessly driving his automobile up East Front street on Friday afternoon, colliding with a bicycle ridden by John J. Kenney, of Westervelt avenue, knocking the latter to the ground. Mr. Kenney did not appear to press the charge. Templeton pleaded that he was a trifle careless but denied he was driving fast. Sentence was suspended.

The case of Frank Neuman, who was arrested by Patrolman Sweeney for speeding was dismissed on the suspension rule.

Antonio Swedo, of South avenue, was charged by Joseph Sharkey, of the same address, with attempted assault on his wife. After hearing both sides of the case Swedo was adjudged guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10 or in default, forty days. He paid the fine.

DE MOTT ACQUIRES HOTEL PROPERTY

Somerset Street Structure to Be Remodelled For Stores By New Owner.

PLACE LOST ITS LICENSE

Hotel Has Been Closed and Realizing That It Could Not Get License Back, Rising Sun Brewery Company Disposes of Property.

Henry DeMott, of the borough, has purchased the old Manhattan hotel property on Somerset street, opposite Fairview avenue, from the Rising Sun Brewing Company, and he plans to convert the property into modern stores. The property, which is considered one of the most valuable on Somerset street, has a frontage of 80 feet and is 200 feet deep. The building is equipped for hotel purposes, having a bar, also bowling alleys and billiard and pool rooms. Since Judge Case, in the Somerset County Court, declined to grant a license for the place a year and a half ago, the property has been unoccupied. Al. DeNise was the last proprietor of the resort.

The fact that Mr. DeMott now owns the property and intends converting it into stores, will probably mean that there will never be a licensed hotel or saloon at that place again. It was largely through the efforts of S. S. Swackhamer and Rev. J. O. McKelvey that the Somerset County Court was persuaded not to continue licensing the hotel. Their fight to close the hotel was met with strong opposition on the part of those interested in the hotel and their friends. After the license was first denied a second attempt was made to secure it, but the court again refused to grant the application.

MISS BENDER BRIDE OF ABRAHAM SHUTINZKY

Two Rabbis Perform the Ceremony in Presence of Large Number of Friends.

Miss Rose Bender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Bender, of this city, and Abraham Shutinzky, of New York, were married last night in Sering's auditorium, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends from New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and this city. The couple was unattended.

The bride wore a white silk gown and carried white carnations. An orchestra from New York played the wedding march as the couple entered the hall. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Silman, assisted by Rabbi Davidson. A reception and dance followed, and at midnight supper was served. The bride received a large collection of gifts, including a silver candelabra from the Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society, of which she is a member. At a late hour Mr. and Mrs. Shutinzky left on a wedding trip. They will reside in New York, where the groom is engaged in business.

OFF ON FISHING TRIP.

A seven-passenger touring car with all the seats filled left North Plainfield this morning for Waretown, N. J., where the party will enjoy five days' fishing at Barnegat Bay. They were Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., John Schuck, Charles Stahl, William G. Debele, George R. Schlereth, Andrew Lutkins and William J. Whelan, secretary and treasurer of the Plainfield-Union Water Company.

GERMANS ON OUTING.

About 150 children enjoyed the annual outing given by the Gesang and Turn Vegein at Keller's grove, on Interhaven avenue, at the foot of the Watchung mountains, yesterday afternoon. Games and refreshments were the features of the outing. The committee in charge consisted of Richard Wolders, S. Koller, Fred Becker and Charles M. Meyer, Jr.

THOMAS MIECH GOES HOME.

Thomas Miech, of Somerville, the lineman employed by the New York Telephone Company, who was struck on the head by a "pike" pole while working at South Second street and Muhlenberg place, last week, left the hospital yesterday and returned to his home. He expects to go back to work soon.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Miss Mary Riley, of Lincoln place, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital today on advice of Dr. Dundon. She is suffering from a severe attack of colitis. Miss Riley, who is about sixty-five years old, has no relations in this place and has for several years been a town charge.

Every Thursday During August This Store Will Be Closed All Day

THREE YEARS AGO we took the initiative in closing our store all day Thursday. It's initiative any way that lifts this store above the plane of the just ordinary shops.

For years we have watched our faithful salesforce—some of whom have worked diligently and conscientiously in this same building for over 25 years, plodding thru the week and late into Saturday night, in the enervating heat of midsummer; just custom, of course. But the awakening came; and it was our pleasure to see the smiling, happy faces of our faithful ones as they left the store Wednesday evenings conscious of a whole day's rest or recreation before them, a thoughtful opportunity for them to recuperate for the week end's rush of business. Then it was a humane innovation, now a fixed principle in this store's Progressive Policy and program of welfare work—the work of living, feeling, breathing men who cannot hide the Almighty Right behind the lure of the Almighty Dollar.

Surely there is a true law of compensation and like true sons of the soil, we are sowing seeds in the hearts of our public, of our helpers and those closest to them; seeds that shall blossom forth into golden fruit; and in the growing and the harvesting we shall find real happiness, and so when we come to lay down our labors our hearts will beat fast at the Angelus' tolls of "Well Done."

Thursday was chosen because we considered it the most suitable day to both our public and employes—practically all the trips and excursions being run that day.

There are five Thursday in August—1st, 8th, 15th, 22d and 29th. Remember the store will be closed on each of those days—all day long.

We Start the Week with a Special Sale Children's Underwear

An opportunity for Mothers to save considerably on the little one's White Wear.

One of the big manufacturers from whom we purchase our children's undermuslins had this lot of junior garments on hand and offered them to us below their worth. We couldn't resist such a big bargain, so here they are and marked at the same ratio below their real worth. And every garment is splendidly made and finished, and of exceptional quality materials—just like the garments you always secure here; in fact in several instances we could get twice the sum we've marked them at, if we priced them at their real worth. Quantities are limited in most instances, so come early.

NIGHT GOWNS. Made of good quality materials in high neck style, trimmed with pretty torchon laces; sizes 2 to 8 years and a regular 29c values for sale price 19c.

NIGHT GOWNS. In sizes 2 to 10 years, in plain, tucked and embroidery trimmed styles, high neck and worth 39c, at sale price 25c.

NIGHT GOWNS. Fine made garments of Masonville muslin, in high neck, plain tucked style and sizes 2 to 14 years; easily worth 65c, at sale price 39c.

NIGHT GOWNS. Two very pretty styles, made of splendid soft finish cambric and nainsook. In either low or V neck and trimmed with embroideries or linen laces, with kimono sleeves, sizes 2 to 16; two very fine numbers, worth 75c and 85c, at special sale price 50c.

DRAWERS. Made of splendidly fine quality materials, tucked and H. S., in sizes 2 to 8; special sale price 10c.

DIAPER DRAWERS. Well made, in sizes 1, 2 and 3 years. Specially designed to wear over the diaper and trimmed with dainty, fine lace or narrow embroidery; sale price 25c.

MISSES' DRAWERS. These are in sizes 13, 15 and 17. Made of fine quality materials and trimmed with two rows of dainty lace; a regular 29c value, at sale price 25c.

MISSES' DRAWERS. These are a better garment, better material and finished with pretty edgings; regularly worth 50c, at sale price 29c.

INFANTS' DRAWERS. In size two to four years, prettily tucked and embroidered and made of nice soft materials; sale price 25c.

INFANTS' LONG SKIRTS. With bodice attached, made of fine nainsook, pin tucked and embroidered; special sale price 59c.

PETTICOATS. In sizes 1 to 10 years, well made and finished with either dainty laces or embroidery; special sale price 25c.

PARENTS SEE SON DROWN BATHING

Youth Sinks When Inflated Device Collapses.

BATHERS SEARCH IN VAIN.

Mother of Boy Faints Into Husband's Arms When She Realizes What Happened—Followed Girl Who Was a Strong Swimmer Into Deep Water.

Newark, N. J., July 29.—Trusting to an inflated contrivance to sustain his weight, but which collapsed when he reached deep water, William Taylor, seventeen years old, of this city, was drowned in the presence of his father and mother and a hundred campers at South Beach, S. I. Although scores of bathers dived for the body in six feet of water it was not recovered.

In company with his parents and Miss Ruth Stevens of this city Taylor went to South Beach to visit friends who are camped there. Although he was unable to swim, he consented to enter the water with Miss Stevens after he had strapped water wings to his shoulders. Miss Stevens is an excellent swimmer and when she got into deep water Taylor followed her.

While Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were watching their son as he plunged about in the water the air bags suddenly collapsed and the boy sank. Miss Stevens had not witnessed the accident and when she failed to see her companion she screamed and swam ashore. Mrs. Taylor became hysterical, then fained in her husband's arms.

Other bathers began diving for the body and were assisted by campers. Although they searched for half an hour, the body was not found. It is believed the body was swept out to sea.

JOHN S. LYLE DEAD.

Member of the Old Firm of Lord & Taylor—Retired Thirty Years.

Tenafly, N. J., July 29.—John S. Lyle, who was the last surviving member of the old firm of Lord & Taylor, died at Tenafly at the age of ninety-three. His death brought to a close a residence of fifty-six years in Tenafly and a retirement from active business of thirty years. Mr. Lyle was born in Nova Scotia and came to this country when fourteen years old. He went to work for Lord & Taylor and remained with them during his business life. He had invested heavily in real estate. Mr. Lyle was married twice.

His first wife was Miss Mary Kate Newcomb, who died in 1908. In September, 1910, Mr. Lyle surprised his friends and business associates by marrying Miss Julia G. Hannon, formerly of the Presbyterian hospital staff in New York. Mr. Lyle was sixty-one years her senior. There are no children. Funeral services were held from the First Presbyterian church, Englewood, N. J., this afternoon. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

TWO HOLDUPS IN NEWARK.

One Man Victim of Four Men, the Other of Two.

Newark, N. J., July 29.—Two cases of alleged highway robbery were reported to the police. One of the victims, Frank Hay, said he was robbed of $48, and the other, William Kraibuehler, gave $5 as the amount of his loss.

According to Hay, he was walking on Railroad avenue, near Lafayette street, early in the day, when four men held him up and robbed him of his money and silver watch. When he shouted for help Policeman O'Connor responded and chased a man on Lafayette street. He caught him and locked him up. The prisoner gave his name as George Policastro, eighteen years old, of 17 Oliver street. He denied his guilt.

Kraibuehler was on his way home when he was held up by two men at the corner of Bank and Bergen streets. One held him while the other stole his money. They escaped.

PASTOR'S FACTION LOSES.

Chancellor Walker's Decision In Passaic Church Fight.

Passaic, N. J., July 29.—The long fight for possession of the Northside Christian Reformed church has been settled by a decision of Chancellor Walker in Trenton that the Vanden Heuvel faction, headed by the pastor of the church, must surrender possession and control of all the property.

The church was divided into two factions, one known as the Vanden Heuvel faction and the other as the Classis of Hudson faction. Hostilities continued until at a meeting of the Classis of Hudson it was decided that the Rev. Mr. Vanden Heuvel should not again occupy the pulpit until a decision was received from the general synod. Several members of the congregation joined with the pastor in hiring counsel to fight the case for them, and the matter was taken finally to the chancery court.

'Help Yourself' Shoe Sale

Here's Where Shoes are Going Down in Spite of the Fact That Leather Has Advanced as Much as 20 Per Cent. Over Last Year's Prices.

It is an unparalleled sale for the reason that there is nothing like it on the entire year's commercial calendar, as far as shoe-selling goes. There is nothing like it from a value-giving standpoint, nothing like it from a selling standpoint, nothing like it from a crowd-bringing standpoint. It is peerlessly unique—as a trade event it is entirely in a class by itself.

The brightest, newest and most desirable shoes, comprising manufacturers' surplus stocks, together with broken lots of shoes from our own regular stock.

Women's $2.50, $3, $3.50 and $4 Shoes 1.35

Among the sorts embraced are $3.50 silk corded pumps, Goodyear welt soles, black velvet pumps, welt soles, tan and black Gibson ties, with turn soles, gun metal colonial, pumps, Goodyear welt soles, gun metal ties and pumps, with turn soles, patent leather, colonial pumps, with Cuban heels, broken lots of $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 ties and pumps.

WHY WE CALL IT "HELP YOURSELF" SALE

Because we arrange all the shoes on tables according to sizes, so you can tell at a glance if the size and style you want is here, you help yourself by selecting what you want, but we have plenty of salespeople to try them on and to assist you—while our help yourself sales have always offered footwear of the most worthy sort we are confident that here is a lot that in point of newness and brightness will excel all lots in all previous sale.

BILLION DOLLAR TRADE.

Until the present time Great Britain has been in the Billion Dollar class all by itself in the export trade but now the United States has attained to the same fame. During the fiscal year just ended the total exportations from this country aggregated in value $1,021,753,918. And this does not include foodstuffs which have undergone a process of manufacture.

Iron, steel, copper, mineral oil, cotton, oil, cotton manufactures, wood manufactures, cars, carriages, automobiles and paper composed the chief articles of export according to the Government report. Automobiles show the most rapid growth in the list of manufactures exported. The total value of complete automobiles exported in the year is $21,500,000, and to this must be added about $4,000,000 worth of parts and $2,500,000 for tires, making the grand total for automobiles and parts thereof, including tires, about $28,000,000, against $5,250,000 in 1908 and less than $1,000,000 in 1902.

The chief growth in the exports of iron and steel manufactures, says the report, has occurred since 1899, the total value of the exports of iron and steel never having touched the $100,000,000 mark until 1900 and only crossed the $200,000,0000 line in the year 1911, when the total was $231,000,000, against $268,000,000 in the year just ended.

Machinery alone amounted in 1912 to $115,000, and this does not include agricultural implements, of which the year's exports amounted to $36,500,000, or automobiles and parts thereof, which amounted to $28,000,000.

DRINKING CUPS.

It is expected that the State Public Utility Commission at its meeting this week will try to arrive at some practical and satisfactory conclusion regarding the use of drinking cups on railroad passenger trains. Since the Legislature passed a law forbidding the use of a common drinking cup, some roads have done away with the water tanks altogether while others have simply gotten rid of the common cups and supplied the trainmen with individual paper cups which patrons could have on application. But the latter solution has not worked well for very few people want to drink out of a receptable that someone else has carried about in his pocket.

The trouble could all be ended, it appears to us, if the railroads would keep a sufficient supply of the individual paper cups at their passenger stations and would instruct their ticket agents to deliver one to each patron as he purchases his ticket. The cups cost but a fraction of a cent and it could not be argued that the expense of such a scheme would be too great. Certainly something must be done to permit passengers to have a drink of water when they feel in need of it.

Contributions of one dollar each will be gladly received by the City Union of the King's Daughters to help meet the current expenses of the Baby Camp on the mountain. At that worthy institution sickly babes and in some instances their poor mothers are provided with nourishment and comforts that otherwise would be impossible. The actual running expense of the camp during the heated season is approximately $600. Will you be one to give a dollar bill to the cause?

The way a man tackles a big problem shows what there is in him. Mayor Gaynor's manner of handling the Rosenthal murder situation demonstrates amply that the Democratic party was saved from a disaster by not naming him for the Presidential nomination.

Dispatch says that there are hundreds of thousands of dollars in the treasury vaults at Washington but that the department has not got the money on hand to pay for removing the coin. Why not call in some New York policemen?

Funny isn't it how many Democrats consider it a public duty to seek political office just now?

Next Saturday's contributed editorial will be written by a local clergyman.

TOURISTS ENJOYING EUROPE

ated at the hotel and after dinner took a short walk in our immediate neighborhood, passing thru Regent street and into Piccadilly Circus. We retired early and had a good night's rest.

Friday, July 5, 1912—Fair and cool. Awoke about 7 a. m., had breakfast and while waiting for our carriages for the day's drive bought some post cards in a store nearby. At 9:30 we started our first professional sight-seeing in two large busses that held all our party of 34. We had a London guide in each buss beside our conductor, Mr. Navara, a short, plump Italian gentleman, who has been twenty-eight years in Cook's service and thoroughly knows his business.

Miss Howard and I sat up on top with the driver where we could see all the sights. We drove East and soon passed the home of Pear's Soap, an immense store. Down a side street we caught a glimpse of the British Museum in the distance and then passed the home of the author, Isaac J. Israeli. At a junction of four streets we saw the tunnel under ground through which the electric cars pass to the Victoria Embankment. Passing through Holborn street we came out upon the Holborn Viaduct and saw the oldest houses in London with their small paned windows. We passed the City Temple, the new Criminal Court Buildings built on the sight of old Newgate Prison, the large telegraph office built on the highest ground in the city; Robert Peel's monument, St. Mary Le Bow church, where we heard the clock strike ten and the guide recalled to our minds the story of the bells of the Bow church calling the poor boy back to be Lord Mayor of London.

We stopped at Guild Hall, which was built in 1411-31, but was almost destroyed by the London fire of 1666. The great hall is 153 by 50 feet, here noted men are given the freedom of the city and the Royal Banquets are held here. Fine statues of Wellington, Beckford and Nelson are in the hall The stained glass windows were beautiful. In the Art Gallery we saw many fine paintings including John Constable's masterpiece and the famous painting of St. Paul's Cathedral at the time of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, June 22, 1897.

From Guild Hall we passed the Bank of England with its blind windows; the Manson House, the home of the Lord Mayor, with its famous Egyptian Hall; the London Monument, a huge shaft marking the place where the London fire of 1666 began and ended and the large London fish markets with its varigated odors. Next we crossed the famous London Bridge over the Thames where we could see the wonderful London wharves and freight boats. This bridge connects Middlesex and Surrey. Southwick Cathedral next meets our sight and St. Olave's Grammar School, where school is held all the year round as is the custom in England. Crossing the Tower Bridge, which is very high and opens up in the middle to allow boats to pass through we came to the Tower of London. In alighting from our carriages we saw a crippled street artist drawing fine pictures on the sidewalk. We passed through the soldier guarded iron gates into the Tower grounds. The first that caught our eye were the large "beefeaters" in their red costumes decked with medals. These men collect the admission tickets and give information when called upon. This Tower is the most interesting historic spot in England. We passed the Bell Tower and Traitor's Gate on the way to the Inner Ball in which is the White Tower built by William the Conqueror, on the sight of a Roman Fort. Its turreted walls are 12 feet thick. In this tower is the beautiful chapel of St. John, a perfect specimen of Mormon architecture, where Bloody Mary was married by proxy to Philip of Spain; here also is the Council Chamber and the Banqueting Hall with its ceiling and walls ornamented with all kinds of swords and fire arms arranged in beautifully fantastic shapes. In the Horse Armoury is a fine collection of handsome armour, the best in the world weighing from 80 to 100 lbs.; here also are housed war trophies and ancient armour of all nations. In a court outside we saw the guards drilling and at one side under a large cotton tree he saw the site where Queen Anne Boleyn, Queen Katherine Howard, Lady Jane Grey, etc., were executed. There are also many other towers such as the Bloody Tower, Beauchamp Tower, Bell Tower, Brick Tower each the prison of some celebrated person. The Jewel House was very interesting to us. The climb to the top was well worth our effort. Here in iron barred cases which can be opened only by three men each of whom has a different key, are the Crown Jewels, valued at $15,000,000. The collection includes St. Edward's crown, Queen Victoria's crown with 2,783 diamonds and a wonderful sapphire and ruby (costing $550,000), other crowns, the royal septre andorb, the Koh-i-Noor diamond, the gold Maundy Dish from which new money is distributed to the poor on Maundy Thursday. The jewels and insignia of the Knight's of the Garter and other orders are also displayed here.

Returning to our carriage we drove through East Cheapside to Cannon street, where we saw the Old London Stone from which point the Romans measured all their distances. We then approached grand Old St. Paul's Cathedral. Drawing up at the side were five open hearses banked high with beautiful lilies, carnations and roses. We learned that the funeral services of Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadems were being held and his remains were being interred in the Painter's Corner of Crypt. We went in and found the services had just begun. Many people of note were there mourning their loss—the president and members of the Royal Academy, and the Royal family was represented by Princess Louise and the Duke of Argyll; the Lord Mayor of London and others. These passed out down the aisle near us. The music of the service was grand being rendered by Sir Charles Stanford and M. Paderewski. As the service was so long we did not have time to remain afterwards to view the church in detail, but what we did see of it was very impressive. On the way back to the hotel for luncheon we passed Old Bailey.

TRACING A CRIME.

Clever Detective Work by a University Professor.

THE KEEN EYES OF SCIENCE.

They Detected Blood Where There Were No Apparent Traces of It and Found Telltale Finger Marks That Pointed Direct to the Criminal.

Mme. Guian was the wealthy widow of Jean Howard Guian, former president of the Bank of France. Mme. Guian was seventy years old. One night she took a train at Fontainebleau for Paris. She had to herself a first class compartment. When the train arrived in Paris the porters found her compartment unoccupied. The door had been half torn from its hinges, there was a great pool of blood on the floor, and the police picked up from floor a handful of woman's hair, a torn piece of skirt and a first class railroad ticket from Fontainebleau to Paris.

A search along the railroad tracks resulted in the finding of Mme. Guian's body beside the rails just outside Fontainebleau. It was greatly mangled. A little farther on was found the satchel she had carried. There were no rings on her fingers and no money in her pockets.

Mme. Guian's relatives took the ground that she had been seized with a hemorrhage, to which she was subject, had tried to open the door of her compartment to summon aid or to get air; that she had in her paroxysm wrenched the door open and had fallen off the train, killing herself. The police were not satisfied with this explanation, particularly after Professor Reiss, the famous Lausanne university criminologist, had pointed out that the cut on the woman's satchel had been made by a knife and not by a sharp stone, as had been thought. This, however, was very little evidence, and Professor Reiss turned his attention to the compartment which Mme. Guian had occupied. After he had finished his investigation he went to M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, and said to him:

"I am sure that Mme. Guian was murdered, and I am equally sure that her murderer was a soldier. In the train compartment there were a towel and a stationary washstand. There were no stains upon the towel visible to the naked eye. Nevertheless we subjected every square inch to one of the most delicate tests for blood. We at last discovered an area which gave us the positive reaction for human blood.

"Upon this towel the murderer of Mme. Guian wiped his bloody hands. He knew that this would be evidence that the old woman did not meet her death by accident as he wished it believed, and so he washed the towel thoroughly, as he thought, and hung it up to dry.

"The detection then of this microscopic quantity of blood, which can be removed from a fabric only by acids, revealed to us that Mme. Guian met death by the hands of a murderer.

"But I found another piece of evidence. There was, if you remember, a railroad ticket picked up on the floor. On its back was the imprint of a thumb. I compared it with that of Mme. Guian; it was not hers. I threw its image up enormously on a lantern screen. I was then struck by the peculiar indentation of the little ridges on the inner side of the mark. Careful analysis of these marked ridges showed me that this was the thumb of a man who was actually serving as a soldier. The frequent drills with guns result in the pressure upon the ridges of the inner side of the thumb. This causes a peculiar flattening, which is visible under a microscope when enlarged and is true of no other occupation except that of a soldier.

"As I reconstruct this crime this soldier managed to get into Mme. Guian's compartment after the train had left Fontainebleau. He knew that she usually carried a number of jewels and a large sum of money. He tried to rob the old woman, and, meeting with unexpected resistance, fought with her in the compartment, killing her by beating her head against the register and then stripped the body of its jewels. He thoughtlessly wiped his hand upon the towel. He knew that this would be evidence of the presence of some one else in the compartment, so he washes the towel with soap and water, but does not know that we can discover blood even when it is only to the amount of one one-thousandth millimeters.

"He then wrenches the compartment door open and throws out the body. He is pressed for time, rips open the satchel with his knife. Then, taking advantage of the slowing down of the train between Fontainebleau and Paris, he jumps from it and makes his escape."

As a result of Professor Reiss' analysis it was found that two soldiers, Gravy and Michel, had followed Mme. Guian to the train on the night of her murder. They had hidden in her compartment, and when the train had started they murdered her, as Professor Reiss had indicated. The rest of the reconstruction was proved at the trial of these two men. They both confessed, were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Certainly.

THE FORUM.

Deacon vs. Deacon.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

I wish to speak in defense of the Calvary Baptist church, and in answer to an article by Deacon Peter P. Robinson. The former pastor of the Calvary Baptist church may not have taught you to wear long white robes and not to walk the golden streets, but I find that you have always worn your robes and have walked the golden streets as his followers. You have said in the Sunday-school that any one who said that "God made alcohol is a liar," Did you go by instruction as a deacon. Again, you have stated at the teacher's meeting that "three members of the church were mean, low, dirty and that they were not fit to walk with your dog in the street." Did you by your instruction as a deacon, or did you wear your white robe. Peter P. Robinson I find that there are eighteen different denominations of Baptists in America, but I search in vain and cannot find you among any of them. Your statement that a minority has dismissed the pastor is unfounded and has no backing. Mr. Robinson you said that the good people of Plainfield have the sentiment for the former pastor. You are not a citizen of Plainfield, but of New Market, while most of us are property-owners and citizens of Plainfield and live here. And you will find that the power which put Mr. Bailey out of the pulpit for teaching such gospel as you preach, will put you out of the board of deacons and stand ready to back whatever they have done or may do. Therefore, Mr. Robinson go out and get your robe laundered and have it white; then you shall see clearly that to call a member of your church a liar, and a dog are not the kind of Baptists that are wearing white robes and are walking in golden streets. The good people of Plainfield that you refer to are not among the kind of Baptists that you represent. Shame on you.

L. F. CHAPMAN, Deacon.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

"War, Spirit, Distress of Nations, Earthquakes, What Do All These Things Mean?" was the topic of a gospel address by an evangelist from Newark at the tent on Darrow avenue, last night. The service was largely attended. The speaker illustrated his remarks showing that numerous incidents in history all pointed to the fact that the coming of Christ is soon to take place. The speaker also used charts to explain his subject. The subject for tonight's meeting will be "Will Modern Criticism Stand the Test of the Good Old Book?"

UNDERGOES AN OPERATION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stevens, of Hillside avenue, left yesterday for Boston, to be present at an operation that is to be performed on their son today. The lad recently fell injuring his knee and the trouble not yielding to the treatment given, the physicians decided that an operation was necessary. The boy has been spending the summer with friends near Boston.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME WHITE CAKES.

DURING the summer cake is always in demand. Fruit tastes so much better if served with a piece of dainty pastry. Cakes that are light in weight and attractive in appearance are preferred, and many people think that a white cake is the most desirable.

Here are some recipes for white cakes that are worth trying:

Alpine Cake.—Take the whites of ten eggs beaten stiff. Then stir into the eggs one and a half teacupfuls white sugar. Add the juice of one lemon and two teaspoonfuls extract of bitter almond. Stir gently into this one and a half teacupfuls of flour, having one measure baking powder mixed thoroughly in the dry flour. Make an icing and spread over the top when baked. This makes an elegant cake and is economical when eggs are cheap.

Small Cakes.

White Cake.—Take three cups of sifted flour, one and one-half cups of sugar, one cup of sweet milk, one egg, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, one teaspoonful of soda and a little essence of lemon. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, then add the milk (in which the soda should be dissolved), the egg well beaten and the essence. Mix with the above two cups of the flour, and lastly add the third cup in which the cream of tartar has been stirred. Then bake in small pans in a quick oven.

Snow Flakes.—Take half a tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, the whites of two eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one saltspoonful of salt, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful of milk. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Cream the butter and sugar with a little of the milk. Add the whites of the eggs well beaten, next the milk and last the flour. Bake this batter in hot, buttered gem pans from twenty to thirty minutes.

An Arrowroot Cake.

Scotch White Cake.—Take a pound of arrowroot, a quarter of a pound of powdered white sugar, half a pound of butter, the whites of six eggs, flavoring to taste of essence of almonds or vanilla or lemon. Beat the butter to a cream; stir in the sugar and arrowroot gradually, at the same time beating the mixture; whisk the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth; add them to the other ingredients and beat well for twenty minutes. Pour the cake into a buttered mold and bake it in a moderate oven from one to one and one-half hours.

New Pie Suggestions.

New suggestions for pies are always welcome to the housewife. Pie is one of the most favored of all desserts, especially by the men of the household. Several recipes for palatable pies are given, with the foundation a flaky pastry.

Light, Flaky Pastry.—To make light, flaky pastry chop the lard and butter through the flour with two knives instead of using the hands, which makes the mixture too compact. Add ice cold water gradually and mix with a fork, lifting it lightly through the flour. The baked crust will be in delicious, flaky layers.

Cocoanut Pie.—Put two even tablespoonfuls of grated cocoanut into a pint of milk. Add three even tablespoonfuls of sugar, the yolks of two well beaten eggs and two even tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, stirred to a paste with a little cold milk. Add butter the size of a walnut and cook until thickened and smooth. Line a pie plate with crust, prick in several places and bake in a hot oven. Then fill the crust with the cocoanut mixture and spread with meringue made from the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Sprinkle with cocoanut, set in an oven and brown slightly.

Chocolate Fig Pie.—Beat the yolks of four eggs, add one cupful of sugar and stir well together. Add eight heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate and beat again. Put into a saucepan, and as it heats stir in slowly two tablespoonfuls of flour dissolved in a quarter cupful of cold milk. As it begins to thicken take from the fire and add one large cupful chopped figs. Line two pie tins with pastry and bake. Then put in the filling and return to the oven a few moments to "set." Beat the whites of the four eggs with four scant tablespoonfuls of sugar and a tablespoonful of vanilla. Spread lightly over the pies. Set back in a moderate oven to puff and brown.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie.—Either fresh or canned pie plant may be used. Take enough stewed pie plant for one pie, about a half pint, and stir into it while boiling a heaping teaspoonful of cornstarch mixed with the yolks of two eggs, a cupful of sugar and one tablespoonful of butter. Have ready a pie tin lined with a nice crust already baked. Spread this with the pie plant mixture and cover with a meringue made of the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Set in the oven until nicely browned and serve cold.

Orange Indian Pudding.

Put four heaping tablespoonfuls of cornmeal into a basin, add half a pint of molasses and a level teaspoonful of salt. Boil three pints of milk, pour it scalding hot on the meal, stirring carefully until perfectly smooth and free from lumps. Butter a pudding dish, cover the bottom thickly with chopped dried orange peel, pour in the mixture and, last of all, pour gently over the top a tumblerful of cold milk. Bake four and a half hours in a hot oven. Serve with whipped and sweetened cream flavored with one teaspoonful of orange essence.

French Drip Coffee.

For French drip coffee a filter of porcelain must be used. A gauze filter must be thoroughly rinsed after using and hung up to dry if possible. Heat the filter and pot, put grounds in the filter and moisten with boiling water. Let it stand five minutes, then add more boiling water every two or three minutes. The dripped coffee must be boiled. It is especially good for the demi tasse, being rich and fragrant without becoming muddy or bitter. Best of all, it never fails, as boiled coffee is sure to do when hastily prepared.

Orange Juice.

Take a sweet, juicy orange, cut in two at the circumference and squeeze out all the juice with a lemon squeezer. Strain or leave some of the pulp in, as preferred. Set on the ice until thoroughly chilled, then serve in a thin glass, crystal clear, and set on a little china plate with a small doily between glass and plate. Grapefruit is refreshing served in the same way, adding if desired a little sugar and a teaspoonful of sherry.

Almond Cake.

Take two ounces of butter and beat it well with one ounce of sugar; then add to it two well beaten eggs, beating the mixture well together. Sift into it two ounces of flour; add two tablespoonfuls of ground almonds and half a teaspoonful of almond extract. The cake should be baked in a tin lined with greased paper in a moderate oven and sugar be sifted over the top.

Fried Sausages.

Prick the sausages with a fork (this prevents them from bursting) and put them into a frying pan with a small piece of butter. Keep moving the pan about and turn the sausages three or four times. In from ten to twelve minutes they will be sufficiently cooked unless they are very large, when a little more time should be given.

Apple Water.

Slice a half dozen sour, juicy apples into an earthen pitcher, add a tablespoonful of sugar and pour over all a quart of boiling water. Cover closely, and when cold strain and chill.

Only 2 Days More of the JULY FURNITURE SALE

Tuesday, Wednesday—and then we ring down the curtain on the July Sale of Furniture—the greatest event of the kind we have ever held.

We launched this year's sale at a time when the people in the furniture trade were in the doldrums, when the air was full of the heat of politics and the sun helping to make things sizzle.

It didn't look very auspicious for us—and we wanted to surpass all our past records for furniture selling, of course. We are always chasing records.

We knew we had more and better furniture than we had ever assembled for a sale.

We knew we had bought it right and could quote prices that no competitor could meet.

We knew our Club Plan of selling would make it easier for folks to buy the furniture they wanted.

We knew the fact that with every purchase we gave Surety Coupons would help—because it meant a discount of two-and-one-half per cent. on every dollar's worth of furniture we sold.

So we went into the July Sale with high hopes, lots of ambition, plenty of energy and a salesforce bent on selling more furniture in a month than they ever sold before.

We made a flying start—first day's selling beat any first day we ever had in July. Bully for that.

We struck a fine pace the second day, kept the gait the third day and then we knew we'd reach the tape with flying colors—and here we are on our way to a Garrison finish, showing our heels to all the sales that have gone before, surpassing every best record in furniture sales.

Isn't it fine? Isn't it great? To go on from season to season gaining, increasing, building up?

There must be good reason for this constant growth—a good healthy reason.

It must be that we've educated the people of Northern New Jersey to know that here we sell only dependable furniture, that here prices are always fair, that here reductions are real. The people know that when we say prices are cut 10 to 50 per cent. it means just that—and they come for the furniture and buy it in generous quantities, beautifying their homes and making them more comfortable.

Only two more days of the July Sale remain.

Are you going to take advantage of your opportunities?

Buying on the Club Plan Makes It Easy

When we inaugurated our Club Plan of selling we applied it only to furniture, floor coverings and upholsteries, but we found as we went on that so many good people liked to buy this way that we broadened the field for choice so that now worthy folks can buy practically everything for the furnishing of the house on this easy payment Club Plan.

If you have not familiarized yourself with this scheme of selling goods, making it easy for you to buy them, we would advise you to learn all about it; for no matter what your means or your income, there are great advantages in buying the higher-priced things in this way, as thousands have found to their delight.

We are making it easy for young folks to go to housekeeping in the right way. We are making it easier for older folks to refurnish their homes and equip them beautifully without feeling the financial strain.

There isn't a mean feeling about the Club Plan—that is why it appeals so to the more intelligent. Next time you contemplate buying any sort of furnishings consider this plan of paying for them. We now sell the following goods on the Club Plan:

Furniture, Rugs, Carpets, Mattings and Linoleums, Lace Curtains, Portieres, Couch Covers, Curtain Fixtures, Pictures, Clocks, Books in Sets, Comfortables, Blankets, Steamer Rugs, Beds and Bedding, Bed Linen, Household Linens, Sheets and Cases, Window Shades, Porch Screens, Silverware, Cut Glass, Cutlery, Chinaware, Refrigerators, Lamps, Baby Carriages, Sewing Machines, Washing Machines, Talking Machines, Victrolas.

These things can be bought at our regular cash prices or at special selling prices when sales are on, and paid for on the Club Plan—a little at the time of purchase and so much weekly or monthly as we arrange with you.

Emperor of Japan and Crown Prince

HIS imperial majesty Mutsuhito, the one hundred and twenty-first emperor of Japan, was born at Kioto Nov. 3, 1852, being the second son of the Emperor Komei, and was declared heir apparent in 1860, seven years before his father's death. It was during the first summer of his life that Commodore Perry made his descent upon Uraga to demand the friendship of Japan for America. His main object has been to lift Japan out of its ancient traditions and to institute progressive policies. Two important wars were carried to a successful outcome in his reign, the conflict with China and the more recent war with Russia. He married Haruko Feb. 9, 1869, and they have three sons and one daughter.

While the emperor of Japan has been the ruler of his country for forty-three years, a period during which the empire has made remarkable industrial and political progress, he loves a life of comparative seclusion and has rarely appeared in the conduct of affairs of state. He has worked through his ministers and advisers.

One attempt against the life of his majesty has been reported. This was in 1913.

The emperor was not, as is popularly supposed, the son of the dowager empress, who died in 1897. It should, however, be remembered in this connection that the so called "handmaid" system is countenanced in Japan and that the position of the emperor's mother in his family was a perfectly respectable one from a close viewpoint.

It should be borne in mind that the mothers of the imperial princes are chosen from a few carefully selected blue blooded families. The custom was inaugurated many centuries ago. It was found that the royal stock of Japan was dying out. To prevent the evil which it was believed would follow an extinction of the royal line the "handmaid" system was introduced. It has perpetuated the present dynasty up to the present time.

At the age of eight the little prince, owing to the death of his brother, was declared the heir to the throne.

When he first took the scepter it was an offense punishable by death even to look at him with face uncovered or to speak his name. How this has changed is indicated by the fact that the emperor, his consort and all the members of the royal family have since then posed for photographs which they knew were to be spread broadcast throughout Europe and America in popular periodicals.

The emperor and empress even consented to permit the use of their pictures on postage stamps, although at the time there was almost a strike among the Japanese postmasters, who objected to profaning the emperor's effigy with canceling ink.

The emperor gave the final blow to this superstition about the sanctity of his person immediately after the close of the Japanese war when upon repairing to the city of his birth to give thanks to his ancestors he took up his residence in a cottage belonging to some peasants and refused to permit the issuance of an order forbidding the transaction of ordinary business in the town during his stay. The act was based on the wisest diplomacy. It did not alienate the respect of his people. On the contrary, it added to that respect a genuine popular affection.

The name of the imperial prince of Japan and the probable successor of the late emperor is Yoshihito Harunomiya. Like his father, Yoshihito is not the son of the empress. He was born Aug. 31, 1879. He was nominated heir apparent in 1887 and proclaimed crown prince in 1888. Prince Yoshihito has served in the army and navy of his country, and in 1900 he became both a lieutenant general and a vice admiral. May 10, 1900, he married Princess Sadako, fourth daughter of Prince Kujo Michitaka. The crown prince has three sons.

The next communion service at the Congregational church will be on Sunday, September 8.

DO MINORITIES RULE?

And Is There Really Such a Creature as "the Average Man?"

A very strong and racking doubt has got into my mind. One of the very mudsills of my subconsciousness, a very "sleeper" of my cosmic house, has been loosened, and all sorts of strange fancies, like little white and leggy insects, are scampering among my wits.

For it has occurred to me that, after all, the minority are in the majority. I know it sounds crazy. I know that Heaven be thanked! I am spared the last illusion of the insane that I am sane.

But while I have always lived, moved and had my being under conviction that the majority not only rules but also actually exists, come to think of it, I have never seen a majority while everywhere about us is the large, active and exceedingly vocal and assertive minority.

The majority of the people in the United States believe in our present form of government, yet I never met a man in my life that did not think he could improve it.

The majority are sound and well, but did you ever run across a well woman?

The majority are sane, yet have you ever found one man indubitably so?

The fact of the matter is that the average man is a myth; he is a mathematical hypothesis; he exists only for the purpose of statistics and arguments; he is the stuff out of which generalities are formed. He is like an atom or a kilowatt or a nebular hypothesis. Everybody is abnormal. Normality is merely the imaginary point where the abnormalities balance.

I never talked any length of time with a human being who did not by and by say something like "Well, I am peculiar, I know," "I am strange," "I am not like most folks," or words to that effect.

Strange that the entire population of the globe is in the minority!

The rarest person in the world to find is the one who does, says or thinks as most people do.—Frank Crane in Chicago News.

A STRUGGLE WITH A WIFE.

How Strindberg's Unhappy Marriage Colored His Work.

The extremely unhappy married life of August Strindberg is commented upon by Clayton Hamilton in the Bookman.

"At the age of twenty-six," he says, "Strindberg fell in love with the woman who was to exert a deeper influence upon his work than any other factor in his life experience. She was already married, but she obtained a divorce and married Strindberg. For a time their wedded life was happy, and the poet in this single sunny period of his experience poured forth an amazing number and variety of literary works conceived in the romantic mood. But a little later his marriage began to be disrupted by dissensions, and the domestic life became increasingly unbearable to both parties as the years proceeded. Held together by their children, they endured a life of torture until finally, after sixteen years, they abandoned the hopeless struggle and were divorced.

"This tragic experience has colored all the later work of Strindberg. He had begun by conceiving life as war, and he now discovered in his own case that love, which is the origin and essence of life, is also war—a year long, lifelong battle without an interrupting truce. Hence he conceived love as only the obverse of a two sided passion, of which the inevitable reverse is hatred. Other poets have made the same discovery. Compare, for instance, Mr. Kipling's harrowing lines: 'I 'ate you, grinnin' there. * * * Ah, Gawd, I love you so!'"

Smothered Pig.

There is a fish in Hawaiian waters which is known by the native name of humuhumunukunukukuapuaa, which means literally "sewing up the nose." The native Hawaiian method of killing a pig to be roasted is to smother it, not cut its throat, and it is smothered by sewing up the pig's mouth and nose. This fish with the long name has spines which in ancient times were used as needles to sew up the pig's mouth; hence the name more fully means "the fish that provides the needles for sewing up the nose of the pig."

The Morning Star.

The morning star, an iron ball studded with spikes and fastened by means of a chain to a short handle, was much used in medieval times as a military weapon. It was exceedingly formidable, for when thrown it could not easily be avoided or dodged, the chain permitting it to curve around the arm or over the shield. It was confessedly modeled after a common cactus which grows in every part of Italy.

LOST $5,000 THEY GOT FOR MURDER

Rosenthal's Assassins Gambled It Away at Shore.

BURNS' MEN TRAILED THEM

Declared That Following Killing Slayers Autoed to Jack Rose's Gambling House at Far Rockaway and Parted at Gaming Table With Price of Daring Crime.

New York, July 29.—Burns' detectives have reported to District Attorney Whitman that the five men who shot down Herman Rosenthal walked straight from the Metropole to a red automobile waiting near Eighth avenue and Forty-third street, drove to Far Rockaway and lost the price of the murder, $5,000, in a few days gambling in a house kept by Jack Rose himself.

There is positive ground for the statement that District Attorney Whitman believes the preliminary reports received from W. J. Burns' agents that the police have only a muddled and confused condition of the circumstances of the killing and of the retreat of the assassins. Before Mr. Whitman left for New England on Saturday he stated he had just heard from Manager Dixon of Mr. Burns' office. He added that there was now reason to believe that some of the murderers did not escape in the gray car driven by Shapiro.

Lost $5,000 In Gambling House.

The quiet work of the Burns detectives has indicated that the five gang men who pistoled Rosenthal were at Far Rockaway until a few days ago, that they received daily news of the hue and cry while they gayly flung upon the roulette table the proceeds of their crime and that when play and hard drinking had emptied their pockets they sneaked one by one back to town and went into hiding.

How much of this if any is known to Deputy Commissioner Dougherty has not escaped from that official. But Mr. Dougherty spent much time driving his fast red car along the beaches and questioning men who are from old Pinkerton knowledge confidants and go-betweens for the criminals who drift between Manhattan and the seashore. The story that proceeds from the Burns inquiry places a new name on the list of the assassins—"Kitty Second," a rascal of east side haunts, one down in the police books as a pickpocket and devoted also to satchel thieving, hotel prowling and whatever cunning criminality would fill his pockets.

Names of Murderers Known.

The names of the others whom Dougherty has advertised as the actual murderers are Gip the Blood, Whitey Lewis, Dago Frank and Lefty Louie. The information of the district attorney is that Lefty Louie, Whitey Lewis and Gip the Blood were the three that crept close to Rosenthal when he appeared unsuspectingly on the threshold of the Metropole and fired the shots, while Kitty Second and Dago Frank flanked the murderers with drawn pistols to shoot any one who interfered with the killing.

AMERICANS WIN IN PARIS.

Olympic Athletes, at Scratch, Make Fine Showing at French Games.

Paris, July 29.—Some of the American Olympic team competed in the sports at Colombs, Paris, and carried off high honors. The games were open to all nations. Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, who won the decathalon at Stockholm, was second in the shot put, high jump and hurdles and won the running broad jump, making a leap of 22 feet 10 inches. Donohue was second in this event. The latter was third in the pole jump and hurdles.

Ralph Rose won the shot putting contest, Richards carried off the high jump, Kiviat won the 1,500 meters race with Gallagher second.

The races were handicaps, and the Americans were all at scratch.

JONES AND BLEASE CLASH.

Chief of Police With Drawn Revolver Prevents Personal Encounter.

Aiken, S. C., July 29.—Only the display of a revolver by Chief of Police H. Howard prevented a personal encounter here between Governor Cole L. Blease and Judge Ira B. Jones, who is opposing Bease for re-election.

Resenting a charge by Governor Blease, Judge Jones branded the governor as the "foulest of liars" and rushed upon him, as did also his son, Ira Jones, Jr. Pistols were displayed by the partisans of Jones and Blease, and a riot seemed imminent when Chief Howard with revolver in hand sprang between Jones and Blease and threatened to kill the first man who made a hostile move.

Dillon Won't Run.

Columbus, O., July 29.—Judge Edmond B. Dillon, nominated as the Republican candidate for governor of Ohio at the state convention last month, announced his withdrawal from the ticket, his reason being the determination of the Roosevelt people to put up a third ticket in the state. Judge Dillon's announcement came in a telegram from Mackinac Island, where he is spending the summer.

MIKADO'S DEATH IS HOURLY EXPECTED.

Imperial Princes Summoned, All Hope Being Abandoned.

Tokyo, July 29.—The mikado is dying. Rapidly sinking, despite the heroic efforts of the imperial physicians, the stricken ruler's condition has become more alarming with every hour, and all hope is now abandoned for his recovery.

An early bulletin announced that the emperor's pulse and respiration had become so irregular that it was impossible to longer make count. Cramps in the arms and legs have also developed, the injections of medicine proving wholly ineffective.

All the imperial princes of the empire have been hastily summoned to the palace. A great throng has assembled, and the grief of the people, genuine and widespread, is most affecting.

An instance of the devotion of the populace was shown in the discovery of the body of a young man in the outer palace park. He had offered his life for the emperor, as a letter in his pocket attested. He had swallowed poison.

Another glimpse of hope was given in a recent bulletin issued by Dr. Kinnousuke Miura, court physician, in which it was said that the symptoms were less acute and that improvement had been noted in the patient's pulse and respiration. A few hours later, however, the populace was plunged into despair by the pessimistic announcement that the emperor's condition was again extremely critical, following a second relapse.

Owing to the nature of his malady, the distinguished patient has been unable to take nourishment. His weakened condition in consequence has been a factor in the inroads of disease.

TURKEY TROT SALOME'S IDEA.

So Declares Preacher at Narragansett, Attacking Society's Errors.

Narragansett Pier, July 29.—In a sermon at St. Peter's Episcopal Church-by-the-Sea the Rev. George Chalmers Richmond of St. John's church, Philadelphia, spoke on "Some Dangers in the American Life To-day" and arraigned certain members of society at Newport and other resorts for their frivolities.

The preacher declared that "Salome," the originator of the turkey trot, hated John the Baptist, just as some of the aimless fast set dislike Mr. Roosevelt for his views.

He added that Mr. Roosevelt possessed the spirit of John the Baptist. "You may defeat him once or twice, but his soul goes marching on."

FALLS 1,000 FEET.

Two Sisters See Parachute Performer Plunge to His Death.

Canton, O., July 29.—When 1,000 feet in the air a rope attaching the trapeze bar to his parachute broke and Thomas E. Flick of Quincy, Ill., fell to his death here. His body struck in the soft earth of a celery field head first and was buried to the knees. He was thirty-two years old.

The accident occurred almost immediately after Flick, watched by 3,000 persons at Myers lake, an amusement resort, cut loose from his balloon.

In the crowd were two sisters of the aeronaut.

ATTACKED BY A HERON.

Bird Swoops Down on Trenton Man, Who Captures It After a Battle.

Trenton, N. J., July 29.—Sitting comfortably on his lawn reading, Carl Meyers of this city was attacked by a large white heron, which swooped down upon him and bit and buffeted him so severely that he was obliged to send for a physician.

After he had recovered from his surprise at the sudden attack of the bird, Meyers gave battle and succeeded in breaking the bird's leg. He then captured it and has offered it to the city for the Cadwalader park zoo.

Wednesday, July 31, As "A Day of Courtesy" Opening the August Furniture Sale

On this day no furniture will be sold, but visitors may inspect the August stocks, making advance selections, and the furniture will be delivered upon the opening of the Sale, August First, or later, if desired.

As this notice is published two days in advance even of this "Day of Courtesy" ample time is thus given for the making of arrangements to visit New York and to take advantage of the exceptional advantages offered in this home making Sale.

The entire regular furniture stocks of John Wanamaker, aggregating well over a half-million dollars in the New York Store alone, are entered in the Sale at reductions in price ranging from 10 to 50 per cent., and in addition special purchases, totaling $214,000, have been made from standard and proved-out manufacturers, among which may be noted:

1. A group of $51,000 worth of medium to very fine dining room furniture, consisting of matched suites and single sideboards, buffets, china cabinets and serving tables—to be sold for $35,000.

2. A group of $19,200 worth of extension tables of mahogany and oak in a great range of pieces—to be sold for $14,000.

3. A collection of $25,000 worth of selected bedroom furniture from several of our regular makers—to be sold for $18,000.

4. Another group of more than $18,000 worth of bed-room and dining room chairs—to be sold for $12,000.

5. A collection of $25,000 worth of fine mahogany tables for the library, living room and parlor—the best lot this manufacturer has ever offered under price—to be sold for $17,000.

6. Among others a lot of $14,900 worth of mission chairs, rockers and settees in the best and most comfortable patterns, highly finished and with Spanish leather cushions of the highest quality—to be sold for $10,000.

7. A complete collection totaling $48,500 worth of fancy chairs, rockers and general living room furniture—to be sold for $35,000.

8. About $40,000 worth of guaranteed brass and iron bedsteads at discounts of 10 to 50 per cent. in a few cases less than half price, including:

130 styles of brass bedsteads
30 styles of white iron bedsteads
25 styles of white enamel and brass cribs
4 styles of youths' white enamel and brass beds
15 styles of white enamel and brass costumers
20 styles of sliding couches, collapsible cots, divans and institution beds.

9. Office furniture, including desks, tables, chairs, waste paper baskets, costumers, wardrobes, arm chairs and davenports upholstered with leather and other fabrics, all offered at 10 to 50 per cent. lessening in price.

Kindly notice, these special groups will be ready for this "Day of Courtesy," July 31st. They will go to first comers, and cannot be duplicated at the prices.

"Success" some one has said, "is 10 per cent. opportunity and 90 per cent. intelligent hustle." This announcement offers the opportunity. Will you supply the other 90 per cent.?

To those who know Wanamaker's it is needless to say that

This is "Fidelity Furniture"

We have never sold any other kind. And never shall. We simply will not take chances with what seems to us to be stuccoed or frescoed furniture, which may have good looks but nothing else. We have not spent a lifetime in building up a furniture reputation to tear it down for the sake of a single August Sale. We are in the furniture business for all time—and every sale we make must make a friend. Yet, owing to our great buying power (counting New York and Philadelphia, the largest in the country) we are able to keep costs low even on furniture of this high grade and character, as a comparison of prices will show.

With three and a half block long floors of furniture in this August Sale, together with the 28-room House Palatial and 40 additional rooms in which to make displays, we feel that we are well enough able to guard and serve our customers, to send this invitation broadcast throughout the towns and cities surrounding New York, being amply prepared to capably serve all who may come.

For the convenience of those whose regular homes are closed for the Summer, we will hold and deliver in the Fall, when desired, purchases made in this August Sale.

Notice* the tags and signature on the furniture---they speak for themselves:

Postscript!* Kindly make a note of this "Day of Courtesy," Wednesday, July 31, when selections may be made in advance.

The Rosenthal Murder and New York's Police System

Investigation May Determine if the Two Had Any Connection.

Gambler Had "Squealed" and Was Shot Down In Sight of Scores.

"THEY'LL get him. Don't worry; they'll get him." This was the oft repeated expression in New York sporting circles when Herman Rosenthal, gambler, turned "squealer."

Rosenthal had been in the gambling business for twenty of his thirty-five years. He had long enjoyed seeming immunity from police interference. But a few months ago all was changed. Rosenthal was raided and a policeman stationed in his place twenty-four hours a day to see that no business was done.

Finally Rosenthal went to the district attorney, the county's prosecuting officer. He told a story of how he had for years been paying "graft" to the police in return for their not molesting his games and concluded his tale with the declaration that Charles A. Becker, a lieutenant of police, had been his partner in a gambling house which he conducted in the "white light" district.

Becker was the man in charge of the police squad detailed to the raiding of gambling houses of all descriptions. Rosenthal's story was that Becker even loaned him $1,500 to open up his last house and that Becker was to get 20 per cent of the profits for his share.

Rosenthal's story created a sensation both in police and in gambling circles. The 10,000 members of the police force were stung by the charges that reflected upon the entire body, whereas only a comparatively small number, if any at all, were involved. The gambling fraternity saw in the expose the practical closing up of all their games.

With the publication of the fact that Rosenthal had "squealed" came the assertions that "they'll get him." He was "got." Only a few hours before he was to go before the grand jury to repeat the story he had told the district attorney and to give the names of others who could corroborate his charges Rosenthal was killed in a highly sensational and daring manner.

Called from his seat in what is perhaps the best known of the all night cafes in the city's all night district and situated scarcely a hundred yards from Broadway, Rosenthal was shot dead on the sidewalk by a party of four or five men who had come to the scene in an automobile and who made their escape in like manner.

A number of arrests have been made in connection with the murder. These include Jack Rose, professional gambler and friend of Lieutenant Becker and who hired the "murder car;" Harry Vallon, said to have been one of the occupants of the car; "Bridgey" Webber, owner of a poker room, where the murderers assembled for the crime; Sam Paul, head of an association on whose outing the murder is said to have been planned, and William Shapiro, chauffeur of the car.

The authorities claim to know who were the actual murderers and are on their trail.

But the general investigation into the crime is to go further than the detection of Rosenthal's slayers. The big question to which the answer is sought is, "Who are the mysterious 'they' who 'got' Rosenthal?" The district attorney in his efforts to determine the answer has hired a skillful private detective agency, and wealthy citizens have offered to defray the expense. Whoever the actual murderers were, whoever the men were that pulled the triggers of the revolvers that meant death to Rosenthal, there are many people who believe that the gambler was murdered by the "system;" that the crack of a pistol was the final word of desperation when lips could no longer be sealed and ex-posure was at hand for that ominous, powerful, but elusive thing—the "system."

The "system" has not always been elusive. Senator Lexow and an investigating committee exposed it some years ago as a partnership for profit between certain politicians, some of the police and the criminals.

But that exposure did not kill it. A few years later Mazet, heading another investigating committee, found the same old "system," changed in personnel, a little changed in methods, but still living up to its old traditions of graft and lawlessness.

The investigators, their committees and the exposures they made have been forgotten by most people. Whether the "system" still exists the murder of Rosenthal may answer. Did the "system" murder him because he threatened to expose and had begun to expose it? Did it murder Rosenthal to save itself? Is murder too desperate a chance for the "system" to take? These are the lines along which the investigation is being conducted.

And now as to the graft that the "system" has fed on. Needless to say, gambling houses, pool rooms and disreputable resorts have furnished the greater part of its provender. Let no one believe that these places are opened and run without the guilty knowledge of the police. Here is expert testimony. Inspector Cortright, now retired, testifying on oath, said:

"It is impossible for pool rooms to exist unless the inspector of the district knows it."

"Do you deliberately state that as your opinion?" asked the cross examining lawyer.

"Not as my opinion alone, but as a matter of my actual knowledge," returned the inspector.

But the "system" descends far lower than this in its reach for graft. It shares in the booty of the crook.

Expert evidence can again be quoted: "I must believe criminals who have done important work for me that men in my department have stood them up and gone through them."

That statement was made in 1905 before the assembly cities committee by Acting Inspector Stephen O'Brien, then in charge of the detective bureau of New York.

MONROE AVE. TAKES FIRST PLACE; FIRST BAPTIST SHARES 2ND POSITION

A number of surprises resulted from the games played in the Sunday-school Baseball League Saturday afternoon and a general shakeup resulted in the standing. The surprise of the afternoon was the outcome of the Temple Baptist and First Baptist game when the former nine, by annexing its initial win of the season, managed to pull First Baptist out of first place. The Monroe Avenue ball tossers took care of the position vacated by the First Baptists and crawled into the top rung claim by taking one from the scrappy Park Avenue Baptist nine. Hope chapel sent the South Plainfielders back with a minus score and by so doing managed to get a partial hold on the second place argument. This position in the league is now divided up between the First Baptist and the Hope teams and the followers of the league now think the Chapelites have started pennant-ward and are out to give last year's champions a hard rub.

WELL, LAND ALIVE! TEMPLE NINE WON

And Startling As It May Seem, the First Baptist Was Its Opponents.

After tasting defeat for eight successive contests in which they did not have even a chance of victory, the Temple Baptist ball tossers rallied round their star twirler, Stewart, and by some good work in the field managed to annex their initial win in their season's schedule in the Sunday-school Baseball League. The triumph is all the more sweet to the Temple team as it defeated the First Baptist nine that was before this leading the league in the championship race and it turned the trick by the decisive score of 7 to 2. Stewart as usual was in fine form and fanned fourteen batters. He should have been accorded a shutout, as neither one of the losers scores were earned and were the result of fielding errors. The Temples clouted the offerings of Smith, the First Baptist twirler, for nine safties which were all pretty well touched in the first and eighth rounds.

Both nines put up a consistent game in the field and the four new players in the tailenders lineup worked wonders for the heretofore weak combination. Howell, behind the bat was a tower of strength to the Temples and held Stewart up in grand shape. Gullberg, who has been doing the catching in the previous games, found a berth at first and showed that he was meant for this position rather than one behind the bat. The other new players made up the outfield and formed a garden trio that could not be surpassed.

Smith, of the losers twirled the article of ball that usually wins and fanned eleven men. His hits were pretty well scattered however, and this accounted for the winning team's runs.

HOPE CHAPEL IN 2ND PLACE AGAIN

South Plainfield Meets With Defeat, the Score Being Sixteen to Seven.

Hope Chapel crept again into a tie for second place in the Sunday-school Baseball League Saturday afternoon, by taking one out of the South Plainfielders on the big end of a 16 to 7 count. Several big innings told the story for the winners, who banged the offerings of Terry and Scofield to the four corners of the lot. Hopes managed to chalk up thirteen lusty wallops and stole thirteen bases which helped it to push its sixteen counts across the rubber. The Chapelites ran wild on the bases and when one of them got on, it was only a matter of time before he scored.

Schott, as usual, was on the mound for the winners and although he had several bad rounds he managed to hold the bingles down to seven an fanned thirteen.

Both teams gave a ragged exhibition of fielding and between the eighteen players, nineteen misplays were credited. The hitting honors were carried away evenly distributed among the victors and Snyder, Grisley, Overland, Thorn and Schott got two apiece. The villagers' bingles were taken in by three players, M. Terry with three, Allen with two and E. Terry with a single.

PARK AVE. LOSES TO MONROE AVE.

The Methodists Wallop the Baptists to the Tune of Eleven to Three.

Monroe Avenue Methodist again secured a hold on first place in the Sunday-school Baseball League Saturday afternoon by taking the strong Park Avenue Baptist nine into camp with a score of 11 to 3. The game was featured by erratic fielding on the part of both teams and this helped Monroe's score materially. Both twirlers were in fine form, Hess allowing but six scattered hits and Hobson but eight. The Park Avenue pitcher, however was given ragged support at critical times and the opponents were handed most of their eleven runs.

The batting laurels were divided among Clarke, VanNorden and Pennoyer, who each got a couple of healthy ones. Hendry played a fine game on the initial sack for the winners, while Gage led in the fielding department for the Park Avenue nine.

ROYAL GIANTS 4, SCOTCH PLAINS 10

"Warry" Put Up a Good Article But the Exhibition Generally Was Ragged.

The Scotch Plains baseball team had no trouble in putting one over on the Royal Colored Giants in a poorly played game at the 'Plains Saturday afternoon, the score being 10 to 4. Both teams played ragged ball at times but the 'Plains nine was able to tighten up in the pinches and held the Giants safe at all stages. McLaughlin, who was on the mound for the home nine, pitched his usual steady game and the colored ball tossers were unable to do anything with his delivery. He also pounded out a three bagger which was one of the longest straight hits that has ever been made at the 'Plains.

Mac Donald, who twirled for the dusty ball team from this city, put up a good game but his support faultered at the critical stages. The home combination put four counts over in the second, two in the fifth, and four more in the seventh, by some timely hitting and a few contributed errors.

This game drew the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a contest on the Scotch Plains field and the crowd was a highly enthusiastic one.

R. G. E. TEAM CLINCHES CHAMPIONSHIP IN MANUFACTURERS' BASEBALL LEAGUE

Only one decisive game was played in the Manufacturers' Baseball League Saturday afternoon and this was the contest that practically decided the league championship for the 1912 season. The Commercial ball tossers lost a good opportunity to get into the running for the Daily Press cup when they dropped Saturday's game with the R. G. E. nine that is now well on the road to Pennantville. The game between the Public Service and the Saurer teams was called in the second inning and will be protested at tonight's meeting of the Manufacturers' league at the Y. M. C. A.

The Spicer and Banks were idle on Saturday because of the outing held by the latter team.

R. G. E. Makes Itself Fast to First Place In Manufacturers' League Series.

The R. G. E. combination practically cinched its claim to the Manufacturers' Baseball League championship by taking the Commercial nine, which up to this game had been considered a likely contender, in tow by the score of 8 to 1. The game was one-sided from start to finish and the winners held the situation well in hand at all stages of the contest. Fleming, the winning team's twirler was in fine form and kept up his reputation by holding his opponents well in hand during the pinches.

Although Fleming twirled for a winning combination, his opponent, Conover, had decidedly the better of the pitchers' argument but was accorded the worst kind of support. He fanned eleven batters and allowed but six scattered hits but the eleven misplays made behind him were enough to give the Commercials its nine run lead.

DeNitizio was the star performer in the fielding department for the winners and pulled off a number of sensational catches that would all have gone for extra base wallops. Fleming also helped his team's score along by contributing a two-base hit as did also DeNitzio and Rowell. Conover broke into the hit column with two pretty safties which were very much needed.

SAUER-P. S. C. END GAME IN A ROW

Dispute In 2d Inning and Both Captains Take Their Men Off the Diamond.

The game between the Public Service and Saurer teams of the Manufacturers' Baseball League wound up in an argument Saturday afternoon, when the captain of the gas company nine called his men off the field following what he considered to be an infraction of the ground rules. It appears that the respective captains got together before the game began and agreed that when a ball got by either catcher, when a man was on the bases, the runner should not take more than one base on the passed ball.

The argument arose in the second inning when Moulton, the Public Service catcher, dropped the third strike and the ball got by him. There was a man on second base at the time and while Moulton was going after the ball he scored, what was the tieing run. The Public Service team claimed that according to the ground rules he should have stopped at third base and not tried to take two bases on the passed ball. The Saurer combination could not see it that way, however, and their opponents walked off the field, thus forfeiting the contest for the time being. The protest will come up before the governing board of the league tonight when the argument will be decided.

WESTFIELD PROVED EASY TO THE DUNELLEN BOYS

The Dunellen baseball team defeated the Westfield aggregation for the second time this season at Recreation Park, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 4 to 0. McLaughlin, who was in the box for the visitors, was at his best and held the Westfield sluggers safe at all times. Ortlieb, on the other hand, twirled good ball but his team-mates put up a pitiful exhibition of fielding and all of the Dunellen nine's four runs were made on errors. He struck out ten batters and allowed but eight scattered hits, but these together with the errors, were enough to give a victory to the visiting aggregation.

Score by innings:

"GOATS" COMPETITION AT PARK GOLF CLUB

In the "goats" competition at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, A. M. Morrell and W. P. Taylor, challengers, defeated Peter C. Sweeny and J. H. Greene, Jr., holders, 1 up 19 holes. The defeated pair, however, protested the match on technicalities, and the matter will be up to the Golf committee for a decision.

The point-winners for the President's cup, weekly competition follow:

H. H. Woodland, 96, 11-85; A. M. Morrell, 98, 10-88; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 97, 4-93.

PLAINFIELD LOST IN COW PASTURE

Bound Brook Team Showed It Could Play Well On Any Old Field.

What Bound Brook did to Plainfield Saturday afternoon will long be remembered by local followers of the game, who went all the way to the hill town expecting to see a battle for blood waged between Slocum and Frederickson, the two local twirlers, who are making a reputation for themselves on the baseball diamond. Bound Brook accomplished the trick mond. Boundtaointaoioatnin taaa a on a sad apology for a baseball dia. The right field was crossed by a stream of water, the center garden contained a poultry farm and the left corner of the lot was a veritable dump with tin cans and ashes scattered around nearly half a foot deep. Several times when the local outfielders went after a long fly they were compelled to climb a small sized mountain or ford a stream and in one instance a chicken became entangled in Eddie Stallings' feet. Although these handicaps were many and great, the largest and least surmountable of them was the twirling of Slocum. He held the Plainfielders well in hand at all stages of the contest and as is always the case when his teammates obtain a substantial lead he pitched his head off and the local tossers could do nothing with men on the bases.

The game started off with a home run by Harter and the visitors stock began to soar at once. It was one of the longest flies ever sent out on the Main Street diamond and went clean over the tops of the chicken coops in deep left field. Harter was back on the players bench before the ball was recovered.

The home nine came back in its half of the first, however, with seven counts which put the game on ice and Plainfield never had a chance after this. In this inning Frederickson was unusually liberal with his passes and also hit a batsmen, and this coupled with the hits Bound Brook was able to garner from his delivery gave it runs galore.

Bound Brook, by a series of clean wallops came back in the fourth with two more registering tallies and Plainfield managed to push its last run across the rubber in the fifth. Not satisfied with humiliating the visitors to the extent of nine runs the Brookers started another run festival in the sixth and repeated the seven run performance of the first round. In this inning Lidgate pounded out a lusty wallop to the creek in right field and the ball became entangled in some of the bullrushes so that it could not be found and Lidgate circled the bases and went out to help them regain the lost ball. This was the second homer of the contest and unlike the first one made by Harter, it was more or less of a fluke.

Eddie Stallings relieved Frederickson in the pitcher's box in the sixth and although he was a trifle wild the Bound Brook team either could not hit his delivery or else it thought it had enough runs piled up to win the game, for both nines were blanked from then on. This, however, was after the team had totalled up sixteen counts and was too late to do any good. Frederickson was pounded unmercifully during his curtailed appearance on the mound and his off day surely showed itself.

Slocum, who twirled for the winners' was in the best of form and held the Plainfielders at his mercy at all stages of the contest and the team from the Queen City could garner but five safe wallops from his delivery. He allowed eight bases on balls but these were well scattered and did not help the locals in their run getting. He was always their in the pinches and although the visitors got men on bases in a number of the innings they were unable to get any further than the third station and many of them died before they got that far.

WEST END AGGREGATION FOUND TWO NINES EASY

The strong West End A. C. baseball nine took two games of ball Saturday afternoon from a couple of strong amateur teams in this section. The first contest was staged with the All-Star team, of this city, and the West Ends shut its opponents out with a 3to0 score. The game was concluded early in the afternoon and the Saurer baseball team that had been viewing the contest from the side lines were asked to play an exhibition game with the winners and consented. The Saurer's game with the Public Service had been stopped after going two innings and they made good by taking the West Ends on.

The athletic club nine made it two straight by downing the Saurer's with an 11 to 3 score. Fulton twirled the first contest for the West Ends and held the game well in hand throughout the whole nine rounds. In the second game, Dixon, a brother of the former West End catcher, went on the mound and his debut turned out to be decidedly in his favor.

PLAYED SIXTEEN INNINGS BEFORE GAME IS CALLED

A sixteen inning contest was played at South River yesterday afternoon and the contest was called with the score standing a 2 to 2 tie. The contesting nines were the Knights of Columbus, of Somerville, and the South River baseball team. The game settled into a pitchers' battle between Louis Slocum, of this city, who was twirling for the Knights of Columbus, and George Ortlieb, who was on the mound for the home nine. The game was called after it got so dark that the players were unable to see the ball and the large crowd that witnessed the contest went away without being given a satisfactory decision.

Slocum pitched great ball for the visitors, allowing but two bases on balls and striking out twelve. The other players from this city on the same team with Slocum were Lou Dixon, who caught him, and Frank Evans, who was the fielding star of the game, at third base. He accepted nine chances without an error. In the seventh inning Slocum performed the wonderful stunt of retiring the side with three pitched balls, and in the eighth did the same thing with four balls. The lineups: South River—Seery, c; Ortlieb, p; Mullin, 1b; Grimes, 2b; Power, ss; Boetner, 3b; Farricker, lf; Miller, cf; Jones, rf. Knights of Columbus—Dixon, c; Slocum, p; Potter, 1b; Teston, 2b; Hickey, ss; Evans, 3b; Cunningham, lf; Wahl, cf; Bollinger, rf.

BADLY BURNED WHILE RESCUING HIS HORSE

New Brunswick, July 29—Samuel Tewertsky was badly burned Friday night on the face and hands saving a horse from his stable at 39 John street, which was discovered on fire. The horse died soon after it was rescued, having been badly burned. The fire was started by some one leaving a lighted lantern burning in the stable.

USES WIRE TO UNITE A BROKEN BACK

Physicians and surgeons are interested in the gradual recovery of Mrs. Mary Mariano, of 19 Orchard street, Orange, whose back was broken more than two months ago. She is in the Orange Memorial Hospital, where she was taken after she fell down a flight of stairs.

An unusual operation was performed by Dr. Edward Calvin Seibert, who instead of using the plaster cast, usually resorted to when a spine is fractured, reinforced the vertebrae with fine wire.

When removed to the hospital Mrs. Mariano was paralyzed in the lower part of the body. This was caused by the compression on the spinal cord of the fractured bones of the tenth vertebrae. Four vertebrae arches had to be removed and then the bones directly above and below the injured part of the spine were securely joined by the wire. Enough rigidity was secured by this brace to render the use of a plaster cast unnecessary.

With the gradual recovery from the injury, the nerves are regenerating and Mrs. Mariano is now able to move her legs and feet a little. Her condition continues to improve and medical men are watching with interest to see if she fully regains the use of her limbs.

PETITION FOR BRIGGS' RENOMINATION APPEARS

United States Senator Frank O. Briggs' petition for renomination at the primaries in September was circulated at a meeting of the Essex County Republican committee Saturday night. It is in the form as required by law and must be signed by 1,000 voters and presented to the Secretary of State. This provides authorization for the printing of the name on the Republican ballots in every district of the State at the party primaries.

This is the first active work done in this section of the State on behalf of Senator Briggs, though it was generally understood that he would be a candidate for renomination. More than 100 signatures were obtained from members of the county committee. Practically every person at the meeting was a "regular" and therefore had no objection to adding his name and address to the document.

While no formal decision to stand for the Senatorial nomination has been made by former Governor Edward C. Stokes, it was stated that there are petitions in circulation in South Jersey in his behalf.

WOMAN'S HURTS SERIOUS.

Somerville, July 29—Mrs. Henry J. Garvel is reported to be in a serious condition in her home in Brooklyn, where she was taken following a collision between her carriage and an auto truck. She was driving with her husband in the North Branch road, near here, when the accident occurred. The rig was demolished. Mr. Garvel has begun action against T. I. Honeyman, owner of the truck, who claims to be blameless. The accident occurred after dark and the carriage, he says, was without lights.

BEGIN EXTENSIVE WORK ALONG CENTRAL'S LINE

Somerville July 29.—The preliminary work for the extensive improvements planned by the Central Railroad of New Jersey in this section has just been started. The contractors are Richards & Gaston, who spent seven years in transforming James B. Duke's 3,000-acre estate from a plateau into a park of hills, dales and lakes.

Without interference with traffic, the workers will change the Central's line from a two to a six track road between Bound Brook and this place, a distance of four miles. A change of nineteen feet will be made in the present roadbed a distance of two miles, between Bound Brook and Finderne. When completed the roadbed will be twelve feet lower in front of the Finderne station and seven feet higher in front of the Bound Brook station than at present. This means an elevated roadbed through Bound Brook and the abolishing of all grade crossings. A union station will be built at Bound Brook to conform with the elevated tracks. The station will be used by the Lehigh Valley and the Philadelphia and Reading in conjunction with the Central.

The grade crossing at Finderne will also be done away with.

TWO FALL TO DEATH.

German Aviator, With Mechanic In His Machine, Air Victims.

Munich, Bavaria, July 29.—Two flying fatalities occurred here when a German aviator, Herr Fischer, who was carrying as a passenger in his aeroplane a mechanic named Kugler, fell from a considerable height, causing the instant death of both.

The aeroplane was smashed so that the cause of the accident could not be ascertained. Fischer had passed his aviation pilot's examination only a fortnight ago.

WILSON READY FOR VISITS.

Has Finished Speech—Gradual Downward Revision of Tariff Favored.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 29.—In all likelihood Governor Wilson will come ashore late today, somewhere along the Jersey coast, ready for a week of visits and conferences. Word came that the speech of acceptance had received its last polishing Saturday and after it has been looked over by the men whom the governor desires to see it it will go into the hands of the printers.

This will be about Wednesday afternoon. A good many are now endeavoring to forecast that speech, but it is only known that the governor will discuss the tariff as a moral issue rather than a political expedient. He will not insist upon immediate drastic legislation which will disturb existing business conditions, but a gradual revision downward until a true tariff for revenue only is reached.

BOYS' UNEXPECTED RIDE.

Somerville, July 29—Five small boys of Elizabethport were brought here as prisoners in the baggage car of the Union Sunday-school excursion train Saturday night. They had boarded the train at Elizabethport with the object of stealing a ride to Elizabeth, but the train failed to stop at that place. They were taken back to Elizabeth.

COLLINS BACKS STEIN.

Elizabeth, July 29—That harmony is restored between the warring Democrats in this city seems to be assured from Saturday's developments. General Collins came out openly in favor of the re-election of Mayor Alfred A. Stein, his former opponent; declared the Mayor was entitled to a second term, and promised to support him.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT SAILS.

Will Go Into Railroad Work In Brazil. His Pa Is Silent.

New York, July 29.—Kermit Roosevelt sailed for England on his way to Brazil, where he is to enter the railroad business.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Miss Ethel Roosevelt and several friends were at the pier to see him off. Kermit said goodby to his father and mother at Sagamore Hill.

Colonel Roosevelt was chary about telling of his son's launching on his business career. When asked how long Kermit would be away he replied: "How can I tell. He's gone there to start railroading. That's at much as any one can say."

Kermit was with his father on the African game hunt of 1910.

6 DEAD, 2 ARE DYING, AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Lake Shore Flier Is Obscured by Cornfield.

Toledo, O., July 29.—In a crash that could be heard for a mile six persons were killed, two fatally injured and another hurt when a Lake Shore train struck an automobile containing nine people at Alexis, about twelve miles from here.

The dead are Rudolph Cousino, aged thirty, farmer, La Salle, Mich.; Mrs. Louise Cousino, aged thirty, wife of Lafayette Cousino, La Salle; twelve and six-year-old sons and four-year-old daughter of Rudolph Cousino, and Eva Navarre, aged twenty-four, La Pleasant, Mich.

The injured are Lafayette Cousino, aged twenty-eight, farmer, La Salle; taken to a hospital, will die; Mrs. Mamie Cousino, wife of Rudolph; taken to hospital; will die, and Opal Cousino, two-year-old daughter of Lafayette Cousino; taken to hospital; injuries not serious.

The accident happened on a grade crossing where the view of the track was obscured by a cornfield. The occupants of the machine did not see the train until they were directly on the track, and it was too late.

REPORT ON CENTRAL WRECK.

Reduction of Speed Is Favored by Public Service Commission.

Albany, N. Y., July 29.—That the accident to the New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited at Hyde Park on March 13, 1912, was due to an irregularity in superelevation of the outer rail, or what is more commonly known as a low spot in the track, and not to a broken rail, as was generally supposed, is the finding of the public service commission, Second district.

In connection with its report on this accident, the commission goes strongly on record for reduction for speed of trains, and especially in the winter season.

The Twentieth Century in this accident was derailed while running at high speed, four cars went down a ten foot embankment into the Hudson river, where they were stopped by heavy ice. A total of seventy-three passengers were injured, all slightly.

LEADERS JEERED BY DOCK WORKERS

London Strike Appears to Be Far From Settled.

MANIFESTOES ARE TORN UP

Thirty Thousand Assemble In Park and Shout "No Surrender!"—One Labor Head, Awed by Temper of the Crowd, Hastens to Explain He Hadn't Signed Agreement.

London, July 29.—At a huge meeting of dock strikers in a park here the men angrily repudiated the action of the strike committee declaring the strike at an end and declared for no surrender.

The strike leaders, the members of the committee who had ordered men back to work, knew long before the meeting that the action which they took would be disapproved and went to the park prepared to meet a storm. They knew that the men had torn down copies of the manifesto of the committee ordering them back to work and had furiously declared that their leaders had sold them out. The opening address of Harry Gosling, the strike leader, was hardly listened to, but when presently he explained that the manifesto was issued to give the men an opportunity of acting as they wished the audience began to listen to him.

Thousands Shout "No Surrender."

"It has been said," said Mr. Gosling, "we leaders have been forcing the men to continue the strike against their wishes. They now have the opportunity of declaring whether they will resume or not." Thereupon there were loud shouts of "No surrender."

When order had been restored Mr. Gosling recounted the efforts that had been made by the strike committee last week to reach an agreement with the employers. He said the strike committee decided to tell the men to resume work if they wanted to. Every union connected with the docks and the transport trade would meet to decide whether to accept or reject the manifesto.

At this point Ben Tillett, who recently called upon the Deity to strike Lord Devonport dead, said that now the men have been given this mandate the strike will go on more vigorously than ever and that it would lead to a national strike.

Threats Against Leader.

Around another platform, where leaders were addressing the men, the anger of the strikers was more vehement, and several of the speakers were unable to obtain a hearing. At one place the men mounted the platform and seemed on the point of taking violent action, but ultimately O. R. Bell, another leader of the dock workers, managed to make himself heard and shouted, "We have signed nothing and agreed to nothing!" This pacified the men somewhat and they allowed him to continue. He went on to say, "If we had signed anything we would have deserved all we got." At this there were shouts of "We would have killed you!" This summed up the temper of the crowd, which was estimated to number 30,000. It is clear that the strike will continue.

SHERIFF MORTALLY HURT IN NEGRO FIGHT

Two Others Seriously Wounded When Ambushed.

Plainville, Ga., July 29. — Sheriff Owens of Gordon county was mortally wounded and two other white men seriously injured in a battle with negroes near here. The sheriff and his posse were ambushed by a band of negroes after all negroes had been driven from Plainville. The negroes now are fortified in a building. They are reported to be well armed and are holding the whites at bay. Whites from Rome and Calhoun are hurrying to aid the Plainville posse.

Trouble started between the whites and negroes of Plainville, a town of 200 population, in which the negroes outnumber the whites, last week, when a negro struck a white boy in the head with a stone.

The whites and negroes gathered in numbers at the railway station, where hostilities were renewed. Blows were struck and a battle with firearms followed. Several negroes were wounded. The negroes then were driven from the town and an appeal was sent to Sheriff Owens for assistance. He started in pursuit with a posse and encountered the ambuscade. The sheriff fell at the first volley. Ernest Johnson and Bob Miller also were shot. It is believed some of the negroes were wounded. It is reported the house in which the negroes are concealed was surrounded. A fierce encounter is anticipated when white reinforcements arrive.

Weather Forecast.

Showers today; tomorrow generally fair; moderate southwest and west winds.

LONDON CHARMS OUR FAIR GUESTS

Miss Mabel Vail Describes Visit of Daily Press Tourists to World Famous Spots.

SEE BRITISH MUSEUM

The Six Young Women Take a 30-mile Motor Ride to Windsor Castle, Visit Westminster and St. Paul's—Leaves From Diary.

In yesterday's issue of the Daily Press was reprinted the first part of the diary of Miss Mabel Vail, telling of the trip of the tourists who are spending eight weeks in Europe as guests of this newspaper. The instalment left the travelers at noon of their second day in London. To-day's instalment begins with the afternoon of that day, and tomorrow the third week of the trip will be concluded. Miss Vail writes as follows:

In the afternoon we took another long carriage drive, this time starting west on Oxford street. We passed Bourne & Hollingworth's which our guide said was one of the best stores for soft goods. Selfridge & Co. is a innovation in London—a large department store. Passing along side of Hyde Park we saw the smallest house in London, only three feet wide. We entered beautiful Hyde Park by the Victoria Gate. Just inside this gate we alighted and entered the Dog Cemetery. The graves of pet cats and dogs were marked off by quaint fluted iron, each grave having a tiny marble slab with an appropriate sentiment as "To my dear Caesar & Yum Yum," "In sorrowing memory of sweet little Jack," etc. The drive through Hyde Park was glorious. We saw the Powder Magazine paroled by soldiers; crossed a pretty bridge over Serpentine Lake, saw Rotten Row with its beautiful rows of blossoming Linden trees. We left the Park by the Alexandra Gate. Across from this park are Kensington Gardens. On one side were pretty little tea gardens under shaded trees and little canopies where tea and wafers were served by dainty English waitresses; here, too, we saw the babies and children out with their pretty English nursemaids.

Next we came to the Albert Memorial. A beautiful gilded statue

LOCAL HEALTH BOARD MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

The Plainfield Board of Health will hold a special meeting Thursday night for the purpose of considering further the matter of securing co-operation in the enforcement of the health code as to the proper protection of foodstuffs by the local merchants and other dealers in fruits and vegetables. The board held a conference last week with some of the merchants and Thursday night's meeting will be held to discuss further plans.

Since the activity of the Board of Health in this direction dealers in fruits, vegetables and other uncooked foodstuffs have shown a disposition to co-operate and abide by the provisions of the health code, but there are some who do not seem to appreciate the importance of living up to the code and the board intends taking such steps as will bring about a strict observance of the code.

HE THREW THE PLAYER, NOT THE BALL, OVER THE FENCE

Mrs. Frank Shafer, of Duer street, filed a complaint in the borough court against James Montross, of Duer street, for maltreatment of her son, Frank, Jr., yesterday. When brought before Judge Gano this morning, Montross was let go on a suspended sentence. It happens that young Shafer was playing baseball on his father's land adjoining that of Montross. The ball was knocked over the fence into the neighbor's yard, again and again. Finally Mr. Montross became tired of seeing his tomato plants trampled on in order to prevent a home run and he told the lads to keep the ball off his land. The game went along smoothly for a while until someone knocked a "peach" over the fence that would bring in three runs. But no! Mr. Montross was there waiting and instead of throwing the ball back he threw young Shafer back as he came over the fence. After hearing the case Judge Gano dismissed the case and did not enter it in the records.

TWO ITALIAN WOMEN ASSAULTED ANOTHER

With her cheeks scratched and exhibiting traces of an alleged bite on her arm, Julia Angelina, an Italian, residing at St. Mary's avenue, appeared before City Judge William G. DeMeza and complained that she had been assaulted by Angelina Lombardi and Josephine Paggliari, of the same locality. Francis J. Blatz appeared for the defendants. The case was adjourned until Monday next, bail being fixed at $100 in the case of each defendant.

Ordie Brown, of West Fourth street, was fined $2 for shooting crap.

SEWER CONFERENCE TOMORROW NIGHT

May Settle Question of Route for the Proposed Joint System.

Another conference on the proposed joint sewage disposal scheme will be held in the Common Council rooms tomorrow night, when further details regarding the proposed trunk sewer will be discussed by the representatives of the interested municipalities. There still seems to be a division of opinion as to which would be the most advisable route for the trunk line, despite the presentation of figures to show that the cost of construction of what is known as the "n pump line" would be cheaper than the direct line through Dunellen.

One of the councilmen offers the argument that if at any time in the future it was decided to go to tidewater with the trunk sewer, it would be shown that the trunk line along the mountain would be practically useless, while if a direct line should be built through Dunellen, it would be a comparatively easy matter to extend it to tidewater. While it is known that there are members of the Plainfield Council who are opposed to North Plainfield's plans, Dunellen is of the same opinion, and in fact the Council at the latter place is on record as approving the direct line through Dunellen. It is possible that George W. Fuller, the sanitary engineer engaged for the purpose, will have the plans ready for tomorrow night's conference. The representatives are anxious to secure these plans so that they can be sent to the State Board of Health for approval or rejection.

PRESENT TWO PLAYS FOR BABY CAMP FUND

The Dramatic Club, composed of young people, gave two plays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cottrell, on West Sixth street, yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the King's Daughters Baby Camp. The plays were "Golden Bucket," and "Snowdrop and the Seven Little Dwarfs." Those taking part appeared in costume. They were Miss Margaret Kimball, Miss Beatrice Cottrell, Miss Jean Cottrell, Masters Lewis Kimball and Thatcher Cottrell.

There were about thirty spectators and the young people received $5.50, which they well deserved for their efforts. The plays were presented in the loft of Mr. Cottrell's barn, which was decorated artistically with boughs and marigolds. Lemonade was also on sale and this helped to swell the receipts.

BOYS OFF FOR CAMP.

Preston Dunning, of Mountain avenue, was in charge of the nine Y. M. C. A. boys who left for the State camp at Lake Wawayanda this morning. Those who made up the Plainfield delegation were Fred Smith, Holmes Clawson, Wesley Johnson, Leroy Traynor, Edward Ryder, Reginald Sykes, Russel Beekman, Fred Ross and William Smith. They got into the camp about noon and upon their arrival the campers of the second section left for home. The latter group will get back home about 9 o'clock tonight.

BEATING THEIR WAY.

Joseph Friel, Charles Carroll, James Tucker and John Enfield, all of Philadelphia, were arrested at the North Avenue station last evening by Patrolmen Sweeney and Flately on the complaint of the conductor that they had no ticket. The quartet stated that they were assured of positions in Atlantic City, but had no money to pay for their transportation there. On the strength of this assertion Judge De Meza gave them a chance and allowed them to go.

PETITIONS MUST BE FILED EARLIER

Points Which Candidates for Nomination This Fall Will Do Well to Remember.

COUNTY CLERK READY

Primaries to Be Held Sept. 24—General Election Nov. 5—Registry Days and Facts About Petitions for Getting Names On Tickets.

Candidates for nomination at the primaries this fall will do well to remember that under a new law petitions must be filed five days earlier than last year. Petitions of aspirants for congress and for county offices must be in twenty-five days before the primaries. Another good thing to remember is the election calendar. Here it is:

Primary day, September 24.

General election day, November 5.

Registry days for municipalities of more than 5,000 inhabitants, September 10 and 24 and October 22.

Registry days for cities of less than 5,000 inhabitants—house to house canvass—September 10; first registry day, September 24; second registry day, October 29.

Petitions for congressional candidates require 200 signatures. In these petitions must be named a committee on vacancies. Petitions for county offices must have 100 signatures; for city offices, 50, and for ward offices, 25.

County Clerk Calvert has been taking time by the forelock and already has prepared nearly all the blank forms which will be required for use at the primaries. They are comprehensive to such an extent that when one of the blanks or combination of blanks bound together is filled out properly the county clerk will know at once the formalities are all complied with. Under the old system there was frequently a good deal of delay and confusion.

Each of the three candidates for assembly nomination will be required to sign, in a succeeding section of the petition, one of these two statements:

"I hereby declare to the people of New Jersey, as well as to the people of Union county, that during my term of office I will vote for that candidate for united States senator in congress who has received the highest number of votes in my party in the State for that position at the primary election next preceding the election of a senator in congress."

"During my term of office I shall consider the vote of the people for United States senator in congress as a recommendation which I shall be at liberty to disregard if the reason for doing so seems to me to be sufficient."

Then there is a blank form for the designation the various candidates desire to have opposite their names on the primary ticket. The designation must not exceed six words. Another blank gives space for the candidates to request the single designation to be printed in a bracket opposite to the groups. Each candidate has the opportunity to designate his own financial committee, and the member or members of the committee must sign their names signifying their acceptance of the responsibility. On the last page of the blank is the certificate of acceptance of the various candidates. This is what they subscribe to:

"I, the undersigned, hereby certify that I am qualified for the office for which I am mentioned in the annexed petition; that I consent to stand at the ensuing primary election as candidate for nomination to the said office, and that if nominated I will accept said nomination."

CALVIN D. MC MURTRY CANDIDATE FOR SURROGATE

Former Sheriff Calvin D. McMurtry, of Somerville, who holds the position of deputy surrogate in Somerset county, has announced himself as a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Surrogate. His petition is now being circulated in the borough as well as throughout the county. A. M. Beekman, of Somerville, has also declared himself as a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the Assembly.

Last year Mr. Beekman was a candidate for the Assembly and came within about sixty votes of being elected. He believes that the prospects for Democratic victory this fall are much brighter than a year ago and is confident of being elected. His petition is now in circulation throughout Somerset county.

HIS OFFER IS $17,470

Bid of James H. Merritt & Co., of New York, $18,313, and a Supplemental One Not According to Specifications $17,135.

Den J. Galbraith, of this city, submitted the lowest bid for the $18,000 heating system for the Somerset School at the North Plainfield Board of Education meeting last night, Edwin S. Boyer presiding. His bid was $17,740. The only other bid was from James H. Merritt & Co., New York, for $18,313. This concern also submitted a supplemental bid of $17,135, not asked for, provided they were permitted to furnish whatever material they considered necessary. The bids were referred to the building committee for report.

Two bids for the purchase of $18,000, 4½ per cent. school bonds were also received. One was from J. D. Everitt Company, 6 Wall street, New York, and the other from Rhoads & Company, 45 Wall street, New York. Both offers were referred to the finance committee for report at next meeting of the board on August 5.

LOCAL WOMEN GIVE TO TITANIC ARCH FUND

Three Plainfielders Contribute to Memorial to Men Who Perished.

Miss Ida Stewart, Miss Margaret Boyd and Mrs. William Dutcher, of this city, are among the hundreds of New Jersey women who have contributed to the fund to erect a memorial arch in Washington to the men who died on the Titanic. Among the more prominent women of the State who have contributed to the fund are Mrs. Grover Cleveland, Mrs. Garret A. Hobart and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

A number of hotel proprietors in the State have written to Mrs. John Hays Hammond, secretary of the Woman's Titanic Memorial, offering to display the poster designed by Charles Dana Gibson to symbolize the spirit of the movement.

The contributors from Elizabeth include Miss Kean, Miss Elizabeth Kean, Miss Lucy Kean, Miss Helen S. Watt, Mrs. Charles Griffin, Mrs. E. G. Putnam. Those from Rahway include Mrs. William Cloke, Mrs. A. E. Woodruff, Mrs. F. W. Longstrath, Mrs Edward Savage, Mrs. William Mays, Mrs. William Mershon and Mrs. Otto Palm.

FIRE CHIEF T. O. DOANE IS NOW A GRANDFATHER

Seated in his office lolling back in his swivel chair in an attitude of easy content, Thaddeus O. Doane, chief of the fire department, was discussing with a Daily Press reporter today the arrest of Lieutenant Becker in the now famouss Rosenthal murder case when suddenly the bell rang. He leisurely took up the receiver, but visibly started when the voice of a female was heard to say, "It's a girl! it's a girl!" What?" cried the delighted chief, his face lighting up with a smile at the magic words. "then she's mine; you wanted a boy." He hung up the receiver after further conversation and explained to the astonished reporter the meaning of it all.

"That was my wife," he explained, "and she has just received a telegram from my son 'Hervey K.,' in Mile City, Montana, that his wife had just given birth to a pretty baby girl this morning. Do you realize," he continued, "that that makes me a grandfather, and I am too delighted for words. My wife and I have talked repeatedly about the matter, and she said if the little stranger proved to be a boy she would claim it 'as hers' and I said if it was a girl that I would claim it as "mine.'" So the chief won out.

His son is a mining engineer in Mile City, Montana. Two years ago he married his wife in Kansas City. He is making quite a name for himself out there and is looked upon as one of the leading men in the State in his profession.

NAME COMMITTEE FOR WILSON CLUB

At Meeting Tomorrow Night Plans Will be Made by Democrats for the Campaign.

TO MAKE HARD FIGHT

P. H. Stewart, W. A. Coddington, H. W. Marshall, D. C. Ivins, W. L. Herfield, Isaac Schwed and Howard Fleming among Committeemen

Members of the Plainfield Democratic Club believing that wth the nomination of Wilson and Marshall for President and Vice President the prospects for a party victory is unusually bright this year, at a recent meeting planned to form a Wilson and Marshall Club among the members of the Democratic Club, as well as representative Democrats not allied with the organization. It was decided to appoint a committee to be composed of members of the club and representative Democrats not of the club, and that committee which has been named is as follows:

Calvin E. Brodhead, Walter L. Hetfield, J. S. Schinckel, LeRoy J. Ellis, Edward T. Lynch, Percy H. Stewart, William A. Coddington, Isaac Schwed, Theodore A. Shirley, J. R. Knowlton, H. W. Marshall, Dr. F. W. Cornwell, Fred Endress, J. B. Guttridge, R. B. Cory, DeWitt C. Ivins, Howard Fleming, A. H. Atterbury, John J. Kenney, Peter B. Hodge, J. F. McIntyre, TenEyck R. Beardsley, Dr. C. A. Gesswein, M. D. O'Keefe and Fred Ivamy.

This committee will hold a meeting at the Queen City Hotel tomorrow night for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to an organization for the fall campaign. Each member of the committee has received the following notice:

"In view of the nomination of Wilson and Marshall and the bright prospect of Democratic success this fall, it is absolutely essential for the purpose of putting a proper local and county ticket in the field, and the conduct of the campaign, that the party get together and organize. It is the desire to have this organization embrace the full strength of the Democratic party and attract the support of independents as well. To that end, a resolution was adopted at the last meeting of the Democratic Club, asking that a committee be named, consisting of an equal number of members of the club, and representative Democrats not of the club, to formulate a plan for such an organization.

"You have been named on this committee, and a meeting has been called to take place at the Queen City Hotel to discuss these matters tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock."

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR REV. GEORGE KARNER

The burial of Rev. George N. Karner, formerly of Plainfield, who died at his home in Mill River, Mass., last Friday, took place in the North Plainfield cemetery at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the committal service at the grave, where there was a large gathering of relatives and friends.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including those from the members of the Congregational church, of Mill River, of which Mr. Karner was pastor for two years. Prior to going to Mill River, Mr. Karner resided here and at one time was manager of the Commercial Mills at the time they were owned by his father-in-law, A. L. Cadmus, of Plainfield avenue.

MRS. CHARLOTTE BECKWITH DIES IN HER 74TH YEAR

Mrs. Charlotte Beckwith, widow of Thomas A. Beckwith, of this city, died on Friday last at the home of her son, George Beckwith in Boston. She was taken ill recently while spending the summer with her two daughters at Winthrop, Mass. Her death was due to an attack of acute kidney trouble. Mrs. Beckwith was seventy-three years of age. She resided in the New Madison apartments until the latter part of June, when she and her two daughters, the Misses Lydia and Fanny Beckwith, removed to 615 Spooner avenue. Miss Fanny Beckwith is a teacher in the Franklin School. Four sons and three daughters survive.

The burial will be in the family plot at Frederickton, New Brunswick.

EAST END ASSOCIATION SUPPORTS UZAL B. CRANE

The regular meeting of the East End Taxpayers association was held last night at the home of W. R. Way, on Leland avenue. The association unanimously passed a resolution endorsing Uzal B. Crane as Councilman for the First ward.

W. R. Warnacke, the vice-president, made a lengthy address in which he stated that while the association was not a political one, yet it was its duty to take the stand in municipal affairs in order that the city at large might secure the best possible public servants.

ARRANGE TO OPEN PUBLIC MILK DEPOT

To Enable the Poor of the City to Obtain Milk at Cost Price.

The committee having charge of the plans for opening a free milk station at the Plainfield Day Nursery, met yesterday at the rooms of the Charity Organization Society, when it was reported that there was about $26 on hand with which to purchase milk for free distribution among needy families. In order to become a beneficiary of the milk station a person will be obliged to obtain a card signed by Overseer-of-the-Poor DeForest. This will be honored at the Day Nursery.

Those in charge of the project say they do not want to do anything that will interfere with the business of regular dairymen. However, it has been ascertained that there are a number of poor families who have been unable to purchase milk for babies owing to a lack of means, and besides there are many mothers who do not know how to modify the milk so that it can be given to their children without any harm resulting.

It has been suggested that bottles holding between six and eight ounces of milk be purchased and supplied with the modified milk for distribution to needy families at certain hours of the day. It was also suggested that there could be a morning and afternoon distribution where families have no suitable place to keep the milk. These details will be worked out in a practical way so that when the station is opened August 1 there will be nothing to interfere with the plans as outlined. It is expected that contributions will be received thereby making it possible to carry on the work during the summer.

STRUCK AUTOMOBILIST AND IS FINED IN COURT

W. L. Oliver, of Maple avenue, Rahway, and two friends, were motoring down Terrill road to this city yesterday afternoon when they were held up by a man who stepped into the roadway waving his arms and gesticulating wildly. The car was brought to a stop and the man stepped upon the running board.

Mr. Oliver, who was at the wheel, asked the stranger what he wanted and instead of replying he struck Oliver a blow in the face. The man then jumped off the car and walked away. The auto was rushed to police headquarters and a complaint lodged. His arrest followed.

In the court this morning the assailant gave his name as Edward Galbraith, of West Third street. He stated that he had been drinking, but was ordered to pay a fine of $10 or in default go to jail for forty days.

A WAYWARD GIRL.

A fifteen-year-old colored girl, Edith Babbitt, of Fairchild's alley, was haled into the police court this morning by her father, who complained to City Judge William G. De Meza that the girl was stopping out late at nights and was quite incorrigible. She was remanded and ordered to be placed in the Settlement for Wayward Girls at Vineland, N. J.

IN BOROUGH COURT.

John Hehn, of 408 East Fifth street; William Kern, of New Brunswick, and James Mordis, of 177 Duer street, were arraigned before Recorder Gano, this morning, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly last night. After a reprimand by the Recorder, the men were dismissed on a suspended sentence.

MRS. CATHERINE M. KUGLER.

The remains of Mrs. Catherine M. Kugler, wife of John H. Kugler, were sent today to her former home at Mahanoy, Pa., for burial. Mrs. Kugler died at her home, 1229 East Second street, on Sunday, after a long illness. The family had lived here but a short time, and it was decided to have the interment at Mahanoy.

TAFT CLUB TALKS OVER CANDIDATES

Discussion As to Desirable Timber for Republican Nominations for Local Offices.

ACTION IS POSTPONED

Vacation Season Causes Poor Attendance and Nothing Will Be Done For a Month—What Offices Are to Be Filled.

The Taft Club at its regular meeting, last night, discussed various candidates for local offices for the coming campaign, but no definite results were reached, owing to the fact that many members with whom a conference is desired, are away and will not be home until the latter part of August. Several men were suggested for the Mayoralty nomination, among them County Attorney W. R. Codington and V. W. Nash, Sr., who has been urged to get out a petition, but the members did not attempt to make a selection. The same was true regarding candidates mentioned for councilmanic nominations.

Four of the present members of the Common Council go out of office this year, President R. I. Tolles, who has served many terms; Councilmen F. L. Holt, of the Second ward; Duncan W. Taylor, of the Third ward, and John E. Dunn, of the Fourth ward. Whether these men will seek a renomination cannot be learned at present, but it is the belief neither Tolles nor Holt will be candidates for re-election. Dunn seldom attends the meetings and he is not likely to seek the job again.

There is also a tax collector to be elected this year to succeed the present incumbent, William R. Townsend. While the latter has announced himself as a candidate for re-election, there are several other prospective candidates and the indications are there will be a lively contest for the office.

The fact that the Democrats in this city are better organized than in the past means that that party will have a full ticket in the field, which will result in an aggressive campaign of both particularly as the Progressive Republicans propose to name a complete ticket.

HOMELESS MAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO IS IN HOSPITAL

William Mueller, who claims to have no home, is in Muhlenberg Hospital suffering from a fracture of the left shoulder and general lacerations about the head and body as a result of being run down by an automobile on North avenue, Dunellen, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The car was owned and driven by Arthur L. Canfield, of Somerville. Mueller was about to cross the street and stepped from in back of a wagon directly in front of the moving machine. He was knocked down and the front wheels had passed over him before the car had been stopped. Canfield took the victim to the offices of Dr. Thomas H. Platt, Jr., in Dunellen avenue, where "first aid" was applied. He was removed to the hospital on advice of the physician.

On examination it was found that his left shoulder had been fractured. Up to the present time no internal injuries have become apparent, and the man is reported to be resting comfortably.

Mr. Canfield had taken his wife and niece in his touring car to Englewood and was returning when the accident occurred. He said he was driving at a moderate speed and had tooted his horn repeatedly. Many who witnessed the accident verified his statement. He surrendered himself to Marshal John P. McCawley and a hearing was given him before Judge Campbell last night. The case was dismissed as the recorder held that Canfield had done his best to avoid the accident.

Mr. Canfield paid $50 at the hospital for treatment for the man and said that if more money was needed he would gladly furnish it. He also told the victim that he would give him work on his farm as soon as he recovered.

AN ITALIAN DRAMA.

The five-act Italian drama "Nerone," was presented by an Italian company from New York, last night, in Saengerbund hall, on Somerset street, before a large audience of Italians from Plainfield and vicinity.

—A wagon belonging to the Eastern Bottling Company upset this morning in front of the Kensington Hotel on North avenue, due to the overloading of the rear of the wagon with cases of empty beer bottles. No damage was done.

—Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade a large and choice assortment of fruit, vegetables and all kinds of berries.

LONDON CHARMS TOURISTS

under a lofty canopy built on an eminence from which it could be seen for a long distance. At the four corners of the monument are statuary representing the four corners of the earth—Europe, Asia, Africa and America. Around the foot of the statue in bass relief as a frieze are noted poets, statesmen, inventors, painters, sculptors, etc.

Entering Kensington Gardens we saw a fine sitting statue of Queen Victoria. Passing beautiful sunken gardens and under a picturesque canopy of growing Linden saplings we came to Kensington Palace. Here Queen Victoria was born. In the part of the Palace called the London Museum Annex, we went into an old cell taken from Neptune St. Jail; saw remains of an old Roman War Gallery; saw miniature models of Old London Bridge with houses built on it; Old Charing Cross, Old St. Paul's and Old Newgate Prison exact reliquas of the way they looked before the great fire. In the London Museum, the main part of Kensington Palace, we saw Queen Mary's Gallery with its magnificent collection of rare old china, one piece being the largest piece of Chelsea china in existence; here too we saw old gowns and the rich coronation robes of the present queen and king, also the Queen's wedding dress. In Queen Victoria's bed room we saw the numerous toys and dolls which she had when a child. A large collection of dolls which she and the ladies of her court dressed was interesting.

We then drove past the barracks of the King's body guard, the French Ambassador's house, a large square yellow house; St. James' Park, Middlesex Hospital, a very large building; saw a pretty circular private park which belonged to the pretty homes that bordered it, and stopped for a short time at the British Museum. Here we went into a room with busts of all the Roman Emperors. We saw the original and only genuine Rosetta Stone, original fragments of the Frieze of the Parthenon; the Egyptian Room with rare old mummies and sarcophagi and a cast of the Moabite Stone. In another room we saw rare old books, one being the first printed by Wm. Caxton in 1476. Here could be found collections of postage stamps of all countries in convenient cases. From here we drove through an interesting section of the city back to our hotel for dinner.

In the evening we took a short walk in quest of excitement and souvenirs and found both. Saw the Royal Carriage with gaily liveried horses and grooms and other fine carriages as a state ball was in progress that evening.

Saturday, July 6, 1912.—Fair and warm. Through the kindness of James B. Duke, of Raritan, a friend of Miss McWilliams, our Plainfield party was given a rare treat. Mr. Duke loaned us his grand seven-seated Rolls-Royce touring car with his English chauffeur, Mr. Croker, for the whole day to go where we liked. I think there is nothing in London worth seeing that we didn't have pointed out to us; as Mr. Croker is an authority on London and vicinity. The "Plainfield Six" started out royally at 9 o'clock, the envy of the entire Cook party.

We saw too many things to go into detail about each so will enumerate only those that appealed to me particularly. We crossed Trafalgar Square with its beautiful fountain; saw Admiralty Arch and Admiralty Building, with its wireless that controls the movements of the British Fleet; through the Strand with its interesting shops, Charing Cross, through the theatre section, saw the Savoy and Cecil Hotels, the most fashionable in London; Waldorf-Astoria, which reminded us of dear old New York; saw the Palace of Justice, down Fleet street where all the big newspapers are printed, saw St. Paul's in the distance and stopped at Cook's main office in Ludgate Circus. From there we crossed Blackfriars Bridge and rode along the beautiful Thames embankment. We saw Temple Garden behind the sight of old Temple Bar, in which the barristers take tea with their wives and where the War of the Roses broke out; Somerset House, a large government building built on the site of the Lord Protector's Palace, where can be seen the wills of Shakespeare, Van Dyck, Newton, Johnson and Napoleon I.; went under the costly Waterloo Bridge, saw King's Chapel, Cleopatra's Needle, Scotland Yard, the wonderful detective agency; over Westminster Bridge to the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey.

Here we spent the balance of the morning in the Parliament Buildings, called Westminster Palace, and grand old Westminster Abbey. In the former we first entered the Victoria Tower and saw the King's Robing Room, the Royal Gallery with fine fresso paintings of "The Meeting of Wellington and Blucher after Waterloo," and "The Death of Nelson;" the Prince's Chamber, the House of Lords, with its splendid Gothic architecture and the Throne glowing with gold and colors and the handsomely carved panels making a grand sight; the Peer's Lobby, with its beautiful decorations; the Peers' Corridor where are the hooks with each Lord's name where his hat and coat are hung; the Central Hall, a vast room octagonal in shape with panels of the roof inlaid with Venetian glass mosaic in devices representing different countries of the United Kingdom; the House of Commons Corridor, House of Commons Lobby, House of Common's similar to that of the House of Lords but not quite so grand and with a more businesslike air; St. Stephen's Hall and below this St. Stephen's Crypt and then came out by St. Stephen's Porch.

Westminster Abbey was built on the old site of the Temple to Apollo by the Anglo-Saxon King Sebert in 616. It was destroyed by the Danes and rebuilt by Edgar 985; Edward the Confessor 1049; Henry III., and Edwar I. All the soverigns of England since Harold have been crowned here. It is England's world-renowned Temple of Fame and is crowded with monuments of Kings, heroes and scholars. Here we saw the spot where King Edward was crowned; saw the poet's corner with its inscriptions and tablets to all the great poets; visited the numerous iron-gated chapels containing beautiful carvings and tombs of kings and queens; saw the wax effigis of Queen Elizabeth and others that used to be carried at the front of the funeral procession of the dead monarch; and visited the old Westminster School founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1560. Here in wandering about we went into a class room and saw the quaint old seats, but before we had looked long one of the portly instructors bustled up to us and asked us if we would kindly leave as visitors were not allowed in that room. Saw the large clock in one of the towers called "Big Ben," which until Colgate's clock in Jersey City was built, was the largest in the world.

From Westminster Abbey we passed the Board of Trade, the barracks of the Horse Guards; St. James' Palace; through the Mall to Buckingham Palace where the Royal Family is now in residence and hence not open to the public; passed the Royal Academy of Music on Bond street and through Hanover Square, the fashionable section of the city, and thence back to our hotel for luncheon.

At 2 p. m. we started out again in our luxurious auto. This time we headed for Windsor Castle, a grand 30 mile spin. On our way we passed the Crimea Monument; the famous Auto Club; St. James' Park; St. James and Buckingham Palaces, and drove out into the King's Road, a fine road that leads to Chelsea. Passed the Chelsea Hospital; Town Hall and the London Power house, the largest in the world; St. Mark's College and near here we passed a company of boy scouts. We saw several large public schools and the beautiful home of the Bishop of London in a fine park. Soon we crossed over a high bridge into Putney. At this bridge the big Oxford and Cambridge boat races start. In a picturesque church just beyond the bridge we saw a bridal party leaving after the marriage ceremony. Passed through streets lined with handsome residences and saw a large cricket field on Wimpleton Common.

Soon we drove through Richmond Park. This is a beautiful natural park abounding with grand old oaks and beautiful tall brakes and ferns. We saw flocks of deer and children playing "hide and seek" among the ferns; queer flat topped evergreen trees were also interesting. On a small cottage, just outside the park we read the sign, "Chimney Sweep to His Majesty." The cottages along here were exceedingly picturesque with beautiful flower gardens everywhere.

Next we rode through beautiful Bushy Park, where we saw grand big chestnut trees and lots of deer. This park is public but belongs to Hampton Court Palace. Here we saw rosy cheeked English children at play and we all noted that they were less lively and boisterous than American youngsters.

We alighted from the auto and entered Hampton Court by the Lion Gates, passing through the most beautiful gardens I ever saw. Here heliotrope grew in bushes up to our shoulders with clusters of blossoms as big as one's hand, gorgeous fushias, and almost every kind of flower grew in profusion. The Great Fountain Garden was a grand sight with the beautiful fountain in the centre.

Miss Maude Smith, of South Plainfield, a nurse who has been in Maine with Miss Abbie Mellick, of East Seventh street, has returned home. Miss Mellick has been ill a long time, but is slowly improving.

Every Thursday During August This Store Will Be Closed All Day

THREE YEARS AGO we took the initiative in closing our store all day Thursday. It's initiative any way that lifts this store above the plane of the just ordinary shops.

For years we have watched our faithful salesforce—some of whom have worked diligently and conscientiously in this same building for over 25 years, plodding thru the week and late into Saturday night, in the enervating heat of midsummer; just custom, of course. But the awakening came; and it was our pleasure to see the smiling, happy faces of our faithful ones as they left the store Wednesday evenings conscious of a whole day's rest or recreation before them, a thoughtful opportunity for them to recuperate for the week end's rush of business. Then it was a humane innovation, now a fixed principle in this store's Progressive Policy and program of welfare work—the work of living, feeling, breathing men who cannot hide the Almighty Right behind the lure of the Almighty Dollar.

Surely there is a true law of compensation and like true sons of the soil, we are sowing seeds in the hearts of our public, of our helpers and those closest to them; seeds that shall blossom forth into golden fruit; and in the growing and the harvesting we shall find real happiness, and so when we come to lay down our labors our hearts will beat fast at the Angelus' tolls of "Well Done."

Thursday was chosen because we considered it the most suitable day to both our public and employes—practically all the trips and excursions being run that day.

There are five Thursday in August—1st, 8th, 15th, 22d and 29th. Remember the store will be closed on each of those days—all day long.

We Start the Week with a

Special Sale Children's Underwear

An opportunity for Mothers to save considerably on the little one's White Wear.

One of the big manufacturers from whom we purchase our children's undermuslins had this lot of junior garments on hand and offered them to us below their worth. We couldn't resist such a big bargain, so here they are and marked at the same ratio below their real worth. And every garment is splendidly made and finished, and of exceptional quality materials—just like the garments you always secure here; in fact in several instances we could get twice the sum we've marked them at, if we priced them at their real worth. Quantities are limited in most instances, so come early.

NEW SURETY RESTORES LIBERTY TO T. M. GIBBS

New Brunswick, July 30.—Frank M. McDermit came here from Newark Saturday afternoon with a new bondsman for Tyler M. Gibbs, held on a charge of bigamy. Gibbs was released from the Middlesex County Jail, where he had been incarcerated since his former bondsman, Justice of the Peace John C. La Faucherie, of Belleville, surrendered him.

The new surety is Luigi Doniello, of Cutler street, Newark, owning property at 34 Sixth avenue. He qualified in bail to the amount of $2,500. Gibbs accompanied his counsel and bondsman out of the city. The second wife of Gibbs, formerly Miss Bennett, of Metuchen, is now at Asbury Park, it is said.

DENY PRISONERS WERE ON ELIZABETH FORCE

Highlands, July 30.—Following denials by Elizabeth's chief of police, George C. Tenney, that any member of his department was arrested here last Thursday, on the occasion of their annual excursion, an investigation was made.

The men arrested said they were William Doyle and William Lee. The policeman who made the arrests reiterated his original story that both men said at the time of their arrest that they were patrolmen connected with the Elizabeth department. "Doyle" was fined $2 by Mayor A. L. Reed for "improper dancing," and "Lee" was held by the Mayor for the action of the Monmouth county authorities, charged with resisting a policeman. At the hearing it was testified that both men had been drinking.

Elizabeth, July 30.—Chief of Police Tenney not only denies that any of his men were arrested at the Highlands, but says that no one on the Elizabeth force bears the names given by the prisoners taken there.

MARY BARBUTO.

Child, Whose Mutilated Body Was Found in the River.

Twenty little girls, friends of eight-year-old Mary Barbuto, the murdered child of the tenement in Union street, Brooklyn, attended the funeral of their playmate. The child mourners, all wearing their white communion dresses, passed through a long line of the curious on their way to the tiny room where lay a cheap white coffin. Detectives are hopeful of running down the murderer.

SEEKING MURDERER OF MISS SNODGRASS

Police Are Convinced That Pretty Nurse Was Slain.

Catskill, N. Y., July 30.—That Miss Dorcas Ijams Snodgrass, the missing Mount Vernon trained nurse, whose decomposed body was found in the shallow waters of Dubois' creek, was killed by poison and her body thrown from a boat, is the theory on which the Catskill police set to work to clear up the baffling mystery. The body of Miss Snodgrass, who disappeared on July 17, was positively identified by marks on her clothing.

Miss Snodgrass' hat was found in the marshes 100 feet from the place where her body was found. The hat pins had not been removed, showing that the hat had been torn violently, the police say, from the young woman's head.

Physicians announced that the body is so badly decomposed that it will be impossible to perform an autopsy that will determine accurately whether the young woman was alive or dead before the body entered the water.

Catskill police started to work on the theory that Miss Snodgrass had been enticed aboard some yacht on the Hudson, probably in New York city, and had been either drugged or slain on board and her body disposed of in Dubois creek.

GRAND VIZIER'S PROBLEM.

He's Trying to Dissolve Turkish Parliament in a Legal Way.

Constantinople, July 30.—The grand vizier is trying to find a legal way of dissolving parliament as demanded by the Military league, which says that the chamber is packed with Young Turks, but it is likely that parliament will resist being dissolved.

London, July 30.—Advices received here state that the insurrection in Albania is spreading.

Practically the whole of the skub army corps and part of the Monastir army corps are either joining the Albanians or refusing to engage them in battle.

JAPAN MOURNING MIKADO'S DEATH

Beloved by Populace, Whose Grief Is Intense.

GREAT CROWD AT PALACE

When News of Demise Is Announced Hush Falls on Multitude—Photographers Who Attempt to Take Flashlight of Scene Are Handled Roughly.

Tokyo, July 30.—The death of the emperor has cast a pall over the nation. Everywhere the people are displaying their grief. Another mourner has committed suicide. He left a written declaration to the effect that he had sacrificed his life for his emperor.

The moment the death of the emperor was announced the spaces around the imperial palace were filled with thousands of the populace of Tokyo. They were praying for the recovery of their beloved ruler.

Here and there in the vicinity of the palace was an improvised and rudely constructed altar at which a priest was leading at prayers. The hush was tense; nothing was spoken except the prayers of a priest here and there among the crowds. The only other sounds were the rasping movements of feet as the mourners arrived and departed and the shouts of the newsboys in the distance selling papers calling the physicians' bulletins in glaring headlines. The scenes were similar to those of the previous night when the mourners had crowded the palace grounds.

The scene commanded the respect of all and the reverence for the emperor held by the Japanese was manifested when the people resented the attempt of two photographers to make a flashlight photograph of the palace. The unlucky men were severely stoned and driven away.

Sketch of Emperor's Life.

One day in September, 1872, while private and official Japan was in an uproar of protest against building a little line of railroad eighteen miles long between Tokyo and Yokohama and was protesting so bitterly against this ungodly innovation of the foreign devils that even the military authorities months before had refused to permit a survey through a part of Tokyo, the Emperor Mutsuhito, then in the twentieth year of his life and in the fourth year of his reign, startled Japan with another innovation.

The emperor took the matter in hand personally and amazed Japan by publicly presiding at the opening ceremonies of the first railroad Japan was to see. Whereupon open opposition to railroad building suddenly ceased. Mutsuhito was the only ruler, and doubtless will be the only ruler, who lived to see a country during a single reign springing from the trammels of mediaeval primitiveness to a place among the first nations of the world in military and domestic science. Until a year after the emperor was born Japan not only was without a navy or merchant marine, but she still boasted of a national law which absolutely prohibited her people in their "superb seclusion" to build an ocean going ship.

The isolation of court life affected the emperor even more than the isolation of the Vatican is said to affect Pius X. Mutsuhito was born up in the mountains of Kioto, and he early learned to love trees and open air there and is said to have longed for the hills until the end.

He was the one hundred and twenty-first of his line, according to Japanese history, which holds that it runs back to 660 B. C., or to the days of the great Mikado Jimmu. Mutsuhito, whose name literally translated means "gentleman," was the second son of the Emperor Osahito.

When he was crowned at Osaka on Oct. 31, 1868, the country was on the verge of being torn asunder as a result of the bitterness, partly political, partly commercial, partly religious and largely superstitious, which arose after Commodore Perry had unfolded to Japan the glories of the occidental civilization. Civil war, even the possible loss of his throne, confronted this sixteen-year-old monarch.

The agitations were at their height when Mutsuhito and his advisers began rapidly to mature a plan which in turn was to lead the way to the assumption by the emperor of direct personal rule, and as a step in this direction Mutsuhito transferred his capital from Kioto to Yeddo, where the shogun government formerly had held forth. Mutsuhito added force to the event by changing the name of the new capital to Tokyo, or eastern capital.

He Puts Down Rebellion.

He went back to the old capital in 1869, but only for a visit that had a sentimental side as well as a political. There he married Princess Haruko—"Springtime"—who is a daughter of Ichijo Tadaka, a noble of the first rank.

In the year of his marriage, and after he had been crowned at Osaka on Oct. 31, 1868, Mutsuhito showed his people that he was sincere in his reforms by listing a number of them.

FREE BAND CONCERTS.

Americans in Europe are surprised and favorably impressed by the scheme of giving open air band concerts in the larger cities during the summer at the government's expense. These concerts afford an enjoyable entertainment, particularly for the poorer classes and for those who find little opportunity for pleasure during the warm nights of the season of the year. That they are highly popular is attested by the immense crowds that gather in the public parks where concerts are being held.

But one need not cite European cities as places where the authorities recognize that free band concerts are given, for right here in America there are many, many cities that have long since emulated the Continental idea and not only in the great municipalities like New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, but in countless small communities is the plan in force, and is extremely popular with the masses.

Recently Elizabeth's governing body appropriated a fund to meet the expenses of a series of concerts to be held there during August. Why should not Plainfield do likewise? Time was when we all enjoyed the Saturday night band feasts at City Park. Then the money was contributed voluntarily by citizens. But there is no reason why a few private citizens should be called upon for this purpose. Goodness knows, they give enough now and to all sorts of good purposes. The city itself, however, should do something. In fact, it should do all. There is, we submit, just as much good argument why the municipality should use public funds for band concerts as for trimming shade trees, keeping parks in order and scores of other perfectly proper purposes.

It is not too late now to arrange for a series of free concerts for August.

After carefully perusing Chairman Hilles' explanation about those contested delegates, which was given such publicity yesterday, we failed to find why the popular primary vote which gave Mr. Roosevelt a majority of 8,000 in the State of Washington was entirely ignored in sending delegates to the convention. It is easy enough to twist language to suit the occasion and Mr. Hilles has done very well. Also, in his explanation of the Arizona contests, he fails to call attention to the fact that in one popular primary held in that State, pursuant ot the call of the Republican State Committee, out of a total vote of 971 cast in a county, Mr. Roosevelt had 951, Mr. Taft 11 and 9 were scattering, and the 971 votes were equal to the number ever cast at a Republican primary in that county. If that primary had not been overridden in the State convention in exactly the same manner the will of the people was overridden by the Republican bosses in the National convention, Mr. Roosevelt would have had the Arizona delegates, to which he was entitled for every honest reason. Mr. Hilles' statements in these two cases are so at variance with the true facts that they discount those cases where he may have been justified in claiming that Mr. Taft was entitled to the delegates.

Were it not for the good work of the New York Herald, in all probability Commissioner Waldo would still be engaged in writing to "My Dear Mr. Mayor" and his fossilized superior would be dictating assinine orders to "My Dear Mr. Commissioner" and at the same time the Rosenthal murder mystery would be unsolved. In this day enterprising newspapers do much of the work that it is the sworn duty of public officials to discharge and particularly is this the case in big cities where the authorities are either rotten morally or inefficient mentally. In this instance, the Herald ferreted out the names of three of the alleged murderers while the police slept and as a result along with the rest, Lieut. Becker, who was on duty under the protection of Gaynor, is behind the bars charged with murder. That strange specimen of humanity, Gaynor, may as well continue his ravings against the public press which has displayed before the limelight of public opinion what manner of man he is as long as the newspapers he wickedly assails, particularly the Herald, are doing what he is paid to do.

In yesterday's issue we made an appeal for the Baby Camp, conducted by the City Union of the King's Daughters, and today we received $10 from "A Friend" and $5 from "Friend." So we are going to repeat our appeal, hoping that tomorrow's mails will bring an equivalent amount. Every penny contributed to the cause is devoted to current expenses and as it costs more than $12 a day to run the institution, we would like to hear from those who will defray the expenses for a single day. Contributions sent to the Daily Press will be promptly acknowledged and sent at once to the Camp committee.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the most conspicuous equal suffragist in New York, gives it as her opinion that the English suffragettes are pursuing the right course in advancing their cause by smashing windows. But American advocates of "Votes for Women," fortunately, are not to be held accountable for Mrs. Belmont's views.

Now that Becker has been held for murder he has actually been suspended from the New York police force. The very idea!

Arthur Brisbane is to wed. Now, that's what comes from editing Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poems.

MAYOR VETOES COUNCIL'S ACT.
New Brunswick, July 30.—Mayor John J. Morrison has disapproved the resolution adopted by Common Council recognizing Cornelius McCrellis as street commissioner and has returned it to that board without his signature. The Mayor questions the wisdom of the procedure, fearing it will get the city into a legal entanglement. Action on the veto will be taken next Monday night. Last January Abraham Jelin was ousted as street commissioner and McCrellis elected in his place. Jelin carried the matter to the courts on a writ of certiorari, claiming his term had not expired. The Supreme Court recently dismissed the writ, holding quo waranto proceedings should have been taken. The Common Council has received no official notice of the case being dismissed, but the board voted to recognize McCrellis. The Mayor is opposed to the step.

Her Discourse.
"My dear," mildly expostulated her husband, "I said only half a dozen words and you have talked about them for forty-five minutes."

New Jersey cannot cease from troubling over the reciprocity situation, and the fear that stray motorists, probably from New York, are overstaying the fifteen-day free touring limit distresses the Jerseymen greatly. Only a short time ago the Motor Vehicle Commissioner in New Jersey, Job Lippincott, framed a bill so that garage keepers would be obliged to keep registry lists of all cars that came to them. As this has to wait upon the action of the State Legislature, Commissioner Lippincott has gone further.

He has had lists made up of numbers on foreign cars that are known to have exceeded the fifteen-day limit and copies of these lists have been given to his inspectors, with instructions that these machines whenever sighted shall be stopped and the owners compelled to take out New Jersey licenses.

"In addition to this," says Commissioner Lippincott, "the department has established arrangements with automobile departments of other States, whereby a list of the numbers used by such States are forwarded to us, with the names and addresses of owners. A letter is sent to the address if the owner is found to have exceeded our fifteen-day touring privilege requesting that he comply immediately with the motor vehicle law of this State and procure a regular New Jersey license.

"If after a reasonable time this request is not complied with the department places these numbers in the hands of the inspectors with instructions that summary arrests be made. The fact that this scheme has shown practical results proved that the fifteen-day touring privilege can be fairly well enforced in this State. The great handicap is the lack of a proper number of inspectors to make reports and do the necessary detail work of enforcement."

Speaking further of New Jersey, there is a motorcycle policeman at the summit of Fort Lee hill who hides behind the grocery store at the top and pops out to arrest those who are going too fast up the hill. That's a grade not many will offend on. This "trapper" is there in addition to the more obvious motorcyclist who patrols from Edgewater to Fort Lee.

Cabled word came to the Automobile Club of America recently that a team of three Peugeot cars might come over for the American Grand Prize race in September. Boillot, who drove the winning Peugeot in the French Grand Prix, is expected to be one of the three drivers for this team. This information was forwarded to the Automobile Dealers Association in Milwaukee, which is handling the road races.

Horace de Lisser, chairman of the board of directors of the Ajax-Grieb Rubber Company, sails today for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. He will be away about two months and will employ his time making arrangements to establish an Ajax tire factory abroad.

For the race meet at Elgin in August two of the drivers who are likely to compete are Bruce-Brown and DePalma. The former already has entered, but the car he will drive isn't sure. DePalma is bringing a new Mercedes over to this country and probably will handle that in the free for all. The Mercer is going to enter several cars at Elgin and De Palma also will likely drive one of these.

E. A. Moross, manager for Bob Burman, yesterday made his final payment on the 300 horse-power Blitzen Benz. The car was at once shipped to Cleveland, where it will make its first trial. The price is said to have been $17,000. Burman will try to lower his present world's record for a mile track at North Randall after the grand circuit horses get through.

MISS IDA J. WARD.
Elizabeth, July 30.—Ida J. Ward, aged twenty-four years, died Sunday of tuberculosis at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ward, 443 Fulton street, Elizabeth. She was a member of the Fulton Street Methodist Episcopal church and was in the employ of the American Umbrella Company here until taken sick. Rev. William Jones, pastor of the Fulton Street church, will conduct the funeral this afternoon at the house. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

DEFEAT SCHOOL PROPOSITION.
Whitehouse, July 30.—Voters of Readington Township, at a meeting in Whitehouse Station, defeated a proposition to raise $25,000 for the erection of a central school here. The vote was 272 to 60. The proposed school was to take the place of five buildings now in use. Several of them have been condemned by the State Board of Education, and it is expected that the others will be also put under the ban. Former Sheriff John T. Cox, of Three Bridges, was chairman and Charles E. Cornell, also of Three Bridges, secretary. Linder Swackhamer, of Whitehouse, and John Painter, of Three Bridges, were tellers.

ELIZABETHPORT HOUSE BURNED
Elizabeth, July 30.—A fire started Saturday afternoon at the residence of Joseph Bolerius, 238 Court street, Elizabethport. The greater part of the roof was destroyed and the interior of the building damaged by water. The loss was about $800. The house is owned by Mary Castle, of 338 First avenue, Elizabeth.

TRAIL SHACKLED BURGLAR.
Metuchen, July 30.—Detectives on the trail of the burglar that escaped several days ago from the police, after being captured, shot and handcuffed report that they are hot on the man's trail. They expect to arrest him before the middle of this week. There is a reward for him dead or alive.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The Kitchen Cupboard

FILLETS OF SOLE.

THE true sole is a European fish. In this country some varieties of flounders which resemble it are sold as soles. Among these is California flounder, which in most respects is equal to the real sole.

The fillets of fish are the flesh taken from each side of the backbone and served in strips either whole or divided.

Flounders, bass and chicken halibut are nice served this way. Sometimes the fish is split open, the backbone taken out and the flesh rolled up and fastened with a skewer.

To cook the sole or flounders you may proceed as directed by the following recipes:

Simple Recipes.

Soles In Gravy.—Fillet the soles and stew the bones for stock. Fry the soles in egg and breadcrumbs; mix the stock with some butter and a little pepper and salt; thicken with flour; bring the fish in to boil about three or four minutes and serve.

Fried Soles.—Take a pair of nice fresh soles and fillet them. Dry and sprinkle the inside with pepper, salt and powdered lemon peel; roll up, fasten with a skewer so that each is a little roll. Dredge with flour, dip into egg, dredge again with flour and fry in deep fat. When nicely browned drain and serve on a dish garnished with sliced lemon and parsley. Serve with white sauce poured around the rolls.

Two Kinds of Fish.

Sole With Lobster Stuffing.—Fillet a large sole and cut each fillet across in half. Wash and sprinkle each with a little cayenne and anchovy sauce. Chop some canned lobster very fine and season with salt, cayenne and mace.

Have ready some rich white sauce, put in the lobster and simmer for a few minutes, adding at the last a squeeze of lemon juice. When cool put a teaspoonful of this mixture on each fillet, roll and tie with thread. Arrange the sole carefully in a steamer on a piece of greased paper and cook till tender.

Stew the fish bones in half a pint of milk till a good stock is obtained. Strain, season and thicken with white roux and the remains of the minced lobster. Dish up the fillets, pour the sauce over and garnish with cut lemon, parsley and lobster coral to taste.

ON THE WING.

Don't Wear a Basque if You Are Short and Very Stout.

Basques are gradually creeping into favor for blouses and bodices of summer frocks, but they really look well on those women who are tall and slender and are best avoided if you are short and inclined to be fleshy.

Last season's craze for dead white hats is not likely to be revived, but very smart are the hats in light tan and putty colored straws trimmed with black and a touch of bright color. Avoid wearing a light hat with a dark gown if you would be really well dressed. To do so somehow gives one an unbalanced look that certainly is not becoming.

Girls find smoothly fitting underwear necessary to present fashions, and this plain gathered petticoat is an excellent one.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut for girls of eight, ten and twelve years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7501, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

FASHION'S WHIM.

The Telescope Parasol Correct Caper Nowadays.

THE SPORTY SUMMER SUNSHADE.

This new parasol looks like a cane and gives the smart summer costume a dandified and sporty appearance.

An ivory case which folds like a telescope protects the long slender parasol.

THE NEW SKIRT LINE.

It Is Becoming to Women Who Can't Stand Straight Severity.

It looks very much as though the straight line of the skirt from waist to ankle was to be broken. Every one knows that the pannier did this in a certain measure, and even it was a sensational form of the Grecian tunic. Frocks of soft material used for afternoon and evening departed from the straight line long ago, which means months ago in the vernacular of fashion, but today the cloth skirt for the street is taking curves and turns to itself.

For two years it has been quite content to be straight and narrow. It is still narrow. One often thinks it is narrower than ever this summer, for extreme women have gone to the extreme in this particular, but one manages now to break up the straight line in all sorts of quaint and curious ways.

Take, for instance, a new model in a dark blue serge skirt—that thin summer serge that women are wearing on all days except the sultry ones. It has a skirt with a panel down middle of front which is rounded at the hem and bound with braid. The back is quite straight and well fitting over the corset, but its sides, which are much longer than they should be, are plaited up to the right length along the edge of the front panel.

GIRL'S STUNNING SUIT.

This is an exceedingly good skirt. It is becoming to women who cannot stand the severity of the thin straight lines, and it is not a difficult skirt to achieve at home. It promises to be popular, for one sees a good many sketches of it, and the tailors in town are already making it. The girl's suit pictured is a smart little model for midsummer wear.

Mrs. Longworth's Bang.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth has adopted a bang and is proud of it. It is short and fluffy and wavy and fastens to her hair under her soft pompadour by two long pins. Mrs. Longworth is telling her friends that since the Chicago convention she fully decided that her high brow needed concealing, and so on went the bang.

Whether in the stress and excitement of the convention she tugged at her front locks or not she does not say.

The bang is becoming to Mrs. Longworth. She wears it most simply, and the bang is the only bit of artificial hair Mrs. Longworth has ever worn.

Sweeping Matting.

When sweeping matting, to avoid tearing the fabric, slip a covering of flannel over the broom. The flannel will take up the dust easily and will save the matting much wear.

ORIENTAL STYLES FOLLOWED IN MODISH JEWELRY DESIGNS.

NEW PEARL ORNAMENTS.

JEWELRY is fashionable this season, and many pretty ornaments made of artificial gems, such as the seed pearls pictured here, are not disdained even by women whose purses permit them to indulge in more expensive decorations. The ornaments are designed in imitation of oriental jewelry, the decoration for the hair being mounted on a heavy gold chain and falling over the forehead. The earrings and necklace are of pearls combined with artificial amethysts.

ABOUT HAPPINESS.

When unhappy consider that—

Happiness is the best beautifier.

The happy woman is generally regarded as a pretty woman.

The happy woman is almost always sweet tempered and unselfish.

Happiness may be cultivated: always strive to see the silver linings in ugly clouds.

In making others happy you may be happy yourself.

True happiness comes from within and is something more than a temporary ebullition of animal spirits.

Many a "begger maid" is happier than a princess. Circumstances have nothing to do with happiness.

Leg o' Lamb.

In choosing a leg of lamb the thick short legs are the best. The butcher can take out the bone. The cavity can then be filled with forcemeat.

SHIRT WAIST BAGS.

A Convenient Way of Keeping the Garments Neat.

If the supply of shirt waists is kept in a box or a drawer the entire stock must usually be gone over each time that one of the garments is needed, but if a bag is provided for each one of the garments the fingers need not come into actual contact with any of them until the time comes for wearing it.

A half yard of white cambric folded once widewise makes a bag sufficiently large to accommodate the fluffiest of lingerie blouses, provided that the receptacle has a boxed bottom made by shirring the two sides on to an oblong strip of cloth measuring 2 by 10 inches.

At the top or mouth the bag is turned under to the depth of two inches, so that when the drawstring shirrings are run in there will be a narrow frill finishing.

Any blouse which is ever so slightly starched can be placed almost flat in one of these bags, but one that is of net or voile must be braced with tissue paper, as otherwise the materials will fall into creases and become shapeless.

FREAKISH BATHING GOWNS WORN BY THE SUMMER GIRL.

THE smart bathing costume is made along radical lines, as may be seen by a glance at the illustration. One costume whose convenience cannot be gainsaid has a divided skirt. The pose shown in the picture is, of course, in order to show the cut of the garment, but when the panel in front and the companion panel in the rear fall in place it is very discreet in appearance. The suit is made of waterproofed white satin and trimmed with satin in dark blue. The other bathing dress, which is cut along more conventional lines, is built of red satin foulard in various shades. The tucked bodice and puffed sleeves are very pretty, and the square neck is finished with a band of plain material that enhances the whiteness of the skin.

PROPOSALS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT WORK.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Committee on County Roads of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, at 3 p. m., on Tuesday, July 30, 1912, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., for the following described work:

Construction of Westfield Avenue Extension, from Old Westfield Avenue, to Morris Avenue, in the Township of Springfield, being about 0.348 miles in length, with Macadam or Bituminous Concrete pavement.

The items of the work are as follows:
Excavation, 553 cubic yards.
Embankment, extra 5972 cubic yards.
Road Foundations, 3711 square yards.
Road Surface, 3889 square yards.
12-inch cast iron pipe, 36 lineal feet.
Bridge No. 1, complete.
Bridge No. 2, complete.
Cobble Stone Gutters, 10 square yards.
Tile Underdrains, 100 lineal feet.

An alternate bid will also be received, based upon a different cross-section of pavement, as set forth clearly in the plans and specifications.

Plans, cross-sections, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the State Commissioner of Public Roads, State House, Trenton, N. J., and also at the office of the County Engineer, 120 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J. Bidders may secure copies of the plans and specifications by leaving a deposit of $10.00 with the County Engineer, as a guarantee that the same will be returned.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $1,000.00, made payable to the County Collector, as a guarantee of good faith, as set forth in section 15 of the specifications for the work.

The right is reserved by the Committee on County Roads and the State Commissioner of Public Roads, to reject any or all bids, as may be deemed best for the interests of the County of Union and the State of New Jersey.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Committee on County Roads of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, at 3 p. m., on Tuesday, July 30, 1912, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., for the following described work:

Improvement of Springfield Avenue, from Morris Avenue to Essex County Line, in the Townships of Springfield and Union, being about 1.766 miles in length.

The items of the work are as follows:
Excavation, 1570 cubic yards.
Road Surface, 19636 square yards.
Crushed Stone, 2780 tons.
Cleaning and Scraping Gutters, 1000 lineal feet.
Extension of Bridge at station 47x47.
Stone-Block Gutters, 2080 square yards.

An alternate bid will also be received, based upon a different cross-section of pavement, as set forth clearly in the plans and specifications.

Plans, cross-sections, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the State Commissioner of Public Roads, State House, Trenton, N. J., and also at the office of the County Engineer, 120 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J. Bidders may secure copies of the plans and specifications by leaving a deposit of $10.00 with the County Engineer, as a guarantee that the same will be returned.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $1,000.00, made payable to the County Collector, as a guarantee of good faith, as set forth in section 15 of the specifications for the work.

The right is reserved by the Committee on County Roads and the State Commissioner of Public Roads, to reject any or all bids, as may be deemed best for the interests of the County of Union and the State of New Jersey.

JACOB L. BAUER, County Engineer.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise was given to Frank Somlack, president of the Plainfield John III. Sobieski Society on Sunday afternoon when about one hundred and fifty members travelled out to his home near Potter station and presented him with a silver loving cup suitably inscribed. The inscription is as follows: "Presented in July, 1912, by the members of the Sobieski Society of Plainfield to Frank Somlack for invaluable services rendered to the Society." There was plenty of speechmaking and congratulations were tendered to Mr. Somlack on the attainment of his thirty-fifth anniversary which fell on Sunday.

Princess Mary, Daughter of England's Rulers

PRINCESS MARY, who recently celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of her birth, is being brought up on more liberal lines than those hitherto followed in the upbringing of the princesses of the English royal family. The main idea of the old system was to teach a child that her essential duty was to yield implicit and unquestioning obedience to those put in authority over her. This was the old Victorian idea. The Princess Mary, however, has been from her earliest years allowed considerable liberty of action, the general idea being to allow her character, disposition and intelligence to develop in an atmosphere as free as possible from artificial restraint. This is essentially a modern notion, and its results have been extremely gratifying to the king and queen, for the little princess both mentally and physically is in advance of her years and is happy in the possession of the sweetest of tempers and most generous of dispositions.

When she was four years old she entered the royal schoolroom and began her education in charge of a governess. All the royal children are brought up to speak French and German as well as English, and by the time she was eight years old the princess had become a very passable linguist. Not long since at an entertainment at Buckingham palace the princess was complimented by the French ambassador on the fluent manner in which she conversed with him in his own language.

Lessons in the royal schoolroom at Marlborough House begin at 6:30 a. m. in the summer and 7 a. m. in the winter. There is an hour's instruction before breakfast, two hours subsequently until noon and two hours in the afternoon. The princess has her own governess and masters, but all her instruction is carried out under the supervision of Professor Ezekiel Hansell, who is in charge of the royal schoolroom.

Special attention is given to instructing the royal children in English history, and part of her education in which Princess Mary takes a special interest consists in regular visits to the British museum, taken in company with her brothers, to inspect original documents of great historical importance which she finds mentioned in the course of her studies.

The king and queen, by the way, are great believers in the benefits to be derived from plenty of outdoor exercise and recreation, and the princess has been freely allowed to develop her love of all outdoor sports. She is a very keen little sportswoman. Indeed, there are few forms of outdoor sports and pastimes in which she has not acquired some proficiency.

How to Boil Ham.

Dr. E. W. Magruder of the Virginia state department of agriculture, the great authority on curing hams and bacon, is quoted in a bulletin of the United States department of agriculture as giving the following directions for boiling a ham: "A large ham — say eighteen pounds— is much better flavored, sweeter and more juicy than a small one—say under eight pounds. Wash the ham thoroughly, then soak in cold water several hours, the time varying with the size of the ham. This soaking is to dissolve out the excess of salt. The ham is then put in a boiler full of boiling water. The temperature should then be lowered slightly and the boiler just kept simmering. Keep the water just barely boiling for four and one-half hours for an eighteen pound ham—that is, a quarter of an hour for each pound of ham."

TO ASK FOR INCREASE IN STATE ROAD FUND

An effort is to be made today by the County Road committee of the Board of Freeholders to have Colonel Stevens, State Road Commissioner, increase Union county's share of the State automobile money.

According to notice received from the commissioner last week, the freeholders will get $20,000 from this fund for this year. At that time it was explained that owing to the recently passed automobile reciprocity bill, which allows cars from other States to enter without cost of license as formerly, the revenue to the fund was greatly diminished. As a result Union county's proportion this year was$ 10,000 less than last.

In view of the mileage of hard surface roads in this county, all of which have been put down by the present Board of Freeholders, they feel that their record entitles the county to a larger amount. Twenty-five miles of the sixty-five maintained by the county are all roads of this character and it is planned to extend it further.

The committeemen feel that with $5,000 additional from this fund the work would be greatly expedited and the county's share would be more nearly equitable.

TO REPRESENT JERSEY AT K. OF C. CONVENTION

The New Jersey State Council of the Knights of Columbus will be represented at the National convention in Colorado Springs, Col., August 6, 7 and 8, by the following delegates: James J. Hopkins, of Jersey City; William L. Doyle, of Trenton; William Smith, Jersey City; John J. Hickey, of Bayonne; Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne; Cornelious A. McGlennon, of East Newark, and Edward J. O'Brien, of Newark.

Leaving Newark via the Pennsylvania Railroad Thursday they will make stops at Pittsburgh, Chicago and Denver before arriving at the convention city on Monday. After the convention several of them will complete the trip to the coast and will not return until August 31. It is expected that the convention will be the largest in the history of the order. Every State will be represented in addition to delegates from Canada, New Foundland, Cuba, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rica.

ATTRACTIVE AUCTION SALE.

SIGNS WITH HIGHLANDERS.

Jersey Boy Seventeen Years Old Gets Chance In Big League.

Hackensack, N. J., July 30.—George Lowe, a pitcher for the Young Men's club of Ridgefield Park, has signed a contract with the New York Highlanders and will report at the grounds Aug. 14 to get a tryout.

Next spring he will go south with the team and if he makes good will receive a regular berth. Lowe is only seventeen years old, is a high school boy and is one of the best pitchers in the county. He is of quiet disposition and is cool on the mound.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Well, as we have contributed the first game of the new series to Bound Brook, it will be up to the locals to even matters up at the next meeting and make a third one of these contests necessary.

You have to give Bound Brook credit for, it put up the article of ball that is ticketed to win a game.

That circuit clout of Harter's in the first was one of his old timers and started the Plainfield stock soaring right in the initial round. The tide soon turned, however, and the home nine came back with seven counts in their half.

Eddie Stallings is some twirler! Well that under hand shoot of his had the Bound Brook batters standing on their heads in order to get a square look at it. He said that if any of the players got to first their teammates would have to carry them there after he was hit in the head.

Oh yes, Eddie, we know you are some twirler, but weren't you a trifle peeved over your batting average on Saturday? Slocum had the Indian sign on you and your followers all right.

Speaking of this stranger Slocum, he is getting to be a regular "Iron Man" and although he has not tried twirling two games in one day lately he has done something just as fine. During the five days up to Sunday he twirled thirty-seven innings. His record in these rounds averaged a strikeout for every inning, thirty-seven in all, and he allowed but nineteen hits. But six runs were made off his delivery and two of the games he pitched went for extra innings. The game at South River Sunday was called at the end of the sixteenth with the score a 2 to 2 tie.

Frederickson will come around all right by next week however and he will be there for another of his old time victories.

When asked yesterday why he lost the game Freddy replied, "Well, it was this way, every time a Bound Brook player hit the ball it became lodged in one of the tomato cans in the outfield and the fielders could not get it out before the runner scored."

Frank Evans is beginning to make a name for himself in the big show around these parts just at present. He was the whole show at third for the South River team Sunday afternoon and accepted nine chances without an error.

And we are still hearing about that Spicer outing that was held on Staten Island Saturday.

Several faces were missing about town Saturday night and Sunday. The majority of them got home Saturday night however—but?

Well! cheer up there will be a lot more baseball Saturdays such as we were handed last week.

Somebody must have slipped the weather man a ten dollar bill.

Just at the close of the game it began to cloud up. Later in the evening rain began to fall. Narrow escape.

PARK GOLF CLUB CADDIES DEFEAT WESTFIELD CADDIES

The caddies of the Park Golf Club had a four-man team match yesterday with the caddies from the Westfield Golf Club on the Park Club links. The local caddies won the match. The closest match was between W. P. Taylor and Michael Comisky, which the latter won on the eighteenth green. He got a 43, 44—87. Taylor's score was 45, 46—91. The teams paired up as follows:

'PLAINS VS. PROVIDENCE.

Manager Joe Alberts, of the Scotch Plains baseball team, has recovered from his recent attack of appendicitis, and is again on the job signing up games for his nine that has been idle most of the time since his illness. He has completed negotiations with the New Providence ball nine for a game at that place next Saturday afternoon and will have his same old following on the diamond.

GAMES WANTED.

After remaining practically unheard of for the last season the South Plainfield A. C. baseball team has again sprung into the baseball limelight and with a reorganized team are on the trail of some good amateur aggregation to sign up for next Saturday or Sunday afternoon. All communications should be addressed to A. L. McDonough, 124 Randolph road.

PLAN NEW LEAGUE WHEN SERIES END

Manufacturers to Have Basketball Combination at Conclusion of Baseball Series.

With the season's baseball schedule of the Manufacturers' League nearing completion, those who have been interested in the work of this organization are beginning to talk of a city basketball league to be run under the same name and with some of the same teams as members. The baseball project has been a great success from every point of view and there is no reason why the organization cannot promote basketball as well as baseball. There is an abundance of fast basketball material in this city and a large majority of it is scattered around the different factories and business houses of the town. Many of the crack players have been holding out for just such an opportunity as this to get back into the game and the enthusiasm that reigned so high at the basketball games in the Y. M. C. A. four years ago could be easily revived. There has been no fast amateur quintet open to players of the game in this city since the sport was practically dropped by the Y. M. C. A. last season.

Practically the only quintets of any notice in this section within the past two seasons have been the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and both High School fives. These three teams came more or less before the public eye last season in their fight for the city championship and should be considered likely aspirants to the title this year.

Several halls are available at present and in order to run the proposed organization on the large scale that has been discussed it will be necessary to have at least three halls. Among those now available to pick from are the Y. M. C. A., the two high schools, Debele Hall, and the Reform Hall, which is at present unoccupied, and could be put in proper shape at very little expense.

Among the teams that have been considered to form the league are the Spicers, Commercials, Y. M. C. A. Ajax, Plainfield High School, North Plainfield High School, Hope Chapel, Grace Church and Holy Cross. All these quintets will not be able to get into the league and only the most formidable of them will be selected. A meeting will be called in the near future when definite plans can be made in regard to the formation of the proposed league.

PROTESTS BEFORE LEAGUE MGRS.

P. S. Team Wins Its Point and Spicer-Saurer Dispute to be Decided Later.

The regular weekly meeting of the Manufacturers' Baseball League was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last night, and all of the six teams in the organization were represented. The following members of the governing board attended the session: R. G. E. Hand and Hoffmen; Commercials, Stires; Saurer, Coons; Banks, Egan; Spicer, Thompson; Public Service, Causebrook. In the absence of E. C. Ostlin, who is chairman of the league, the meeting was presided over by C. C. Thompson.

The protest of the Public Service team in regard to its game with the Saurer's Saturday afternoon was allowed and the game will be played over in the near future. The captains of both nines agreed to this and as there was some misunderstanding in regard to the ground rules on Saturday, in which both nines were concerned, it was decided the only fair thing to do would be to play the game over again. The protest of the Spicer and Saurer aggregations was put over until the regular monthly meeting which is dated for next Monday night. This meeting will be an open one and any of the team members will be allowed to attend. The board has sent a special request to have the members of both teams concerned in the protest at the meeting to give any details of the case that may be needed.

At this monthly session the post-season series with the Sunday-school Baseball League will be considered, and the latter organization has been requested to have a representative at the meeting to arrange for the games if it is decided to have the extra contests to decide the local amateur championship.

The Spicer combination, represented by C. C. Thompson, withdrew the name of Miller from its list and he was added to the Saurer's team of eligibles to be played at once. When Miller was entered by the Spicer's it was understood that he was going to work at once in their factory, but through some misunderstanding he never entered the company's employ and therefore would not be eligible to play with that nine.

The Banks entered the names of Dallas, Jennings and Stewart, and they will be allowed to play with the team at once. The Commercials added Lambert to their list and he will also be allowed to take part in next Saturday's game.

The protest thrown out last night will alter the Manufacturers' league standing to some extent, and the revised percentage of the six teams is given below.

SPICER MEN PLANNING FOR ATHLETIC MEET

Association to Hold Big Event On Parker Field On Saturday, August 24.

Although the Spicer athletic association held part of its annual athletic meet at Staten Island last Saturday, a number of the events were left uncompleted and these will be run off on Parker Field on Saturday, August 24. Plans are now under way to conduct a first-class outdoor meet at this time and many other events besides those left over from last week will be contested. Several fast races were recorded in their recent met and those who officiated at this affair say that a number of records are in danger when the finals are run off on Parker Field.

The contestants include some of the best all around athletes in the city and also many old High School and college stars. In order to get away with the all around championship last Saturday, Jim Scott had to beat some good jumpers and annex a sufficient number of points to pull him through without going into the runs which he does not specialize in. Scott cleaned up on all of the jumps and came home with a boatload of prizes. He is an exceptionally fine athlete and now that his prowess along this line has been unearthed, his many friends in this city will watch his work in the meet on the 24th with interest. The rivalry is keen at the Spicer factory and much speculation is going on in regard to the outcome of the events to be contested at that time.

Scott does not make a specialty of track and field sports but is an adept at baseball and basketball. He has been an active member of the local Y. M. C. A. for a number of years and has taken an active interest in all of the association athletics. He played on the Y. M. C. A. baseball nine for a number of years and was one of the best outfielders in the game at that time. He is now occupying a garden position for the Spicer team of the Manufacturers' Baseball League.

ARRANGING NOW FOR CLAN'S ATHLETIC MEET

The committee in charge of the Scottish Clan athletic meet scheduled for August 17, will hold a session in the office of the Daily Press tonight at 8 o'clock to complete the remaining details for the affair. Practically every organization that makes a specialty of promoting amateur athletics will be represented and most of these clubs have already made arrangements to enter teams in the field and track meet.

At tonight's meeting the playground commission will be represented by Charles R. Bostwick and Harry Marshall; the Y. M. C. A. by E. C. Ostlin and Alvah L. Conant; the Plainfield schools by E. J. Beers of the High School faculty; the First Presbyterian church scout patrol by Allen E. Beals and Grover Hyman; the Knights of Columbus by Paul H. Burns, and the Spicer Manufacturing Company by C. C. Thompson.

FISHING NOTES.

Louis Schneider and Fred Winkler tried for bluefish off Morgan's Sunday afternoon and caught several very large fish for rod and line fishing. They claim that had they had them they would have kept the school about them and caught a business.

Netmen are complaining because of the poor fishing, while owners of fishing boats say they never saw so many fish caught from their boats. Sea bass, fluke, blackfish and porgies are extremely plentiful, while weakfish and bluefish are very scarce.

Striped bass fishermen can have lots of fun at their favorite sport at the Highlands. Many large bass were caught under the bridge last week with bloodworm bait. Every once in a while the fishermen in the old steamboat channel get a strike that rips their tackle apart, and those who know say that it is the striped bass.

Captain Rose, of the fishing boat U. S. A., has closed his books for the season, having all the club parties that he can take care of this year. Sunday trips will be made as usual.

The writer saw a 14-year-old boy on Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., yesterday with a fine small-mouthed black bass which he caught in Bound Creek just across the road from Weequahic Lake. The fish had worked out of the lake through the underflow.

The Titanic has been getting lots of the big hump-back sea bass on the off-shore grounds this week. The weather has been very good and she has made several trips to the England banks. This is quite a long run and Captain Beebe is leaving Hoboken at 5 o'clock and the Battery landing, New York, at 6 o'clock sharp Sunday morning to get to the grounds early. All her fishermen report the best bass fishing this season, and some of them are going every day to take advantage of it. Many large fluke are also being caught off shore.

Fishing at Sewaren continues about the same as last week, although John Meyers and Gus Smith, of Newark, fishing with one of Acker's boats, brought in four weakfish, four blues, one fluke and two eels Sunday morning. Acker rented sixty-nine boats, and those who went for crabs came in with from fifty to 150 crabs to a boat.

Professor William G. Gaunt, of the Newark City Playgrounds, who made the hike to Keansburg on Friday with a band of Boy Scouts, rested up by taking his fishing rod and angling in Raritan Bay. He angled for about twelve hours and it is said that he nearly caught a fish. Several declare that they saw the fish a few feet out of water.

Here's a god tip to the surf fishermen: Go to the Highlands and fish in the surf, as the kingfish and big fluke are there. One of the soldiers discovered the fish and all day Saturday and Sunday a dozen men who knew how to fish the surf had plenty of fun. The kingfish run about a pound and a half and the fluke from three to five pounds. The best spots are opposite the island on the Shrewsbury River. Get this island between you and the Highlands and you can't miss the fish.

FARMER IS KILLED BY FALL.

Newton, July 30.—Newton Weaver, about sixty years old, a farmer of Ogdensburg, was fatally injured Saturday by falling through a hay mow chute at the home of his son, William Weaver, in Quarryville. He died two hours later. Mr. Weaver was visiting his son. He went out to look about the place, and after a while was missed. A search revealed him lying on the floor of the barn and groaning. He was unconscious. Born in Morris county, Mr. Weaver had lived there all his life until about three years ago, when he moved to Ogdensburg. He is survived by a widow, formerly Miss Lucy Huff, whom he married thirty-seven years ago, and by one son. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning in Oak Ridge.

GUEST FATALLY STRICKEN.

Whitehouse, July 30.—While visiting relatives at Readington Sunday Peter Rockefeller, of Lebanon, suffered a stroke of paralysis while walking over the farm and died a few hours later. He had had two strokes before and had been in poor health. Mr. Rockefeller was sixty-two years old and was a prosperous farmer. He leaves a widow. The funeral will be held in the Reformed church at Lebanon this afternoon. Rev. William J. Lonsdale, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the cemetery there.

BECKER IN TOMBS AS MURDERER

Charged He Ordered Rosenthal Killed.

JACK ROSE CONFESSES

Says Slayers Were Hired at Policeman's Request.

HE GUARANTEED PROTECTION

Webber and Vallon Back Up Rose In Complete Story of How Rosenthal Was Done For on Metropole Steps.

New York, July 30.—After Jack Rose, Lieutenant Charles A. Becker's collector of gambling money, had confessed that Becker had ordered him to have Rosenthal killed Becker was arrested and held by Judge Mulqueen for murder in the first degree.

The arrest and arraignment of Becker followed swiftly after Rose's confession and the confessions of Bridgie Webber and Harry Vallon, who corroborated Rose in important particulars.

District Attorney Whitman, questioning the three prisoners for three hours, pounded one against the other until they broke down and said Rosenthal was shot down in front of the Metropole by a hired gang because Lieutenant Becker wanted it done.

The grand jury acted speedily. With their confessions warm on their lips, Rose, Webber and Vallon went before the grand jury, put their hands on the Bible and swore that they had told the whole truth. Within an hour the former commander of the strong arm squad was in a cell in the Tombs. But the men who placed him there did not dare to leave the district attorney's office. Shaking with fear they begged the district attorney to keep them in his office.

And there they stayed, under guard of four of Mr. Whitman's detectives. Rose's confession, the most vital of the three, details how Becker, six weeks ago, told him that Herman Rosenthal had lived too long, that Rosenthal had to be put out of the way and that the men who did the job had nothing to fear because he, Becker, was a power in the police department.

Gunmen Get Murder Word.

So Rose went out and spread the word that the strong arm commander said that Rosenthal must be killed. He dropped hints here and there. He did more. He sent for Big Jack Zelig and held a conference with that notorious gang leader of the east side. Through Zelig, ranging downward through the strata of thugs and hired assassins, the arrangements were completed.

The four men who pistolled Rosenthal by this arrangement were Whitey Lewis, Lefty Louis, Dago Frank and Gip the Blood. Rose admits that he rounded them up that night and saw that they were poised for the crime. It was for this purpose that the gray car of Libby and Shapiro was used.

Rose is not sure, however, that they escaped in the gray car, but he points to Becker's promises of protection as a proof that the murderers did go clear of the police that night.

The general manager of the killing, Rose, called Becker up by phone a few minutes after Rosenthal was shot dead. He told Becker that it was a horrible thing. He said it was more than he expected. He was frightened clear to his heart, and he was afraid to stir without a word of confidence from his master.

And Becker said over the phone, while he was making preparations for a hurried trip down to the Tenderloin:

"Oh, don't worry. I'll protect you. There won't be much fuss over this."

A few minutes later, in the shadows of the Murray Hill baths in Forty-second street, just west of Sixth avenue, Lieutenant Becker, calm and collected and with perfect confidence in his reassurance to the nervous and trembling Rose, said:

"Don't be worried over this matter. I'll see to it that none of the boys get into jail."

For two days after that whispered conference Lieutenant Becker kept in touch with Rose, calling him up twice a day at Harry Pollock's house and discussing with him "matters that had to be looked into." And Becker knew exactly where to find Rose when the word went out from the office of Mayor Gaynor that Rose had to be found or that much trouble would meet up with certain policemen. So it was not at Far Rockaway, but at Pollock's house, that Becker conveyed to Jack Rose the hint that it would be best for diplomatic reasons to appear at police headquarters.

The bald gambler, who included in his confession a frank statement that for a long time he had been collecting money from gambling houses, not only for Lieutenant Becker, but for officials higher up in the police department, swears he did not know that murder was to be done the night his hired thugs met at Bridgie Webber's and sat there waiting for the signal that Rosenthal, the squealer, the man who had shouted to the whole city that Becker had been his gambling partner and had then betrayed him, was about to leave the Metropole. Rose says he knew something was to be done to Rosenthal, but that he would have flinched from the task if he had known pistols were to be used against the informer.

But Rose so incriminated himself in his confession that the district attorney did not attach a great deal of weight to his pretence of ignorance that an assault, not a murder, was contemplated when the gray car delivered its desperate freight in Forty-third street.

Bridgie Webber, the host of the murder conspirators, backed up Rose and told of what was said when he and Rose met Becker uptown a few days before the murder. Becker was hot for the killing. But it seemed to him that Rose could not make good alone. So he said to Webber:

"Bridgie, Rose says that they won't do this job for him. Now, you've got to order it done. I've got the power and you've got the money. You see that this thing is pulled off."

And Webber adds that he was one of the party that met in Forty-second street, outside of the Murray Hill baths after the killing. He says he heard what Becker said to Rose at that time, when Becker was calmly promising protection and immunity for the assassins.

But they they have the word that other confessions are just around the corner: that the weakening of Rose, the man familiar with the details of the arrangements, the man who was the go-between and scout, will serve to melt the reserve of the other conspirators. It can be said that every man now held for murder, except Becker, will be immunized if they tell the whole truth about the plot and its consummation.

The confessions that revealed perhaps the most extraordinary story of officially instigated crime that the city ever knew were the result of an arrangement made by the district attorney with Max D. Steuer, counsel for Bridgie Webber, and with James M. Sullivan, the lawyer for Jack Rose, and who represented also Harry Vallon, whose interests were bound up largely with those of Webber, his gambling partner, and with Jack Rose, his old time friend.

SHOOTING A SALMON.

It Was Mighty Exciting Even if the Fish Did Escape.

Uncle Ben Brown was one of the earliest settlers in Oregon. He was an intelligent man with a keen sense of humor, and his tales of pioneer days always drew an interested audience. This story is one of the most popular:

"There used to be lots of Indians on the Rogue river when I came here. And they sometimes did mighty queer things. There is a place above Gold Hill called the Dardanelles, where the river rushes between steep rocks, with a big, quiet pool below.

"I was camped at the Dardanelles in '53, and one evening a packer came along, going south. An Indian was there with his canoe. He'd been sitting on a stone for an hour or more without moving, watching the big salmon that kept shooting out of the pool, upending like a stick of cordwood and then plunging back into the water. No doubt he was thinking how good a steak off one of those salmon would taste. The packer soon made a bargain with the Indian to take him over.

"The Indian piled most of the pack in the front of the canoe and took his seat in the middle. The white man sat behind and towed his horse at the end of a lariat. The packer had an old, fat barreled, sawed off musket, called a 'pauger,' that the Indian laid across the pack in front of him. Halfway across he stopped paddling and squinted down into the water. He saw a monster salmon right under the canoe. Grunting 'Skookum salmon!' he dropped the paddle and, grabbing up the pauger, rammed it into the water up to the locks, took aim and discharged it.

"I guess he didn't know that he couldn't blow a hole in the Rogue river with a gun without startling results. The canoe turned over like a flash. Pieces of the old pauger went twenty feet into the air. The Indian and the white man both disappeared. Presently the packer came up and began to swim around, trying to collect his goods, sputtering and making severely critical remarks about Indians in general.

"The Indian didn't come up for some time. When he did it was near the foot of the pool. His face was covered with blood. In two plunges he made shore on the other side of the foot of the rapids, rushed up the bank and stopped a moment to brush the wet hair hurriedly out of his eyes. Then, with one dazed look in my direction, he exclaimed, 'Hoosh, hoosh!' and dived into the brush. He must have thought that the salmon or the gun or the river was bewitched, for I never saw him again on Rogue river. So far as I know, the salmon was uninjured."—Youth's Companion.

Force of Habit.

In New York, during the old Bohemian days of Ada Clare, Harry Clapp, George Arnold, William Winter and the rest, Nat Urber, the novelist, knew every bohemian and had got so used to pathetic tales of personal distress that whenever he met a man he unconsciously assumed that man to be in hard luck. Meeting Frank Patton one day, he said to him, "Well, how are you, my dear boy?" "First rate," said Patton; "got an editorial position, got a good wife, got a bank account and everything is lovely." "Well," said Arnold, "never mind, old fellow. Cheer up, cheer up."

most polite manner, beginning her letter, "My Dear Mr. Blank."

Next day a very stout and very irate woman appeared in the classroom angrily flourishing a paper.

"I'll teach you to call my husband 'my dear,'" she cried. "Why, my husband, he ain't never saw you in his life, and I believe him, you piece of impudence!"—Lippincott's.

Answered to the Name.

A couple of drummers, having a few hours' layover in a small town, decided to dine at the village hotel. On looking over the bill of fare they noted that young "fry" were "special" for that meal, so one of the men turned to the pretty little waitress and asked: "How's the chickens?"

The young lady blushed, then answered: "Oh, I'm all right. How are you?"—Everybody's.

FORGOT CHILDREN IN BLAZING HOME

Mother Swooned After She Had Notified Department.

LIVES SAVED BY FIREMEN

When Parent Revives She Returns to Home and Finds Youngsters Romping Through Parlor With Their Newly Found Protector—They Cry When He Leaves.

Newark, N. J., July 30.—Mrs. James Salmon, Jr., while playing with her children in the library of her home in Belleville, N. J., smelled smoke coming from one of the upper rooms. She ran upstairs to locate the trouble and discovered a blaze in a bundle of clothing in the attic.

She became excited and ran out of the house to the corner, where she sent in an alarm from a firebox. Then suddenly remembering that she had left her children in the burning dwelling she was overcome by fright and dropped unconscious on the street beside the fire alarm box.

John McCoy, a member of Eastwood hose company, who was answering the alarm, saw Mrs. Salmon and picking her up in his arms carried her to his home on Dowe street and summoned a physician. She was soon revived and taken to her home, where she found the children romping through the parlor with a big fireman in uniform, who had been placed in charge of the children by the fire chief.

The fire was confined to the attic and was extinguished before much damage was done. The children were so well pleased with the antics of the big fireman that they cried when he went away.

TRIES TO REFORM BOY.

Eleven-year-old Lad Proves Incorrigible and Police Get Him.

Red Bank, N. J., July 30.—After spending more than $100 in a vain effort to reclaim Arthur Huff, an eleven-year-old boy of this town, John H. Cook, editor of the Red Bank Register and a philanthropist, is said to have given up the job in despair.

The Huff boy has an amazing record for one so young.

When he first came into notice as an object of police interest he was not more than eight years old. He has been arrested several times for petty larceny, breaking in stores and appropriating toys, candy and what change he could find.

AGED MAN IS MISSING.

Thomas Ward Disappears From Summer Home at National Park, N. J.

Camden, N. J., July 30.—A search is being made in the vicinity of National Park for Thomas Ward, seventy years old, who has been missing from his summer home here since Friday.

Relatives reported his disappearance Saturday morning to Mayor Abdill. He ordered the police of National Park to make a search for Mr. Ward and requested the police of the surrounding towns to aid.

When he was last seen Mr. Ward was walking along the trolley tracks at National Park. He wore a skull cap, slippers, dark trousers and vest, blue shirt and no coat.

TRAGIC FOR WHISTLER.

A White Plume Joke That Enraged the Eccentric Master.

It has been said of Whistler, truly enough, that he was proud of the white plume in his black hair. But with his pride went, naturally, a certain sensitiveness. He wanted his little tuft of white treated with respect—as a flag. It was sacred, as the white flag was to the Comte de Chambord. Most people respected Whistler's wish, but not all.

I went one day to a luncheon given by a lady whom her friends set up as a rival to Mrs. Langtry. It was a large party. When the ladies went upstairs most of the men were bidden by their hostess to follow as soon as their first cigarette had been smoked. Whistler was not told. On the contrary, a man was asked to hold him in talk for ten minutes.

Once in the drawing room the hostess produced a number of white feathers, one of which she fastened into each man's hair in front where Whistler wore his. Then she marshaled her men in line, facing the door, and sent word to Whistler in the dining room that he was staying a long time and she would like him to come up.

He obeyed, and when he opened the door of the drawing room and found himself confronted with a line of black haired men, each decorated with a white plume in imitation of his own, his face turned red and then pale. He walked slowly past the line to the end, where stood his hostess enjoying what she thought an innocent pleasantry.

But Whistler's expression had in it much more of tragedy than of comedy "Ah, yes," he said, "very pretty, very pretty indeed. To not one of you will I ever speak again." With that he turned his back on his hostess and her guests and marched out of the room and downstairs and out of the house. Yet his anger did not last.—G. W. Smalley's "Anglo-American Memories."

A COINER OF WORDS.

Mirabeau's Busy Brain Enlarged the World's Vocabulary.

The authorities seem to assign the origin of the word aristocrat to the French Revolution, which coined its opposite, democrat. Oddly enough, the word seems to have been first applied to our harmless military order, the Cincinnati.

When the Cincinnati was organized in 1783 a storm of objection was raised. One of the pamphlets that denounced the military order, of which Washington was the head, fell into the hands of Mirabeau, who immediately made it the subject of a slashing tract in which he called the society unrepublican, un-American and much else that was not complimentary.

To cap the climax, he wrote, "Les Cincinnati sont donc des nobles, des aristocrates, de vrais patriciens!" (The Cincinnati, then, are nobles, aristocrats, veritable patricians!) The word was born. Mirabeau, perhaps the ablest Frenchman of the time, liked the new word so well that he repeated it several times.

His pamphlet was written in 1785, and since no Paris publisher was willing to take risks with an essay so strongly republican it was printed in London in 1788. The word was accepted in many languages and led to the formation of many similar words, like democrat, autocrat, theocrat, plutocrat, bureaucrat and others. In 1785, when Mirabeau wrote, there was no precedent for such words unless it were the French form of certain Greek names, like Socrate, Isocrate, Hippocrate.

Mirabeau's busy brain and facile tongue added several other useful words to the world's vocabulary. Capitalist, bonhomie, parvenu, Anglo-American, primary meeting, veto (as a noun) and universal suffrage are all words of phrases first used by him.—Youth's Companion.

The Letter of the Law.

A mother led her six children to the apple tree. It had borne but a single apple—no longer visible to the casual observer. "I told you not to pick that apple!" she said sternly.

"We didn't pick it!" the children answered in chorus. And the oldest girl added in an injured tone: "You can see yourself that it's still on the tree. I—I mean—the core is! We only climbed up an'—an' took a bite once in awhile—we didn't pick it!"—Exchange.

GIANT CATARACTS

Victoria Falls the Greatest of the Mighty Torrents

NIAGARA RANKS ONLY THIRD.

The Falls of the Iguassu River Hold Second Place, and These Three Are in a Class by Themselves—Their Electric Power Possibilities.

At one time waterfalls in large rivers were interesting only because of their scenic beauty, and their very existence was deplored because they obstructed navigation. But man has found a way to harness these mighty power producers and today they are of the greatest value to the commercial world because the millions of water horse-power can be changed into electricity and transmitted for hundreds of miles to be used as a reliable substitute for our vanishing coal supply.

When it is remembered that two cubic feet of water, weighing 125 pounds, by falling a distance of only six feet will produce one horse power of energy, it is easy to comprehend that millions and millions of horse power are wasted every minute by the torrents of water tumbling over Niagara, the Victoria falls and the Iguassu river and many lesser falls throughout the world. This falling water is guided by steel and concrete penstocks to powerful water turbines which whirl great electric generators. The current produced in this way is easily transmitted for hundreds of miles over small copper wires to the cities and towns where it is used to haul the railroad trains to drive the great manufacturing plants and to give us light and heat.

Loyal as we all are to our country, we must admit that even the mighty torrent of Niagara ranks only third in size when compared to the waterfalls of the world. The largest of the earth's waterfalls, the Victoria falls of the Zambesi river in Rhodesia, are 386 feet high and more than a mile wide, and were discovered by Livingstone in 1855. The water power of these falls is estimated to be fully 35,000,000 horse power, two and one-half times that of Iguassu and five times that of Niagara.

South America possesses a waterfall which exceeds Niagara both in width and in height and is actually the second largest waterfall in the world. This little known waterfall is that of the Iguassu river, tributary of the Parana, and, like Niagara, is situated at the boundary of two states, each of which owns half of it. The total water power of the Iguassu fall, which is 213 feet high and nearly two miles wide, is estimated as about 14,000,000 horse power. This is approximately equal to the aggregate water power of all Scandinavia, which is rich in waterfalls, or about ten times the total water power of Germany.

There is no other waterfall in the world which is at all comparable in greatness with the Zambesi, Iguassu or the Niagara. Asia, notwithstanding its colossal mountain ranges, is comparatively poor in large waterfalls, which are found most abundantly in Africa and North America. The largest African streams especially are interrupted by many falls of considerable height. The Kongo has several high falls which owing to the great volume of the river, about sixteen times that of the Nile, may be counted among the most important sources of water power on earth. The Stanley falls, in the middle reach of the river, consist of seven successive falls, of a total height of 164 feet and a width of nearly 4,000 feet and offer an exceedingly rich source of power which probably will soon be exploited.

Still more important is the total water power which the Kongo develops in the non-navigable section extending from its mouth to Stanley pool. Here the river, confined in a channel only a few hundred yards wide and with a depth of water of nearly 300 feet, flows with a velocity of forty-eight feet a second, so that at every point of the stream 25,000 to 30,000 cubic meters or about 1,000,000 cubic feet of water are hurled along with irresistible force, while thirty-two rapids and waterfalls lower the level of the stream by 820 feet in a stretch of 170 miles.

The lower Nile, in Egypt, possesses a series of rapids, the celebrated cataracts of the Nile, but no waterfall in the strict sense of the word. True, waterfalls occur on the upper Nile, the most beautiful of them at the point where the stream issues from Lake Victoria Nyanza. This Ripon fall is only a few yards in height, but the volume of water is so great that it presents a magnificent spectacle.

Comparatively few persons know which is the highest waterfall in Europe. The most voluminous of European waterfalls, strictly so called, are the Rhine falls, at Schaffhausen, but the highest are the Rjaken falls of the Mann-Elf river, in the Norwegian province of Telemarken. The principal fall is 800 feet high, and the total height of the two chief falls with the intervening rapids amounts to 1,837 feet, while the average flow of water is fifty cubic meters, or 1,760 cubic feet a second. The Rjaken falls, with their total energy of 250,000 horse power, have been converted to industrial uses.—Electric News.

BOY CARRYING BANNER IS RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Metuchen, July 30.—While carrying a banner in the parade of an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" show company Saturday, Edward Bonham, twelve years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bonham, was run down by an automobile.

"You're all right, boy; tell your mother to put a little salve on you," was the shout of one occupant of the car as it went on, without stopping, toward Newark. Bystanders helped the boy to a doctor's office, where it was found that the muscles of his legs were badly torn, but that no bones were broken.

The number of the car was taken and an effort will be made to apprehend its occupants on a charge of reckless driving.

SUPPOSEDLY MAD DOG BITES OTHERS, IS SHOT

Morristown, July 30.—Mt. Kemble avenue had a mad dog chase on Saturday afternoon, which resulted in the shooting of the animal by Theodore Armstrong.

The dog made its appearance on the avenue at the barn of Dr. James Mosedale, a veterianian, attacking a dog belonging there. The driver drove the mad dog out of the barn, and Dr. Mosedale hearing the noise, ran out and saw the condition of the strange dog. He got his revolver and went out again just as Robert Hipson drove up the street. Mr. Hipson's dog engaged the other animal in combat. Dr. Mosedale and Mr. Hipson started down the road to warn persons along the way and kill the animal if possible.

Seeing an opportunity Dr. Mosedale allighted and shot at the dog, which immediately turned on him. He regained a safe place and the pursuit was continued until Mr. Armstrong killed the dog.

The rabid animal is reported to have bitten several dogs on Court street and was remembered in other parts of town earlier. It was a mongrel hound and bore a collar with a brass tag reading "License dog, No. 8, Harrison, N. J."

CUT IN SALOON FIGHT, CONDITION IS CRITICAL

Elizabeth, July 30.—In a critical condition, Frank Morton, thirty-three years old, an ironworker, is in the Alexian Hospital. He is the victim of a stabbing affray Sunday, his assailant, it is declared, being Ernest Vellucci, thirty-five years old, who lives at 213 John street.

The stabbing was done with a large pocket knife, sharp as a razor. Morton was stabbed in the face, chest, side and back. The affair took place in the rear of a saloon at 614 Second avenue.

Vellucci was locked up and will be held at police headquarters without bail to await the outcome of Morton's injuries. At the hospital it is said his lung is punctured.

Both men are tenants in the same house. A quarrel between their wives, it is said, led to the affray.

MIDDLESEX THIRD TICKET.

Metuchen, July 30.—Followers of Roosevelt in Middlesex county are expected to nominate a full county and local ticket. The name of Adrian Lyon has been proposed for the Congressional nomination. A committee of 100 will arrange for the Roosevelt dollar dinner, which probably will be held in three weeks at the Hillside Inn. The dinner will be attended by Roosevelt supporters from all over the county.

M. J. McLAUGHLIN'S FUNERAL.

Elizabeth, July 30.—The funeral of Michael J. McLaughlin was held yesterday from his late home, 645 Franklin street, here. The services were held at the Holy Rosary church. Rev. James J. Reynolds was the celebrant of the requiem mass. The burial escort consisted of Elizabeth Council, Knights of Columbus, and the Holy Name Society. Interment was at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

SISTERS ARE REUNITED AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Passaic, July 30.—Two sisters, who had not seen nor heard from each other in half a century, were united Sunday. They are Mrs. Rebecca Reisler, of 209 Main street, this city, and Mrs. Minnie Reisler, who recently arrived in this country from Europe. They are the daughters of the late Israel Reisler, a wealthy hotel proprietor, who had hostelries in Berlin and Vienna. They married cousins. The reunion occurred on the eighty-fifth birthday of the Passaic sister.

The sisters parted in the old country, Mrs. Rebacco Reisler coming to this country shortly after her marriage. She wrote many letters to Minnie in Vienna, but all were returned to her, and she finally believed her sister dead.

A few days ago Mrs. Minnie Reisler came to New York from Europe, and immediately she instituted a search for her long-lost sister. She got in touch with the Reislers in New York, and from them learned that her sister was in Passaic.

At the reunion Sunday the shock consequent of their meeting after fifty years was so great that both of the women were unable to speak for several minutes. Both sisters are blind in the right eye.

MOTHER REFUSES TO LEAVE JAILED SON

Red Bank, July 30.—There was a scene in the borough hall here Sunday morning when a mother attempted to stop a court officer from placing her son in a cell. She did not succeed, and both she and the son spent the day behind bars, the son by compulsion and the mother because she could not leave his side.

The trouble started when William L. Scott, of New Brunswick, was arraigned before Justice Edward Wise and fined $50 for violating the State automobile speed laws. The complaint against Scott was made by George W. Thompson, of Trenton, and J. B. Rue, of Red Bank, State motor vehicle inspectors, who claimed that Scott was traveling on the Middletown turnpike in an automobile at fifty miles an hour.

Scott did not have the money to pay the fine and he offered his automobile for security. The offer was refused. When the court officers attempted to place him in a cell his mother pushed the officers aside and said that if they took her son it would be over her dead body. It was feared she would go into hysterics. When her son was placed in a cell she went with him and refused to leave until his fine was paid by her husband, who came on from New Brunswick for the purpose.

The union service will be held at Trinity Reformed church, Sunday night, and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will be the preacher.

SUICIDE ATTRIBUTED TO LACK OF FRANCHISE

Elizabeth, July 30.—Further inquiry into the suicide of Joseph Balter last Friday convinces the authorities that the man was prompted to end his life by citizenship troubles. He had been made despondent by the loss of a job at Bridgeport, due, it has developed, to his lack of citizenship.

Balter visited the county clerk's office Friday afternoon with Justice of the Peace Max Fern, of Elizabethport, and another witness, to get citizenship papers. He carried his first papers, but was told that because of a mistake in them he would have to begin all over.

Half an hour afterward Balter was dead of carbolic acid poisoning He came from St. Johns, N. B. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and burial was made in the Jewish cemetery here.

During the absence of the pastor, Rev. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, the mid-week prayer meetings will be in charge of the deacons.

HOLLAND VISITED BY OUR TOURISTS

Miss Vail Describes What Daily Press Guests Saw in Wilhelmina's Country.

TELL OF SCHEVENINGEN

The Hague Even Cleaner Than Amsterdam—The Many Canals and the Quaintly Dressed People Incite Their Curiosity.

The third and last instalment of the diary of Miss Mabel Vail, who is traveling in Europe as one of a party of six guests of the Daily Press, is printed today. It takes the reader through the tourists visit to London and through the days in Amsterdam. It is hoped that within a few days the Daily Press will be able to publish another installment about the trip of the young women, who state that they are having "a glorious time." In today's story, Miss Vail says:

Hampton Court is the largest and in some respects the finest of all the Royal Palaces in England. It was originally founded by Cardinal Wolsey in 1515. In 1525 he gave it to Henry VIII., who coveted it. This used to be a favorite residence of the Royal families but fell out of favor and was later divided into suites of private apartments and these are allotted by the King as dwellings chiefly for members of aristocratic families to whom this privilege is granted by Royal favor in recognition of services to the Crown and Nation. One thousand rooms are thus occupied by poor royalty and the remaining forty-five are reserved for, the reigning Royal Family whenever they care to occupy them. Each of the early monarchs added a portion to the building until now it is a series of long towers enclosing courts. Among the interesting rooms to be seen are the King's Chamber, decorated with old swords and fire arms in fanastic shapes are in the Tower of London, the King's State Bedchamber, the Queen's Gallery, Queen Anne's State Bedchamber, the Great Hall with its princess Gobelin tapestries depicting the Life of Abraham, Anne Boleyn's Gallery, and Clock Court and Tower were also visited.

We returned to the car and speed on to Windsor Castle, crossing and recrossing the Thames River en route and passing the Kimble Park Race Course. Crossing the Staines Bridge we had a magnificent view of the Thames which is very picturesque at this point with little cottages and thatched roofed boathouses on its banks. The village of Staines was very interesting. We passed Runnymead which is now in the hands of an American. In the distance we could see the dense Windsor Forest. The Castle stands on the top of a high hill. The grand entrance to it is by a fine vista of elms three miles long called Long Walk, a favorite of Queen Victoria's. Opposite the Long Walk at the foot of the hill is the large statue of George IV. We went around to the side of the Castle and entered by the Henry VIII. Gateway. From the top of the round tower twelve counties can be seen, but as it was 4 o'clock we were too late to go up there. We visited Chapel Royal St. George's, one of the finest Gothic edifices in Europe built in 1474 with choir hung with banners, helmets and insignia of the Knights of the Garter. The State Apartments are on the north side. We went all through these and they were grand. The paintings, tapestries, china and furniture were beautiful.

Returning to the auto we rode to Eton College, a fine old building founded in 1440. Here we saw the Eton boys in their grey suits returning from a cricket game. The sight of them called to mind the following story told of an old Irish man and an Eton student. The story goes that all Eton boys recognize one another by having the bottom button of their vest left unbuttoned. One day an Eton boy saw this Irishman with the bottom button of his vest unfastened and the chap stepped up to him, shook hands and pointing to the vest asked, "Eton?" "No," replied the Irishman, "Drinkin's."

We returned through a more rural part of the country where the houses were poorer and smaller. Here we saw many peasants returning from their day's work. We passed through Slough and saw the Slough Cricket Grounds, later we passed Pear's large soap factory. At Isleworth we passed a quaint old Friends' Meeting House, the first I had seen since leaving home and it certainly did look good to me. We passed a large company of Hospital Girl Scouts.

Returning to the hotel we had dinner and then went to a characteristically English play at Royal Theatre, called "Mielestones," by Arnold Bennet. It depicted English home life from 1660 to the present day. The quaint old costumes were

FIREMAN'S BOTH FEET ARE BADLY SCALDED

Leisher, Victim of Mishap on Lehigh Valley Locomotive, Taken to the Hospital.

William Leisher, aged 24 years, of Perth Amboy, employed as a fireman on a shifting engine on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was taken to Muhlenberg, last night, with both feet scalded. The accident happened at Manville, near Finderne, where the engine upon which the victim was working was being used in shifting cars.

Leisher turned on the injector too far and it blew out. The escaping steam enveloped his feet and legs before he could get out of the way and they were severely scalded.

A telephone message brought the ambulance to the South Plainfield station, where Leisher was taken and he was removed to the hospital.

YOUTHS HOME AGAIN FROM CAMP WAWAYANDA

Tired but happy after their long journey across the State from the New Jersey boys' camp at Lake Wawayanda, a delegation of fifteen boys alighted from a train at the North Avenue station, last night. The delegation was made up of campers of the first and second sections and among them was a newly unearthed swimming champion, William Whelan, who cleaned up on every event in the 110 pound class in aquatics. He won the dive for form; 25-yard swim and 50-yard swim, with ease, and also obtained the highest number of points of any competitor in his class. Chauncey Murphey and Frederick Martin, who acted as camp leaders for the first two sections, returned home last night.

Among those who returned were John Hammann, William Whelan, Richard Pennock, Franklin Newell, Chauncey Murphey, Frederick Martin, Irving Manley and Clarence Krausse.

BORO BOARD TO AWARD BONDS AND A CONTRACT

Two bids were received at the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education, Monday night, for the $18,000 school bonds for the installation of the proposed heating and ventilating plant. Everett & Co., of New York, offered $100.67, while Rhoades & Co., of New York, bid $100.668. Both were referred to the finance committee which will report at a meeting of the board Monday night.

The buildings committee will meet tonight to consider the bids of Den. J. Galbraith, of this city, and James H. Merritt & Co., of New York, in installing the heating and ventilating system. Mr. Galbraith's bid was $17,740 and that of the New York concern $18,313. The latter also submitted a supplemental bid of $17,135 on the basis of a little different construction. The supplemental bid was not asked for by the board. The monthly bills were presented and passed upon as usual.

EXCURSION TOMORROW TO POPULAR ASBURY

The annual excursion of Trinity Reformed church, Netherwood Reformed church, Marconnier Reformed church and Mt. Pleasant chapel to Asbury Park, is scheduled for tomorrow, and every arrangement has been made for a fine time at the shore. The excursion will be run in two sections, the first leaving the North Avenue station at 8:15 in the morning, and the second one immediately afterward. The second section will stop at Clinton Avenue, Grant Avenue, North Avenue and Netherwood stations, going and coming. Returning the excursion will leave the shore at 7:10 o'clock in the evening.

Ample accommodations will be provided for all who plan to go on the excursion, and there will be the usual arrangements for baby carriages, bicycles, etc. The committee in charge of the outing comprise Chauncey F. Colthar, chairman; Clarence Rittenhouse, H. C. VanEmburgh, William Wyman, William J. Trembath, Sidney Frazee and Harry Kenyon. Tickets can be purchased of any of the above named persons or on the excursion trains.

SCOTTISH CLANS' ATHLETIC MEET

Committee Named and Plans Are Made for Big Track and Field Attraction.

PROGRAM OF EVENTS

Many Prizes Offered for the Meet to Be Held at Parker Field on Saturday, August 17—Robert Murray General Chairman.

Parker Field will be the scene of another field and track meet on Saturday, August 17, and indications point toward a success that will equal that of July 4. A number of prominent business men who are interested in local athletics met in the office of the Daily Press last night and completed some details for the affair.

The entry blanks may be had tomorrow at the Daily Press office and any information in regard to the meet may also be obtained.

The meet will be sanctioned under the Amateur Athletic Union and all those entering will be required to fill out registration blanks. The posters and entry blanks will be sent out to all the important athletic clubs in New York and New Jersey and the competitors will consist of some of the better athletic talent in the Metropolitan district.

Although Caledonian games are common in other cities, particularly as this is the first annual meet of the local Clan and will without doubt prove a novelty that will be well worth repeating. Governor Wilson has been invited by Robert Murray, of the local Clan, to attened the event.

George L. Listman, who acted in the capacity of starter at the Charter Day games in 1909 and at the recent Y. M. C. A. meet on July 4, will probably do the starting in the Highlanders meet. E. C. Ostlin will act as one of the officials. Alvah L. Conant, formerly captain of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. track team and at one time one of the best long distance runners in this section of the country, has promised to do all that is in his power to help boost the affair and as he has directed a number of sets of big athletic games throughout the State his presence will be of great value to those responsible for the affair. Mr. Conant was director of the Charter Day games in this city in 1909 and was active in making preparations for the Y. M. C. A. meet on Independence Day, but was taken ill just before the affair took place. Charles R. Bostwick, director of Parker Field, is taking an active part in making the arrangements and as he has had wide experience in college athletics he will be able to assist the Clan in many ways. E. J. Beers, of the High School faculty, is also active.

There will be two short dashes for women and girls, a potato race with real potatoes, bag pipe competition in costume, three legged race, sack race, Highland Fling, tossing the cabar and the most important event to the Highlanders, the hammer throw.

Prizes will be awarded in every event for the first, second and third contestant to finish and some of the awards that have been offered include house furnishings, medals, cups, wearing apparel and athletic goods. The National Order of Scottish Clans has contributed a solid gold medal to be awarded to the best dressed Highlander.

The program of events was arranged so as to have a field and track contest taking place at the same time and the closed events will be taken up in consecutive order, one starting as soon as the preceding one is finished. The order of field and track events is as follows, 100 yard dash, (heats), one mile run, running hop, step and jump; running high jump, 12 lb. shot-put, 100 yard dash (finals); 12 lb. hammer throw, 440 yard dash, running broad jump, potato race, relay race, and three mile race. The closed events include the cabar toss, sword dance, Highland Fling, sack race, bag pipe competition, quoit competition, soccer football game, best dressed Highlander, three legged race, 100 yard dash, for boys under fifteen, 75 yard dash for girls under fifteen, 50 yard dash for women, 100 yard dash for members of the Clan over fifty, and Scottish reel in costume.

The following committee has been appointed to take charge of the meet: Robert Murray, chairman, representing the Scottish Clans; Charles R. Bostwick, of the Plainfield playgrounds; E. J. Beers, of the local High School; Grover P. Hinman, of the First Presbyterian Scout Patrol; Alvah L. Conant, of the Y. M. C. A., Stanley Robbins, of the Courier News, and James J. McNamee, of the Daily Press.

VAUDEVILLE PERFORMER SUCCUMBS TO FEVER

Frank X. Spissell, An Acrobat, Died at His Home Here This Afternoon.

Frank X. Spissell, aged 31 years, widely known in vaudeville, died at his home, 107 Johnston avenue, this afternoon of a fever which he contracted about a week ago in Chicago, where he was appearing at the Majestic theatre, on the Orpheum Circuit. Mr. Spissell reached his home at 9:45 o'clock last night, his condition being more serious than at first supposed.

Mr. Spissell was born in Munich, Germany. He came to this country when a boy and for the past seven years he has been engaged in vaudeville. For a time he appeared under the team name of Spissell Brothers and Mack, the trio being acrobats. After the team dissolved, Mr. Spissell and his wife presented acrobatic acts. The latter returned early in July from a seven weeks' trip, and she had been anxiously awaiting the return of her husband.

Mr. Spissell was engaged by the United Booking office, and appeared on what is known as the "Big Time" circuit. He was known from Maine to California. He is survived by two brothers, Joseph and John Spissell, both of whom are in vaudeville; also four sisters.

CAPT. MONTGOMERY GUILTY; SENTENCED TO BE CASHIERED

Trenton, July 31.—Captain Robert J. Montgomery, of Elizabeth, of Co. C, Second Regiment, was found guilty today by court martial of making false returns to a superior officer and neglect of duty. He was sentenced to be cashiered, which is practically a dismissal from the service.

Captain Montgomery's trial was the result of charges perferred by Major W. B. Martin, and the things of which he was charged are said to have occurred during the past year. Captain Montgomery has been connected with the National Guard for a number of years, being elevated from a private to a captaincy. First Lieutenant Moore, of Co. C, is now acting captain and it is understood that he will be chosen captain at the next meeting of the company.

PUBLIC MILK STATION TO OPEN TOMORROW

The milk station of the Nursing Bureau, maintained by the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the City Union of King's Daughters, the Charity Organization Society, the Plainfield Board of Education and the North Plainfield Board of Education, will be open tomorrow, at the King's Daughters' Day Nursery on West Front street.

The object, as has been stated in these columns, is to supply the milk preparations prescribed by physicians, which parents find so difficult to purchase at home. The proper modification of milk being such an important factor in the health of infants and, at present is the main hope in the reduction of infant mortality from intestinal diseases during the warm weather.

A nurse will be in charge of the station in the morning from 8 to 8:30 o'clock every day to distribute the milk.

At the time the first preparation is presented the parent will pay twenty-five cents. Of this amount fifteen cents is a deposit to insure the Bureau against the loss of bottles, the remaining ten cents as a deposit for advance payment of the first lot of milk. The sum of ten cents to be paid each day after the first; the milk always being paid for in advance, and the bottles must be returned clean each day in order to insure the delivery of a fresh supply.

Those unable to pay will receive the milk free only by an order of the Overseer of the Poor, of the city or borough, the City Union of King's Daughters or the Charity Organization Society.

ELDRIDGE LOST TAX CLERKSHIP

Civil Service Commission Decides Law Not Violated In Giving Job to Democrat.

FOUND NO POLITICS IN IT

In Somerset County Case, However, Commission Orders Re-instatement of Republican Secretary—The Same In Atlantic County.

Trenton, July 31.—On the ground that the evidence in his favor was not conclusive, the State Civil Service Commission yesterday afternoon dismissed the complaint of C. W. Eldridge, former secretary of the Union County Tax Board. He filed the complaint asking the State Board to order his reinstatement as secretary, making the charge that he had been discharged solely for political purposes as a Republican to make way for the appointment of John R. Connolly, an Elizabeth lawyer. Connolly is a Democrat and under the decision will retain the place.

The Union County Tax Board became Democratic after Governor Wilson had appointed two of its members and it was then that the change in the Secretary was made. Eldridge claimed that under the Civil Service act he could not be removed for political reasons. Recently the Civil Service Board held an exhaustive hearing in the case, resulting in yesterday's decision.

The two Democratic members of the board denied that there was any politics in the removal of Eldridge, and it was shown at the hearing that the Republican member offered a resolution providing for the appointment of Connolly. There was evidence that Eldridge did not devote all his time to the office, but that was met by showing that he was paid only $1,200 a year, when the law permitted $1,800 to be paid and was not expected to give his whole time to the place. The Republican member favored Connolly on condition that he would devote more time to the job than Eldridge had done, though he was not required to give all his time to the work and the salary remained $1,200.

A similar fight over the secretaryship of the Cumberland County Tax Board is the only one remaining to be decided. In the Atlantic county and Somerset county cases the Civil Service Commission decided that the law relating to politics had been violated and in each case ordered the Republican secretary, who had been ousted, to make way for a Democrat to be reinstated.

T. S. ARMSTRONG GIVES ADVICE TO DRUGGISTS

The tenth anniversary number of the National Association Retail Druggists' magazine, entitled "N. A. R. D. Notes," just published, contains an excellent picture of T. S. Armstrong, a leading druggist in this prosperous city. He is a member of the committee on organization and co-operation of the association and will attend the annual meeting of the national association in Milwaukee August 19.

In the current number of the magazine, which contains his picture, Mr. Armstrong has the following to say regarding the association: "Of all the many ways the National Association of Retail Druggists has benefited the druggists of this country, the greatest benefit, to my mind, has been derived from organization and co-operation, making it possible propaganda and legislative results that never would have been possible without our association.

"Without 'Nots' the association would have been, so to speak, speechless, and to that extent, helpless. Coming as 'Notes' do, direct from headquarters, every reader of our own paper knows the situation all over this country and gets the benefit of the experience and advice of our officers, and some of the best men engaged in the retail drug business of the country.

"My advice to every druggist in the United States is to take 'Notes,' read 'Notes' and make mental notes while reading, and you will be a better man in your family, a better citizen and a better druggist."

ROGERS FOR COUNCIL.

A petition is being circulated for the nomination of George T. Rogers, of Myrtle avenue, at the coming primaries to succeed Morris C. VanArsdale, who declines renomination for the North Plainfield Council. W. J. Buttfield, outgoing councilman, is slated as the other Republican nominee, it is reported.

BORO RECORDER BUCKS THE STANDARD OIL

Gano to Fight Against Allowing Concern to Build a Plant Adjoining His Property.

Recorder Manning F. Gano, of North Plainfield, has purchased the property of Amos B. Stites, at 1707-1709 West Front street, adjoining that of the Standard Oil Company, and upon which the company plans to erect storage tanks and stables, and he declared today that he intends to take steps to prevent the company from carrying out its purpose.

At the time the Common Council gave the Standard Oil Company permission to go ahead with its plans there was a public hearing and a petition protesting against favorable action was presented to the Council. Mayor Moy vetoed the ordinance, but the Council passed it notwithstanding. Mr. Stites was among those at the hearing and he spoke in favor of the company's proposition, claiming that the proposed tanks and stables would not be a nuisance or detriment.

Recorder Gano in speaking of the matter today said:

"The claims of the petitioners were well founded and as I now own the tract adjoining that of the Standard Oil Company, I intend fighting the matter to a finish. I contend that a person or company cannot use his or its land to the detriment and depreciation of adjoining property, and if the Council grants a permit for the construction of such buildings which would be a nuisance, it is indirectly to blame."

It is understood that many property owners have expressed their willingness to join with Mr. Gano in opposing the erection of the oil tanks and stables.

FRECKLES IS COMING TO PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Among the plays booked for an early appearance at the Plainfield Theatre during this coming season, will be "Freckles," which had such a remarkable run last year. The progress of art and science as affecting stage productions is notable in the scenery in this play. The first two acts are laid in the "Limberlost," a virgin forest and swamp, and there is displayed with remarkable beauty and realism by means of modern scenic paintings lightening effects and mechanical contrivances. In speaking of the play, "Freckles" the Boston Transcript says:

"The people who move within it are so human that one instantly picks them out for like and dislike, as if one had actually known them in real life. 'Freckles' is a human play, filled with compressed intensity, yet never pitched in a high, melodramatic key."

DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE OWN TICKET

Democratic Club Committee to Fix Up a Slate for Primaries for Local Nominations.

ENDRESS FOR MAYOR?

Lynch or Dilts for Tax Collector and Possibly J. O. Stevens for City Treasurer—Some Who Are Mentioned for the Common Council.

The question of available candidates for local offices was discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Plainfield Democratic Club, last night, when it was learned that there was a number in a receptive mood. It was reported that Councilman Fred Endress was being boomed in his ward for the Mayoralty nomination, irrespective of party affiliation. The prospective candidates for ward councilmen were also considered, and among those mentioned were J. C. Schinkel, of the First ward; C. W. Smith, J. B. Gutteridge and Daniel F. Dugan, of the Second ward, Daniel Coutain, of the Third ward, and Fred Ivamy, of the Fourth ward. It was stated that these men have developed considerable strength among the voters in their respective wards.

For the office of city treasurer, the name of J. O. Stevens, of Clinton avenue, was mentioned as a prospective candidate, while Edward T. Lynch's name was discussed as a candidate for tax collector. Nothing definite was done in regard to this matter as J. V. F. Dilts is already in the field circulating his petition as a candidate for that nomination.

A sub-committee of seven members of the city committee was appointed to see those mentioned as prospective candidates and arrange to have a full city ticket at the coming election. Edward T. Lynch was chosen to represent the city committee at the meeting of prominent Democrats which is to be held at the Queen City Hotel tonight to form a Wilson and Marshall League.

The question of filling the various election boards in the city with Democratic members was taken up and arrangements were made to have a full report presented at a meeting of the committee to be held Monday night, August 5, when all vacancies will be taken up and filled by recommendation to the county committee.

WELL DESERVED.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Plainfield People.

One kidney remedy never fails.

Plainfield people rely upon it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Plainfield testimony proves it always reliable.

Mrs. Earnest Dorflinger, 400 Clinton Ave., Plainfield, N. J., says: "I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I have for years. The cure they made in my case has been permanent and consequently I am glad to confirm my former testimonial." (Statement given January 19, 1911.)

On August 28, 1905, Mrs. Dorflinger gave the following account of her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. "The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's Drug Store, I began their use. Before long my condition improved and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until I was cured."

We Start the Week with a Special Sale Children's Underwear

An opportunity for Mothers to save considerably on the little one's White Wear.

One of the big manufacturers from whom we purchase our children's undermuslins had this lot of junior garments on hand and offered them to us below their worth. We couldn't resist such a big bargain, so here they are and marked at the same ratio below their real worth. And every garment is splendidly made and finished, and of exceptional quality materials—just like the garments you always secure here; in fact in several instances we could get twice the sum we've marked them at, if we priced them at their real worth. Quantities are limited in most instances, so come early.

NIGHT GOWNS. Made of good quality materials in high neck style, trimmed with pretty torchon laces; sizes 2 to 8 years and a regular 29c values for sale price 19c.

NIGHT GOWNS. In sizes 2 to 10 years, in plain, tucked and embroidery trimmed styles, high neck and worth 39c, at sale price 25c.

NIGHT GOWNS. Fine made garments of Masonville muslin, in high neck, plain tucked style and sizes 2 to 14 yrs; easily worth 65c, at sale price 39c.

NIGHT GOWNS. Two very pretty styles, made of splendid soft finish cambric and nainsook. In either low or V neck and trimmed with embroideries or linen laces, with kimono sleeves, sizes 2 to 16; two very fine numbers, worth 75c and 85c, at special sale price 50c.

DRAWERS. Made of splendidly fine quality materials, tucked and H. S., in sizes 2 to 8; special sale price 10c.

MISSES' DRAWERS. These are in sizes 13, 15 and 17 years; are well made of good material and trimmed with three rows Val. lace, whipped together; a regular 75c value, at sale price 50c.

POLICE GRAFT IS $2,400,000 YEAR

Jack Rose Tells of Collections From Gamblers.

FOUR SHARED IN BIG LOOT

Whitman Hears Names of Some of the Men "Higher Up"—Said That Becker Has Been Promised Immunity if He Will Tell Where Money Went.

New York, July 31.—Jack Rose, on whose confession Lieutenant Becker was locked up in the Tombs charged with being implicated in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, told District Attorney Whitman that $2,400,000 was collected yearly by the police from gambling and disorderly houses and other forms of blackmail. Rose swore that Becker had confided to him that the loot was divided among four police officials, Becker himself, two policemen of higher rank and a minor official who does not wear a uniform.

"Jack," said Becker, "the rake off is so good that my own share was $600,000 and the others got the same."

Becker's collector, who handled a good deal of the money himself, does not think that Becker or any individual pocketed $600,000 in any one year, but that Becker and his connections were distributing agents and that the $500,000 each received was subdivided. There is just one chance for Becker to save himself. The district attorney may conclude to deal leniently with the lieutenant if he can and will tell the truth about who else received the profits of blackmail.

There wasn't the slightest indication that Becker would turn informer. On the contrary, a man with whom he has talked in the past twenty-four hours said that the lieutenant's defense would be that Rose and Bridgie Webber and Harry Vallon had lied about him for the purpose of saving themselves.

Grand Jury to Sit All Summer.

No matter what course Becker may take the grand jury will be kept in session all summer for the purpose of investigating Rose's statements that the profits of the police ring were $2,400,000 annually. The grand jury will go into information obtained by the district attorney that other police officials, as well as a man powerfully connected but not in the department, had a stake in the game of graft.

This will be a matter also for the exercise of the special talents of William J. Burns. Burns detectives are already at work, but Burns himself has not yet contracted to remain in New York and direct the investigation. He is holding out for a big fee. And the district attorney has not yet obtained from William J. Schieffelin and others interested with Mr. Schieffelin a statement as to how much cash they are prepared to spend.

Rose's accusations against Lieutenant Becker were specific and positive. Having obtained, in common with Webber and Vallon, a promise of immunity, Becker's collector was willing to go far. He said that when Becker took charge of the strong arm squad the lieutenant asked him to name the gamblers who were worth dealing with. Rose, from years of expert knowledge, gave Becker a long list of gamblers who could be "persuaded." Most of these did business in Manhattan, but some were located in Brooklyn, where the strong arm squad also had jurisdiction.

Price List Is Agreed On.

Becker, says Rose, scanned the list carefully and decided how much each gambler was to be assessed. There was a systematic and carefully worked out price list. The big gamblers paid heavily. Men like "Honest John" Kelly were forced to contribute as much as $500 a month, while the "little fellows," the Bridgie Webbers of the traffic, were required to put up all the way from $50 to $200 a month.

Rose gave the names of the so called "big business men" of the gambling trade with whom Becker dealt. They are names that have been familiar along Broadway for years.

When Rose tapped at their doors they responded as quickly as the cheap gamblers who had moved up to the Tenderloin after the death of racing—the Beansy Rosenfelds, the Webbers, the Paul Kellys and the Rosenthals.

Mr. Whitman had heard, though not from Rose, that "Honest John" Kelly made out a number of checks to the order of Lieutenant Becker, that these checks were indorsed by a police official and that they were cashed by this official. One of these checks, Mr Whitman learned, was for $2,500. Curiously enough the protection money was not always paid in cash. It sometimes took the form of checks. There is no accounting for that almost unprecedented indiscretion, except on the theory that the shrewd gamblers who gave their checks might have wanted to keep certain tangible evidences of their unlawful dealings with the police, or that perhaps the ringsters became so bold and brazen that they gave little thought to how the money came, so long as it poured in.

Rose spoke of the immense sums he insists that Becker received as casually and as unconcernedly as if he had been discussing hundreds instead of hundreds of thousands.

Money Simply Poured In.

"Few people have any idea," said Rose, "of how fat the pickings are. The money doesn't flow in. It pours in. I can't tell exactly at this moment how many houses gave up protection money, but I know that there were more than a hundred.

"My own contribution was $125 a month," said Bridgie Webber. "That was $1,500 for me alone, and I was only one of the little fellows. Who did I pay? I paid Becker, of course. I gave the money to Rose every month, but I talked to Becker about it right along."

Rose did not seem at all surprised by what he said Becker had told him. His story of the intimate conversations he had with Becker over the annual profits was:

"Becker was feeling pretty good one day, and he was more talkative than usual. We were 'chinning' about who paid up and who hadn't, and Becker said: 'Oh, well, I have no kick coming. My own part for the year has been $600,000, and I turned over the same amount to So-and-so and So-and-so and So-and-so."

Rose added that he had the figures covering many of the collections that he had made for Becker and that he would make out for the district attorney a list of the gambling houses to which he had gone personally in Becker's behalf and from which he had taken varying amounts every month. He promised also to supply full details as to the handling of this money and as to in what form it was received.

JACK SULLIVAN.

Newsboy Friend of Lieut. Becker Promises Startling Disclosures.

High police officials will be involved in charges of gambling and graft to be made before the grand jury by Jack Sullivan (Jacob H. Reich), the newsboy associate of Lieutenant Becker. This statement was made at the Criminal Courts building by Hedford T. Marshall, Sullivan's counsel, who intimated also that District Attorney Whitman had been informed of the sensational character of the disclosures his client proposes to make.

FOSDICK HAS RESIGNED.

Surprise Is Expressed at Action of Commissioner of Accounts.

New York, July 31.—Right on top of the amazing revelations that have followed in the wake of the Rosenthal murder came the announcement that Commissioner of Accounts Raymond B. Fosdick had sent his resignation to the mayor and that it had been accepted.

Rumors were rife that the mayor had recently expressed a desire for Mr. Fosdick's resignation, but every one in the mayor's office and in the department of the commissioner of accounts declared that there was no truth in these reports, but that on the contrary the best of feeling existed between the mayor and Mr. Fosdick.

Commissioner Fosdick stated in his letter of resignation that a business opportunity prompted him to resign the office.

EXPLOSION ROCKS CLEVELAND

Powder Magazine In Suburb Lets Go. Three Injured.

Cleveland, O., July 31.—Three persons were injured when the explosion of a magazine of the Austin Powder company, near Newburg, a suburb of this city, wrecked the plant and rocked and rocked the city. Windows were shattered at a distance of seven miles.

Men, women and children on the streets a half mile away from the magazines were knocked flat on the ground by the shock. Hundreds were temporarily deafened by the detonation. Doors were blown from their hinges and roofs were shifted from the walls that held them.

The magazine was a small building, 34 by 4 feet. It held several tons of high explosives.

Two and a half miles away a twelve year-old boy was thrown from his bed by the force of the blast.

AUGUST FUR SALE

Unquestionably Newark's Premier Midsummer Fur Event

Savings From ¼ to ⅓

The Choicest and Most Comprehensive Stock of Furs We Have Ever Assembled. All Brand-New Goods.

Our August Fur Sales have become famous throughout New Jersey because of the reliability of the furs, the lowness of the prices and the reputation we have attained for giving just what we advertise, together with our readiness to make good anything proving unsatisfactory without question or argument. The increased volume and prestige each year of these sales are due to their value from a quality and economical standpoint, becoming more generally recognized by a broadly growing clientele. We are the and year after year we have maintained the prestige of leadership by showing a stock of furs vastly superior to those generally exploited in August Fur Sales. And so with many years of experience in fur buying, you are assured of prime skins, for our buyer's expert knowledge together with our reputation for selling only the most reliable furs would not permit the exploiting of any other kind.

In the preparation of these exceptional August Fur Sales we constantly operate upon the virtue of past experience, exercising every effort and endeavor toward advantageous buying and employing the keenest acumen in order to secure the very best values for the money, values which we can guarantee will save our patrons anywhere from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars' worth of the choicest furs at savings that under ordinary conditions cannot be duplicated, and especially this year owing to the strike in the fur trade. Manufacturers agree that no piece of fur can be produced at these prices if a new labor schedule of prices goes into effect, which seems altogether probable at this time.

All Coats Made to Measure Above Size 42, 10 Per Cent. Extra.

NOTE—Selections during this sale may be made by the payment of a small deposit—your purchase being held for you until December 1st if so desired.

NOTE—We do not sell furs under fictitious names, except, perhaps, to explain to you what the "nom de plume" is—you will always know just what fur you are buying.

DON'T BE HASTY.

This is no time to launch booms for nominations for local offices for at present many, many Plainfielders whose advice and judgment are worth having are out of the city. More than one serious mistake has been made in very recent years by a political party here in hastily putting into the running a candidate who although he was quite sure of obtaining the nomination was destined for defeat at the general election.

There are some important offices to be filled this year and it would be the part of wisdom for the political leaders to defer action until such time as they are in a position to learn the true public sentiment. The day for boss dictation for nominations is gone and most of the men in touch with public affairs realize this fact only too well.

When the Standard Oil trust was "dissolved," its stock was quoted at the fabulous rate of $675 a share. But since then John D. and his crowd have steadily been raising the prices of their commodities and have succeeded so well that S. O. stock this week saw its high water mark at $1,000 per share. Incidently John D.'s share of the profits on the raise amounted to the trifling sum—to him—of some eighty-one millions of dollars. But, why criticise the means the Oil King uses to obtain his sordid riches, for as he can't take it with him when he dies some part of it may ultimately go where it would do much good and Rockefeller's memory will be cherished as that of a great philanthropist.

The Public Milk Depot to be opened tomorrow by the allied charity organizations of the community should prove to be a great blessing to the poor. As we understand it, the undertaking is not planned for the purpose of drawing away business from milk dealers but solely with the idea of providing at actual cost milk that is absolutely fresh. It is primarily intended that the lacteal fluid, thus distributed, be fed to the babes of the poor and therefore it is a noble work.

Judge Wescott, who aspires to Senatorial honors on the strength of a single speech delivered in Baltimore, is in the wilds of Canada, but his press agent is hard at work. As an exchange opines, Wescott is not heavy enough to hold down the job he covets. He had better stay right up there in the Canadian forests and enjoy himself on a small part of the money he would otherwise spend in seeking an office he cannot get.

Having completed what he terms a "warning trip," A. W. Schwartz, Union county's superintendent of weights and measures, makes announcement that hereafter he will see that prosecutions follow when he finds any merchants using short weights or small measures. Heavy fines and full publicity for the offenders will be effective in putting a stop to this form of fraud.

The verdict of the British Board of Trade on its Titanic disaster probe is much like some of the whitewashing done by the average public investigating bodies in this country. Speed is held to have been responsible for the loss of 1,500 lives but Captain Smith is not blamed, neither is there any censure for J. Bruce Ismay nor Cosmo Duff-Gordon.

When you have the inclination and the means, remember that the Baby Camp on the mountain is deserving of your support. Contributions sent to this office will be promptly acknowledged.

In Chicago is to be established a magazine devoted exclusively to the poetic art. Now we know to whom to refer the contributions of the budding young rhymesters.

THE FORUM.

July 30, 1912.
Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

An article in your 7-20-12 issue gives an account of Mrs. Bostwick and son being afflicted with ptomaine poisoning. I believe no better work can be done by the press than to warn the public of the danger existing from partaking of foods not properly preserved, and the necessity of utilizing canned goods as soon as posible after opening the can.

Scientific experiments have determined time and time again that numerous articles of food when not kept in an hygienic condition readily deteriorate so as to become poisonous substances.

The formation of ptomaine generally, although not always, accompanies putrefaction. Therefore, great care should be taken that meat, fish, fowl, oysters, canned goods, etc., are eaten only when they are in good condition. It is not economy to partake of food when putrefaction has commenced. Food can be kept in an hygienic condition either by heat or refrigeration by the exclusion of air, or by the application of substances which on account of their antiseptic properties prevent the growth of poisonous germs.

Statistics show that since the enactment of the Pure Food Law there have been 33,009 cases of ptomaine poisoning, 1,382 of which were fatal. It is certainly distressing to think of this vast number of persons becoming ill and of so many innocent lives lost merely because food products are not preserved so as to keep them in an hygienic condition until consumed. Such distressing conditions will continue to prevail as long as consumers do not heed the warning of the danger existing in consuming foods not kept in an hygienic condition.

Yours very truly,
H. L. HARRIS.

GOVERNOR OUTLINES ISSUES OF NEW JERSEY CAMPAIGN

Trenton, July 31.—The chief issues in the State campaign this fall, Governor Wilson declared yesterday afternoon, will be the question of the reorganization of the State government so as to put all its departments on a sound basis to give greater efficiency in administration, and the reforming of the taxing system of the State to bring about greater equality of taxation.

The Governor said that the State campaign will of necessity, be largely overshadowed by the national fight, but in his opinion these two questions will be the foundation of the New Jersey legislative contest.

MORE LIQUOR CASES.
When the batch of adjourned cases for the ilegal sale of liquor comes up for a hearing on Monday, August 12, in the city court, it is expected that several other dealers will be arraigned for similar infractions of the law. The recent conviction of Morris Latzko, of 27 Somerset street, North Plainfield, does not seem to have acted as a detriment, and the business of evading the law still continues.

HOLLAND VISITED BY TOURISTS

fine and we enjoyed it immensely.

Sunday, July 7, 1910.—Fair and warm. Sunday being a day of rest nothing was planned for the party. Some spent the day writing and sleeping, others sightseeing. Our party did some of each. After breakfast three of us walked to Buckingham Palace to see the Change of Guards at 10:20 a. m. We were early enough to get an advantageous position in front of the Middle gate. The horsemen who had changed at St. James Palace came riding up accompanied by a fine band and a company of foot soldiers. It was a fine sight to see them drilling in the Palace yard with their bright red uniforms trimmed with gold. Those who had been on guard then marched with the band to their barracks outside of St. James' Park.

Returning down the Mall to Trafalgar Square we took a bus to the Tate Museum which overlooks the Thames. We returned to the hotel in time for lunch and spent the afternoon in resting, writing and packing for our flight to Holland.

We left London at 7 p. m. in the midst of a few rain drops, the first we had seen since leaving dear old U. S. After an hour's ride on the Great Eastern Railroad we reached Harwick where we had first-class state rooms on the S. S. Copenhagen, bound for the Hook of Holland.

Monday, July 8, 1912.—Cloudy in morning, clear later in the day. Boat stopped at 5 o'clock, had breakfast at 6:30 and disembarked at the Hook of Holland at 7:30. Here we had to meet the customs officers again, but had no trouble. We took a train right from the wharf on the South German R. R. for the Hague. The scenery here was very picturesque with its dikes, canals and quaint windmills. To me the fields did not seem nearly as greeen nor as well kept as those of England. Holstein cows were pasteured everywhere. The Dutch children and peasants in their quaint costumes and wooden shoes, walking beside their little carts drawn by dogs were very interesting. Here again the landscape was brightened by fields or patches of gorgeous red poppies.

Reached Dem Haag (The Hague) at 9 o'clock. Stopped for a minute at our hotel (Du Passage) and went for a long carriage drive. We drove along canals of all sizes on which were quaint barges of every description. In many places houses were built right on the banks. We saw the famous four mile avenue of fine Linden trees called "Unter der Lindens." They were in full bloom and this added to their attractiveness

We soon passed the Schootsen, the place where Queen Whilhemina and the ladies of the Court skate in winter. In the centre is the place where the band plays. We drove through a beautiful park or woods and soon came to the "House in the Woods." This beautiful place made of tiny bricks was built by Queen Sophie in memory of Frederick Henry in 1648. The rooms were gorgeous and are well worth mentioning. First was Queen Sophie's Diningroom containing a handsome collection of fine Japanese China with beautiful plates depicting each month of the year. We visited the Japanese Room papered with beautiful Japanese rice paper and containing beautiful ornaments and furniture, some inlaid with mother of pearl. The Chinese Room contained beautiful hand embroidered silk-covered furniture, many with hand carving. A case of carved ivory ornaments was particularly beautiful. The Ball Room housed the first International Peace Conference in 1899. This is a beautiful room with a high domed ceiling, the beautiful painting of which can be seen mirrored in a handsome highly polished porvier table advantageously placed. On the entrance door was a grand Rubens painting of "Wisdom (Minerva) and Strength (Hercules) Opening the Door for Peace." This was a very interesting and profitable visit.

In the drive back to the hotel we passed a funeral procession and saw the bier draped in black. On a large Common troops were drilling and signaling. We drove around the Britenhof Square and saw the ponderous Binnenhof Palace (Parliament buildings) of great historic interest. Our hotel was uniquely situated among beautiful little silver shops where we purchased some handsome Dutch silver chains. The streets in this vicinity were covered with glass canopy and paved with tiles and mosaics; so that one could shop in any kind of weather without discomfort. Everything was scrupulously neat and clean.

After lunch we took another carriage drive. This time we headed for the quaint fishing town and fashionable summer resort of Scheveningen. On our way there we visited the Old Gerangenport (Prison) Tower where we saw the dreadful old instruments of torture and the room where people were starved to death so situated that they could smell the lucious things cooking in the kitchen opposite. In front of the Royal Palace where the beloved Queen Wilhemina spends four months of the year is a large statue of Prince William I. The Palace is over 400 years old and contains 300 rooms. Soldiers were on guard before it. We passed the New Carnegie Peace Palace in process of construction. We drove through beautiful woods where we saw pretty Dutch girls with wooden shoes, full skirts and white caps knitting stockings as they walked. The Hotel de la Promenade with the dainty white tea tables under the trees was a charming sight. We passed some beautiful residences with handsome flower-beds before them. We then drove through the quaint narrow streets of old Scheveningen. Men, women and children flocked out to see our eight carriages file past. Here indeed was an opportunity to study Dutch peasant life. We saw many quaint costumes and red-cheeked rolly-polly children to whom we threw coppers. I took several interesting pictures. Leaving old fishing village we came to the fashionable summer resort. Here we drove along a fine road with the North Sea rolling in on a large beach on our left and fine cottages and hotels on the right. The beach was dotted with cute little wicker-top beach chairs and bath wagons in which bathers dress and are drawn out into the surf. Bathers are not allowed on the beach in their bathing suits. A large recreation pier reminded us of Asbury Park near here we saw two Dutch children drinking water from their wooden shoes.

On the way home we had a delightful drive through a woods. We saw several boat ferries across the canals. A large flat bottomed boat is fastened to an iron chain that stretches across the canal and the boat man pulls on the chain and the boat moves across. We passed the private home of the Queen's mother and then returned to our hotel for dinner. After dinner did some shopping as the stores here remain open until 9:30 p. m.

Tuesday, July 9, 1912—Fair and warm. Arose at 6 a. m., had breakfast and took carriages for the station where we took a train on South German R. R. for Amsterdam. The scenery from The Hague to Amsterdam was similar to that on the way to the Hague on Monday—picturesque canals and windmills and pretty little hamlets and old churches.

We reached Amsterdam at 9:45. Walked to the Hotel Oldewelt where we found all our party could not be accommodated, so some went to the Dam Hotel, and several who stayed there said it was rightfully named. Here for the first time in Holland we noticed the disagreeable odor from stagment water in some of the canals.

As nothing was planned for the morning we split up into small groups and started out to see the town. After lunch had a fine carriage ride around the city. We went through the Royal Palace built in 1648 for a City Hall, but later remodeled for a palace. It contained some beautiful marble pillars, but did not appeal to me in the least. The Throne, Grand and Audience Halls were the three prettiest rooms. The handsome painting of William the Silent, the Father of the Dutch Republic was particularly pointed out to us.

The Statue of Rembrandt in Rembrandt Square was very fine. We drove over a fine drawbridge over the North Holland Canal, the largest canal, on our way to the Coster Diamond Factory. Here we saw men cut, saw, split and polish diamonds. In the office were models of all the famous diamonds of the world, including the Cullinan Diamond. From here we passed through a poorer part of the city and saw a quaint old market place where they sold every imaginable and unimaginable thing and looked except for costumes, like Hester St., N. Y. C.

We next visited the Ryk's Museum but as our time was limited we were pointed out only the important things. The finest picture in the gallery was Rembrandt's "Night Watch," a favorite of all. This occupied one side of a separate room. Van Rinsdael's "Dutch Windmill" and many pictures of Van Dyke, Reubens, and Van Steen were pointed out to us. In a room below the picture gallery were cases showing the dress from very olden times to the present day. Old coaches, sleighs and other vehicles were also seen.

Leaving the museum we passed a schoolhouse and saw the children going home with great stacks of books strapped to their backs. The Crystal Palace had a fine fountain surrounded with beautiful beds of flowers in front of it. After driving through picturesque streets we returned to the hotel. Here at night we became acquainted with the "featherbed comfortables." These are like small-sized featherbeds enclosed in nice white cases and are to be used for extra covering in cool weather. These are used in almost all the continental countries.

Although Amsterdam in the guide books is called the cleanest city on the continent from actual observation we failed to believe it; as most of us considered The Hague the cleaner of the two. Tomorrow we leave picturesque Holland for Belgium. Belgium and Germany will be pictured to you by Miss Agnes Leighs. I am glad I could write to you about England, as so far that is my favorite.

Very sincerely,
MABEL H. VAIL.

DOG LICENSE CASES.
The borough marshals are still on the track of owners of unlicensed dogs, as was shown this morning, when six offenders were arraigned before Recorder Gano in the police court and compelled to take out licenses for their canines. They were Adam Heim, of 23 Manning avenue; Charles Kreutzfeldt, of 69 Wilson avenue; E. G. Wilson, of 4 Mercer avenue, William Mowery, of 47 Jefferson avenue; Charles H. Lyman, of 76 Washington avenue, and William Clark, of 18 Jefferson avenue.

GEORGE B. STAATS SURPRISED.
George B. Staats, of Netherwood avenue, was given a surprise party at his home last night by a large company of friends and relatives. An orchestra of six pieces added enjoyment through the rendition of a popular program. The music was in charge of Walter C. Cubberley. There was singing, dancing, instrumental music and refreshments and it was a late hour this morning when the guests departed for their homes

A. L. Andrews, of North Plainfield, will substitute as organist for Howard M. Case, at the First Baptist church, during the month of August and William Holmes, baritone soloist, will act as precenter.

N. W. French, who has resided at 112 West Fourth street for the past twenty-four years, has removed his business and residence o 41 Grandview avenue, the borough.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Pick up at random any current issue of magazine or daily, and you may or may not find something in it about aviation; but you are sure to find a dissertation on some phase of "The Woman Question."

Lessons of the Women's Parade.

Why I am Glad that I am a Woman.

Women at the Convention.

Woman.

The Economic Independence of Women.

Tucked away in its department of book reviews, even our ultra conservative friend, "The Outlook," speaking of the translations of a German book on "The Modern Woman's Rights Movement," admits with grave air of having discovered a new truth: "While we may dissent, it is well to read an authoritative statement of the cause that has attracted so much public notice during the past five years."

Now as one editor puts it:

"When any radical movement is ignored utterly, it has not really begun to breathe. When it excites jeers and jokes, caricatures and cartoons, when it invades poetry, the novel and the drama, it has begun to move. When the ablest and most important forces in the community begin to array themselves on one side or the other it has won."

There is no getting away from the logic of this conclusion. The Equal Rights movement has won actually in a continually growing white list of nations and States where women have the same political rights as men—potentially in all nations and States.

As Inez Haynes Gillmore points out in a recent article:

"In every country now there are large numbers of women drawn into the army for or the army against. It makes no difference in which side these warrior women are fighting; they are happy women because they are working and thinking and growing. But without doubt the happiest women are those who are fighting for. It is a wonderful thing to have convictions so strong that even if they are reactionary you must go out and do battle for them."

And the same writer says further: "The only really unhappy and unfortunate women are those who are standing still and letting a great world-movement pass them by."

While the editor of the Delineator scores these same women in these words:

"The difficulty lies in the inertia, the indifference of the happy woman. It is almost impossible for her to look around her safeguarded life and realize that the very security of her position should impel her to efforts to place all her sisters in the same position."

So paradoxical as it may seem, this so-called "happy" woman in her blindness and indifference is really the unhappy one today. For this ubiquitous "Woman Question" is not merely the question as to whether or no women can or may vote; that is only a part of a much larger matter which includes woman's entire status, legal, social, economic, domestic, political, ethical—in a word her relations to the world and those that dwell therein.

Earl Barnes states this clearly in the August Atlantic when he writes:

"The last two hundred years have revolutionized nearly all of our deepest conceptions concerning the relations of human beings to religion, government, property and to one another. In the midst of these compelling changes women could no more remain undisturbed within the confines of kitchen and nursery than men could remain on their little New England farms, or cobble shoes and make tin pans in the petty shops of a century ago. But meanwhile the special interests of women have been badly confused because of the larger changes in which all human relations have been involved in this time of readjustment. Instead of talking of unquiet women of today, we should talk of our unquiet world."

And again:

"All the efforts to open the doors of opportunity through which women can pass into the man's world are but preparations for the beginning of a journey."

* * * * * *

"Everywhere the feeling is abroad that instead of having arrived at a destination, women have embarked on a journey fraught with many uncertainties."

Like the ship that Kipling made famous, woman must "find herself;" must readjust herself to the new order of things in this ever changing old world; must expand and extend her natural gifts to meet the growing needs of humanity around her. The ballot is only one of the terms in which she may express the new found, larger self; but it is the fundamental one of all as every woman knows who has tried to render public service, from Jane Addams down through a long list of great hearted workers.

"And when," to quote once more, "she has gained those rights equal with men that she is now demanding what has woman to give the world in return

"She has come marching out of the past bearing her three great gifts—her maternal spirit, her capacity for unselfish love, her instinct for personal service. I see the woman of the future putting them all to their greatest uses. I see man and woman, working side by side, studying side by side, playing side by side. I see her performing her great mothering function, not alone for the family, but for the city, the State, the country, the world—mothering humanity in the bulk. I see the woman of the future exercising everywhere this maternal instinct, taking children out of the factories to give them back their childhood, taking women of that hideous Sargasso Sea of their sex and giving them back their womanhood. I see the woman of the future, her instinct for personal service developed into an instinct for public service, renovating the cities, beautifying the schools, building as many playgrounds as there are children to play in them, purifying the prisons—cleansing the whole dirty world—helping man with that terrible burden of governmental housekeeping under which he has staggered helplessly alone all these ages."

The Soldier Laddie.

He was a soldier laddie,
And he stood erect and grand,
With toes turned out and cap a-tilt
And musket in his hand.
Oh, the way he held his musket
Was indeed beyond compare,
Such firmness, such precision,
Such a military air!

Was his musket a real Mauser?
Was his coat of khaki made?
Was the frown upon his forehead
One to make a foe afraid?
No. His jacket and his musket
And the cap upon his head—
In fact, this soldier laddie
Was all made of gingerbread.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FIRELESS COOKERY.

THE fireless cooker is such a convenience in hot weather that even if you do not feel like going to the expense of buying one of the well equipped cookers which are sold in the shops you can easily make a substitute that will serve at least some purposes.

A handy cooker may be made from one of the empty wooden candy buckets which are often sold at the grocer's for a small sum. The cover must be tight fitting, and it is well to make it double, with the inner one fitting down inside. Leather hinges will do to fasten the lid to the bucket.

Cross strips should be put on the lid for fear the steam may warp it. Paper the bucket several times inside and out.

A packing of excelsior is then put around the cooking vessel, which must have a tight fitting lid also.

Start the cooking on the stove, and then place the vessel in the cooker, surrounding it with the excelsior and fastening the lid down.

Uses of the Cooker.

On hot days water may be kept warm indefinitely in a cooker of this sort.

A tight fitting box filled with hay and having a cover also makes a good fireless cooker.

Cereals if needed for breakfast may be put in the fireless cooker overnight. They should have a start of five minutes on the range and should be transferred to the cooker very quickly.

Soups or stews after being started on the fire will be ready for use after five or six hours in the cooker.

When beans are to be baked let them soak several hours, then boil them for about ten minutes and leave in the cooker for six hours. Take out and brown in the oven.

When boiling ham, soak overnight, scrape, boil on the fire for thirty minutes, and let it continue to boil for eight hours in the fireless cooker.

Eliminating Odors.

Fish may be boiled without the odor pervading the house as follows: Roll in cheesecloth after it has been cleaned and prepared for cooking. Tie the cloth and drop into boiling water into which salt and a little vinegar have been added. Let it boil on the stove for five minutes and place it in the fireless cooker for two or three hours. Drain and serve with fish sauce.

VAGARIES OF FASHION.

Shadow Laces Used Successfully in Summer Millinery.

Shadow laces and nets are used in millinery in treating brims, crowns and for simulated bows and loops. A fine fillet pattern is most used.

A universal favorite is the hat turning up from the face with a rather broad, rolled up brim, which may flare or rest snugly against the crown.

It is quite proper now to have a well defined waist line, and all manner of pretty sash ribbons are being used to give a dainty note to the costume.

The Apache collar has close rivals in the Robespierre and modified Medici models.

Wide belts and girdles of leather, ribbon, satin or silk are much in evidence.

The house or breakfast jacket made with a peplum is always smart. This tucked model is particularly good and practical. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7502, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

August Room-Making Sale
Housefurnishings, Crockery, Glassware

$50,000 worth of seasonable merchandise is to be offered at reduced prices during the month of August because of our great need of room.

It is this way—all raw materials and manufactured goods, especially the metal lines, have been on the upward trend, and prices have greatly advanced. In order to protect the interests of our patrons and ourselves we placed large advance orders, anticipating the raise in prices, ordering deliveries to be made in August. These goods are already coming in. Our stockrooms are already well occupied, and we must move much of the stock on hand in order to receive the later arrivals.

To do this we are going to sacrifice prices right and left, and relentlessly, all to your decided advantage. A few of the many good things offered in the basement are listed below:

Alcohol Stoves—two burner, wickless, gives a great deal of heat, easy to operate, useful for camping and traveling; regularly $2.75, special at $1.95.

Knives—a large assortment of Butchers' and Kitchen Knives; good quality steel, strong riveted handles; regularly 19c, special at 10c.

Fern Dishes—of brass, with mirror plateau, filled with artificial ferns; regularly 98c, special at 65c.

Coffee Percolators—Sternau's; cooper, polished finish—

U. H. MC CARTER DISCUSSES THE MONEY QUESTION

Under the caption, "The Money Question," Uzal H. McCarter, president of the big Fidelity Trust Company, of Newark, has sent out an interesting pamphlet calling attention to the work of the National Citizens' League in its effort to rouse public sentiment in favor of the much needed currency reform.

It is explained by Mr. McCarter that the league has no plan to advance and no proposed change to oppose. The object of the organization is simply to point out the perils of the present financial system of the country, which was largely responsible for the disastrous panic of 1907 and for other monitary disturbances, and to educate voters on the importance of a prompt and helpful change in the existing banking laws. The question, Mr. McCarter explains, is one that comes directly home to the individual, as well as to all business men and to the country at large, and for that reason voters in general are urged to take an active, personal interest in the work of the league.

Membership in the organization entitles members to special literature and general data on the subject, and to cover the cost of preparing, printing and mailing this information a fee of $1 is charged by the association, which has branches in every State of the Union. The organization, which is made up of prominent business men, is non-partisan. Its sole object is the promotion of a sound banking system. The directors of the New Jersey branch of the league are men of high standing. They are:

Franklin Murphy, Gottfried Krueger, M. Taylor Pyne, R. C. Jenkinson, Percival Chrystie, Albert J. Hahne, L. E. Travis, Charles Bradley, Peter Campbell, J. William Clark, William M. Johnson, John W. Ferguson, General Bird W. Spencer, George T. Smith, C. H. K. Halsey, John A. Campbell, Charles S. Boyer, Charles L. Auger, C. H. C. Jagels, Curtis R. Burnett, George A. Eyer, Walter E. Edge.

Ivory In Siberia.

An enormous supply of ivory exists in the frozen tundras of Siberia, which, it is thought, will probably suffice for the world's consumption for many years to come. This ivory consists of the tusks of the extinct species of elephants called mammoths. The tusks of these animals were of great size and are wonderfully abundant at some places in Siberia, where the frost has perfectly preserved them and in many cases has preserved the flesh of the animal also.

YOUNG WOMAN CAN GET HER COAT AT HEADQUARTERS

There is a woman's coat at police headquarters for which an owner is sought. The presence of the garment there is an aftermath of an altercation alleged to have taken place in Meyers' lunch wagon on East Second street last Friday night, when Hartz Tynke, a chauffeur employed by a local physician, was charged with pulling a knife on William Seaton.

Tynke, who is a German, is alleged to have made a remark in his native tongue to which two other customers in the lunch wagon took exception. Tynke upbraided the proprietor for interfering, while the other customers went outside. Seaton met Patrolman Flatley and told him of the incident and Tynke's arrest followed.

At the request of Chief Kiely Seaton took the woman's coat to headquarters. There was a note attached written in German, saying that the coat would be called for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. It was known that Tynke had the coat when he entered the lunch wagon but when arrested he disclaimed knowledge as to the name of the owner. When arraigned before City Judge W. G. De Meza, for a hearing this morning Tynke explained that he could not understand English very well.

Patrolman Frank Sweeney said that he met Tynke and another man, a brick layer from Dunellen, on Friday night, Tynke having introduced the stranger as a "specialist in bones," and adding that he was "a German doctor with a world-wide reputation." In reply to questions, Tynke said that the coat he was carrying belonged to a girl who had gone to a drug store, but had not returned. Tynke admitted he was intoxicated. Sentence was suspended.

PATRICK DONAVAN GETS ON THE WARPATH AGAIN

With the snows of sixty-eight winters whitening his hair and silvering his mustache, "Pat" Donovan is as well preserved and husky an old timer as one could meet. As his name indicates he is of Hibernian extraction and possesses much of the fire and impetuosity of that fighting race. He is a believer in unrestrained freedom and liberty of the subject and sets continually at defiance the rules and regulations in force at the City's Industrial Home. He works when he feels like it and loafs on the same principle. For eight years he has been a habitue of the "Poor Farm" near Dunellen, but the call of the "spirits" of that gay little town has more attractions for him than the prosaic life "behind the walls." The boisterousness and gayety of these excursions clung to him as he returned to the Por Farm and generally ended in a scrap with some of the other peaceful inmates, necessitating a more or less prolonged vacation to a certain free hostelry in Elizabeth. Eight times has he gone on these vacations and eight times has he returned repentant, with promises to amend.

This morning proved the ninth occasion on which he has appeared in the police court on a charge of upsetting the serenity of that rural community. He bore evidence of having come off second best in the encounter, his face and head bearing sundry marks of where he had been hit with a club by James Miller, another habitue.

Overseer of the Poor Henry L. De Forest gave evidence of Pat's unquenchable penchant for scrapping and said that the whole discipline of the house was overturned by his behavior. In his defense "Pat" stated that Miller had a grudge against him since the time he took the part of an old cripple that Miller was beating with a stick and that he had caused the present quarrel.

In giving his promise to be of good behavior for the future, City Judge William G. DeMeza told "Pat" that he would not send him to jail this time, but would let him return to rural contentment.

A Choice of Evils.

Landlady—Would you advise me to send my daughter to a cooking school or to a music school? Boarder (reflectively)—Well, I think I'd send her to a cooking school. It may be more fatal in its results, but it isn't anything like so noisy.

Economy is in itself a source of great revenue.—Seneca.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The Pets will be back on the Oval again Saturday afternoon. And with Westfield as its opponents. The Mt. Ararat nine is out for revenge after the beating the locals handed to it at the last meeting.

We expect to see "Germany" Ortlieb in the role of opposing twirler here Saturday and if he puts up the kind of ball he did against Dunellen last week the local nine will have to go the limit in order to come out ahead.

And if Westfield does not make so many errors behind him.

And Eddie Stallings still insists that Slocum is easy. What's more, he says there will be nothing to it when the Brookers come to the Oval. (The conceited —)

The West Ends took two over the weak end—I should have said week end.

Track athletics will receive another boom two weeks from Saturday in the shape of a Scottish Clan meet. Robert Murray, who is promoting the affair, still insists that there must be some feminine events on the program.

Mike Donlin, once captain of the Giants, and now an outfielder with the Pittsburgh Pirates, says that if Larry Doyle was forced to the side lines for any length of time the New York Giants would swerve like a rudderless ship. He says further that Laughing Larry is the boss booster of the band and keeps his teammates fighting all the time. No doubt Donlin is not far wrong, for Captain Doyle by his constant aggressiveness and hard, consistent hitting is proving more valuable to his team this year than ever before.

Larry Doyle, captain of the Giants, is between two fires. His friends in Breese, Ill., want him to run for mayor of that growing city, and, of course, his New York friends insist that he must play second base for the Giants. It may be Mayor Doyle some day, but for the present it will continue to be "Laughing Larry" Doyle, captain of the Giants.

Captain Chance says the Cubs excel the Giants in every department. Brag is a good dog, but Holdfast is better.

Zimmerman, of the Chicago Cubs, is the real leader in the National League, with .387 for eighty-one games, but Burns, the utility outfielder of the Giants, stands at the top, with .462 for sixteen games. Larry Doyle and Chief Meyers, also of the Giants, are close on the heels of Zimmerman, with .371 and .367, respectively.

Ty Cobb still heads the batting list in the American League, with the remarkable percentage of .422 for eighty-three games. There is only one Ty Cobb.

Joe Wood, pitcher extraordinary of the Boston Red Sox, is now only one game behind Rube Marquard. Wood has won twenty games and lost four, while Marquard has won twenty-one and lost four.

'PRINCETON' BOWS TO 'HARVARD' NINE

Parker Field College League Series Opens With a One-Sided Contest.

A revised schedule having been drawn up in the Parker Field College League and the nines named for Princeton and Harvard, respectively, started the games going yesterday morning in a one-sided contest played on the playground diamond. Although Harvard swamped Princeton with a 20 to 6 count the representatives of the Jersey institution pounded out ten lusty wallops. Several big innings, when the Harvard nine hit the offerings of Wilson and circled the bases at will, told the story. Herbert E. Parker played the role of arbitrator.

'GIANTS' DEFEATED BY 'ATHLETICS', 10 TO 8

Timely Stickwork in the Seventh and Eighth Innings Decided the Contest.

By some heavy stickwork in the seventh and eighth innings the "Athletics" managed to defeat the "Giants" yesterday morning in the Parker Field Baseball League series by the score of 10 to 8. The winners secured an early lead when they chalked up five runs in the second stanza, the advantage was gradually overcome and by pushing a trio of counts across the rubber in the sixth they tied the score up.

Both of the respective twirlers pitched good ball and most of the runs were the result of ragged fielding. Rosenson, the captain and box artist of the winners, allowed but eight hits and fanned eight, while Denny held the hits down to six and disposed of six along the strike-out route.

HANDICAP COMPETITION AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

During the summer season up to August 24 only handicap competitions have been arranged for each Saturday at the Plainfield Country Club for the reason that so many of the members are out of the city. On Saturday, August 31, there will be the qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, handicap for the Fall trophy. Four eights to qualify regardless of class.

The match play rounds will be at 18 holes, handicap, on September 2, morning and afternoon, and September 7. Prizes will be offered by Hugh F. Fox, R. H. Cox, Clifton Wharton, Jr., and W. H. Rogers. On Saturday, September 14, there will be the qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, scratch, for the club championship, first round of day to count. The first sixteen will qualify for the championship, the second sixteen for a special prize and the third sixteen for a special prize. The match play rounds will be on September 21, 28, October 5 and 12. There will also be prizes for the beaten eights in each sixteen.

FISHING NOTES.

Captain Meade, the veteran fisherman of the Highlands, and a party of friends found the weakfish off Water Witch Monday and by chumming with shrimp caught quite a few of them. The captain caught seventeen, which is probably the largest individual catch this season in the Shrewsbury River. The best fishing is now found in the weakfish hole, a spot familiar to many local fishermen.

Toms River is one of the prettiest spots along the bayfront and just now it is popular with Jersey fishermen. It is not far from the village to the bay, where the weakfish and bluefish are biting and after a day's fishing it is a pleasure to roam around the quaint old village—quaint in spots and up-to-date in many spots, with everybody willing to talk fish.

It is a great sight to see a man carrying home eight humpback seabass, each fish weighing over six pounds. Watch the fishermen coming out of the Central depot any evening and you will see them with the fish hanging from a string. The fishermen seem so pleased with their catches they stop and explain to each questioner just where the boat anchored and how each fish was caught.

Crabs are everywhere the salt water flows. The waters of South Jersey are so thick with them it is impossible to fish, as they take the bait before the fish have time to get at it. It is getting that way in Raritan Bay and should the fish strike in there before winter, the crabs will prove a nuisance. At present they are a blessing, as many meals are made from them.

E. J. Beers, of the High School faculty, will leave on August 16 for an extended fishing trip in the Adirondacks.

Bass are running plentifully at Bound Brook and parties from this city are seen at that place every evening.

Crabs were never so plentiful as they have been this season. Seawaren seems to be the mecca for local parties and large hauls are being made every day. A party consisting of the Misses Edith and Dolly Mantz, of this city, and Alexander and Edward Kutzner, of Lincoln, spent yesterday at Seawaren and returned last night with over 200 of the shell fish.

An Idea and Its Developement

When I opened my store I had an idea which I believed if worked out properly must bring success.

Dumas has used the phrase, "One for all and all for one." In other words, to work for our mutual interests must benefit both of us.

When I sell a suit of clothes I make my profit, and you get a well-tailored, elegantly-styled suit at an eminently fair price.

Don't we both benefit by such a transaction?

And now I am holding my first sale. Every price-tag in my store has been remarked so that I am now able to give you the best values you have ever had.

Come in, try on a few garments—you'll not be asked to buy.

Importer of Oriental Rugs Wins Pretty Girl.

MOTHER OPPOSED MATCH

Bridegroom is Graduate of University of Japan and Bride of Syracuse University and the Emerson Dramatic School, Boston—Will Make Trip to Orient.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 31.—Through a friend, in whom the joyful young bridegroom confided, it became known here that Winifred Louise Barnes of Geneva, N. Y., was secretly married about two weeks ago to her Japanese admirer, Sangero Ono, a wealthy importer of oriental goods, with a store on the Asbury Park boardwalk. Ono refused to be interviewed and declined to state where he and his bride are living, but his partner, Mr. Yata, confirmed the report of the wedding and said it had been solemnized at the Church of the Transfiguration, New York city, about two weeks ago. He could not recall the exact date.

Miss Barnes became the bride of the Japanese despite the determined opposition of her mother, Mrs. Mary F. Barnes, relatives and friends. Originally set for early in July, the nuptials were postponed when Mrs. Barnes made determined opposition. While apparently yielding to her mother's wishes, Miss Barnes never wavered in her determination to wed her oriental admirer. Whether she has yet disclosed her secret is not known, as the whereabouts of Mrs. Barnes is unknown. It is thought, however, that Mrs. Barnes has been told, despite the fact that she is said to have declared she would disown her daughter if the marriage took place.

Mrs. Ono is a graduate of Syracuse university and the Emerson Dramatic school, Boston. She first met Ono at Syracuse last spring. Mutually attracted, friendship speedily ripened into love. Ono is a graduate of the University of Japan. At the close of the season here he and his bride intend to make a trip to Japan.

WILSON AT TRENTON.

Governor Runs Up From Sea Girt to Transact State Business.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 31.—Before starting for Trenton, where he was transacting state business, Governor Wilson got in touch with his campaign managers and discussed with them everything that came up while he was absent on his yachting trip. Governor Wilson emphasized his desire that the committees get busy at once and that the New York headquarters take care of matters of routine instead of referring them to him for consideration.

At Trenton the governor was to hold a conference with Lewis Nixon, former head of Tammany Hall, who called to urge the presidential candidate to favor ship subsidies, to uphold the merchant marine and to favor the construction of not less than two great battleships yearly. As the governor had declared that he would not interfere with congress on the battleship question, Mr. Nixon was not expected to receive any promise.

TRIALS WHILE TRAIN WAITS.

Drastic Remedy Proposed by Some of the Soft Coal Victims.

Hackensack, N. J., July 31.—Mayors and councilmen in the boroughs in Bergen county and officers of other municipalities met the Union League club to determine upon some action regarding the use of soft coal on the several branches of the Erie and West Shore railroads. It was said not only did the smoke ruin household furnishings, the paint on houses and the white gowns of women passengers, but it kept New Yorkers from locating in the county, which was a more serious matter.

It was decided to have the mayors and other officers go in a body to the Erie offices in New York and make their protest. Some of those present urged that engineers, firemen and conductors be arrested on the spot and their trains delayed until their cases were disposed of.

LIVE WIRE KILLS HORSE.

Current Ran Into Driver's Hands and Threw Him From His Seat.

Newton, N. J., July 31.—Charles E. Williams of Hope was driving a vegetable wagon to town when one of the horses stepped on a live wire which had fallen during a storm across South Main street. The animal was instantly killed, but the other was unharmed.

The current ran into Williams' hands and knocked him from his seat on the wagon, but he escaped with bruises only.

FATAL SCHOOL FIRE.

Lieutenant Dietrich Struck Down Fighting Cleveland Blaze.

Cleveland, O., July 31.—Fire destroyed the Warren public school, one of nineteen buildings of the older sort recently condemned by the building inspector's office as fire traps.

In the fire Lieutenant David M. Dietrich was fatally injured when struck by a heavy beam falling from the third floor.

"Square Pot" Boilers for Service and Heat

Boynton Square Pot boilers outlive the ordinary make by virtue of their superior construction and better materials. They give most heat because none can escape until its full duty has been discharged.

This sectional view shows how directly the fire comes in contact with interior water surfaces, thus giving rapid circulation with free steaming. It is equipped with the famous square fire pot, patented by the BOYNTON FURNACE CO.

This square pot increases the effective radiating surface 15%, which greatly minimizes the cost of heating.

CONGRESS VOTES TO AID REFUGEES

Money and Tents Are Sent to El Paso.

SENATORS APPEALED TO

To Demand Mexican Government, Through Ambassador at Mexico City, to Protect Threatened Americans. More Refugees Arriving.

Washington, July 31.—The house and senate acted promptly on the demand for relief of the refugees who have been arriving at El Paso, Tex., following persecution and threats by the Mexican rebel chiefs.

Twenty thousand dollars was appropriated by both houses to be expended by the secretary of war in the purchase of food for the refugees. A resolution was also passed making available for this work the balance left from funds appropriated for the relief of the flood sufferers of the Mississippi valley last spring. The total of these funds is about $175,000. In addition, the war department without waiting for congress gave orders to St. Louis for the shipping of tentage for 1,000 persons to El Paso at once by express.

Senators Are Appealed To.

Telegrams from El Paso and other border cities, telling of conditions brought on by action of the rebels, and appealing to the federal government to do something to relieve the situation, were received by Senators Fall and Smoot and other members of both houses of congress. The telegrams stated that about twelve hundred American refugees had reached El Paso, and it was understood that 1,000 more were en route to that city from Casa Grande, Madera, Pearson and neighboring districts. Many reported threats of General Orozco and other leaders were also contained in the telegrams.

It was said at the state department telegrams were sent to Mr. Wilson, American ambassador at Mexico City, instructing him to make urgent demand on the Mexican government to send troops to Casa Grande and other districts without delay to protect the besieged and threatened Americans. The Mexican government replied that troops were already within thirty miles of Casa Grandes on their way there. Every effort was being made, it was asserted by government officials, to get within striking distance of the rebels at the earliest possible moment. Consul Edwards was also instructed to communicate with General Orozco and notify him that the United States insists on the protection of Americans from the lawless acts of his soldiers and demands observance of him of the rules of civilized warfare.

FOUR DIE, TRAPPED BY FIRE IN HOTEL

Flames Cut Off Exit For Sleeping Guests.

Fairlee, Vt., July 31.—Four persons were burned to death and two others were injured, one probably fatally, in a fire that destroyed the Danforth house here.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, Miss Effie Perkins of Flushing, N. Y. and Miss Florence Albee of Springfield, Mass.

There were about thirty guests in the house at the time the fire broke out, and nearly all of them were asleep. The blaze is believed to have originated in the pine decorations surrounding the fireplace in the hotel office. The flames spread quickly to all parts of the house, and those who did escape without injury were unable to save any property except the clothes they wore.

C. E. Perkins, his wife, two daughters and Miss Albee were in a part of the hotel where their exit was cut off by the flames. Miss Effie Perkins and Miss Albee did not reach the outside.

Miss Alice Perkins was badly burned and was taken to the Mary Hitchcock hospital at Hanover, N. H. Miss Bernice Bean of Springfield, Mass., who injured her spine by jumping from a third story window, was also taken to the hospital. It is believed Miss Bean will die.

The property loss is estimated at $5,000,000.

BOSTON PAYS THE PRICE.

$1,500,000 Strike of Two Months Is Ended—Costly to Men Too.

Boston, July 31.—After fifty-three days of disorder the strike of the employees of the Boston elevated and street railways came to an end, when every man of the strikers went back to his old run and the company agreed that hereafter no discrimination should be made against union men.

The cost of the strike will total $1,500,000, of which the men lost at least one-third in wages.

Weather Forecast.

Increasing cloudiness today; showers at night or tomorrow; light to moderate variable winds, becoming southerly

With the Bringing Forward of the Second and Best
Gimbel August Sale of Furniture
Presenting $600,000 Worth of Excellent Furniture With Savings of $1 to $5 on Each $10 Invested

¶ This vast assemblage of thoroughly good and carefully selected Furniture commands the interest of every housekeeper within several hundred miles of Gimbels. Planned with knowledge, experience and skill, it brings gratification and large and definite economy for the home furnishers who share in its wide distribution.

¶ You cannot but be impressed by the GOOD TASTE used in selecting the Furniture. Not a stick in the whole collection is overladen, or garish in decoration. Quality, not gaudiness, is its chief merit. SIMPLICITY is a steadfast characteristic, in the lower-priced pieces, as well as in the finest.

¶ The Sale is particularly rich in the well-made, less expensive pieces, providing the SAFE economies that are so welcome, when so many housekeeping costs are advancing.

¶ This Sale is not an aggregation of "job lots." We have had nothing to do with factory mistakes, and styles that wouldn't sell. Most of the pieces have been CAREFULLY and SPECIALLY MADE for Gimbels during slack times in factories.

¶ It is a complete and comprehensive offering. All varieties of furniture—all woods—mahogany, oak in its various finishes, circassian walnut, bird's-eye maple, every famous period—Georgian, Adam, Sheraton, Chippendale, Louis, Empire, and the various types of our own beautiful American Colonial.

Some of Our Special Purchases Are

25 styles of Brass Bedsteads, from two of the best makers, at savings of 20 to 50 per cent. ALL WITH LACQUER BEARING a FIVE-YEAR GUARANTEE—though our responsibility does not stop there, by any means.

A delightful collection of fine Bedroom Suites, hardly two alike, at savings of one-third.

The most remarkable display of Mission Furniture we have ever gathered.

Bedroom Suites and Dining-room Suites in the simple, dignified Colonial style, that proved such a favorite in our February Sale. But these are even better value.

August Is a Great Housefurnishing Time

Even though you live far from New York the savings you can make at Gimbels this month will more than repay your expenditure of time and money in the trip to town.

Plan to come—come EARLY—and READ THE PAPERS—they will tell you all about the Sale from day to day. We will, of course, hold our Furniture bought during August until you are ready for it later in the season.

T. R. CONVENTION TO DRAW GREAT CROWD

Leaders Are Besieged For Seats In Chicago Hall.

Chicago, July 31.—Leaders directing the plans for the National Progressive convention, to be held on Aug. 5, said that the attendance would exceed all expectations.

"We have received requests to hold 1,000 seats for the Indiana delegation and friends of delegates alone," said John F. Bass. "In addition, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Alabama, New York and Virginia committees have asked for several hundred seats apiece, and individual requests are coming in from every state in scores. I feel confident that every seat in the Coliseum will be occupied when the convention is called to order."

Colonel Chauncey Dewey, who will act as sergeant-at-arms, and a number of his assistants took personal charge of the arrangements at the Coliseum and will be there almost constantly until the opening next Monday.

Medill McCormick made public a statement from Charles F. Frazee of Pittsburgh, in which Mr. Frazee stated that he would be active in the work for the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt and would work with Senator Flinn of Pittsburgh to that end.

"Mr. Taft will be fourth man in the Pennsylvania contest. Even the Democrats and Socialists will get more votes than he will," said Mr. Frazee. "Mr. Taft will carry only two states, Vermont and Iowa. Colonel Roosevelt will carry Pennsylvania by an overwhelming majority."

DEPOSITS MADE BEFORE AUG. 4TH in our Special Department will draw 4% compound interest from August 1st. We invite accounts of $5.00 or more without limit. The time to begin to save is now. We are ready to serve you.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Improving Contact Beds at Sewage Disposal Works.

Plainfield, N. J.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held Monday, July 22, 1912, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, August 19, 1912, at 8 o'clock p. m. at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the improvement of the contact beds at the City Sewage Disposal Works, as provided for in the specifications adopted July 22, 1912, by the Common Council and filed in the office of the City Clerk, No. 151 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents of the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $500, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield. The amount of bond required will be $4,000.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required and the work to be done is as follows:

12,000 cubic yards of material to be wasted.

2,500 cubic yards of stone to be furnished.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposal specifications, contract bond etc. may be obtained at the office of the undersigned, 151 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals should be endorsed, "Proposals for Improving Contact Beds."

J. T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

Dated, July 22, 1912. 7-31 2w
